Poefical THE OUTCAST. BY J. SOUL SMITH. love this dark night and this wintry storm ;

This sleet beats on my head quite merrily; I'm cold—but hell, the preachers say is warr There is no hope for me.

Ah i how I hate the noiseless fall of snow— It softly sneers, like well-bred charity; Itself unspotted, it cannot bestow A kindly smills on me. But this sharp sleet, like my own co stings, Yet numbers me with no cool hypocrisy; And this mad storm like drunken devils, sings A fitting dirge for me.

Rich was I once, and very, very fair; A petted, wonton child of luxury ; Now sheet is crusted on my tangled hair; Well, it is only me. He said he loved me better than his life,

And often held me on his manly knee; Now he is happy with his babes and wife, And no one cares for me. Poor Robert Stone? he almost broke his hear

When I grew and beneath my misery ; It killed him, and I saw all hope depart, For no one clos loved me.

I love my babe, it would laugh and crow; So smart, and, like its father, full of glee, It's been in heaven five years, a month ago-But that's no place for me,

Once when I passed him with his pretty wife, My wicked heart cursed her, oh, bitterly; Then it seemed cloven with a red-hot knife-awoke. Partaking of some, food and slacking our thirst in a clear running stream we con-tinued our journey. For miles we trav-eled through a lovely valley. Before lay huge ranges of mountains, the base of which we reached just before sunset. I evanified my purp and the compute the which we reached just before survet. I examined my map, and I came to the criticulus number of this must be the Wasach ridge. If so, when we reached its sum-mit, we would he able to see Sait Lake valley, and even the city.' Our hearts bent with jay at the thought Presently my companion clutched me by the arm, and halted suddenly. Then he pointed down toward a little grove, and looking in that direction, I could see a thin smoke curling up. At first I thought it came-from some hunter's cab-in; and then it occured to me that there might be an Indian encompare the near. At all events, we resolved to ascertain what it meant; and so we cautionsly ad-vanced, keeping ourselves as much as

It was her hu-band. Matters were soon explained to him; and he determined to return with us to the city. He did so, and a hundred door-were thrown open for his reception. It was the same with regard to myself and friend. The first nicht, while lying concealed from the Indians, was a terri-ble one te me; but I can never forget my-second night of horrors, although it had a happy ending.

homes." The boys looked at each other, then at the stern minister, and concluded to de-part. They saw the eye of that man, and witnessed his strength. They raised their failen comrudes, and while Mr. Bu-ell put on his coat, they were on their way to Skiffton. 'Come, breihren, we also will di part,' said Buell, and soon the grove was de-serted. ed. . Col. The YANKEES AND THE BEAR. - Two Yankees strolling in the woods, without any arus, in their pessession, observed a bear elimbing a tree, with its paws clasp-ed around the truck. One of them ran forward, and caught the bear's paws one in each hand. He then called out to his coarade, "Jonathan, run home and bring me something to kill this varnin ; and mind you don't stay, or I'm in a fix." Jounthan ran off, but staid a long time. During the interval, the bear made sev-eral desperate attempts to bite the hord of him who held it. At length Jonathan came, back.

Seried. Seried. It was a defented and discomflitted crowd that eutered Skiffton that night. 'My eyes will be shut for a week,' said Walt, putting his hand to his visual orbs, which were fast closing. 'I belleve you, Walt, said Harvey, 'he strikes like a sledge.' They sought their respective conches, wiver and better young men, for each and every one had secretly resolved in his heart never to try to harm a minister of God again.

God again.

God again. The next night the 'set' returned to the church and took front scats, Walt with a bandage over his eyes. The con-gregation was astonished at their conduct, and thought they intended taking ven-great.ce from Mr. Buell; but when the ser vices wite over, they walked up shook their conquerer by the hand, and asked his forgiveness, which was freely granted. The meeting closed, and more than one half of the boys who had attacked Mr. Buell were added to the church, and ever since have walked in the straight and narrow way.

I want to warn the living ones e fathers, daughters, mothers, so What perils round you throng f

Look out my reader, are you free, Or do you wear the mark ? Most all are blind and canot see, Yea, groping in the dark.

Catarrh, a demon in the head, Consumption is its son : Kliss hosts, yea, countiers millions, dead, Perhaps you may be one.

That backing, hawking, spitting, shows, Catarh affects your head. Matter and Nime in throat or nose, Runs down your throat instead.

Your lungs and liver soon will show, Consumption has its birth; Catarrh, its sire, will feed at too, 'Till you return to earth.

It colds affects your head or throat, ANNIHILATOR huy; Now don't lorget what I have wrote, Or think this subject dry.

WOLCOTT'S ANNIHILATOR cures Quarh-the deamon flies; It saves the hungs, good heath insures, And Caturrh quickly dies.

I want to gratify my friends, Who wish to understand About PAIN PAINT, its use, its ends, And why its great domand.

I want to show you, plain as day, Why PAIN PAINT stops and pain, That you muy never have to say "I'll not try paint again."

PAIN PAINT will cool but never stain Pumps inflammation out; 'Tis hurmle-s on the breast or brain, A trial stops all doubt.

When inflammation leaves the frame, All pain will reave at once; Remove the cause, 'the all the same; None doubts unless a dunce.

The pores will open and drink PAIN PAINT; Absorbents fill with ease; Restores ine weak, the slok, the faint, • The greatest scepto please.

Evaporation cools the place As inflammation flies; Hot blood at the absorbent's base Makes PAINT in vapor rise.

Tis thus PAIN PAINT removes all doubt, Romoves the very cauxe By pumping inflammation out; On this we rest our cause.
