wives have to tell them, and then the

"R," Amherst, Mass., writes the following: "I noticed in your last issue of the Agriculturalist a paragraph from your correspondent. Bonne de Jersey, giving his experience in the treatment of the pear blight, and calling for a 'remedy.' Having had some little experience in pear culture. I feel experience in pear culture, I feel called upon to offer a suggestion, so simple that it may provoke a smile from the incredulous. I observed, some years since, among a row of thrif-ty pears, a Bartlet turning black; the leaves and short spur limbs turning to a crisp, as if burnt with fire; the trunk soon turned black on the side which was exposed to the sun's rays. I pointed out the tree to a nurseryman of considerable siderable experience in horticulture After examining three carefully, he told me to 'cut off all the parts which seemed affected by the blight, and give the tree a good coat of soft soap, diluted, and let it dry on the tree.' Somewhat what incredulous at so simple a remedy, I followed the prescription. The tree, in a few months, seemed to gain; the next season all the old bark rolled up, and new, healthy bark formed, and the tree is now as vigorous and healthy as any tree that I have. I have since experimented with like success. All I have to say to veteran pear culturists is, to try it.—American Agriculturalist.

& Sweet Pickles

A lady correspondent of the Country Gentleman, gives the following receipe for making sweet pickles: Cut the tomatoes through, or if large, slice in three pieces, let them stand in a weak brine over night. To a quart of vinegar add three pounds of sugar; in this vinegar cook the tomatoes until a fork can easily be passed through them. As fast as they are cooked, take them out with a fork and lay them down in a jar—say two or three layers of tomatoes; sprinkle pulverized cinnamon and cloves, and a thin layer of sugar; then alternately tomatoes, spices and sugar; cooking all the tomatoes in the same vinegar, if necessary, add more sugar and vinegar. When the jar is filled, cover the tomatoes with good cider vinegar, cold, throwing away the vinegar in which the tomatoes were cooked. Lay some horso radish root over the top of the pickles, and put a weight on to keep them covered. This receipe is equally good for cucumbers. I have tested it for the past two years, and found no trouble in keeping good pickles. and found no trouble in keeping good

An Enormous Farm

A Lafayette Indiana correspondent writes to the Cincinnati Gazette that there is a corn field in Benderic country in most writes to the Cincinnati Gazette that there is a corn field in Benton country, Ind., of seven thousand acres, in good condition and growing splendidly. This field is to be found on the farm of Adam Earl, Esq., who resides in Lafayette. The same correspondent adds: "Messrs. Earl and Fowler have a farm of thirty thousand acres in Benton county, in one body, well watered, and with permanent improvements, having one hundred and forty miles of beard fence, thirty dwelling houses for tenants, three blacksmith shops, &c. To cultivate the corn lands one hundred and sixty-nine one and two-horse plows were kept in daily use, and on the pasture lands foity one hundred head of cattle are now feeding for the New York market, and will be shipped this fall by rail. Messrs. Earl and Fowler give their personal supérvision to the farm, the former a jobbing merchant and the latter a banker.

To Prevent Horses being Chated by Harness.

Great care should be taken during the warm weather of summer to pre-vent horses being chafed by the har-ness. There are several ways to do this. First keep your horse in good healthy, condition, clean skin with plenty, of flesh between it and the bone. Second, keep your harness seft and with flesh between it and the bone. Second, keep your harness soft and pliable. And third, use him moderately and give the skin a good cleaning after using him, every time. Much also depends on having the harness to fit properly. See that the collar is neither too large nor too small, and that the hames are of the right length and shape; giving an even pressure on the collar. Keep the face of the collar clean and free from inequalities.

It is a very unsightly picture to see a horse with sore shoulders and other parts of the hide worn off, by the harness. The owner or driver of such a team ought to be ashamed of himself.—Stock Journal.

CLOUTED CREAM.—In Devonshire, England, celebrated for its "clouted cream," the following method is adopted to make it: Strain the milk into pans holding about ten quarts. After standing twelve hours the pans are placed on the stove, or still better, over a pot of boiling water, and the milk heated till a thick, creamy scum raises to the surface, and air bubbles appear in parting it, but the milk must not boil. The pans are then removed and as soon as the milk cools it is skimmed and the cream placed in a churn or crock, and stirred with a long spoon or stick till butter comes, which is usually in a few minutes. The butter is not worked, but ladled out with a skimmer having large holes, through which the buttermilk can drain, and put light and loose on a plate, those who like salt, adding it at the table.

To Wash White Woolens.—"A Young Housekeeper" writes: "Put a kettle of clear; soft water on the stove and shave enough soap into it to make a strong suds, let it come to a boil, and pour it over the flannels placed in a tub; let stand until they are cool enough to handle, and then rub or squeeze slightly and wring out. If they were very dirty, repeat the operation, if not, make a very weak suds, boiling hot, and after it is taken off the fire, put in some blueing and proceed as before; then shake well, and hang it up to dry. You will find the flannels will not full up and get too small, but will be as soft as when new."—American Agriculturalist.

Hair Vigor, For restoring Gray Hair to

A dressing which is at once agreeable,

with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickned, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the ir the glands atrophied and decayed But such as remain can be saved for sefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sedi-nent, it will keep it clean and vigorous. its occasional use will prevent the hair rom turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free rom those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and mly benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.
