THE MESSAGE.

On the first page of this paper will be found the first annual message of President Grant. If it were not that it emanates from the Chief Executive officer of the nation, we would seriously object to giving up six or seven columns of our paper to such a mass of unmitigated dullness. There was once a good at night, sent for her spiritual adviser He hastened to her bedside, expecting to find her in the act of "shuffling off this mortal coil:" but greatly to his surprise, lound her sitting up and in apparent health. He inquired the cause that she had been unable to sleep for several nights, and she thought if he would only read to her one of those dear, good sermons of his, which had such a soothing effect on Sundays, it would put her to sleep. As a narcotic we think Grant's message would prove superior to the dominie's sermons. We have faithfully tried to read it, half a dozen times, and have invariably gone to skep before we reached the third column. If it has an equally soothing effect upon our readers, its publication will not have been entirely useless.

Hon. John T. Hoffnan, Governor of New York, has written a letter to the President of a prominent Trades' Union, stating that he would recommend in his message the passage of laws favoring the rights of laboring men, especially where they do not interfere with the rights of other citizens He thinks the eight-hour law should be enforced; that there should be a a more effective apprentice law passed; that the contract system for labor in prisons should be abolished, and that Trades Unions should be excented from the operations of the conspiracy act, unless an overtact is proven.

THE fact that the Empress Eugenie has returned to Paris worth over a million dollars more than she was when she left, is the incentive to any number of bon mots and witty squibs on the part of the press in the French capital .-This accession of fortune represents the cash value of the magnificent diamond studded tiara presented to her by the Khedive of Egypt.

COL. HALDEMAN ON THE CENSUS. When the Census Bill was the subject of discussion, the other day, in the House of Representatives, some remarks were made by our Congressman, Col. Haldeman, which adduced some the coming census. His remarks will appear in our next issue. Mr. Hal-leman maintains: (1.) That the proper and satisfactory mode of taking the census is to approximate as nearly as possible to the English method of taking the enumeration in one day, in order to insure greater accuracy and make the starting points from the taking of one census to anoth-THE AMERICAN VOLUNTEER, or more accurate and exact, and in order that this enumeration should be deder that this enumeration should be de facto, and include all persons as a basis of representation.

(2.) That there is a manifest conflict between Section 2, Article I., of the Constitution-providing a basis of representation in the several States, excluding only Indians and two-fifths of the slave population -and the Fourteenth Amendment, which restricts the basis of representation in proportion to the number of "male inhabitants" of the States and "citizens of the United States," whose right to vote is abridged on any account, except "for participation in rebellion or other crimes."

The basis of representation in the latter instance overrides the restrictions of the several States, which provide, in specific instances, against extending the right to vote to idiots and insane persons, to those who cannot read or write. on account of poverty, on account of not taking certain oaths, of bad character, and especially, on account of duration of residence. If in such instances, says the Fourteenth Amendment, you denv the right to vote, you are liable to the penalty herein provided to wit, a re striction of your basis of representation. You shall regard nothing but "participation in rebellion or other crime," in providing against the extension of the right of suffrage; if you do, you shall be restricted in your representation.

The apportionment provided in Sec. 2, Art. I., which extends (practically now) ro the "whole number of persons" in the several States, is accordingly set aside. That is to say, the Amendment directly modifies, and in a measure nullifies, the section in Art I. where this subject is referred to; and distinctly and explititly denies to the States the right to determine for themselves who are qualified voters and who are not, affixing a certain penalty should they presume to define the qualification of voters, and altering the apportionment of representatives provided in Art. I.

This remarkable inconsistency will not be done away with by the passage of the Fifteenth Amendment, which refers only to neg o suffrage, and, in its operation, is confined to the restriction recited in the Fourteenth Amendment, only so far as negroes are concerned. It does not touch cases of insanity, nonresidence, want of property qualification, &c., &c., provided against by the several States, and therefore the objections against the Fourteenth in this respect will not be removed by the passage of the Fifteenth; nor will the conflict of the former with Art I. be removed by the latter.

(3.) The third important point raised by Mr. Haldeman touches the fact that the Census Bill, as reported does not provide in the population for taking account of the incomes derived from wages, salaries, and earnings, of the workings classes. The statement is made that this was the custom of Rome. and, in modern days, of England. And the object to be attained by it, is to enable legislation so to adjust taxation that it may rest equitably upon all classes, and to ascertain, to this end, who and what class are exempt from a product of the control of the c and, in modern days, of England. And and what class are exempt from a pro per measure of taxation, and who and what class pay the taxes from which others are exempt

WE learn from the Harrisburg Patri ot that the notorious Sam. Josephs who, by some mysterious political infliction, once more represents a Philadelphia Democratic Assembly district, is intriguing f r the nomination by the Democraticoparty as its candidate for the Speakership of the next House . To say the least of it, this is "richness' on the part of the immaculate Samuel Josephs. We knew he was brazen faced and unparalleled in impudence. but this last effort of his completely knocks down the persimmon."

If the Democratic members of the House will so far disgrace themselves as to confer on Sam. Josephs even the empty honor of a nomination for the position named, and thus entail lasting dishonor on the party, they have just one more thing to do, and that is to buy rope enough and then hang themselves. If they ever gratify his mean and groveling ambition they will sink themselves to such a profound depth of moral perdition that the hand of the political resurrectionist will never reach them. The name of Sam. Josephs is peculiarly offensive, and stinks in the nostrils of all honest Democrats. So says the Cambria Freeman, and we endorse every word of it.

COMING CENSUS.—The great decenial census of the United States will occur next year. Persons will be appointed for every locality in the State and townships to gather statistics of the inhabi tants, and of all the agricultural productions, manufacturers, &c. Each cultivator will be asked for a concise, accurate statement of land occupied by him, the number of acres and the amount of each crop raised during the year ending June 80th next. Those who were called upon before will doubtless remember the difficulty in sented to Grant his most costly house ous crops. As these reports will be and lot, he wrote to them that he should | called for in June, it will be necessary they could approve. He has faithfully The milk product, also, and the amount well as all kinds of fruit, &c.

THE LATE GEO. PEABODY.

On Sunday, the 12th inst, the funeral fleet, bearing the mortal remains of George Peabody, set sail from Portsmouth, England. The Monarch, an iron-clad turret ship of 5000 tons burden, important points in connection with fitted out in naval mourning, is by or der of the British Government to convey the remains of the distinguished American philanthropist to this country, and will be escorted by two United States vessels. It is suggested that distinguished honor should be paid to the emains when they reach this country, handsomely in hono ing the memory of an American citizen, Congress should make a fitting provision for the funeral observances on the arrival of the remains in this country. While so much is appropriated for statues of the Linculns, the Grants, the Beechers and the Fred Douglasses, surely, the American eople would not begrudge a few thousand dollars expended in fitting funeral ceremonies over the remains of him whose benefactions to our countrymen can only be counted by millions-whose and was ever open for the relief of distress and the promotion of intelligence and sound morality amongst our

The press is rarely called upon to notice so interesting and valuable a work as this. It is a work which has, evidently, cost the compiler immense labor and thorough researches in the Bible, presenting the subject of its teachings in a most natural and logical order by a great compilation, on any topic therein treated. To the minister and Sunday school teacher the work would seem to be aimost indispensable, while to every lawer who may desire to point his arguments by quotations of appropriate texts, and to every student who is anxious to most natural and logical order, by anaand to every student who is anxious to make the most of his time in his scriptulyzing every verse of the Old and New l'estament, and placing it under appropriate and telling titles, such as books, chapters and sections. It is, strictly speakking, a Bible commentary—that is, the Bible interpreting itself, by comparing and it is urged in some quarters that as the British government has behaved so Scripture and subjects are complete, enabling the reader in a minute or two, by proper references, to spread out be fore him all the word of God says on. any subject. To the student of the Bible, it will save hours of labor in his search ings for divine truth; while to the readers of God's word, their pleasure and profit will be intensified by having the analysis by their side. Rev. H. Aurand has been very successful in his (as yet very limited) canvassing in Carlisle. It is his design to make a thorough visitation, and we bespeak for him and his book a favorable reception. We hope our citizens will cheerfully roll up a large list for this valuable work.

TESTIMONIALS:

Theel. Sem. of the Ev. Lutheran Church, 216 Franklin St., Pulladelphia, November 4, 1869. Mr. George Brooks, Dear Sir:—It is rarely the case that a new theological work which has been given to the public has afforded me see much pleasure as "Hitchcock's New and Complete Analysis of the Holy Bible, ect." The Talbot West "Analysis, etc."

complete Analysis of the Holy Blote, etc." had long been the "pastor's companion" in the case of every clergyman who was fortunate enough to obtain a copy. But the great value of the original work has oven vastly increased by the great learning and the admirable judgment of Prof. Hitchcock, the recent editor. The rich contents of this new volume have been made more accessible in details by the ew Indexes, and the revised Concordance which is appended. The beautiful steel plate engravings and maps of the volume must gratify the most refined taste. The volume does most truly, as the title page promises, very greatly "facilitate the study and promote the better understanding of the word of God." And while it renders services of incalculable while it renders services of incalculable value to the preacher, it will be found to be admirably adapted to the religious wants of every intelligent christian family. I can recommend it unconditionally, and feel very confident that all who secure copies will be grateful for the aid which this noble volume offers to those who conscientiously endeavor to "search the Scriptures." The interests of our holy religion will be greatly promoted by an extensive circulation of this precious book. Charles F. Schaeffer, Prof. of Theol. Sem. of Luth ch. JOEL SWARTZ, Pastor Evangelical Luth Ch., Carlisle. Dr. Hitchcock's Analysis of the Bible Dr. Hitchcock's Analysis of the Bible appears to me superior to all similar compilations,—as mucn better than West's as West was than Talbot's. It is better than Eadle's, because more complete in itself, and because arranged upon a logical rather than an alphabetical system.—It is far better than Simmon's Scripture Manual, which has been constantly on my desk for years, and which I have found of more practical value than some of its more bulky rivals. Dr. Hitchcock's work leaves almost nothing to be desired. A few moments consultation of it will spread before one all that the Scripture spread before one all that the Seri reveal upon any given subject. It will be invaluable to me as it must be to every careful student of the Bible, whether

Pastor of Calvary Pres. Ch., Phila. Phila., Sept. 22, 1869. It would not be easy to exaggerate the value and merits of Prof Hitchenck's "New and Complete Analysis of the Bible." It is "new" in many admirable respects, especially in its very logical and yet equally natural arrangement of topics. And it is so "complete" that it is difficult if not impossible to see or to say wherein it could be improved.

I have examined with great interest Dr. Hitchcock's "New and Complete Analysis of the Bible." It answers most admirab'y to the title which it bears.—
Though based on the labors of others who have been pioneers in this department of study yet it has been, so modified and improved that as how presented it may well be called a new work. At the same time it is so 'complete' as bardly to leave room for anything to be added to it. ly to leave room for anything to be added to it.

I know of no one volume ever published, so full and comprehensive in its grasp of the varied aids required by ministers, by teachers, or those who for their own edification desire, by thorough and ear-nest study, to draw out from the exhaustless treasury of God's word the enduring riches of its saving truth:

RICHARD NEWTON,
Rector Ch. of the Epiphany, Phila.

Teachers in Sabbath schools, parents who love to train their children in Scriptural knowledge, and all students of the Bible, often wish to see in a convenient form, all that God has revealed in His word regarding particular subjects; and for all such the "Analysis," as it has been improved by Dr. Hitchcock and his been improved by the particular subjects and the fellow laterers, is very bandly adapted. fellow latorers, is very hapily adapted. With its admirable indexes, dictionaries. With its admirable indexes, dictionaries, concordance and maps, such a one is tolerably well equipped for learning "the mind of the Spirit" on most of the questions which are likely to come under discussion or inquiry, as one of the best and most convenient manuals for studying "the only infallible rule of faith and practice." I shall rejoice in its very extensive circulation.

I have examined the "Complete Analysis of the Holy Bible," and cheerfully bear testimony to its value. It is undoubtedly the result of great labor, the accumulation of many researches, and the best work of the kind before the public. GEORGE NORCROSS, Pastor of the 2nd Presbyterian Ch. Carlisle, Nov. 25, 1869.

The Analysis of the Holy Bible by Prof. Roswell D. Hitchcock, D. D., is a work of unequalled merit, needingonly to be seen to be appreciated. The Library of any man who recognizes the divinity of the Word, and is seeking for its vinity of the word, and is severing for the universal spread, would be incomplete without this rare book. May its purchasers and its readers be numbered by millions.

make the most of his time in his scriptural researches, it must prove a most useful labor-saving instrument.

The appearance of this work at a time when sectarian theology is becoming more and more impenetrated by the spirit of genuine christianity, and the mind of the age recurs rather to the teachings of Christ, than to the divinity of the schools, is really opportune; as it furnishes facilities to every man to examine for himself and satisfy his own mind as to what it most concerns him to know.
