A MUGE MARE'S NEST. The Mechanicsburg Journal of week before last contained some unwarrantable strictures upon the County Treas urer and the Commissioners, in reference to the collection of State and County taxes. The article was not brought to our notice until our last paper was put to press, which will account for our delay in noticing it. We quote the material part of the Journal's article, in order that we may do it no injustice:

order that we may do it no injustice:

"Considerable comment is made in our community-for what seems to be a gross error, in the manner of levying and collecting our State am county taxes. The Franklin County Act, which was extended to this county in 1567, provides to an abatement of five per cent, on the amounts if paid on or before a certain day. It seems however, that our county Commissioners it their august wisdom, have seen fill in the past tignore this plain provision, and instead of a to tignore this plain provision, and instead of a to tignore this plain provision, and instead of a to tignore this plain provision, and instead of a to tignore this plain provision, and instead of a to tignore the part of the county of the county care of as much of other people's money as possible.

We should like to have this matter investigated, and if they can show authority for the manner in which they lovy the taxes, it would not only be salisfactory to the tax-payers who are now in doubt, but would remove some very dark suspicions as to the manusement, by these peculiar guardians, of the public concerns. If they cannot show the auth rity for the lovy and collection, we should next like to see the exact manner of the appropriation of all these taxes, and whether the Statemad County gots the benefit of this disputed five per cent, or qut. We have heard some say that it constitutes the contribution of the propriation of the public that the propose and may in a necessary account for that purpose, and may in a necessary account for the experiences of the faithful to sacrifice themselves to the public in the particular situations of Commissioner and Tronsurer."

Now, it is true that the "Franklin County Act" provided that "any person who shall on or before the first day in August, pay to such Treasurer the amount of his or her taxes, shall be entitled to a deduction of five per centum on the amount thereof, which shall be in lieu of the abatement of five per centum allowed the county aforesaid by the forty-second section of the act of 29th April, 1844." And it is also true that by the act of 5th April, 1867, the provisions of that act were extended to Cumberland County. But at the time of the passage of the act, extending the provisions of the Franklin County law to Cumberland county, there was a general act on the statute book, passed April 30th, 1864, which provided: That so much of the act of 1840 as provides for the abatement of five per centum on the amount of State taxes, paid fifteen days prior to the first of September, in any year, be and the same is hereby repealed; and hereafter it shall be the duty of the Auditor General to add five per cent. penalty to each county, on all State taxes remaining unpaid on the first day of August, 1865, and of each year thereafter, which shall be charged in the dunlicate against each delinquent tax-payer in arrears, on and af-ter said day." This act repealed the general abatement of five per cent., and the special abatement inserted in the Franklin county act, which was expressly stated to be "in lieu of the abatement allowed by the general act of 1844," fell with it; and since 1864 it has been the custom of the Auditor General's office to allow no abatement on taxes paid prior to the first of August, but to dedemand five per cent, penalty on all taxes not paid before that date. Whether this action of a Republican Legislature in repealing the five per cent. abatement, and a Republican Auditor General in enforcing the law, can be cited as "another instance of the beauties of Democratic rule;" and whether it serves to mark "the love of the Re man," and to show "their laudably earother people's money as possible," we leave the sagacious editor of the Journal to explain to the satisfaction of his readers. While he is about it, he may as well attempt to explain "those very dark suspicions as to the management of public concerns by these peculiar guardians" of the public interest at Harrisburg. As the law requires the five per cent. penalty to be charged in the duplicate against each delinquent tax payer. and as the Treasurer of Cumberland county is required to account to the Auditor General for every cent thus charged, the "corruption or secret service furd" finds its way into other hands than "the Democratic party of this county." As to what use is made of it, the writer of the article in the Journal, the Chairman of the Republican Standing Committee, can give more information than we can. At all events the Carlisle Radical politicians complain that last year they did not get their full share. We beg to suggest to our contemporary that in the selection of an editor for the legal department of his journal he should secure the services of some gentleman who has at least

And now Geary is on the black horse again, charging upon the intrepid Democracy of Cumberland county with that flerce impetuosity which in days gone by frightened poor Stonewall Jackson to death. In the language the dying hero used when he summoned Longstreet to his presence, we say to the Democracy of the lower end, "Beware of Geary!" The hero of Snickersville seems to feel the deepest interest in the Congressional campaign in this district, and as there is not the slightest probability of electing a Republican, he seems anxious to have a Democrat elected who will come as near suiting him as possible. If his excellency could be induced to extend his visits throughout the county, we could safely predict the most gratifying results.

HON. GEORGE SHARSWOOD, of the Supreme Bench of this State, will make his summer residence in Millford, Pike county, this summer. He will arrive there about the 15th of this month.

REMOVE THE COPPSE -- Don Platt now says: "The late Republican party ty is the deadest thing above ground and if the surviving friends wish to retain for it any feelings of respect they will hasten its funeral."

GRANT AN AN ORATOR,

Grant's fourth of July bender is ended, and he has returned to Washington, from the land of steady habits, safe and sound. He was "received" and dined and wined and feted to his heart's conent. We are pleased, too, to record the gratifying intelligence that he has committed to memory a little spee ch. which, we are informed, was received with "vociferous applause" at several places on his route to and from the nutneg State. Governor English welcomed him at Stamford, and the President replied:

replied: "I cannot flud words to express my feelings a this cordial reception by your State, and as I di not intend to make a Speech, you will accept yourself, and through you the citizens of you State, my thanks for the welcome extended." At Yale College, President Woolsey replied to the calls of the students by saying that "President Grant did no intend to make a speech, but desired Dr. Woolsey to return his sincere thanks for the welcome extended." At the city Hall, in reply to an address of welcome by Mayor Lewis, he said:

"I cannot find words to express my fieldings at your kindness, My stav is very brief, and I do not intend to make a speech, but I hope at some future time to aroud a day here, and become acquainted with the people of the State."

But the propurious referent of his life. But the crowning offort of his life was in the Senate Chamber, in reply to the welcome of Lieutenant Governor

Hotchkiss, when he said: Mn. SPEAKER AND GENTLEMEN. In attempting to say anything I feel very much like the young gentlemen when they enter yonder institution and attempt to express themselves before the professors—they feel a great deal morthan they can give utterance to. I am glad to meet you, gentlemen of the Legislature, and the with you, but I do not intend to make a speech.

Now this latter effort will do pretty well for high. The young gentlemen of Yale College were doubtless somewhat surprised to find that the reason they "fizzled" in their recitations was no because they had nothing to say, but because they "felt a great deal more than they could give utterance to.' We do not doubt that the President felt precisely as they do sometimes, and hereafter their standing excuse for failure in recitations will be that they were "too full for utterance." The President was glad "to meet the gentlemen of the Legislature, and to be with them:' and it probably didn't occur to him that it would be a difficult matter to "meet them" and not "be with them. As our chief mugistrate never made what could honestly be called a speech in his life, it seemed to be rather superfluous in him to state, no less than four times in the same day, that he did not intend to make a speech; and, strange to say, he saw fit to illustrate his intention, not by remaining silent, but by speaking his little piece on every oceasion that offered. He seemed to have rather a contracted idea of the numerical importance of the people of Connecticut, for he expressed the hope that a some future time he should spend SQUANDERING THE PUBLIC LANDS -Congress still has a large variety of schemes before it for giving away the Public Lands to speculators in railway and other projects. The "land grabbers says the Philadelphia Leger, have little or no regard for right or public opinion. RE-ADMITTING STATES .- The State of Georgia has, at last, been re-admitted to representation in the national Capitol. Having convinced the political majority in the House of Representatives that Georgia would henceforth he "all right," (would support, in other words, the Republican party its nominees, and principles,) the "erring sister," was restored on Friday last to her place in the family circle. So much the better. It must be gratifying to every patriotic man capable of rising above partisan influences to see the Union once more in the shape and consistency that belonged to it before the rebellion and we sincerely trust that nothing may ever recur calculated to lead to discord and repeat our late melancholly experience of the horrors peculiar to civil war. And yet, while we rejoice in Georgia's return to the federacy of the Union, we certainly deprecate the man. ner in which all these things are done

Philadelphia Nominations.

The Democracy of Philadelphia held their Congressional and Legislative conventions week before last. The contrast between the harmony which prevailed in making their nominations and the disgraceful turmoll which so generally characterized the political conventions of a few weeks ago, say the Age, is so strong, that it vill not fail to impress the public with the merits of our cause. The new rules of the Democratic party have been tried, and the experiment has proved them eminently practicable in furthering the isiness of each nominating body. In the Conventions, the Chairman of the Executive Committee of the wards in which they severally met, or gentlemen delegated by them, temporarily presiding was avoided, and the Conventions were hastened tranquilly to a working condition. The nominations for Congress are: First District, Samuel J. Randall; Second, Theodore Cuyler; Third, Dr. John I. Moffett: Fourth, no nomination.

GEARY'S "PET LAMBS,"

Now that Governor Geary has suceeded in raising colored military comonnies all over the state, and has equipped them with the best arms and accoutrements the state arsenal offords, the "smokes" are beginning to carry things with a high hand. A colored company from Harrisburg, went to Marysville, Perry county, on a fourth of July excursion, and amused themselves by knocking down, shooting and brutally maltreating the people of that locality. The following report of the riot, clipped from the Morning Patriot, will give some idea of the manner in which the " pet lambs" enjoyed themselves: ·

On the Fourth of July, while the colored military were holding a pic-nidat the Marysville woods, a serious fight arose. Some of the negro troops insisted on having liquor at the railroad hobi, but Mr. Joseph Seidle, the proprieter, refused their request, and the demand or stimulants becoming violent, he ordered them out of his house. They refused o accede to his demand, when he attempted with the assistance of an employee, to foreibly eject the crowd.

A desperate fight resulted, in which pistols, guns, clubs and hottles were freely used by the assailants. Several negro women are raid to have been there with revolvers engaged in the melec.—Mr. Seidle was knocked down and received severe contusions on the head, On the Fourth of July, while the col

Captain Weaver arrived here last night and had a consultation with the Governor, who instructed him to bring the offending parties to justice by civil process, and as the individuals concerned on the side of the colored men all reside in this city, a number of processes were issued to-day for their appiehension.

At the time there was an Odd Fellows' pic-nie in progress near Marvaville, embracing lodges from Maryaville, Duncannon, Dauphin and Newport—all white; and while a portion of the lodges were proceeding homeward in the cars at six o'clock, with women and children, the MESSES. EDITORS: The riot was all on the side of the colored folks. They made their threats when they first came here that they had come for the purpose of whipping the white trash of Marysvile. When requested not to make use of such obscepe and profane language as they used in the street, they became very indignant, and threatened to shoot every white person that interfered with them. When they were requested to go back to the picnic ground and no one would molest them, they kept up their abuse until it was beyond endurance. They were then driven off the premises by force.— They then returned and opened the ball with stones, brick-bata, revolvers and United States muskets. They broke in the windows that were not protected by shutters, fired into the houses with their revolvers; and severely wounded Mr. Sadler, proprietor of the hotel, and in fact all that came in their wounded Mr. Sadler, proprietor of the hotel, and in fact all that came in their way had to suffer. All that were in the house were more or less injured. They left the house believing that they had killed one or more of the inmates. Some of the feminine sex accompanied and excited them by saying remember your color, hoys; also making "ise of their pirtols and firing in at the doors and windows of the house. They left in great glee, clapping their hands, saying there was one dead man sure. They became enraged because they were refused the privilege of dancing at the hot. I. Our hetel keepers are blamed by some for getting them drunk, but such is not the case. They left Harrisburg drunk and had sufficient along to keep them intoxicated. They did not get the liquor in town to cause the riot. After they had got through with the Railroad hotel they retired to the picnic ground, and said they had "given the whites enough, if not, they had two more companies in Harrisburg, and the Governor would furnish the guns, and they would come up and make a finish." When the riot took place the people of the to a were nearly all out at the grove at the Odd Fellows' picnic, or they would have fared poorly. When the train passed the Railroad Hotel they fired a volley, which was returned by the citizens who had prepared themselves, thinking they might make an antack. I have barely given you the outlines of the case.
