have charged him upon every piece of the article which ho sells over the coun-"ter to the workingman, and thus the laborer, buying goods in the store, has to pay, not only the original value of the thing, but the taxes of the manufacturer, the wholesale dealer and the storekeeper. Each of the previoue ownors received from the purchaser the tax he had previously paid; but the last man, the laborer, the consumer, the ul-timate owner of the article, who does not sell it to anybody, but keeps it, uses it, wears it out, has no one to pay him in return the accumulated taxes which these richer men have one after another piled upon their goods, to enable them to meet the dem inds of the tax gatherer. The tax is shifted from the manufac have recognized in the clearest manner turer to the wholesale dealer, and from him to the retail dealer, who in turn puts it upon the workingman-but on whom shall the workingman shift the tax? He pays it all and gets none of it back from anybody else. The man who wears the shirt pays the tax of the store keeper who sold it, of the wholesale dealer who supplied it to the store, and of every man who has handled it, back to the cotton millionaire in whose mills it was woven. Jefferson said, "Taxation is like a ball rolling down stairs; it bumps on each step, but finally reston the lowest." It is the working mas ses who pay the taxes. The men who work with their hands for their daily bread are the ones who pay the four past against the democratic party-a prejudicities unreasonableness and folly hundred million dollars a year which is required to support the extravagance of radicalism at Washington, and they There are thousands and tens of thou are the men who have the deepest interest in an honest and economical adthe last ten years against their better ministration. Is it not undenlably true that the heavy taxes the workingman pays, the high prices of living, the difficulty he has to get along, the hard labor he has to perform in order to gain the scantiest subsistence for his family, are all the results of Radical policy, which takes from the poor man in order that it may give to the rich? The poor man does the labor and pays the taxes, and yet how many poor men have houses of their own, or are proprietors of the land they till? They work like slaves, but the benefits of their labor go into the rich man's pocket, leaving them barely will avert it: enough to live on, with nothing to show at the end of the year, or to lay aside for a rainy day.

SINCE the Radicals have had control of the State governments of North Carolina, Mississippi and Alabama, the available funds of those States have mysteriously disappeared, and the State debt of each has been increased several millions. No one seems to know where the money has gone, but, in the language of a colored legislator--"Its done gone somewhar, sartin such !"
