Odds and Ends.

'PAT' openings—The coal holes on the sidewalks. Grop housekeepers are putting up all the fruit they can.

Many men are worth nothing, and no man is worth less. Put yourself in his place.

How very generous those tradesmen are who advertise for 'A young man to keep a set of books.'

Where does an editor pay a singular lack with grammar? When he declines an article.

'Very good, but rather too pointed.' 'As the fish said when it swallowed the bait.'

An exchange says: 'The compositor of the New York printing offices embrace a great many ladies.'

It is not a necessary consequence that Lent discourses should be 'borrowed' sermons.

How many apples did our first parents eat in the Garden of Eden? Adam 8 and Eve 2.

BRECHERS say it never do to preach cream and practice skim-milk.

STROEMAGERS drive hard bargains—they always want money to boot.

They tell a tale in Winchester, Indiana, every hour, and the same to the inhabitants to keep their quietude.

Is a trial for assault and battery? Counsel—I will now introduce an eye-witness of the affair, Samuel Smith.

A colored lady, boasting of the progress made by her son in arithmetic, exclaimed: 'He is in a magnificent table.'

'Was it your eldest daughter, madam, that was bitten by a monkey?' 'No, sir, it was not my daughter, but my daughter had a worse misfortune; she married a monkey.'

A tradesman on opening his money-drawer, in a fit of dizziness, discovers some nice nibbling some currency. Why is it like a commentary? Because he lets it slip upon the scotch-shavers.

A down-east girl being battered one day by some boys, she took her regard to her lover who had the misfortune to have but one leg; replied: 'Pooh, I wouldn't have a man with two legs, they are too common!'

'ADVERTISE,' says a western preacher, 'takes us up short and sets us down hard, and when it's done with us we feel as contented as if that's been spanked and set away to sleep.'

ACCORDING to a Wes. ern paper a young lady in that town 'appears as fresh and buoyant as the budding rose after passing through the snow-storms of winter and the lambadaed to his dock. Twins, brethren, twins. 'Let us pray.'

'WELL David,' said a poor but worthy citizen to one of the State street magistrates, 'I have been prospered with you and they say you are immensely rich?'

'Well,' replied David, 'perhaps it is true, but I am not so rich as you think. I have a good deal of money, but I have a bad habit of giving it away.'

'AN intelligent youth, recently engaged in a commercial office, made out a bill for "fourty" pounds of flour. His employer called his attention to the error in the spelling of that "fourty," and the youth replied: "Sure enough," replied the proprietor, "I left out the 'd'."

'I promise you will be able to support me,' said a young lady, who had just set out one day with her intended, during a slippery state of the pavement. 'Why yes,' said the somewhat hesitating young man, 'I will do my best to support you from your father's fortune.'

'There has been a duplex arrival of the "Quaker" steamer, which is expected to be lambadaed to his dock. Twins, brethren, twins. 'Let us pray.'
