Joe's brother, Ned, the engineer, was In starty limit, that I give in to instruct that i gives in the start of the second with him to set our little plan in motion. Joe's brother, Ned, the engineer, was in to run his engine for the first one hum-dred unles of my journey, and he was to thelp in the plan. You see Ned was courting a younger sister of Joe's wife, and so it all being almost in the family, the was willing to do a good deal to give to Joe his Christmas at home. First we went to the railroad superintendent, and got his permission to take my through express car out of the train and cubsti-tute therefore a grain car. My car was to one of these kind with a passage outside, and dors in each end besides those at the sides. the sides. This made it easier of attack, should robbers get on the train, as the multitule of doors required a stricter guard against surprise, with an increase of against surprise, with in increase side doors, danger. The grain car had only two side doors, which locked from without, but had two grated windows for ventilators, one at each end, with wooden shutters on the inside to close them up tightly. Ned was to lock me in, and to hand the key to the next engineer that came on, with access relatively in the set of the s ome private instructions. Well at 7 o'clock on Christmas eve the Well at 7 o'clock on Christmas eve the train was ready to shart. Our express superintendent was down to see us off, and noticed the changed car shut, sup-posing the other to be out of repair, said nothing. He watched me place the valuable packages I had received in my safe and iron chest, and then springing into the car warned both Joe and myself to be very careful, as he had news that mischief was intended before long. It seemed like a mouse or a rat, but it left an over-whelming smell. a close, sufficienting feel-ing, and bi fore I c uld open my eyes to see clearly, or could come to my senses, I was again asleep. Again I awoke, this time completely, but with a fearful weight of oppression over my eyes. My head ached, and I strove to place my band upon it. My hand would not obey my wish; I must be paralyzed; it seem-ed as if I was yet dreaming; I had no power over hand or limb. Another ef-fort I would make to shake off this dead-ly feeling, but as I strove to furu in my fort I would make to shake off this dead-ly feeling, but as I strove to turu in my nammuck, or to lift a yself, something could touches my forehead with a re-treshing coolness, and agruft voice bids me lie quiet. I turn my head with in-tense difficulty and pain, and I see a on the three onsulted for a moment, and then one said, 'It is nothing, they are stopping for a hot journal perhaps.— Bill sprung to me and pressing his re-volver hard against my body, h ssed, 'if they call for you, say all right.' Before I could reply, a rasping noise was heard. followed by the report of a pistol, and the fall of some heavy body across my already over-taxed frame. I fainted. When I came too Ned was challing my hands, and half a dozen were rubbing my swollen and chafed limbs, while brandy was being placed on my lips.— Ned was almost hysterical when I came too, but the eraziest of all was little Jack, too, but the eracises of all was little Jack, the wood passer of the engine, who kept shouting, 'I shot him,'I is ot him,' till some one knocked him down to make and noticed the Changed Chrishit, sup-posing the other to be out of repair, said nothing. He watched me place the valuable packages I had received in my safe and iron cheest, and then springing into the car warned both Joe and myself to be very careful, as he had news that mischle was intended before long. Joe was helping me in the car so as to appear-before the superintendent to be going with me. Ned came and locked us in. Joe first klasing his wife, who was on the platform, good-bye, and pretending-lucky fellow-that he was so sorry he was going away at Christmas. As soon as the door was but and locked Joe went through that con the other side, first thanking me again for befriending him, and strange my traps to, make the trip "s comfortable as possible. There was no receiving or handing out of packages to be done till the next morning, when the new engineer would look in upon till then, when he would look in upon we L might make myself as happy or the message i had nearly. Then crossing the car he had obtained the services of the conductor, brakesmen and some willing passengers, and having surround-ed as far as they could a fast-moving car, he had pulled the bell and so signalled the fireman to stop. When Jack saw Bill point his revolver at me he thought he was going to shoot me, so forcing the ventilating shutter open he brought him with a well aimed bullet, kining him instantly. We took the other two to a town on our route where justice was done them. They got thirty years free board. As for Ned, the express folks were vexed at first, but as I had suffered so much and pleaded hard for both hum and myself, we kept our old places and still do. Christmas day I spent in bed and also a few days afterwa'd's getting well, but they brought my wife and fami-ly to me and we didn t fare so badly after all. DON'T STAND STILL.-If you do you will be run over. Motion, action, prog-ress; these are the words which now fill the vaults of heaven with their stirring the values of heaven with the string demands, and make human hearly pul sate with a strong bound. Advance or stand aside, do not block up the way and hidder the career of others; there is too much to do now to allow of inaction anywhere or in any one. There is something for all to do; the world is be combine more and more known; wider something for all to do; the world is be-coming more and more known; wider in magnitude-closer in interest-more loving and more eventful than of old.-Not in deeds of dering; not in the en-sangulard field; not nu chains and ter-rors; not in blood, and tears, and gloom, but in the leaning, vivifying, exhiltera-ting impulses of a better soul. Reader-are you doing your part of this work.

Next I heard cantious footsteps, on the, roof of my ear-probably, if anyboly, it was a brakeman going over the car to the engine for his lunch can, which was there keeping hot. I lay still praving a few moments longer, then more footsteps are plainly heard on the roof. This time I was sure there were two or three persons. Ah, I forgot, no doubt, they were confederates watching ontside while the three within did the plundering. A'l of a sudden the hell pull overhead rat-tled as if energetically pulled; the engine whistled brakes, and I felt every brake on the tain was being put down to a moned their chief city, which was walled moned their chird city, which was walled in to surrender. The Amazonssent him a deputation, who thus spoke to the great king: 'Great conqueror, if thou intend-est war with us thy arms prevail, thou wilt not add a jot to thy fame by having conquered a kingdom of women. But as all war is doubtfol, and battles ate not closer to the strong theory was the always to the strong, thou mayest be besten; and then behold the ignominy with which thy name will be branded forever: The conqueror of the world was beaten by women ! Alexander, felt the force of this argument, and abandoned his underfaking, ordaining as obelisk to be crected, with the following inscription : I. Alexander, until now foolish and vain, have earned wisdom from women,

Somewhat subduel in his desires, he marched in a northerly direction and reached the small but happy kingdom of Burinapoor. The native king knowing his own weakness against the might osts of Alexander, received him and his hosts of Alexander, received him and Dis army hospitably. He sent messengers to invite Alexander to his modest palme, and prepared a hanquet. When the con-queror was seated, he beheld a most singular spectacle. Instead of the usual fish and flesh and fowl and bread, all fish and flesh' and fowl and bread, all that was placed before him was either of gold, silver, or precious stones. Thus, instead of the soup there was a plate of emeralds. The goblet of wine was repro-sented by a goblet of pearls. Birds artis-tically made of gold were served up to him, and silver leaves were there to rep-resent the wheater bad. 'Do you eat gold and silver and drink pearls in your land.' asked Alexander astonished. ctonished. 'Can I believe,' said the native king, Can I believe, shit the native king, that you, the great conqueror of the yworld, who has left your own land to subdue the remotest kingdoms of the earth-can I think that you can feel satis-fiel to be fed from the usual productions of the land like other men? Surely, of grain, meat, and wine you have plenty as your country. Your from in rand congrant, meat, and while you have please in your country. Your roaming and con-quests can have no other object but rich-es and power. Here there is gold, silver, and precious stones. East and drink them, and show us that you are more than a

Do You WANT TO LIVE LONG ?--- If boy to mannool grown; and no scool transfigured in the light of her own beau-tiful hove. Never was there a more no-ble son than he--honored in the world--and the staff of her declining years. Aye, he was her support even then, but she did not know it. She never realized that it was her little boy that gave her strength for daily toll--that his slender form was all that upheld her over the brink of despair. She only knew how she loved the child, and felt that amidst the mists of age his love would bear her gently through its infirmities to the dark hall leading to the life beyond. But the son has forgotten the mother's ministra-tions now 'Adrift from the moorings of home, he is cold, selfish, heartless-and 'mother' has no sacred meaning to the prodigal. She is 'the old woman,' wrink-led, gray, lame and blind. you do, go and get married, and staid not on the order of your going. Dr. Hall, in one of his "Health Tracts," gives the following reasons why marriage is favor-able to health: Bachelors are alwing in a state of unrest; they feel unsettled. In a state of unrest, they her insection. If indoors after support, there is a sense of solitariness, including a sadness, if not actual melancholv, with all its depress-ing influences; and many, many hours in the course of the year are spent in gloomy inactivity, which is adverse to a second direction and a viccorous and good digestion and a vigorous and healthy circulation. His own chamber or house being so uninviting, the backe-lor is inclined to seek diversion cutside for is inclined to seek diversion outgood in supports with friends, to clubs, which are introductories of intemperance and licentionsuless, or those more unblushing associations which, under the cover of darkness, lead to the speedy run of health darkness, lenth the speedy full of heart and morals, and when these are gone, the way downward is an easy one." Now that this point is settled, here is another recommendation worth taking to heart. Dr, Dio Lewis says: "Every person of remarkable longevity, whose habits I that rain comes after a battle, says a scien that we have here the germs of a creat discovery in natural science, that will at some future time add vasily to our con-trol over inanimate nature, and may be made of immense benefit to mankind.— If the burning of a certain amount of gunpowder in a certain way will force the atmosphere to give up in the shape of rain, a portion of the water with which, in the dryest as well as in the dampest season, it is charged, why should the country ever be allowed to suifer from drought? There have been times during the summer just passed, when a good that have studied retired to rest at an early have studied retired to rest at an early hour. He may have transgressed other laws of health-far example, he may have used spirits and tohacco moderately; but I have heard of no long liver who ha-bitually sat up (ill a late hour, and I may add that among them all I have never, read of a large eater.

add that among them all 1 take needs, read of a large eater. Eat right and sleep right, and you have the two fundamental conditions of health and long life. Establish these two sources of hie us fixed babits, and if you get drunk once a month and smoke live eigars a day, you may, notwithstand-ing, live a long life in the eujoyment of good health. But sit up in a furnace-lucated room till 11 o'clock, and eat the quantity and quality of food consumed by people who believe in a short life and a merry one, and you may rest assured that the yearly trip to the mountains, a month's guzzle of Saratoga waters, and the attentions of a fashionable doctor-all put together-will fail to save you from early wrinkles, early loss of sight, premature gray hair, and a short life. Then do you ask me how you can reach 55 in the enjoyment of all your faculties? I reply, go to bed at 9 o'clock, and eat twice a day a moderate quantity of plain food " drought? There have been times during the summer just passed, when a good rain would have been worth to the coun-try millions of dollars, and scarcely a season passes but that some portion of the country suffers from want of it. If at such times rain could be brought on by the firing of cannon, the country could well afford a large expenditure of money for the powder required. LAMP EXPLOSIONS.—In view of the frequent accidents occurring from the use of coal oil lamps, we are prompted to give the following rules, by the careful observance of which explosions may be in a great measure prevented : 1. Never turn a wick down low under any considerations. This is the great petil, because the cotton of the wick be-comes hard and earbonized, actually char.

A PERIPATETIC Sunday school talker ended a long story thus: 'And now, my young friends, the names of these two boys were Thomasand Philander.
