HISTORICAL SKETCHES OF THE SETTLEMENT OF THE CUMBERLAND VALLEY

As soon as the news reached Carlisle of the attack on the volunteers who went to the relief of the inhabitants of Tuscarora and Sherman's valleys, another company of thirty or forty men, under command of Sheriff Dunning and William Ligon, went in pursuit of the enemy.

The Spring of 1764 brought with it increasing difficulties. The people who had crowded to Carlisle and Shippensburg, were chiefly supported by contributions from Philadelphia.

On the 4th of August, 1843, a number of gentlemen went to the place where tradition said the bodies of the murdered victims were buried.

something so startling in this outrage, perpetrated in the midst of a thickly settled community, that the greatest consternation once prevailed, and many of those who had returned to their homes again fled to Carlisle for safety.

CARLISLE BARRACKS DISCONTINUED.—Some time has passed since the removal of the general cavalry recruiting station from Carlisle to Jefferson barracks at St. Louis, and making this post a sub-depot for the Eastern States.

From this despatch it is evident that the great object of the military authorities was to get the removal of the barracks for the cavalry.
