DEMOCRATIC STATE TICKET.
FOR AUDITOR GENERAL,
GEN. WM. McCANDLESS,
OF PHILADELPHIA.
FOR SURVEYOR GENERAL,
CAPT. JAMES H. COOPER,
OF LAWRENCE COUNTY.

Our neighbors of the Herald, the Chambersburg Repository, Forney's Press, and perhaps some other Radical journals of less note, appear very much exercised because of our sentiments, as contained in our "Push on them" column, article of two weeks since. Our sentiments are not those of the Intemperate Democratic State Convention," say these journals. Our contemporaries speak of our article as though they had found a mare's nest, and cackle over it as a silly pulp cackle over her first egg.

New it is not necessary that we should say much more in regard to the accusations already to be seen are sufficient to assure us that Gen. McCandleless will run for that infamous game. The indications already to be seen are sufficient to assure us that Gen. McCandleless will run for that infamous game. The indications already to be seen are sufficient to assure us that Gen. It is all that is needed to secure a magnificent Democratic triumph in October is a full pull for the Democratic ticket. This fact is kept steadily in mind, and all arrangements be made for insuring a victory which will decide the Presidential contest of 1872 in advance.

We are not in the number of those who are inclined to go into ecstasies because Mr. Henry Ward Beecher, Mrs. Beecher-Stow, and Mr. Florence Greeley have lately found it expedient to ally themselves with the Democracy. We can, by energy and perseverance, elect our candidates, McCandleless and Cooper, by 20,000 majority, and also reelect the House of Representatives. "On, Stanley, on!"

It is all that is needed to secure a magnificent Democratic triumph in October is a full pull for the Democratic ticket. This fact is kept steadily in mind, and all arrangements be made for insuring a victory which will decide the Presidential contest of 1872 in advance.

HOW THE NOMINATIONS ARE RECEIVED.

The Democracy of Pennsylvania are delighted with the nominations made by the State Convention. The selection of Gen. McCandleless and Capt. Cooper as our country candidates come to us with the promise of assuring victory. Every honest and conscientious Republican is availing their intention to vote for the gallant soldiers who have been put forward as our standard-bearers. McCandleless and Cooper do not run upon a military record alone, brilliant as their career was in the army of the Union. They are both known to men of decided civil capacity, and in every respect well fitted to discharge the duties of the offices for which they have been nominated. The Radical candidates are known to be the creatures of Quay, Mackey & Co., and their election would be regarded as another triumph for that corrupt combination which is familiarly known among politicians as the "Treasury Ring."

The honest voters of Pennsylvania will not entrust the finances of the State to the care of a tool of that infamous game. The indications already to be seen are sufficient to assure us that Gen. McCandleless will run for that infamous game. The indications already to be seen are sufficient to assure us that Gen. McCandleless will run for that infamous game.

THE OFFICE-HOLDERS' TICKET.

The Grant-Cameron office-holders State ticket is not receiving a very cordial support from the better portion of the Radical party. Forney, of the Press, Berneer, of the Telegraph, and other office-holders, are appealing to the faithful to fall into line for Stanton and Beath, but the honest Republicans who are tired of supporting a party merely that they may continue to hear "riches, are deaf as adders to their cry of distress. The fact is "the sober second thought" of the people has convinced them that this Radical Republican black-and-tan party is a gigantic fraud—a fraud so palpable that "he who runs may read." It is a combination of money changers, who feel no interest and have no sympathy with the "tolling millstone" Grant, the high priest of Radicalism, and who is a fair type of that pie-bald fiend, is just now going about from place to place taking confidentially to newspaper correspondents and getting them to report his views of the political situation, and all that. At a recent interview of this kind he is represented as saying that "the faults of the administration are mine," which nobody ever once doubted, and as the administration has little else to distinguish it but faults, blunders, and vices of all sorts and of all grades, the President assumes a heavy amount of personal responsibility in taking all its sins upon himself. He, however, evidently thinks that his administration of the Government has been highly creditable, although the only remarkable thing in this case, is that he should be so well pleased with himself with so small a modicum of real merit on which to ground his self-complacency. In this respect, he reminds us of

MR. TRUMBULL ON THE KU KLUX BILL.

Senator Trumbull had some enough to discern the many evils which are coupled in the Ku Klux bill. He very justly characterized it as intended to change the form and theory of our government, and therefore most dangerous in every feature; but especially in that which gave the President the power to suspend the writ of habeas corpus at will. The following is the synopsis of his speech:

Mr. Trumbull opposed the amendments reported from the Judiciary Committee, as making the bill obnoxious to the objection made to it in the House, that it was to the extent of punishing persons for violating State laws without any reference to the Constitution or laws of the United States. He did not think that even the Senator from Vermont (Mr. Edmunds) would assume that Congress should pass a general ordinance over the State of the Union. It was understood by the members of the House of the bill, as passed by that body, went no further than to protect persons in the States of the Union from the commission and laws of the United States, and did not undertake to authorize any citizen of a State to assert his rights in the Federal Courts, or in any other way against another in the same State. That such was the intent of the bill was shown by the fact that the bill, as introduced, was to be read and passed by the House of Representatives, and not by the Senate.

HONOR DAMAGE BILL.

Print below, for the information of our readers, the Honorable Damage Bill as it passed both Houses of the Legislature. It has been signed by the Governor and is now a law. It provides for the re-adjudication of the claims, the issue of certificates payable when the amount of the same to the State, and requires the Governor to demand payment of the same from the State Government. The State disclaims any liability.

ACTUALLY BUYING FIVE TICKETS.

The President drove to the depot in his own carriage, and Mr. Murphy not being present, he deliberately stepped to the window and purchased five tickets, and exhibited so much nervousness that the people smiled. It was not until he had reached the depot when he found the President actually paying for them. The President actually entered the car designed for ordinary people, and took their seats. Just then Mr. Murphy and Sam. Maddox's car came dashing round the corner together. They were both covered with perspiration and dirt. Mr. Murphy had just stepped into the car to join the President. Mr. Murphy seemed much chagrined at the sight of the President's carriage, and expressed his surprise that a special car was not attached to the train for the accommodation of the party.

Ayer's Sarsaparill

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

One full young woman, rather good-looking, wearing the vest and military hair, passed in remaining recovered. A woman stepped forward to enforce compliance, when one of the escort, too readily yielding to the injunctions of the latter, rudely placed his hand on the girl's head, and seizing her hair with the cap, compelled her to bend down to the ground. Immediately afterward she stood erect, casting a look full of hatred upon her persecutor. Turned away from the scene, I said to myself with grief that a people which has no confidence in the law and efficacy of the law is not fit for liberty.
