As there was no other aspiring young Republican ambitious to be beaten by a round thousand majority, the Senato rial nomination was conferred upon J. M. Weakley, Esq., the present Deputy Secretary of the Commonwealth. Now Weakley is a fine fellow, too, a wellread lawyer, a forcible speaker, and a ready writer, but his politics are so wretchedly bad, and his political associations so objectionable, that he won't begin to touch bottom.

HUBBAH FOR "OLD MAINTUCK,"

At the election for Governor of Kentucky, last week, the Democracy swept everything before them, and achieved a glorious triumph. The latest dispatches say that Leslie's majority will reach 40,000. As the entire negro vote was cast for his Radical competitor, the returns show an aggregate Democratic gain, on the whole vote, of several thousand. This is glory enough for one day, and indicates the turn in the tide which in 1872 will carry the Democratic party into power, all over the country.
