HORRIBLE DEATH .- On Thursday

night, shortly after, 12 o'clock, as the Uincinnati express was passing along i short distance south of York, a German man named Henry Steinicker, who was on the track was run over and crushed in a horrible manner. His entire body was mangled, only his head and one leg could e recognized as parts of a human being. The train stopped and the sad intelli-gence was taken back to the depot, when he yard engine was brought out and the nangled body was taken to what is known as the dead-house near the denot. The unfortunate victim was about 60 years of age and had several children.-He resides near the depot. He was a tailor by trade but worked around town as a day laborer. Coroner Rouse held an inquest and rendered the following verdict: "That Henry Steinicker came to his death by being accidentally-while in an intoxicated condition—caugh tand run ver, and killed instantly by the Cincinnati express South on the N. DESTRUCTIVE FIRE.—The Shippensburg News of the 15th inst. says: On Monday night, between the hours of 10 and 11 o'clock, a brilliant illumination of the southwestern sky was observed by many of our citizens, and many conjectures were made in regard to the locality of the conflagration, which, however, was not definitely placed until Tuesday morning, when we learned with much regret, that the large and commodious barn, with all its contents, on the farm of Simon Bitner, Esq., in Southampton township, Franklin county, had been consumed by fire. The horsesand cattle. fortunately, had been turned into pasture, consequently they escaped destruction, but Mr. B.'s other losses are quite h.mvy. The building destroyed was large and commodious, and, we under stand, nearly new. Also, a wagon shed, gears, harness, two reapers, four wire hay akes, a mower, threshing machine farm wagon, buggy, $2,000 worth of reaper castings, 200 bushels of corn, and 200 shels of oats. His loss is not far short of $7,000, on which there is an insurance $1,600. In regard to the origin of the ire, there is but one conclusion, and that it was the work of an incendiary. SCHOOL EXAMINATIONS.-The public examinations of the common schools of this borough commenced on last Monday. They are well attended by the friends and patrons of the schools, and the scholars, so far, have acquitted them selves admirably. INFLUENCE OF FOOD UPON POULTRY AND EGGS. - The influence of the food of poultry upon the quality and flavor of their flesh and eggs has not generally been taken into consideration; but it is now well ascertained that great care should be exercised in regard to this matter. In some instances it has been attempted to feed poultry on a large scale in France on horse flesh, and although they devour this substance very goeedily, it has been found to give them a very unpleasant savor. The best fattening material for chickens is said to be In dian corn meal and milk; and certain large poultry establishments in France use this entirely, to the advantage both of the flesh and of the eggs.

DISTRESSING ACCIDENT. - A lad named James Bentz, aged 17, son of Mr. John Bentz, of the firm of A. W. Bentz & Co., of this borough, met with a serious and very painful accident on Monday last .-We learn that on the day named, Prof. Eckles, of the High School, allowed the boys of his school the afternoon for receation. They employed part of the time in bathing in the Letort Spring, and after swimming for some time, commenced browing small sticks at each other. One of the boys (named Wm. Little,) threw a stick at young Bentz with considerable force. The stick entered the right eye, cutting the ball and causing the eye to run out. The poor boy suffered excrutiating pain, and as soon as possible was prought home and placed in the hands of a physician. At this writing he is comparatively easy, but his eye is lost to him forever. Another warning to boys to stop the reprehensible and inexcusable habit of throwing sticks and stones. THE FOURTH OF JULY.-We understand it is the intention of our neighbors in Shippensburg to celebrate the Fourth of July in a becoming manner. The following, we believe, will be the programme for the occasion. A national salute will be fired at break of day, from Spring Hill. At ten o'clock a grand procession will be formed, consisting of all military and fire companies, civic societies and orders, mechanics representing their different trades, in wagons, farmers with their implements and products, and citizens in carriages, on horseback and on foot, the same to be under the charge of a marshal and aids, and march to the grounds selected for the occasion, where the Declaration of Independence will be read, patriotic songs sung, and an oration delivered, and a good and substantial collation furnished in the C. V. Farmers' Insurance Co., of free to all. After which appropriate toasts will be read, and music dispersed and in the evening a splendid display of fireworks. It is the intention of the committee of arrangements, if possible, to have the ity, may be in the clutches of the law be Cumberland Valley railroad, company run extra trains on the above day.

This turtle is now on exhibition in his salcon. in the Volunteer Building. All thos who want to enjoy a good plate of turtle Ir nothing happens to destroy the soup should call at his saloon on the evening of the Fourth of July.

MR. J. B. MORROW, the editor of the Star of the Valley, published at New ville, in this county, indignantly disclaims the authorship of the letter to Horace Greeley, published in the New York Tribune a few days ago, asking for the post office at Newville. In his explanation he says: "The miscreant who invented the letter to the Tribune may lay some claim to ingenuity in bringing us in so unenvia-ble light before the public; but his very prematureness betrays his want of fore-sight, for all know there is little or no chance for the election of Mr. Greeley unless endorsed by the Baltimore con-vention, as intimated in the Tribune's vention, as intimated in the Product's editorial, which we publish this week, and had in type before the paper containing the notice alluded to reached us. Our enemy, whoever he may be, is entitled to life petty spite, and may roll it in his mouth as a sweet morsel, and all we can do for the present is to regard it as another evidence of the depravity of the human heart in general."

The Philadelphia Post has had the reputation of being one of the most Radical Republican newspapers in the country. It has, however, shown more independence than is usual among journals of its class. It has dared to speak out very plainly when necessity seemed to demand it, and has refused to be made the mere subservient tool of political managers. When a corrupt ring forced obnox ous and unfit candidates upon the Republican State ticket, the Post denounced the outrage in proper terms. Now, that another ring—greater and more corrupt than that which encircles Simon Cameron, has re-nominated Gen. Grant, the Post boldly refuses to bow to the decrees of a National Convention, which was packed by Federal office-holders.

So completely was the work of the Philadelphia Convention mapped out beforehand, that several Republican news papers, the Williamsport Bulletin, among others, announced on Wednesday evening the nomination of Grant that day by acclamation. This they did in advance of the event which did not take place until the next day, manufacturing telegrams in their offices. .

PRESIDENT LONG BRANCH Was Grant ed a re-nomination by the Philadelphia packed Convention. Of course all the office-holders in the country, from a village postmaster down to the keepers of bull-pups and black and tan terriers, sent up a shout for the great gift-taker, U. S. G. The Buckslew Liquor Law.

The other day we overheard a repub lican politician arguing with a repub-lican tavern keeper who had declared his intention of voting against John H. Hartranft, and for Chas. R. Buckaley. What, said the politician, you vote for Buckalew? why, don't you know he is the father of the Sunday liquor law which the committee of 45 are now en foreing in this city? It struck us that the radical politician was obliged to resort to a very low style of argument sort to a very low style of argument, but we were led to look into the matter, and we found upon examination that Eli K. Price, a Republican of Philadelphia, was the author of what is generally known as the Sunday liquor law. Let him have whatever of credit or blame attaches to the act.

The statute of 1854, which is commontantly the Walls of the Sunday the Walls of the Sunday.

The statute of 1893, which is commonily called the Buckalew law, provides that tavern keepers shall not sell liquor to minors, to idiots or to persons of known intemperate habits, after being notified in writing by a member of their family, a blood relation, an overseer of the poor, or a magistrate in the seer of the poor, or a magistrate in the district in which the unfortunate victim of intemperate habits resides. That is the full extent of the enactment. This law is so humane that it has drawn forth frequent expressions of commendation from courts of justice. A short time ago, Judge Agnew spoke of it as follows, from the bench of the Supreme Court:

"It is," said he, "one of the most beneficent laws on the statute book. Viewing the habitual drunkard as a poor captive to appetite, enthralled by a slavery too strong for reason and duty, it comes to his relief by striking down the hand that puts the cup to his lips, and puts in it the power of wife, children and relatives to stay the hand of the seller of strong drink, by a notice which exposes him to punishment if the warning is disregarded."

Surely there can be few liquor sellers found in Pennsylvania so debased that their hearts will not respond to the

Surely there can be few liquor sellers found in Pennsylvania so debased that their hearts will not respond to the noble utterances of Judge Agnew.

Mr. Buckalew is a statesman and a philantfiropist, but he is not a fanatic on the subject of tempeance, or on any other subject. He views questions with the eye of a wise and experienced legislator. When the subject of Pennsylvania he voted against it both last winter and the winter before. Last winter he made the winter before. Last winter he made a speech against it, putting his opposi-tion to the measure presented upon such broad and comprehensive grounds that some of the supporters of the bill were greatly staggered by his argument.

We have deemed it proper to make the above statement in order that the exact status of Mr. Buckalew may be known to the people of Pennsylvania. He is a man who would scorn to sail under false colors, one whose whole lite, both private and public, will bear the closest scrutiny.—Lancaster Intelligen-
