

Agricultural.

OUR SHORT HAY CROP. Close attention to the numerous reports... agricultural papers during the last two months...

The thoughtful answer will come from many. 'Sell off part of my stock.' Will that meet the difficulty? Will persons having a short supply of stock be likely to purchase?...

Having stock to subsist upon a half supply during the winter, when they are cut off from every thing green and luxuriant, will not meet the difficulty.

Worse economy was never practiced than to stint the supply of food that an animal requires.

We believe that if it comes into use when you are in want of supplies, contains so much water and a certain quantity of sugar that renders it difficult to cure when the weather is cool.

Mr. C. Graves of Springfield, 'did not mind in paying fifty dollars per ton for special manure. He had put on about eight tons to the acre, but hereafter should spread on twelve tons per acre.

W. R. Sissons, of Wilsborough, said the best was home made. He increased and improved by carting in muck, loam, and sand.

W. H. Bart of Longmeadow, says anything he can get hold of for absorbents, anything that would convey the liquid to the land.

Dr. Stiekney of Springfield, was called upon to see a piggin on in regard to a 'snore or gas which escaped from the pig in manure.'
