HOME TESTIMONY.

Censure from a friend is very likely to be deserved; and it goes to the bone. Well for him who can afford to take it in good part. Then, it is like bitter herbs—disagreeable to take, but whole some in its effects. It is a medicine which Gen. Grant cannot endure. He doesn't take his bitters in that way .-Yet some of the tersest and some of the most searching characterizations of Grant, as magistrate and a man, have been uttered by those who were, or had been, his near friends. They know

"There are sixteen weighty reasons why Grant should never be President,' wrote Colfax in 1868.

"He has no more soul than a dog," said Ben Butler, less than a year ago. "He is not controlled by constitutional law, but by political rings," said Trumbull.

"I can have no more to do with such a man," says Alexander T. Stewart. " His San Domingo business stamps him as a first-class conspirator," says Governor Palmer.

"He is a man without sufficient knowledge to preside over a caucus," said Logan in 1868. "He is making money out of his position, and that's all he cares about," said Senator Carpenter to a Herald cor-

THE Fulton Democrat gets off the following good one. It ought to go all Over the country:

A STENOH THROUGHOUT THE STATE. The rotten and putrescent miss of corruption known as the Radical party, is becoming more and more alarmed every day on account of its approaching struction in Pennsylvania. It had so long traded upon the forbearance of the people, and upon its power to use effectively itsold and well worn clap-trap appeals to its imprant votaries, that in very wantonness it has placed in the field candidates for State offices, whose pastiness, has, during fit. He has used the vast patronage of the recent hot weather raised such horrible stench throughout the whole length and breadth of Pennsylvania that the honest men in the party art flying as if from pestilence; and the wier among the leaders are holding their noses with the fingers of one hand while with the other they are bravel striving to drag the carcases from th track, for the purpose of substituting others that will not smell quite abominably. Good folks, your efforts are vain ; yo may scrape the filth in some degree from your State ticket, but the fihost d Evans will haunt you still: the arom of the gambling in State stocks with the mony of the government, through

The people have put up with you a long time; but the government of what used to be known as the honest State of Pennsylvania has so long been a reproach, that this last load has broken the back of the party, and they will not stand it another year. The people are hungering for State officers who will neither lie, nor cheat, nor steal; and you don't offer the proper sort of candidates.

JEREMIAH COLBATH.

This man who now occupies the secand place on the Radical ticket unde his newly assumed name of Henry Wilson, was one of those pseudo states man who undertook "the conduct of the war" in the Senate chamber, and conducted it so as to make money-if not out of contracts, at least out of contractors.

In the Congressional Globe of March 26, 1862, will be found the following utterances of this man Wilson alias will carry the State. In view of the

I have over and over again been in the war office, and urged upon the Department to stop recruiting in every part of the country. We have had the promise that it should be done; yet every day, in different parts of the country, we have accounts of men being raised and brought forth to fill up the ranks of regiments. The papers tell us that in Tennessee and other parts of the country where our armies move we are filling up the ranks of the army. I believe we have to day one hardwards and the filling up the ranks of the order of the use. I have no doubt of it, and I think it ought to be cheeked. THERE is nothing better than preaching, unless it be the practise without which preaching is pretense. Excellent Mr. Henry Wilson is excellent at exhortation, but his latest effort at the business, with "Stick" for his text, has proved unfortunate. He has deserted every party he has ever belonged to except the Grant party, deserted the editorial chair, deserted the cobbler's bench, and even deserted the name his own father dropped upon him. He has really stuck to nothing but his Senatorship, and now proposes to abandon even that if the people will provide him with a berth higher up. And yet he sermonizes Republicans, with all the solemn and sonorous earnestness of old Deacon Snowball, on the duty of adhering to the party and its nomina tions. To read his letter one would imagine that patriotism is another word for paste, and that duty means

Last evening the members of the Moyamensing Hose Company had a banquet in honor of the anniversary of the institution of their Company. The banquet was at the Moyamensing hose house, Eighth street, below Fitzwater, and was attended by a large number of persons, among them being several ladies.

During the early portion of the evening the proceedings were orderly and pleasant, nothing transpiring to mar the occasion. Shortly after 11 o'clock, however, Hugh Marra, who was present, it is stated, took a boquet from the table and carried it off.

Alderman MeMullin was informed of the circumstance, and it is stated that he spoke to Marra, and fold him he ought not to disarrange the table, as the flowers were to remain until the banquet was ended.
