In Washington city, last week, "Judge" Snell (carpet-bagger,) of the Police Court, fined a restaurant keeper $100 and ordered the forfeiture of his license for refusing to sell liquor to a colored man. This is the penalty under the District statue for refusal to sell in such cases. Counsel for defense reminded the court that the negro prosecutor was drunk when he demanded liquor at the restaurant, and that the proprietor was therefore acting the part of a good citizen in refusing him. The "Judge," (who we presume is a bullet-headed Yankee from Massachusetts,) said, in reply, that he had "no doubt the law was made for a wise and benificent purpose, and its requirements must be enforced." Counsel then asked the court "whether it was to be understood, by this decision, that restaurant keepers were required to sell-liquor to all who demanded it, whether they were drunk or sober?" The court-" Restaurant keepers and all others selling liquor must sell to colored people; we presume a white man, whether sober or drunk, might be refused; but that question is not before peration before election day, as they eccupant of the White House, the President of the United States was alvays the friend of the people of Washington city and the District of Coumbia. He was always popular with them, because they regarded him a friend. But Grant, from the hour he became President, has been the mean ersecutor of the people of Washington The tax-payers of the city-the men who own property—have no say whatever in its management. They are literally taxed to death to keep up a set of vagabonds-negroes and carpetbaggers-who hover in and about the city as buzzards hover over a carcass. Grant is responsible for all this; and it is not strange that the men who own Washington city hate and despise him. It is not negro-equality but negro supremacy in Washington, at this time, and yet the man who sanctions this state of affairs, had the brazen effrontery to cry out, " let us have peace." The anaconda with the kid in his possession, might as well utter the same words, as he tightens his slimy coils about his helpless victim. Grant is beyond question or doubt, the most callous, ignorant, selfish, unfeeling man in America. He was so in the army. and we have never found a real true, brave soldier who respected him. The people of Washington have to "grin and bear" under the rule of this lowbred man and his imported "Judges,' carpet-baggers and vagabond negroes, but on the 4th of next March they will again be free, for as sure as a just God lives, on that day he will be kicked out

"Have you seen that article in the New York Evening Post, signed E. R. C.; and if so what do you think of it?" Now, Mr. editor, this. very question has been asked me several times; and nas been asked me several times; and I propose, with your permission, to give a short reply through your columns. The impressions that a stranger would receive of your pretty little town by reading this article would certainly not be very favorable, nor would it be an inducement for them to spend their summers here, where everything is so very uninteresting.

But here we find three broiling young of the active part he took against the Union during the war. This property was restored to him, by an act of Conable to be exhiberated by the "view of the control of the c brick walls and servant's apartments on one side and the stable yard on the other." Yet it is not so very strange tration, by doing all he can to sow after all when we consider that the seeds of discord in the Democratic state of finances may have had someranks. This little gathering of "straight" thing to do with it; certainly the remarkably reasonable rates of those nicely furnished front rooms, are still a little too dear for some people—yet why should they be dissatisfied with what they choose to take.

But we find them after tea taking steps thronged, &c., scarcely a pretty house, and trees few and far between." house, and trees few and far between." If I were asked where they must have promenaded, I should say, judging from their description, that they traversed the rural districts to—well I have'nt he least idea where, but most probably in East Mulberry Alley, wending their way to the hotel by the back way. Carlisle is noted for its pleasant streets, "pincher." Both were the creatures shady side walks, handsome ladies, af-of the saintly Simon, who would no more think of supporting an honest that would tend to make a model town. They should be thanked, however, for the rather left-handed compliment to Fort Foreman. Fort Foreman.

Now they have reached Dickinson College. The description of the buildings and grounds is very good and fair. But during the long summer vacation how else can they expect to find stu-dents rooms than scenes of confusion and disorder. Now during term time we know, from what we have seen, that the students vie with each other in having the most pleasant and home-likelooking rooms. But the "unenviable reputation" that she speaks "of turning out more drunkards than any other institution in the country," is felse.
Dickinson College has an alumni of which she may well feel proud, and your citizens know, that the graduates for years past, with but very few exceptions, have been gentlemen in the highest sense of the word, and to-day, from all that I can learn, the majority of her students are moral and religious young men. we know, from what we have seen that men.

Of your fourteen or fifteen churches they see mentionable beauty only in one. Oh, the teudency of bigoted sectarianism! Why could they not see and admire the First and Second Presbyterian, Lutheran and German Reformed churches, where beauty constitutions. formed churches, where beauty, ease and spaciousness are combined—where God is worshiped with sincerity. Your neat little monument, which Your neat little monument, which tells its own tales could not escape, and even the musical tastes of your citizens had to become a subject of ridicule. I should think it would be so disparaging to our young ladies, not to have city people, with such elegant (?) faculties for criticism, applaud their efforts.

They say "Carlisle is not a pretty town." I say, most emphatically, that it is a handsome town. For its size, I dare a comparison with any in the State. lare a comparison with any in the State. For its beauty of shade and pleasant walks—for its public works and advantages—for its privileges of worship— and for its kind, genial and affable people, it stands unexcelled. "But there are none so blind as those that will not see."
