Jacob Squier, Esq., departed this life at his residence, West Pomfret street, on Monday last. Had he lived to the 11th of this month, his age would have been 91 years. In every respect Mr. S. was a good and exemplary man. He was one of the oldest members of the M. E. Church, and until age incapacitated him he frequently acted as Local Preacher. In the war of 1812 he commanded a company and marched to the defense of Baltimore. He was regarded a brave and good soldier and a fine disciplinarian. After the war he was appointed Justice of the Peace, and until recently he was Treasurer of the Directors of the Poor. He was, we suppose, the oldest Mason in this county, and to the day of his death took a deep interest in the Order. His funeral (yesterday afternoon at 1 o'clock,) was largely attended by his nasonic brethren and other citizens and many eyes moistened as the cold earth was heard to fall upon his coffin. His clothing was considerably torn by the infurlated monster, and he made a very prrow escape from being disemboweled During the thrilling conflict, a large and powerful Newfoundland dog, belonging to Mr. W., seeing the critical eituation in which his master was placed, rushed to the rescue, and, seizing the bull by the throat, held him until Mr. W. succeeded in affecting his escape from the yard.— His escape from a horrible death was al-

ANOTHER FIRE. On Tuesday more

dwelling owned and occupied by Henry and Catharine Zeitz, situate on East Liberty alley. The fire originated in the cellar, but from what cause no person can tell, not even the occupants of the house. The fire must have been burning the greater portion of the night, for when the inmates were at roused from their slumbers the building was already in flames, and it was with great difficulty that they could be escued from the burning element. The building was entirely consumed, together with everything in it-even the clothes which the inmates had taken off before retiring the night previous. Our efficient fire department was promptly on the ground, but the fire had gained such headway before it was discovered, that nothing could be done except to save the surrounding property, which was greatly endanered. The dwelling belonging to John Magonegal, on the south side of the burning building, took fire several times, and it was with great difficulty that the flames were extinguished, The house was damaged by water to a reat extent. The flames also communicated to the roofs of the dwellings owned by George Shade, on the west, and John Yaiser, immediately oppo site, but were subdued before much damage was sustained. We learn there was an insurance on the Zeitz property

MENDELSSOHN, MURDOCH, LIVERfore.-We are glad to learn that the third season of the popular course of actures and concerts will be opened on Friday evening, December 20, by the Mendelssohn Quintette Club of Boston. The second entertainment will be reading by James E. Murdoch, in January. The third and closing one of the course will be a lecture on some entertaining subject, by Mrs. Mary A. Livermore. Of the concert by the Quintette Club and the recitations readings by Murdock, we need not speak, as they are well known to our people. Mrs. Livermore stands; first among the famale orators of the country. A lecture delivered by her some weeks since, in the Academy of Music at Philadelphia, was spoken of in the city. Entertainments of this kind are elevating in their character, and we ask all who are fond of fine music, who delight in hearing prose and poetry read, and who wish to hear a useful and entertaining lecture, to give their encouragement and support to this undertaking. The tickets with reserved seats for the entire course, 1 50. To be had at Piper's Book store, or of John G. Orr and A. Blair.

How to Act in a Hotel .- When you enter a hotel, if there are not more than three empty chairs, occupy them all, if possible; if the weather is cold, sit directly in front of the stove, and then growl about poor fires; if the landlord wants to replenish the fires, do not discommode yourself by moving to one side to give him room, but sit still-what right has a hotel proprietor that a loa-fer should respect? If a paying guest arrives, don't make room for him near the stove or offer him a chair, because he is foolish enough to pay his bill, and help to keep the hotel up for the accommodation of you loafers; pick up the daily paper, but do not read more than three hours, as some of the guests may want to look at it; if there are more besides yourself reading, you read aloud, it will not annoy the rest. If you should want to buy a two cent cigar, wait until the landlord goes to his dinner, let him get almost half through, then step to the door and call him out, and ask him if, he can't give you three for five cents ; if he cannot, tell him you can get then across the way. After you have kept him talking until his dinner is cold, go out and leave the door open; it's a pub lic house, you know, and you can do as you please.
