Children saved without harm or slightly injured, em-braced their parents, and many a prayer of thankfulness went up for children rescued unharmed. 'Twas a night of gloom and intensely cold. The scene amongst the afflicted families is beyond description of tongue or pen. The grief of loving parents and theirshed friends and relatives, and the apalling sight of dead and mingled bodies, that but two hours before entered this house of death. vestigation into the affairs of the compa-ny, satisfied the Directors that Gould had been running the machine to put money into his own pocket at the expence of the other stockholders. They, therefore, ordered an action to be brought for the recovery of $9,000,000, the sum which they alleged, he had diverted from the coffers. They have been holding him in great terror, also, by a threat to arraign him before the bar of a Criminal Ceurt. He has succumbed, and now agrees to pay of our public school teachers, a lady of fine education, and one who was endear-ed to us for her many virtues. On Saturday last she was with us at our District In-stitute; to-morrow she will be consigned to the grave. As I viewed her lifeless corpse, alas, thought I, how uncertain is life! Here was a scene of sorrow and weeping on part of her father, sisters and relatives, I shall never forget. Her moth-er was abed from injuries, but she was comforted with the reflection her daugh-ter was fully prepared for her sudden excriminal prosecutions on account of his er was abed from hijuries, but she was comforted with the reflectiou her daugh-ter was fully prepared for her sudden ex-it. Leaving this house of mourning, I visited the residence of Mr. Linsay Me-haffy, a highly esteemed clitzen of New-berry. His son, Boyd, aged 19 years, was here cold ih death. Boyd and Mr. Richle, unable to gain entrance owing to the ex-cessive crowd, entered the basement and were seated together, when the falling timbers crushed both, the former almost beyond recognition. Mr. M. Reder, a school teacher, lost a promising daughter of 17; one of his sons had his jaw broken, another daughter injured. Mrs. Duncan Campbell and son of 4 years were killed, her husband being absont in the woods. W. Lockman, aged 13, Annie MoMinis, aged 20; Eilzabeth Baskin, aged 24; Grace G. Semen, aged 22; and Mary Fisher, aged 16, complete the list of killed. I can-not close without a brief reference to the building, which still stands, a mere shell with the roof on, a monument of human

Many within who were enabled to reach the windews burst out the glas and escaped to give the slarm and ald in extricating the wounded. The hews spread. An excited throng quickly gathered. Parents had children there and they came in haste to learn their fate. As the dead and wounded were dragged, from the debris, the unearthly groans pierced the hearts of relatives and friends, and sent a thrill of borror to the souls of those who had collected in this ill-fated building. This was occupied by the Lawrence family, and in it Tamma-ny's latest candidate for Mayor, Abram R. Lawrence, was born. The firemen fought desperately to save and they fought not in vain. Several times the flames crept along the eaves, and darted through the roof, and each time they were driven back. Hose was carried up the stairs, was stretched over the roof, and brave firemen, hose in hand, fought the flames from the side and rear. It was a desperate battle, but was finally won, the flames being sub-dued after destroying the upper story. It is impossible to overestimate the value of this service, as the destruction of this house involved the destruction of the

THE SHOWER OF SPARKS that for two hours had been carried un-the basement of the circus building, and spread with such surprising rapidity that the watchman had only time to save two elephants.

Strange, indeed, that ne one in time is streated to day by Mr. S. B. Hurd, his treasurer, at $300,000. His insurance it is impossible to ascertain at this hour, as the safes, with the policies, are in the ruins. Of this proportion, about $60,000 was expended recently, in reconstructing the building was unsafe. There was one present, however, who as each and premoted to be impressed with a promote nition that the building was unsafe. Goor, and, not to cause a panic, sent word to the speaker, who was on the floor, Mr. J. G. Kinsloe, formerly of Shippensburg, to make his speech short and give out the presents, and, as each received to the upresents, and, as each received of whom were the rolls. I have nothing further to add. The heart slokens at the number of affilictivo ones that has strikingly characterized the year 1872. Yours truly, W. MILES.
