In conclusion, Mr. Editor, let it be remembered that the sermon which I prenched in my own pulpit, and in the strict line of Idity, was with the simple view to correct the false and injurious impressions which the lectures to which reference has been had made; and that the two articles which I have written, and which you have done me the justice to publish, have been in stract vindication of that sermon as it was availed.

содимил, Ра., June 12, 1856. D. S.—If any perion is still disposed to doubt the anti-christian bearing of Dr. E's sentiments, is quoted in the articles from his lectures, I suppose they will be satisfied as to that point on reading the article on the Bible Question, published from his own look, and at his own request, in the last number of the Spy. In that article, in my view of it, is involved the denial of mirroles, and of the in 1994 of the scribitures, and and of the infulfibility of the scriptures, and the express assertion that, "the inspiration of prophets and uposites, and even that of heroes and poets," stand on the same ground. The heart who holds such sentior in the matter of religious faith and practice, must be perfectly at sea, without chart, helm or compass.

SAGACITY OF A DOG.

We take the following from the Prinity, California, Times. It certainly records one of the most remarkable instances we have more like the exercise of the same reason with which man is gifted, but the exclusive War. Drelge lives about five miles from town, at the base of the mountains which tower north of us. A short time after mid-night on the morning of Wednesday last, he was aroused from his slumbers by the was argused from his stumbers by the maintain though of a dog. No menace on his part could rid him of the presence of the strange intruder. The dog continued to walk around the cubin, still repeating his dismal in uning and howling, occasionally making efforts to effect an entrance through hearing cherts to enect an entrance amorage the closed doorway. Surprised and some-what charmed at this singular demonstra-tion, Mr. Drulge at last hastily dressed him-self and unbolted the door, when a large mastiff rushed within. The dog at once sar and unbited site door, when a large mastiff rushed within. The dog at once caught hold of his pants and employed every gentle means to induce the gentlemen to accompany him outside. Dredge's first impression 3 as that the animal was mad, and yet so peculiar and earnest were the dumb cocded without the calin. A joyful yell was the result, and the blotchish and beyon and wagging his tail before him, and now returning and gently seizing him by the hand and pants, he induced Dredge to follow him.

Their course was up the precipitous sides of the mountain, and soon they were forcing their way through a snow drift that had settled in one of its numerous abrasures .n rished from cold and exhaustion. Her fimbs were already stiffened in the embraces of death. But what was the surprise of Mr. Design to see that faithful dog ferret out from a hundle of clothing that lay by the side of the woman, a young child about two years of age, still warm and living. A lit-tle inspection, aided by the pale starlight and the brightness of the snow, enabled him to discover that the person of the woman a tendency to wheel in, is becoming mani-was nearly naked. With a mother's affect of the Artho hettle grown manner than will self sacrifice and immulation.

Mr. Dredge immediately conveyed the child to his cabin, and arousing some of his neighbors, proceeded again to the mountain tinue to wave, to secure from attack of wild beasts the person of the unfortunate woman. Her body was buried the next day. The child and tog have been adopted by this good Samaritan. But as yet he has been unable to obtain any light as to the name of the woman moantain side at suen an unfortunate hour. The child is doing well, and is truly a hand-

They are so robustuous, that, dang me, if I don't believe they have got the constitution of the United States, and the women, too bless them I Mosses. Watson & Co., have become the proprietors of Graham's Magazine, the last number of which is very superior in every way. The illustrations, reading matter, &c., do credit to the new men having it in charge, and a visible improvement is manifest in the tout ensemble. It is published at $3.00 per analysis. until I sat alongside one of these LIK County-blue-eyed damsels, and caught the palpitation of the heart. This trouble, I believe, belongs to every clime, common in all regions, high land and low-land, and yielded to its soft inluences with a becomingness quite praise-

The Elk girls may not, perhaps, be as rich in those skining qualities which grace your city belies. They may never have heard of Phidias, or his statute of Jupiter; the Beautiful. Philips, or his statute of Jupiter; the Deawillo. Helen and the Trojan war, or Cape May, but they do know all about the useful, such as knitting, churuing, mending, brewing and baking, and all other necessary accompaniments to comfort and enjoyment, and even in that accomfort and enjoyment, and even in that accom-plishment of music which is so much the pride

Let me say to my to a glorious rich soil, with its wealth of tim-ber and minerals, and a home, there is also to be foundin wife to grace that home, and make its fireside happy. Seek not in vain—as you surely will, if you seek elsewhere—but your city girls, I cannot, away with, with pinched shoes and mincing steps. Give me none of your hour-glasses and moulds of form, but one who has a waist like a cotton bale and foot like a flounder. Such will not die of thin soles who has a waist like a cotton bale and foot like a flounder. Such will not die of thin soles or consumption—except of corn. They are the true help-meets, who will rough it and tought through the world with willing hearts and unmurmuring lips.

I have hardly begun to say all I want, but I may be do long lengths, 13 00 do 36 00 most promising character, fine crops, limestone soil, and good arable land, neither hilly nor atony—enough aiready to satisfy any one who is not too lazy to work for a living.
