

CLERK OF ORPHANS COURT.—We are authorized to announce Samuel Evans, of Columbia borough, as a candidate for Clerk of the Orphans Court, subject to the decision of the Union County Convention.

NOTICE.

Accounts due the undersigned for subscription to the Columbia Spy are hereby transferred to Samuel Wright for collection, on my account.

Bills will be presented for the same as soon as possible, and I trust they will be responded to at the very earliest convenience. COLEMAN J. BULL, Columbia, April 1, 1857.

TO THE READERS OF THE SPY.

As announced by Mr. Bull, in last week's issue, he has given up his connection with the paper; and from this date, I shall assume an editorial relationship to my subscribers which, I do not hope, may prove as friendly and void of unpleasantness between editor and reader, as that of my predecessor. Under my management, the Spy will preserve its heretofore independent character. I will endeavor to keep the paper free from partisan politics; at the same time reserving the right of commenting upon any question of great public interest, without regard to its political complexion. I trust it is needless to assure my readers, that I will carefully abstain from anything approaching a personal attack upon any one, in the columns of the Spy. I shall, however, feel at full liberty to discuss all matters of public interest; openly and fearlessly; and, while making no pretensions to the thankfulness of reformer-general of public abuses, shall notice any short-comings or over-achievements, with which the public may have concern, where, in my opinion, a little wholesome exposure may prove beneficial.

I shall endeavor, by carefully collecting statistics connected with the business of the town and neighborhood, to make the paper one of reference for business men here and elsewhere; and will gladly receive any assistance from those who, engaged in business themselves, will naturally be the best qualified to speak of their own peculiar branches of the industrial pursuits of our Borough.

With regard to the literary portion of the paper, I think I can promise at least judicious selections; and will endeavor to present such reading matter as will afford a pleasant hour's recreation and amusement to all. Of course, I shall expect to furnish more or less editorial matter every week; but in this connection, I must be chary of my promises, lest my performance should disappoint. Making no pretensions to the literary experience and excellence of a large proportion of my brother editors, I shall feel content if I succeed in placing before my readers, in a plain and concise manner, such subjects as I may find myself called upon to notice. If in even this moderate ambition I fail, I can only ask a charitable criticism of my deficiencies.

I feel under an obligation to my predecessor, Mr. Bull, for the kind introduction, and for what my modesty must declare undeserved compliments contained in his salutatory of last week, and return him my sincere thanks. Should he leave our Borough he will carry with him the friendly feelings of myself, among those of many others; and the best wish that can go with him is, that wherever his lot may be cast hereafter, he may find as many friends and as few enemies as he leaves behind him.

Of my contemporaries, I only ask the courtesy that I shall always endeavor to extend to them.

I respectfully request a continuance of the liberal share of patronage, heretofore bestowed upon the Spy.

SAMUEL WRIGHT, Columbia, April 1, 1857.

Subscribers who have changed their residences, will please give up notice that we may deliver the Spy without mistake.

In the confusion arising from the Spy changing hands, we are behind hand with our paper this week. In future we promise a prompt delivery at a good hour on Saturday morning.

Notice in our advertising columns, to-day, the new advertisements of T. J. Kuch's Spring Goods; J. D. Griffith's latest fashions of Hats and Caps; Jacob Hess' assortment of new styles Hats and Caps; R. Williams' fresh Garden Seeds; P. B. Vache's Hat and Sign Painting; Henry Brandt's, Pratt's Patent Hay and Farm Rake and Clover and Timothy Sower; J. H. Haldeman's drugs, &c.; and J. F. Smith's cocoanuts, &c.

R. J. Haldeman's advertisement was handed in too late for insertion this week; it will appear in next No.

The "SHARPLET TRAGEDY" which is a favorite one in Columbia, gave an entertainment on Thursday evening, at the Old Fellows' Hall, which gave general satisfaction to the very large and respectable audience. They are genuine "darks," and render the negro peculiarities as naturally as if they were the Simon-pure article; and not the counterfeit, burnt cork preparations.

Sharpley will perform again this evening, for particulars see small bills. Robert Kidley will appear on the same occasion, who we trust will receive the favors usually accorded him.

It always will afford us satisfaction to notice, in any of our political contemporaries, a red up in the bitter hostility to party appointments to place and power, which generally characterizes the partisan sheets of our country. We therefore gladly copy the appended notice, from the Pittsburgh Daily Journal, a Republican paper, of the new appointee to the Superintendent of the Col. & Phila. Railroad, Mr. David Mitchell.

We see, with pleasure, the promotion of our worthy townsman, to a post of high responsibility, which he is qualified to fill, with honor to himself and to the State. But we regret the loss of Mr. Mitchell, whom we have been able to number among our friends, although, politically, there has been no sympathy between us.

This, coming from a print, in opposition to the appointing powers, speaks well for the integrity of the new incumbent. We are personally unacquainted with Mr. Mitchell, but he has many warm friends in Columbia, who, without an eye to subordinate situations under him, assure us that his selection by the Canal Board to fill so important an office, has been a most judicious one.

We have noticed, that young men and boys, trained to business upon the public works, and in the establishments of enterprising individuals in and around Columbia, can always command good public situations of trust elsewhere. We gladly record the deserved good fortune of our young friend "Joe," who so ably, during the last winter, filled the office of assistant operator in the telegraph office of this place. He has been recently appointed to the charge of the office of the Great National Telegraph at Elizabethtown in this county. This does great honor to the intelligence of the lad, who is but fifteen years old, and of the excellent instruction of his father Mr. F. X. Ziegler, the operator at the Columbia office.

We are informed that this gentleman has received the appointment of "Agent for Adams & Co's Express," voluntarily vacated by Mr. Jas. Moore. While sorry to lose Mr. Moore, who has been invariably courteous and accommodating in his treatment of all, we are satisfied that Mr. Ziegler will transact the business of the company to their entire satisfaction and to that of the public.

We clip the following from the Lock Haven Watchman. They indicate a good time coming for the business men of Columbia. As yet, but a small portion of the "Spring crop" has come to hand: PLENTY—the red shirts. The recent rise in the river has inundated the town with live Yankees, and we meet the red shirts at every turn. This is a state of things that suits our hotel keepers, clothing men, and all others engaged in trading operations.

The River—Lumbering Operations.—During the week the river has gradually risen, and has attained a very fair stage of water for rafting. A great deal of very fine timber has arrived here, and is arriving every hour, yet we hear that comparatively few of the manufacturers up stream have their lumber rafted in. So far as we can learn, our impression is that prices have an upward tendency, and that better figures will be realized than last year. We know of one sale of pine and oak at nine cents all round.

We understand that our townsman J. W. Fisher, Esq., has been appointed Aid to the Governor, with the rank of Lieutenant Colonel. We congratulate him upon his newly acquired rank and title, and call upon all good citizens to evince their respect for the Executive, by immediately dropping the suspended handle of "Squire," and giving the Colonel his full title henceforth.

Mr. Cookman, the celebrated Methodist preacher, has said farewell to the members of Christ's Church, Pittsburg. Mr. Cookman was instrumental in the building of the church, a beautiful one. The undertaking was heavy, but highly successful.—On Sabbath last, the Young Ladies' Bible Class, of which the reverend gentleman was the teacher, presented to him beautiful copies of Campbell, Rogers and the British Poets, and another class a splendid copy of the Bible. Mr. Cookman is one of the finest pulpit orators of the day, and of untiring zeal in the great cause to which he has devoted his life. He was stationed at Harrisburg, for a period of two years, and while in that position, acquired a wide celebrity for eloquence and piety. Mr. Cookman is well known to many of our citizens, personally, while there are but few who are not acquainted with a knowledge of his ability. The church at this place is earnestly desirous of having him stationed here, which we anxiously hope will be done. He will be a successful worker in the great Cause wherever he goes.—Herald Daily.

THE SWEET USES OF ADVERSITY. You wear out your old clothes gradually. You are not troubled with many visitors. You are exonerated from making calls. Crossing sweepers do not molest you. Jokes do not bore you. Sponges do not haunt your table. They gatherers hurry past your door. Their hand bands do not play opposite your window. You avoid the nuisance of serving on juries. You are not persecuted to stand god-father.

No one thinks of presenting you with a Testimonial. No tradesman irritates you by saying, "It's there any other little article to-day, sir?" Begging letter-writers let you alone. Importers know it is useless to bleed you. You practice temperance. An swallow infinitely less poison than others. Flatterers do not shoot their rubbish into your ear. You are saved many a debt, many a deception, many a headache.

And, lastly, if you have a true friend in the world, you are sure, in a very short space of time to learn it!—Lunch.

DIVIDED ALLEGIANCE.—The influence exercised by the Empress of the French on the fashions of the English-women generally, says very little for their loyalty towards their own quiet-dressing, domestic little Queen.—For though very probably Queen Victoria reigns in their hearts, it is but too plain that the Empress Eugenie may do whatever she pleases with their heads.—Lunch.

IMPROVEMENTS.—It affords us peculiar satisfaction to notice in our first issue, the alterations, improvements, and additions that have been made in the old "Haldeman Stand," part of the estate of Jacob M. Haldeman, late of Harrisburg, and now occupied by R. J. Haldeman. All Columbians must be familiar with the rather gloomy old store room, in which the retail dry goods, queensware, and grocery business, was for so many years transacted. It was in the spirit of improvement, and in converted the former dark, crowded establishment into a light room, and most tastefully fitted up and decorated store. By the removal of partitions, &c., the main room is rendered twenty-five feet wide by sixty feet in depth; a new extension continues the store, with a width of twelve feet, for forty feet, and again widens to seventeen feet, running at that width forty-five feet, to within a few feet of the back alley; making in all a clear depth of one hundred and forty-five feet.—The large front room is devoted to the sale of general dry goods, adjoining is displayed the finer class of dress goods, silks, laces, velvets, mantillas, &c.; and the store is occupied by an assortment of carpets. The store is splendidly lighted by four large sky-lights, and is conveniently fitted up with neat new shelving; and directly under one of the sky-lights a counter for showing dress goods, and a small room for the ladies' room is also added, and the entire walls are covered with a neat neutral-tinted paper, which adds to the decidedly pleasing effect of the whole. A room on the second floor, twenty-five by forty-four feet, is conveniently arranged as the queensware department. The windows in front are of heavy iron, and are eight and a half feet in height by six and a half feet in width; one is fitted up with movable shelving for the display of china and queensware; the other is the show window for ladies' dress goods. The whole is lighted at night by twenty-four gas-burners. Altogether, we consider the main room is also neat and the entire walls are covered with a neat neutral-tinted paper, which adds to the decidedly pleasing effect of the whole. The proprietors of the property deserve great credit for the liberality displayed in the improvement. The property has been gotten up by Mr. Henry Conn, and we must pay him a deserved compliment for the taste displayed in his work.

Another improvement, upon a less considerable scale, but equally thorough, has been made in the store formerly occupied by Mr. Kridler, now the property of Mr. John Felix. The latter gentleman has renovated the whole building. The front has been newly painted, and the store, together with the adjoining one, put in first rate order. The most care, however, has been bestowed upon the room occupied by Mr. John Felix. The latter gentleman has renovated the whole building. Three Days Later From Europe. ARRIVAL OF THE CONSTITUTION. The Bremen steamship arrived this afternoon from Bremen and Southampton, bringing dates to Tuesday, the 17th ultimo.

The political news is unimportant. The Paris correspondent of the London Times has just published a long and interesting article, in which he has given a full and accurate account of the proceedings of the Conference to the effect that a recognition of his rights and sovereignty in Neuchâtel is the express condition of his renunciation of that sovereignty.

The Spanish expedition against Mexico assumes a more imposing aspect. General Taylor has been ordered to proceed to Vera Cruz, and to take possession of the city of Mexico, and to protect the American ships and property in the harbor.

A dispatch from Copenhagen states that the Sound Dues Treaty was duly signed on the fourteenth of March.

The Overland China mail has arrived at London. Its arrival confirms the telegraphic accounts of wholesale attempts at poisoning the bakery of Hong-Kong.

It is estimated that several hundred persons have been poisoned, but not fatally.—The proprietor of a bakery was arrested while on his way to Macao, on suspicion of having been concerned in the poisoning, and he will be tried immediately, at Hong-Kong.

A large number of junks was collecting for the purpose of attacking Hong-Kong. Some fears were entertained by the English on account of the smallness of their land forces; and an application was made to the British Government for a regiment of soldiers for their protection, which application was refused.

The French ships were anchored at the head of the bay at Hong-Kong. The American frigate Levant was also in harbor. The San Jacinto had proceeded to Linton to intercept the junks, but had attempted to intercept the Chinese steamer Lily.

Commissioner Juch had addressed Commissioner Parker, inquiring as to the reason why he had not ordered the American ships and subjects not to intermeddle in the present troubles. Commissioner Parker's reply is not known.

We notice the following legislation, at Harrisburg, in which our town is particularly interested. On the 21st of March, a bill was introduced into the Senate, by Mr. Killinger, for the committee on Railroads as follows: SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in General Assembly met, that the following be and they are hereby authorized to organize a company, by the name, style and title of the Reading and Columbia Railroad Company, with all the powers and restrictions, prescribed by an act, entitled, "an act regulating railroads," approved the nineteenth of February, one thousand eight hundred and forty-nine.

SECTION 2. That the capital stock of said company shall be $600,000. Provided, That said company may from time to time by a vote of the stockholders, at a meeting called for that purpose, increase their capital stock to such amount, as may be necessary in their opinion to complete the said road, and carry out the true intent and meaning of this act.

SECTION 3. That said company shall have the right to construct a railroad, from any point in the city of Reading, to the city of Columbia, and to the borough of Columbia, Lancaster county.

SECTION 4. That said company may at any time by a vote of the stockholders, at a meeting called for that purpose, purchase and own the said Columbia bridge, subject to the provisions of the act authorizing the Columbia Bank to sell the same.

SECTION 5. That said company may at any time, by a vote of the stockholders as above provided, borrow money for the purpose of finishing said railroad, or to effect the purchase of the bridge aforesaid.

SECTION 6. That upon the completion of said railroad, or any part of the same, the said company shall be authorized to provide for the transportation of passengers, and provided, further, that the tolls demanded and received when the cars are transported, shall not exceed four cents per mile for each ton of two thousand pounds weight.

commanded Garrison the only two communications by water from San Carlos. The San Carlos, under the command of the Sergeant Major, had one hundred and eighty-eight men at the mouth of the San Carlos river. The remaining one hundred and fifty-two were stationed in advance, under the command of Col. Lockridge, near the mouth of the river. Col. Lockridge is said to have secured documents showing that the Costa Ricans had opened the transit route to the English.

The Costa Rican force at San Carlos was small, and Col. Lockridge was confident of taking it. It is reported that the Allies after being defeated by Walker had retreated to Masayra.

A young man from the "four districts" near the Fort Office, the other day with a bank-note for a dollar, of postage stamps. He was told that paper money was not received. He went away, and shortly returned with four Spanish quarters. "We don't receive them," said the attendant, "for they are not only cents apiece." The young man thought Uncle Sam might be particular, so he went again and obtained a dollar in coppers. "Now," said he, on returning to the office and laying down his "pile" at the window, "I guess I can cut you." The man inside looked at the display of "specie currency," and coldly said, "We never take more than three cents in coppers at any one time; and I understand above that sum, it is not a legal tender of the government; it is not a legal tender at the composition of a legal tender of a minute and a half without stirring; and then he belched out, "Look here, you ain't you kind of particular, for fellows locked up in such a jail as this, if you can't get your cents in coppers at one time, hey? Well, then, s'pose you give me three cents' worth of stamps, anyhow?" The official very politely cut him off a single stamp and passed it out, for which the countryman gave him three cents worth more on "em."

Uncle Sam's clerk was not slow in discovering that he had caught a tartar. "How many stamps have you got?" he asked. "Well, only about 97 'em; but I had a hundred 'em when I began." "Pass 'em in!" was the gruff reply. "Pass out your stamps first, and then I will," said Jonathan. "But I reckon you don't 'tetch 'em," said the clerk. "I reckon you don't 'tetch 'em," said the clerk. "I reckon you don't 'tetch 'em," said the clerk.

A LEGAL ANECDOTE.—A friend at our elbow, says that an exchange relative legal anecdote which is too good to be lost. It is of course located "out west," that region so famous for its law suits, and is of a nature to raise a smile on the face of every man who has ever been a party to a lawsuit.
