Subscribers are requested to meet at the office of A. S. Green, on Tuesday evening next, at 7 o'clock, for the purpose of appoint-ing a committee in whose hands the fund shall be placed for proper distribution.

BY ORDER OF THE MANAGERS. It will be seen by the above that the ball has proved a successful means of collecting a very respectable sum of money, to be applied in relief of the distress and suffering of the poor of our town. We trust that the efforts of the committee to be appointed, will not be confined to the distribution of the funds already collected, but will extend to the solicitation of further aid, which we feel certain will be willingly extended by many of our citizens if waited upon by the proper parties.

It has been suggested that an understanding between the dispensing committee of the Sanitary Fund, and the committee of listribution of the Ball Fund, in the kind of relief to be afforded by each, would contrioute greatly to the proper expenditure of on the 4th of August. the money in the hands of both. The Lecompton correspondent of the St Louis Republican, repeats the statements we have previously published from another source, that a majority of the Kansas Constitutional Convention, headed by Calhoun, the President, propose to submit the Constitution to a vote of all the actual residents of Kansas, with a choice for and against slavery, the election to take place on the 20th of December. The Convention was to have adjourned by the 7th inst. On the other hand, the Kansas correspondent of the St. Louis Democrat says that a radical proslavery constitution has been drafted; that no chance to vote it down will be shown; and that the only thing submitted to the people will be a proposition for a provisional government with a pro-slavery clause-a sort of dodging of the question.

From the Westminster Review. Female Dress for 1857.

Three years and a half ago, when treating if manners and fashions, this Review made the avowal "There needs, then, a protestantism in social usages;" and the writer proceeded to point out how the tidicule played off by the humorists of society against our most glaring social follies must inevitably overthrow them. "Signs are not wanting that some change is at hand. Ridicule has always been a revolution. ary agent. That which is habitually as-sailed with sneers and sarcasms cannot long the system of social observances must pass through some crisis, out of which, it will come purified and comparatively simple." Thus it appeared in 1851 that we had reached such a pitch of extravagance in our tastes and usages, that we could scarcely make ourselves more absurd; yet, during the intervening years, the gravest of these social extravagances, that of female dress, has become so much more conspicuous, that at any time within three gener near indeed, and the conventional protestant-ism must be ripe for promulgation, if reform is really to come about by such means. We see reason to believe, as we will presently show, that the prophecy of 1851 was a rational one; and we venture to hope, that the fathers and mothers of the rising female generation will have less to suffer in mind and nurse from the follies of their fair relatives, than our neighbors of the present day. We doubt whether in any age of our national history, or on any spot of the globe, a more indefensible mode of dress could be pointed out than we have displayed before us at this mo-moment, in the World of Fashion, published by Simkin and Marshall, and (as the title page declares) patronized by the queen; and in the Ladies' Gazette of Fashion, distingnished by mined by reason. > MEDIUMS AND INK .- The following analysis of the manner in which spiritual music is sometimes produced, occurred a few days since, in Lowell. The Vox Populi says:

"The celebrated 'Davenport mediums," who have been performing here for the last two weeks such wonderful tricks as drawing music from various instruments without touching them, were outwitted, a day or two since, by a printer of this city. The two boy mediums were tied hands and feet, and put into a dark (of course!) place with the therewith the instruments. The performance went on; the mediums were firmly tied and bound to their scats, to convince the audience that they could not touch the year, an' dey's good at de end of it, takes on reason than on caprice. But the truth is, the audience that they could not touch the keer on his close partickler, an' polylor goes is not a matter in which reason has ever instruments; then came the darkness; then instrumental music by the spirits; then the manager said 'Let there be light," and the mediums were unbound and came fortheach with fingers well bedaubed with print-
