The most singular circumstance departed sage, by the aid of a living medium, connocted with the affair is the absence of usually innocent of wise ideas or correct lanpain; the wounded man having suffered guage. We went early to secure good seats, none since the extraction of his organ of and we gained our object, if proximity to the rostrum were that object, for we might have seen the color of the speaker's eyes had the A warrant was issued and officers Holview of those organs been unobstructed. A lingsworth, Derrick and Winher were sent tolerably tedious half bour of waiting suc Sandad Salvas ... Bandage Yos Bentevers, Whose minds seemed to be delightfully engaged by the mutual interchange of their recent experiences in the spiritual phenomena, either as Deputy Coror er Hollingsworth hold an in- ope witnesses or hearers of the testimony of quest ou the body of Elizabeth Mustar, who other persons of the most undoubted respectability and unimpeachable veracity. This entertainment, rather tedious to a stranger, was at last interrupted by the entrance of a committee of two, followed by Mrs. Anderson, the speaker for the occasion. It is a notable fact that their public speakers are almost in variably v otgen: whether this fact is attributable to the acknowledged talent of the softer sex for "cab." or their "impressibility." to use a spiritual term, or their superior tact in drawing, we connot tell; perhaps to a coment affair. It was a crime punishable by not seem very clear, even to the profound infine and imprisonment, but indsmuch as telligence of the spirits within a spirit. She plaintiff's exchaquer was at so low an ebb talked continually about "the religion of theology" making it evident that she or the spirit within her was profoundly ignorant of of the "circumstance of war," discovered the true meaning of language. As theology means literally, the science (or knowledge) of God, and religion means about the same thing, the expression quoted above is tautological nonsense; but we suppose it was used as a mild neme for what is sometimes called othe false religion of Christ," Mrs. Anderson's grammar was sometimes as sadly at fault as her philology; on one occasion she used the gross vulgarism "he done it," instead of he did it.

But this was doubtless the fault of the spirit speaking through her, who was evidently a far-reaching spirit, delighting in incomprehensible notions, and treating with utter contempt the trifling details of language and 900 Scargeants and 4,800 Corporals. We logis. After the discourse certain questions were propounded by the auditors; and in the elucidation of these knotty points, Mrs. Andispensed with that useless portion of the derson showed herself a perfect Delphic oracle army." -you might think she meant one thing when she meant quite another, or you might naturally full into the mistake of supposing that she meant nothing, when she was actually meaning the most.

In reply to a question, our friend says that this speaker always delivers her sermons with closed eyes, "in a trance state," and that she never knew what she was talking about, a fect which must be gratifying to the audience, as it precludes the possibility of her having the least advantage over themselves in that particular. The spiritual gentleman was anxious to know our opinion of the discourse. "Well," said we, hesitatingly, "can hardly say, but think it rather-" "metaphysical, isn't it," interposed our friend. "Perhaps it is." "Ah, I thought aso; you don't understand it, but it is all perfectly clear to me" (!) A circum-envied by the speaker and the abdience generally.

It is difficult to imagine how intelligent people can sincerely believe in such perspicuous nonsense as the "spiritual theology;' nothing but the general character of such people can relieve them from a suspicion of duplicity; and it is fact this which renders their idiosyncracy the more pitiable. The occasional flugs at the "old-fashioned" notions of religion, which were made by the "inedium," never failed to elicit the approbation of phenione have been made to the Huir of his patrons a portion of the audience, manifested by the excited rustling of female apparel, and numerous approving nods and winks by the male believers. Perhaps these little gleams of sen- und, and the ill effects of bad dyes remedied; the linit sible sunshine, as they were considered, atoned for the profound and impenetratable datkness which enveloped the general curent of this extraordinary treatise on "science and theology."

The same evidence of extreme poverty and wild insanity which marked the couse of last season exists now in an aggravated form. There is no end to the newspapers which are springing up all over the country. Mc-Elrath, formerly concerned with Greely in the Tribune, has started the "Century," a weekly of "high moral tone," to use its ad THE GREAT ENGLISH REMEDY vertising phraseology-original and delightful thought! We have the "Line of Battle-Ship' out, and the "American Rolling" "Sieam Tug, and National Mid Scow," The Thunder Gost," "The Lightning Bug," "The Let-Her-the finale constitution is subject. It moderates al Rip," and "The Dying Wail;" the last will "researed to moves all obstructions, and a speedy probably prove a success. Under the tremen. dous pressure of such an avalanche of literature, the Blotter breathes hard: we fear nothing will save our dear old frind, but a resort to i Fight hould be for the former the Gavern measures of the most remarkable and start. ling kind. For instance, if the Rev. Theo.
