Seventeen years have become engulfed in the vast moist ocean of enternity, since the seene depicted in our last chapter occurred. We are in Mexico. Come we to the Scarlet Banditti's cave. It is night. 4 tom pest is raging tempestuously without, Lut within we find a scene of dazzling magnificence. The cave is spacious. Chandelierof solid gold hang up suspended round the gorgeously furnished room, and the mar-I'e floor is star-studded with flashing diamonds. It must have cost an immense sum to fit this cave up. It embraced all the modern improvements. At the head of the care life sized photographs (by Germon) of the bandits, and framed in gilt, were hung up suspended. The bandits were sented around a marble table, which was carved regardless of expense, and were drinking gin and molasses cut of golden cups. When they run out of gin, fresh supplies were immediately brought in by slaves from a wagon outside, which they had captured that day, after a desperate and bloody struggle on the plains of Buena Vista.

At the head of the table sat the chief .-His features were swarthy, but elegant; and he was splendidly dressed in new clothes, having that dreamy, voluptuous air of grandear about him that would at once rivit the gaze of folks generally. In answer to a highly enthusiastic call, he arose and delivered an able and eloquent speech. We regret that our space does not permit us to give this truly great speech in full-we can merely give a synopsis of the distinguished speaker's remarks: "Comrades! listen to your chief. You

What is it? How Cured?

Thousands of persons suffer all sorts of annoyance from Catarth. Most people know what is inconvenience and results are, yet but few know how it can be cured. It is samply a chronic irrutation, and often enlargement of follicles, and consequent thickening of the indicous membrane, lining the insul cavines, frontal sinuses, and posterior nares and sometimes extending into the throat and lungs. From this result tighiness and often vertigo of the head, obstructed nose, or a profuse flow of mucus, loss of smell, masal voice, and often impaired hearing and inste.

The old-sheal remedies have never been able to do anything for it. Nasal injections and inhalations are as punful and expensive as they are generally worthers. Yet Humphreys' Catarth Specific, a simple Sugar Pill, taken two or three times per day, promptly cures the midler cases; cures at once all colds in the head, and radically cures, by persevering use, the most obstimate cases, as is preved by the experience of hundreds. "ALL THE YEAR RGUND."
DICKENS' NEW WEEKLY. E have the pleasure of announcing that we have entered into arrangements with Charles Dickens, for the issue of his new publication, entitled, "All the Year Round," each week, in New York, simultaneously with its issue in London, plates being taken from the tiful and natural Brown or Black, without the least English edition, and forwarded to us sufficientinjury to Hair or Skin.

Fifteen Medals and Diplomas have been awarded injury to Hoir or Skin.

Fifteen Medals and Diplomas have been awarded to Win. A. Batchelor since 1899, and over 80,000 applications have been made to the Hair of his patrons

New York on Wednesday, May ith, and will contain the commencement of a new story by of his famous Dye. Wm. A. Batchelor's Hair Dye produces a color not to week during about eight months.

Thus, it will be seen that American readers of "All the Year Round," will obtain the stories and other contributions of Mr. Dickens, and the staff of writers associated with him, embracing an array of distinguished talent with which no other publication can compare, sev eral weeks in advance of their reaching this country through ordinary sources, and at the same time they are given to the public in Lon

We will state that this arrangement has been consummated by the payment of a large sum of money to Mr. Dickens, yet the extraordinary interest which the announcement of the publication has excited in literary circles the assurance which Mr. Dickens has given that he shall devote to it all of his best ener gies, and the appearance of a new story from a large circulation.

The following announcement from Mr. Dickens, will convey an idea of the character and aims of the work ADDRESS.

Nine years of Household Words are the best assurance that can be offered to the public of the spirit and objects of "All the Year Round." Corns. Buntons, Bruises, Sprains, Bites. Poison, Chil-blains, Biles, Scrofula. Ulcers, Fever Sores, Felons In transferring myself, and my strongest en ergies, from the publication that is about to be discontinued, to the publication that is about to Ringworm. Barber's lich, Small Pox, Meusles be begun, I have the happiness of taking with me that staff of writers with whom I have labored, and all the literary and business co-operation las, Ringworm, Barber's Itch, Small Pox, Measles diseases should be reached by one article; such an that can make my work a pleasure. In some important respects, I am now free greatly to that the salve is a combination of ingredients, each advance on past arrangements. Those I leave welfare of any community, and for which have striven from week to week as honestly as could during the last nine years, will continue to be striven for, "all the year round." The old weekly cares and duties become things of the Past, merely so be assumed, with an increased love for them, and brighter hopes apringing out of them, in the Present and the Future. I look, and plan, for a very much wider circle of readers, and yet again for a steadily ex-panding circle of readers in the projects I hope to carry through "all the year round." And I feel confident that this expectation will be realized, if it deserves realization.

The task of my new journal is set, and it will steadily try to work the task out. Its pages shall show to good purpose their motto is remembered in them, and with how much of fidelity and earnestness they tell The Story of our Lives from Year to Year.
