Smoking is another habit carried to an extreme in Siam: men; women, and children scene to live upon eigarettes and tobacco rolled up in palmleaf. I was told as a fact by a lady, that she had seen a nursing child of two years old, taking whiffs of its mother's cigar, alternately with its own more natural nourishment. For this, however, I will not vouch. But I have frequently watched a very protty little girl of five years old, smoking a cigarette, while she made mudpies. Most of these inveterate smokers carry a reserve eigar stuck behind each ear as clerks carry pens. From Pickens' Household Words.
