BT 1. 0. WRITTING. The Portian to his alture bare

Around Pakemon's flowery shrine

And we to-day, unidet pur flowers

The blessing of the summer hours,

The entry and the inter rain:

To had our Christian holiday The beauty of the Persian dance,

The vigor of the Greelau play;

To see our Father's hand once more

Reverse for us the plenteous horn

With fruit and flower and golden corn

Once more the liberal year faughs out

O'er richur stores than gent or gold;

Duce more with hervest-song and shou Is Natare's bloodless triumph told:

Our common mother rests and sings Like Ruth among the garneral shoaves;

Her lap is full of goodly things, Her farchead gay with autumn leaves!

Oh, blennings with the sumshine sent

The fullnes shames our discontent.

We shut our eyes, the flowers bloom on;

We murmur, but the corn-care fill; We choose the shadow, but the stat

That casts its shines behind us still.

God gives us with our rugged soil

Who murmurs at his lot to-day?

Who scome his native fruit and bloom

Thank Heaven, instead, that l'medant's arm

And by these altars, wreathed with flowers

Hymn of Trust.

BY OLIVER WENDRIL HOLMES.

When drooping pleasure turns to grisf,

And vernhing fuith is changed to fost, The marmoring wind, the quivering leaf, Bhall oofly tell us, Thou are near

On thre we fling our burdening woe,

O Love Divine, forever dear, test to suffer, while we know

(National Era.

Or sighs for dainties far away, Beside the bountcous board of home?

Can shange a rocky soil to gold; That brave and generous lives can warm A clime with Northern ices cold:

And piled with fruits, awake again

Thanksgiving for the golden hours, The early and the latter rain.

The power to make it Eden-fair, And richer fraits to grown our toil Than summer-wedded islands bear

Ob, favors old, yet ever new!

The bounty overruns our due.

Of autumn, filed and running o'er

And fruits have come to own again

Sweet blossoms wet with morning dew.

Thoir name of grace the maiden's wound

And wave the wreaths of Isthminn nine

And veiled the old false worship o'er With beauty borrowed from the flue;
