"NO ENTERTAINMENT IS SO CHEAP AS READING, NOR ANY PLEASURE SO LASTING."

$1,50 PER YEAR IN ADVANCE; $2,00 IF NOT IN ADVANCE.

VOLUME XXX, NUMBER 34.]

COLUMBIA, PENNSYLVANIA, SATURDAY MORNING, MARCH 24, 1860.

[WHOLE NUMBER 1,544.

PUSBLINED EVERY SATURDAY MORNING Office in Carpet Hall, North-westcorner of

Terms of ubscription. dae Copy perannum if paidin advance. $150 if not paid within three months from commencement of the year. 200

A CONTES & COPY.

No subscription received for a least time than six nonths; and no paper will be discontinued until all freezing searce paid, unless at the option of the published.

The many searce paid, unless at the option of the published.

The many searce paid, and the published is a six of the published. Rates of Advertising square[6] inex joie week. 20 38

three weeks. 75
each absequent insertion, 10
in some week 20
three weeks. 10
three weeks. 10
Larger idvertisement in proportion
A thered it would will be made to quarterly, half-grily or early at vertisers, who are strictly confined other business.

DR.G. W. MIFFLIN, ENTIST, Locust streets a few doors above the Old Follows Hall, Columbia, Pa.

J. W. FISHER, Attorney and Counsellor at Law. Columbia, Fa.

S. Atlee Bockius, D. D. S. PRACTICES the Operative, Surgical and Mechan ical Pepartments of Dennistry.
OFFICE Locust street, between the Franklin Housand Post Office, Columbia, Pa
May 7 1859

SURPRISE CONTROL OF ACCES

CHEWING TOBACCO. AT HENRY PFAILER's Locust street, opposite the Frankin House, can be had CUBA LEEF, CONGRESS, and several other branch of the best Chewing Tobacco, to which the attention of chewers is invited. May 1, 1859.

I MPORTED Lubin's, also, Glenn's Bouble Extracts for the handkerchief, at I for the handkerchief, at HARRY GREEN'S, Feb. 19 '59. Opposite Coln. Bridge, Front S BROOMS,--100 Doz. Brooms, at Wholesale

Jor Remil. at Dept. 12, 1857 SINE'S Compound of Syrup of Tar, Wild Colory and Heathound, for the care of Coughe, Colds, Whooping Cough, Cropp &c. For when the MCCORRIER DEALETT'S Family Medicine Store, Old Fedows' Hall October 23 1859

Patent Steam Wash Bollers. THESE well known Boilers are kept constrainly of hand at Local street, opposite the Franklin House. Columbia July 18, 1857

(als for sale by the bushel or larger quan-ling by B. F. APPOLD. Columbia Dec 25, 1858. Canal Basin

TOBACCO and Segars of the best brands. J. 15

JUST in storff, a fresh tot of Breung & Fronteed

Just a storff, a fresh tot of Breung & Fronteed cele rated Vegetable Cattle Powder, and for sale b

HS WILLIAMS.

Sept. 17, 1859. From street Columbia BRUNERS

25 Boxes of Buffey Brown Scap on hand and for sale tow at the corner of Taird and Union Sts.

Suffer no longer with Corns.

The Golden Moriar Drug Store you can proce an article which is warranted to remove Corns hours, without pam or screness. Fly Paper.

STPERIOR article of Fly Paper, for the destruc-brom of Flies, &c., has just been received at the Drug Store of R WILLIAMS, Front street.

Harrison's Columbian Ink.

WillCH is a superior article, permanently black and not corroling the pen, can be lind in any quantity, at the Pannity Medicine Store, and blacker yet is that English Boot Polish.

Columbia June 9, 1859

Columbia Jane 9, 1859

On Hand.

MRS. WINSLOWS Stording Syrup, which will agreed face links the process of feeding by reducing inflamation of also paint spanned eaction, &c., in very short time. For sale by:

R. Will.IAMS,
From street, Columbia.

BEDDING & CO'S Russia Salve! This exremely popular remody for the cure of externants is now for sale by

R. WILLIAMS, Front St., Columbia.

CALT by the Sack or Bushel, and Petatees Feb 49, 59. Opposite Cola. Bridge, Front St ... CISTERN PUMPS.

THE subscriber has a large stock of Cistern l'amp I and Rams, to which he estis the attention of the public. He is prepared to por them up for use in a I and Rums, as which the properties of them up to be bubble. He is prepared to put them up to be bubble and and enduring manner. If PPAMLER. December 12.1867

FANCY TOILET SOAPS. TABLE finest assenting to Francy Tother Soups, ever Loffered to Columbians, at HARRY GREEN'S, Feb 19, 759 Opposite Colar Bridge, Frant St.

COLOGNE WATER by the pint, quart or gullon Clean? Extracts or the bundletchief by the unce or pound, or in any quantity to seit perchaser? MARK (RRKS)a, alFeb 19, '59. Opposite Colu. Bradge Front St.

Just Received and For Sale,

200 Blist Ground Plaster, 50 bbls Extra framil 200 Flour; 25 bbls No. 1 Land Oil of best quality 300 bus, Ground Alum Saft, by B F APPOLD. No Fand 2 Canal Basin March 26, '59

TENKIN'S Celebrated Black and Green Teas, GRAHAM, or, Bond's Boston Crackers, for U Dyspepties, and Arrow Root Crackets, for swilds and children—new articles in Columbia, the Family Medicine Store.

April 16, 1859 NEW CROP SEEDLESS RAISINS.

THE best for thes, Padding, Lc -n fresh supply at H SUYDAM'S Grocery Store, Corner Front and Union sts. Nov. 19 1859.

Seedless Raisins! Mediless Maisins:
A LOT of very choice seedless Raisins, just receive at S. F. EBERLEIN'S
Nov. 19, '59. Greery Store. No. 71, Locust st.

Turkish Prunes!
TOR a first rate article of France you must go to S. P. EHERLEIN'S
Nov. 19, 1839. Grocery Store, No 71 Locust at. SHAKER CORN.

JUST received, a first rate lot of Shaker Corn
H. SUYDAM'S
Greery Store, corner Front and Union st.
Nov. 26, 1859. Holiday Attractions at Fondersmith's.

JUST received for the holidays, 100 different styles U and prices Embroidered Collays; reb Embroidered Sets and Undersleves Also, 100 preces more of those very chesp Cambric Rufflings and Edgings, of those very chesp Cambric Rufflings and Edgings, of chesp goods.

H. C FONDERSMITH. Dec.10 '59: Gifts for the Gentlemen.

WE have added to our new sinck a choice lost New Vatencia and Quilled Silk Vesnings, Plat and Fanny Silk Mixed Cassimeres, Fancy Tie Searfs, Mufflers, Gloves Gauniteta, Housery, &c., a of which we offer at reduced prices, for the holiday at H. C. FONDERSMITH'S Dec. 10.50. People & Cash Store NEW CROP DRIED CURRANTS.

A Good article, clean and free from grit, may received at H. SUYDAM'S Greecty Store, Corner Front and Enton ats. Nov. 19, 183).

Selections.

The Beggar's Marriage Gift.

Otto Von D---, after an absence of sevthought of choosing a companion who might tale blush of the maiden herself, that his purest water and newest fashion: the words therefore, embraced an early opportunity to broidered on the satin. custom of their torefathers.

brought their offering of a cradle, and fine their inquiries. baby-linen, spun by themselves; the lads ready been made.

a foreign livery-servant, whose coat was rather the worse for wear, made his appear- lovely girl, with a tremulous voice; and the ance on the dancing-place. His singular bracelets were quickly transferred from tones and strange gesticulations soon collect their rose-colored covering to the white satin ted around him a troop of laughing villa- of her arms. Otto resumed, after a short gers; but it was not without considerable pause:

During my residence in Paris, I was alwhen he at once put an end to my doubts; rosecute his journey. fortune had displayed itself at table in co- as often as, I chanced to pass near pious libations. "To-day," added he, pat- him. This became, at length, so habitual can procure more. ting his ample sides, "let all wheels go in to me, that whenever I approached his stashivers: no man shall pass this house to-day; tion I put my hand involuntarily into my you may tell your master'so; but stay-you pocket. He always wished me every possimay as well take me to him "

owers, he proceeded to the highway, where warned me, now and then, against the dan they soon perceived a small wax-cloth cov- gers of the town; in short, in the course of of its hinder wheels being as effectually de. of acquaintances, who, though of different molished as if an axe had been used in the rank, are yet mutually pleased with each operation. A tall, thin figure, dressed in a other. olain blue frock-coat, having his right arm brush it up at the moment, so that he was on my situation. think of continuing his journey that day at | tal forever, after discharging the debt which ding-guest. modestly peeped out. Thus prepared he set and ruin stared me in the face. himself in motion, by the help of a stout crutch-stick; and it then further appeared, that his left foot was also, disabled, though there was something not ungraceful in its I avoided the place where he stood. hobble. On reaching the linden-place, he requested to be introduced to the young couple, and after wishing the bridegroom joy, he kissed the bride's hand with the air ing things to her in his own language. When this matter was settled, all has removed his bride to another quarter: and expenses.

derstood him, nor he them.

property had been improvidently buy solicitations to open the packet immediately; and; ofter removing almost innumerable It was not until his mind was relieved of covers, he at length produced a plain woodthis first care, and he could uninterruptedly en drinking cup, with a silver rim on which form his plans for the future, that Otto was engraved, "Present de noces du Gueix."

"Jaques!" cried Otto kissing the cup with share with him the sweets of life, and a-sist conotion. Adelaide cast an inquiring eye him in combating its toils. He had left Ad- at her lover, and lifted up the cup to exchilde, the youngest daughter of his neigh- amine it more closely, but she had scarce Lor Von Z-, an interesting girl of four- raised it from the table; when its unexpectteen; on his return, he found her blooming ed weight occasioning her to replace it in all the charms of youthful innocence; and rather smartly, the bottom fell out and dishe was not slow in observing, as well in the covered a rose-colored case, containing a hearty welcome of her parents as in the tell- pair of bracelets set in brilliants of the addresses would not be unneceptable. He, "A la telle epouse de mon ami," were em-lecture his sentiments; and, after the pre- The surprise and enviosity on all sides iminaries usual on such occasions, the hap- may be easily conceived. All the guests py day was fixed, arrived, and was observed ruse from their seats, except the stranger, with all those ceremonies which the country who remained sitting, with the most perfect people, in some parts of Germany, still re- indifference, and an expression of counteigiously keep up, according to the good old names that almost appeared to indicate contempt for what was going forward. Otto, First came the wedding guests, conduct- whose growing dislike to the stranger was ng the bride, modestly clad in white, with not lessened by this conduct, measured him veil covering her face, and who were met with an eye of indignation, and allowed a the lawn by the reasantry, preceded by himself the more readily to be persuaded by he village musicians. The married women his bride and the other guests to satisfy

"Yes!" he began, a fine glow suffusing presented a handsome plow and harness; the his manty cheeks; 'yes! I am not ashamed maidens a snow-white lamb; and the chil- to own it: a beggar-Jaques is the worthy dren doves and flowers. Adelaide gave her man's name-is my dearest friend-is, to hand to all in silence; Otto spoke a few, but express all to you in a few words, the preimpressive word-, and, on concluding, invi- server of my life and honor. However painted the whole party, in the name of the ful it may be to me, on an occasion like the green, for which preparations had al- indiscretion, yet I shall not hesitate to do so, as I cannot otherwise, perhaps, do justice to forward to meet me with a friendly look. The lamps were now lighted up, and the the noble-minded Jaques, whose marriage under the sweet-scented linden-trees, when the most valued ornament of my Adelaide." "Then let me wear it to-day," said the ly known by the name of 'old Jaques.' Not "Who talks of mending wheels, or going out of any feeling of compassion, but mere-further to-day?" hiccuped the bride's father, by because his general appearance rather ble good-chatted with me, when I was at So saying, and attended by a band of fol- leisure, about the news of the day-even

"My time in Paris was spent very norm in a sling, a patch over his left eye, and ably, and, I may flatter myself, not altothose wobegone looks imported to his gen- gether without advantage. I lived as deeral appearance no distant resemblance to cently as my means permitted, but never ear the vehicle, holding a juded Rosinante departure, my evil stars brought me acby the bridle. No sooner did he perceive quainted with some young men who were the party approaching, than, hastening to- addicted to gambling, and who, by little and vere illness. When I recovered, my disapards them, he addressed their leader in little, led me on to stake first small, and French, with much politeness of manner then large, sams at play. The conesquence and fluency of utterance. Unfortunately, of this was as may be supposed: but it was lain too long rusty, and the state of his had become deeply indebted to my soi-dis-

more by signs than words, that he must not | pause ere it was too late, and quit the capi

"Disheartened, gloomy and silent, I now of an old beau, and whispered many flatter- brought me the intelligence of my father's death, after a short illness, and announced the impossibility of sending me more money toned again to dance and play. Otto soon than would barely suffice for my traveling heart. In a all powerful Beingl give me, business, and I accompanied him. Our

It seemed quite natural that the stiff and where the lap of affluence, and un- the prayer, when you approached, and and four Nubian servants. These Nubians him come. Have your knife out in case of wearied old man should choose his seat on used to privation of any sort, it may easily threw, with a compassionate look, a gift in were faithful fellows, and long tried, and need. a bench apart from persons who neither un- be supposed that I was but little prepared to my hat." for such news. The death of my good fath-On supper being announced, the stranger er filled me with sorrow. The involved sit- forced to make a pause. accompanied the rest to the enting apart- cation of his affairs; which I now learned eral years, two of which he had spent in ment, where he planted himself, with con- for the first time, deprived me of all hope the luxurious capital of France, was recalled siderable admittess, between two of the for the future. The idea of having debts nate: make the old beggur happy by accept- | go, and after a deal of persuasion my uncle | wide. When we gained a position behind to his native Germany by the unexpected rosiest and plumpest lasses in the room, to which I could not discharge, and the pros- ing his assistance.' death of his father. He found the family the no small mortification of a young lieut pect of a prison in a foreign land, threw me estate involved in difficulties, chiefly occa- tenant, who had fixed on this place for him. into despuir. The longer Is considered, the this moment. The wonderful intervention lake upon the extreme southern border of were not hidden from his sight, as there sioned by extravagance and mismanagement self. Hilarity and mirth now presided over more did my situation appear utterly hope of Providence, to prevent the commission of Abysinia, where we pitched our tent and were openings in the foliage through which which would have appeared inextrienbie to the happy party; the good homored jake less; till at length, in a state of mind bor- a crime at which I shudder; the noble, I then went hunting for game, we having been both parties could obtain a view of each a mind possessing less energy than his own; was bandied about, and the hearty laugh dering on frenz, and with a determination may say the heavenly look of the good old informed that we should find plenty of both other. but by at once adopting a system of curtail- echoed round tile room; when one of the which such a state could only inspire, I man; but, above all, my own dreadful situ- fish-much more so than I had expected,- "We are gone!" said I, trembling with ment and method, he soon succeeded in servants entered with a packet, which a walked out, after a sleepless night, and bent ation, crowded into my thoughts, and I did and fowl in this region. Our luck was fear, as I saw the huge monster settle upon bringing matters into such a train as not messenger had just delivered, with direct into course towards the river. I was all out hesitate to avail myself of his generous moderate, my uncle was bent on returning, his belly and move towards us. only enabled him to discharge the accumu- tions that it should be given into the bride- ready within a few paces of the Pont-Neuf, offer. My intention of disclosing to him but I was determined to have a few more lated arrears of interest, but also gradually groom's own hands. The curiosity of all when Jaques threw himself, with greater the cause of my embarrassments was need trials. to reduce the principal debt with which his was excited, and Otto was induced by their importantly than usual, in my way. I less, for he had already informed himself of would not see him.

"One word, sir,' said be, in a tone of encomposure: 'to-day I have given all away.' hear a word of this: "He guessed my menning better than I intended he should.

has Eronened?'

"What is that to thee?' I replied; 'thou secret satisfaction of being your father.' canst not help me.'

you. Tell me the cause of your dejection.' him in you.' "'Why, only a paltry thousand louis!' said with a shrag.

hem to you.'

"You, Jaques? Good old man, you have been drinking too freely this morning.'

"Well only take the trouble of coming to ie to-night; and, till then, Poonjure you, do othing rashly.'

"The earnestness of his manner, the firmbonor to meet him there the same even-"Urged by curiosity more than by hope, I bride's father, to a collation and dance on the present, to accuse myself of a youthful clean partment, plain but neatly furnish John Von Z-, and Jacques the beggar!" ed: he now wore a decent coat, and came "Consider all that you see here as your housekeener's wants.' "Little as I had calculated on the old

I should consider him a fool or a madman. German of the orator (whose hands and most daily in the habit of passing along the for, requesting me to partake of the refreshwas broken to pieces, which he was anxious more than fifty, had frequented the place ed with difficulty on the table. On removbrim with gold pieces. +

"Help yourself, sir,' said he smiling: whose satisfaction at his daughter's good interested me, I threw a sous into his hat bere are about twelve hundred louis. It is all I have by me in ready cash; but I soon " Do not mistake me,' continued my honest Jaques; 'I am no common beggar, who piest day in his life. drives the trade from love of idleness, and cheat the needy of the charitable gift of the compassionate. I am of noble, though poor birth. Having lost my parents early, I entered the army in my sixteenth year, served right was skillfully formed of wax. "There, bushes senttered over the place, but they ered carriage lying apset on the road, one half a year we stood together on the footing under the great Saxe, and if worthy of such my son, are your papers back. I will never a leader, let this testify'-a cross of St. be a burden to you. I have twelve hundred Louis lay on the heap of gold. In my my right arm. I received my discharge. and was thrown on the world destitute and hopeless. Ignorant of any trade by which I could gain a livelihood, and rendered in the knight of the rueful countenance, stood extravagantly, till, a short time before my capable of labor by the looss of my arm, I abandoned myself to a profound melancholy, which threw me into a long and se pointed prospects, and a sort of spite at the world, made me a beggar. My youth and infirmities gained me more compassion than however, old Z--'s court language had not until I had lost all my own money, and I had expected; and I soon carned, not only my daily subsistence, but became enabled ideas was too muddled to enable him to ant friends, that I began seriously to reflect to lay by a trifle daily, which, by little and little, amounted to a considerable sum .obliged to make the stranger understand, "I immediately formed the resolution to Out of this, I assisted such of my companion in misery as had been less fortunate than myself in this calling, and thereby acquired least, but must remain with them as a wed- I had contracted. I therefore wrote to my a sort of consideration amongst them, but father, requesting such a remittance as no disinterested attachment. This vexed The invitation was accepted with many might be necessary for this purpose; but me. I adopted a foundling as my own thanks; and the stranger, having caused his that letter, and several which I sent subsechild, and began to live even more sparing. Sancho to wipe the dust from his hat and quently, remained unanswered. My bills, ly than before, in order to make provision poots, put his collar to rights, and opened meanwhile became due. I was forced to for him. I had him carefully brought up his surtout; under which a sort of uniform have recourse to the assistance of usurers, and educated, till his sixteenth year, when a counsellor was pleased with the lad and took him into his service. This very boypassed Jaques without noticing him; his fix- O. Francois! Francois! how many tears ed and earnest gaze became intulerable, and have I shed on thy account!-soon began to consider it beneath him to be on terms of "At length I received the long looked for intimacy with a beggar; and on the same letters from home; but, instead of the re- day that you first gave me an alms, he had further preliminaries, he proceeded. mittances with which I had hoped to silence the cruelty to pass as if he did not know me. the most clamorous of my creditors, they He was ashamed of me of me, who at that took the notion to travel among the African moment was begging to make him indepen. natives. I had an uncle living in Mocha, dent. He heeds me not, said I; and his un-

"You may easily imagine how I felt at trenty, and taking hold of the skirt of my louis, and then requested pen and ink, in in it if some one would accompany me .order to give him an acknowledgment for The cance would not carry more than two "Leave me; old man,' said I, with forced the amount; but my benefactor would not of us with any degree of safety, and as all few moments, yet it was a season of terrible every particular.

and, if you die,' added he, 'you can pay me took Lari, the youngest of the lot, but the I was with a full grown lion before you not "By ull-that's sacred, my dear young mas- yonder! I want but little here. You are brightest and most cool and brave in the twenty yards off and only a little patch of ter,' said he solemnly, 'confide in me. What sent to me as a son, whether you will or no; presence of danger. I took my rifle and bushes as an apology for shelter, through and you, at least, cannot deprive me of the pistols, while Lari took his rifle and spear, which the beast could watch your every

"Who knows? Only speak, sir! I can- I, falling on his bosom; 'Nature gave me proper places, and all went on finely until tone, but making the air tremble with innot rest until I learn what has so changed one, and when I lost him, Heaven replaced afternoon. It was very warm and sultry, tensity-have all this as I had it then, and late hour, when I returned home with a Lari had just proposed turning back, when I mand is that all? Good! I will lend lightened heart, and refreshing sleep once saw a large flock of birds settle down upon a was at my right, and saw that he was calm nore visited my eyelids.

"Early on the following duy I paid off Jacques, and propared immediately to quit them himself. France. My first care, on arriving here, ess with which he spake, and the reflection but as he had expressly required me, at instant the cance struck upon some hard him, with the steel head evated just to that I could at may time earry my intention | parting, not to think of this till after the end | substance. into affect, brought my thoughts into anoth- of a year, at soonest, to give him, as he said, er channel, and induced me to yield to his a proof of confidence, I deferred doing so, request. Jaques gave me his address, in a till very lately, when, on repaying him his remote suburb, and I pledged my word of loan, I had the satisfaction of acquainting him with my approaching union."

"And he shall be my fither, also," said enthusiasm, except the old stranger, who, foot in length, looked like destruction itself, the breaking of wood-and then I was still evineing the most cutting indifference. He seized the bow of our boat in his capa- knocked over by a heavy body coming in fiddle and pipe were sounding merrily present shall ever be dear to my heart, and own, said he 'I have neither child nor pushed his chair back, and hastily rose up, clous jaws and crushed it like an egg-shell. relation, and what I daily receive from the with a countenance on which was written. With all the force I could muster I leaped ful effort I struggled from beneath the benevolent suffices for my own and my in pretty legible characters, "What a fuss into the water and struck out for the shore, weight and gained my feet. about a beggar!"

"Sir, you abuse the rights of hospitality!" making him quit the apartment.

"Mon ami ab, mon fils!" realied the old man, with the tenderest expression, and re- quite twelve or fifteen miles from the camp. feet were equally eloquent with his tongue), Pont Neuf. At one end of the bridge, and ments which he had provided, he raised a moving at the same time the bandage from and we must foot it back the best way we that his master's carriage had been over- generally about the same spot, there sat a part of the flor, and brought from under- his left eye; "now, indeed, I am satisfied could. If we could have followed the shore, turned in the neighborhood, and that a wheel beggar, who, although he seemed scarcely neath a large wooden vessel, which he place that my choice has not been misplaced.— the task would have been easy enough, but You have not been ashamed to acknowledge this we cauld not do, for a deep, dark swamp the shafe hat held, I would have pinned him to have put to rights, in order that he might upwards of thirty years, and was commo - ing the lid, you may figure my astonish the old beggar; your levely bride, too, has overgrown with reeds and bushes and gnardertaken a long journey, and caused my we must strike up into the wood upon the earriage to be overturned at your gate."

He was now, in his turn, overcome; all the guests crowded round him with prais- spear. The latter he had grasped as he es and caresses; and the grateful Otto, left the boat, but the rifles and pistols were kissing his Adelaide, called this the hap- at the bottom of the lake. I hade my c m-

"Only allow me to pass my few remaining years with you," added Jacques, as he thick, matted forest, and at the end of that drew from his bosom a packet with his left time we reached the end of a wide expanse hand, it being now remarked by all that the of rocky desert. There were clumps of livres yearly of rent; and all I request is a down to the right hand side of that rocky twentieth year, a cannon-shot carried away small apartment in your house, or wheresoever else an honest beggar may patiently await his ond." . Otto tenderly embraced his adopted father and the wooden cup was frequently replenished in the course of the evening.

A Thrilling Adventure with a Lion.

It was a warm, pleasant evening in No vember, and our ship was off the coast of Tripoli. A party of us who sat upon the quarter-deck, had been conversing upon various subjects concerning the wast desert southward of us.

"I think you have travelled across the desert?" said one of the number addressing the captain. "Not exactly," replied Captain Bushwick.

Some years ago. I spent a few months in Abysinia and the country south of it." "Was it then you had your adventur with a lion?"

"Ah-you've heard of that scrape, eh?" "Only that you had such an adventure captain. Your mate told me you had me the animal." "Well, I have; and if you would like to hear the yarn, I'll tell it." A vote was immediately and unanimously Nubian lion crawling towards us. I could sion to relate his adventure; and without sweep the grass; and I could see that he cas monk, who told her the following agree-"It is now five and twenty years since I engaged in trade there, and I had gone to natural confluct drave all the blood to my see him. He was going into Abysinia on then, another son! Scarcely had I uttered party consisted of six-my uncle, myself to the back of those bushes-quick-and let great people v be have those vast farms on consented to the arrangement.

"The only boat we had been able to find | -don't move for your life! was a small cance, fashioned from a log, and "I allowed him to count out one thousand one morning I declared I would take a cruise I asked. and I had removed my pistol belt, and laid if you don't tremble, then you are made of "I did not leave Jacques' cottage till a it in the bottom of the hoat with my rifle, sterner stuff than most men.

"We had come to within a dozen fathoms would most certainly have been to discharge of the shore, when a loud, quick cry from he held with a firm grasp, had the end of this, which I could truly call a debt of honor; Lari started me from my aim, and the next | the shaft against the hard ground behind

"A rock?" I asked.

springing back towards me,

"Hardly had the words escaped his lips Adelnide, pressing his hand: then rising, into the water I saw the whole body of the his great shaggy head start upwards, as he appeared at the appointed time and place, and filling the goblet with wine, "Let us monster. It was as large as an elephant, left his couch. With my heart still as and formed Jugues in a small, but extremely drink to the health of my worthy father; but ten times more hideous in look. Its death, I bowed my head and shrank down month was opened to a distance of three towards the earth. I heard a shock-a me-Every one present pledged the toast with feet or more, and its great teeth, all of a mentary struggle-a crashing sound as of i never swam faster, though when I reached the land I found that the hippotamus had man's assistance, yet this address appeared cried Otto, angrily, and going up to the not followed us, having sunk to the bottom, next was the lion, who lay only a few feet too ridiculous; and I was nesitating whether Frenchman, with the determination of probably as soon as he had destroyed the off with the head of the spear buried deep canue.

"We were in quandary. We had come lled me father. For this alone have I un- led trees, lay between us and our test, so higher land and make the best of it. Our only weapons were two knives and Lari's panien take the lead and he did so.

For three hours we tweeted on through a looked dried and parched. Here we took an observation, and finally decided to keep plain, knowing that the lake must lie in that direction. By this time we had passed the sun was behind the trees. A little until morning and then have help. while afterwards, just as the dark shadows spread over the whole width of the plain, hand upon my arm.

"Do you hear anything?" he asked me. I listened a moment and told him, "Yesnerbans they are coming after us."

"Who are theu?" said be. "Our party," I answered.

"That fellow walks on four feet, and has weight equal to all the men we have left behind. Hark again."

tread of some heavy animal. "Is it a lion, do you think?" I asked. Lari hesitated a moment, and then, grasping me by the arm, he pointed into the terrible enough to me."

I did so and could plainly distinguish the "Look!-See!-There!" he cried, whirling me half around as he spoke.

I did look-and I saw a sight-a sight that made my hair stand and my heart leap. Not a rifle!-not even a pistol!-nnd yet was advancing for a spring. "He's hungry, said the Nubian, or he would not be coming on in that way.

"Then he'll attack us. I suggested. "Of course he will.

"And a weapon for defence! "I have my spear," returned Lari. "Now were, moreover, strong and fearless, having "I hardly knew what my companion Otto was moved even to tears, and was lived with my relative several years. When meant, but I saw just upon my left a clump the business was over, I proposed that we of bushes bearing a small red berry. They "You will not be ashamed of me,' con- should take a trip to the southward, and see were not over four feet high, and occupied tinued Jacques. You are now unfortu- the country. The Nubians were anxious to a space some eight feet long by four feet them, I looked for the lion. He had stop-"On the seventh day we reached a large ped as he saw us take this covert, but we

"Perhaps not," whispered Lari, without taking his eyes from the lion. "Keep still "But what can you do with that spear!"

"Perhaps nothing-but wait and see! "I did wait; but though it was only a four of the Mubians offered to go, I was suspense to me. I am not a coward, nor "Take,' said he, 'as much as you require: obliged to make my own selection. So I was I ever one; but come to be situated as and thus equipped we set out. The cance movement, and with that unearthly pur-"'Yes father! preserver and father? cried was easily managed while we kept our ring, roaring growle hardly perceptible in

"Once I cast my eyes upon Lari, who tree close to the shore, and I bade my com. as a rock. His great brown eve was fixed panion to help me paddle in that direction. upon the lion with a burning gaze, and his very creditor, had another tele-a-tele with He did not object, for he wanted a shot at teeth were set like the jaws of a vice. He was upon his right knee, with his left foot braced before him, and his long spear which the top of the husbes.

"Hist!" he uttered, gathering himself for "A hippotamusi" the Nubian shouted, an effort; and as I turned, I saw the lion cautiously advancing upon his belly. When about five yards off he stopped and gatherbefore a huge black head was lifted above ed himself for a spring. I saw his huge the gunwales, and as I cast my eyes over claws settle in the ground, and I saw contact with my shoulder. With a power-

> "The first thing I saw was Lari, for it was he who had fullen against me. The in his throat, the shaft being broken off about midway. He was roaring with a deep hourse sound, and tearing the dirt up with his claws.

"I think that found his heart before it broke," said Lari, as he gained his feet. "If through the heart, and sent him twenty feet over behind us. But I tell you hea y one to lift. "The monster was dead in a few minutes lance head had entered the lower part of the throat, directly beneath the fore-shoulder, and had gone clean through the heart. 'You must have had a good aim," said I. "But it was a good mark," replied Lavi.

and then we held an examination. The

When I saw bem comice. I had just turned the point right for his heart, and he killed himself." "It was all very simple, and it may have been very easily done; but I assure you a man must have a pretty steady nerve to do it affectually "We could not more the lion then, por could we stop to take his skin off, for it was over half the length of the barren waste, and very nearly dark. So we resolved to wait

"When we reached the lower corner of the waste, we saw a glimmering of water Lari uttered a low "hist" and placed his through the trees; and upon pushing our way down were lucky enough to find ourselves only a few rads from the tent. On the next morning we all went out together, and found the lion just as we had left him. His body measured from the end of the nose to the inscrtion of the tail, eight feet and nine inches, and when standing he must have been nearly five feet high. We took off his skin very carefully and when I reached home I had it stuffed and set. It looks very innocent now, as my children rat it with their hands, but I never look at it without thinking of the time when it looked

The Steward's Adventure.

In a late number of Blackwood's Magazine is an extremely interesting article, sketching life as exhibited at "in - eca-sido in the Papal States." While enjourning at there, not twenty yards distant-was a huge Neltuno, a delightful oid hamlet on the shores of the Mediterranean, the writer carried that Captain Bushwick had permis- see his eyes burn; I could see his long tail made acquaintance of the worthy Francisable little tale:

It happened not very long ago, and it is very well known and I myself have heard it in several different versions—but of course I have many means of knowing the truth, and I can answer for my own. It was a steward of Torlonia, or some other of the