Gustavus Vasa .- The father of Gustavus Vasa and many of his friends and kinsmen had fallen in a massacre. His mother and several of the most illustrious ladies were carried prisoners to Covenhagen, and treated with every indignity. On his own head a high price was set; and he was safe nowhere. He fled into Dalicarlis, a wild region of mines and mountains, inhabited by the most ly new programme, made up of good music, daring and independent race of Sweden .-He hoped to rouse them to the rescue of rendered. DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION .- The Convention of Seceders from the Charleston Demothe 11th. Almost as much importance attaches to the action of this Convention as to that of the regular Democratic Adjourned Convention; which will meet in Baltimore. on the succeeding Monday. The general impression seems to be that the fire-eaters will adjourn to await the action of the Baltimore Convention on the 18th, and be governed somewhat by the nominations of that body. Thus a fresh excitement commences with next week, to continue until after the Democratic nominations are made, when the excitement proper--the fight between the great parties-will begin in carnest.

The Japanese. - The Japanese Embassy will arrive at Philadelphia this afternoon, where a tremondous reception awaits them. The military will turn out in full force, the firemen will join in procession, and a big time generally is anticipated. The Jane will remain in Philadelphia about a week. but their movements afterwards are not announced. No doubt Saturday will be a great day in Philadelphia; the city will be crowded with visitors, and the hotels immed. The occasion is an interesting one, and the city authorities will, doubtless, make an effort to do themselves credit. There has been some talk of an excursion over the Pennsylvania Railroad, for the strangers. We hope the idea may be carried out, in which case we staviat-home hodies may hope for a sight of the distinguished visitore.

It is const. ous in a country where almost every one can 10 years established in New York City—used by the and does read the newspapers, that facts of the utriost importance to the health of thousands should be overlooked or disregarded by any of the suffering class whom they inimediately coucern. Yet, so it is. Almost daily we see persons moving painfully through the streets with contracted limbs and joints rendered rigid by disease, to whom the penetrating and lazistivė unguent invented by Professor Holloway would be worth its weight in diamond diet. In the Russian hospitals, it has superseded every other external remedy for rheumaism. Nothing else, says the French surgeons employed in those institutions, seems to have the slightest effect on the terrible forms of the maiady which exists in that inhospitable climate. The results of its use in this country are, we are assured, no less satisfactory .-Warm fomentations should; in all cases, precede its application; as by this means, the pores of the skin are opened, and the process of absorption greatly facilitated. The rapidity with which the Gintment disappears under he hand while being rubbed in, is astonishing. The inflamed flesh, or indurated muscles seem to drink in the cooling, soothing, relaxing as a candidate for Clerk of Quarter Session unguent, as swiftly as the desert sands imbibe subject to the decision of the People's County the genial rain. As an auxiliary to the Ointment in rheumatic cases, the Pills are said to be invaluable, and we cases, the Pills are said to be invaluable, and we can readily believe it. All external disorders more or less interfere with the functions of the internal organs, and the presence of disease on the surface always involves a bad condition of the secretions and the blood. It is by the correction of these functional derangements, we presume, that the Pills assist the cure. Such is the theory of the distinguished inventor of the remedies, and as it is consistant with common sense, the genial rain. As an auxiliary to the Oint-(which is more than can be said of all medical theories,) we have nothing to object to it. One thing is certain with regard to rheuma tists in this climate : In nine cases outflof ten it defies the "regular" treatment. Colchicum the stereotyped prescription, is more banefu to the constitution than mercuty itself; and though it may, by its paralyzing influence, so far benumb the parts affected as to alleviate the pain, we have never known an instance in which it has thoroughly eradicated disease. On the other hand, it is claimed that Holloway's remedies expel it utterly; and this claim is fortified by volumes of direct and uncontradicted testimony .- "Periodical Critic."
