The Emperor of B azil, he said, not the Dons. though, had given him the concession of a whole province full of mines of gold, silver, and diamonds, to say nothing of the less precious metals, mines of which existed in profusion. He engaged a simple draughtsman to plan him out from his own sketches a map of this metalliferous region, for the purpose of getting up a company. The man said to me afterwards, with uplifted eyes and hands, "Why, that viscount is neither more nor less than a swindler .-When I took him the map for approval, he grumbled because there wern't more diamond mines ; and say- he "Pop down three more on that river and two more on that, and a gold mine in the left-hand top corner. did not invent the system of fieecing the Dons by travelling backwards and forwards in mail steamers. The honor of the invention appertains, I believe to the famous Mr. William Cauty, a play-man of long-standing and first-rate abilities. A series of misconceptions, however, relative to a cash-box display. and the Westminster Bank, together with an erroncous view taken of Mr. Cauty's conduct by a jury of his countrymen, and the pulpable misdirection of a learned judge, changed the venue of his nautical experiences from the Spanish Main to the South Pacific Ocean. After having used the most painful substances, shy hit upon the substance she now uses, and experiencing the good effects of it on herself, she applied it to her pupils. Twenty-nine children were attended by her, and in every instance advantageous results obtained. Two children, declared by approved medical men to be incurably deaf and dumb, were completely cured by her. Seven other children were attended by her, under the supervision of a committee; these children were completely deat and dumb. FIRE .--- O. Saturday morning at about a quarter before two o'clock, the stable belong ing to Mrs. Lowry, in the alley between Locust and Cherry streets, below Third, was discovered to be on fire. Alarm was given, but the building was soon in a blaze, and in half an hour was burned to the ground .-A horse and buggy belonging to Mr. William Lowry were saved from the burning stable.

A considerable amount of hay, with some feed, &c., was burned. This stable nearly adjoins Mr. Liphart's carpenter shop and narrowly escared destruction at the time the old shop was burned. The thoroughly fireproof building just erected by Mr. Liphart was probably one means of preventing the spread of the fire down the alley, where it
