AMULL WRIGHT, Editor and Proprietor.

"NO ENTERTAINMENT IS SO CHEAP AS READING, NOR ANY PLEASURE SO LASTING."

$1,50 PER YEAR I ADVACE; $2,00 IF NOT IN ADVANCE

VOLUME XXXI, NUMBER 49.1

COLUMBIA, PENNSYLVANIA, SATURDAY MORNING, JULY 6, 1861.

[WHOLE NUMBER 1,611.

PUBLISHED EVERY SATURDAY MORNING

Office in Carpet Hall, North-west corner of Front and Locust streets.

Terms of Subscription.

One Copy peraucum, if paidin advance. $150 if not paid within three months comcommencement of the year, 200 A CONTES A CODY.

Not abscription received for a less time than six months; and no paper will be discontinued until all arreasages are pand unless at the option of the publisher.

10 Money as you emitted by mail as the publisher is risk.

Rotae at Advertising.

Rates of Advertising. squar([6] incs] one week, 80 38
three weeks, 75
each absoquent insertion, 10 [12 incs] one week, 50
three weeks, 100

three weeks, 1 100 each subsequent insertion. 25
Larger idvesticement subproportion
Liberal liseaunt will be under to quarterly, half-early or reanly devertisers, who are strictly confined other business.

DR. HOFFER. DENTIST ... OFFICE, Front Street 4th door lrom Locust over Saylor & McDonaid's Book store Columbia. Pa. III Entrance, same as follow's Photograph Gallery. [August 21, 1856.

THOMAS WELSH. USTICE OF THE PEACE, Columbia, Pa. Prompt attention to his care.
November 28, 1957.

H. M. NORTH. TTORNEY AND COUNSELLOR AT LAW. Jounties. Columbia, May 4, 1850.

J. W. FISHER. Attorney and Counsellor at Law, Columbia, September 6, 1886-if

S. Atlee B tkius, D. D. S.

Harrison's Coumbian Ink. WillOll is a superior article, permanently black, and not corroding the pen, con be had in any antity, at the Family Medicine Store, and blacker fet with a English Boot Polish.
Columbia, June 9, 1859

We Have Just Received R. CUTTER'S Improved Chest Expanding

Suspender and Shoulder Braces for Gentlemon Jetont Skirt Supporter and Brace for Latics he article that is wanted at this time. Com ee them at Family Medicine Store, Odd Peilbow (April 9, 1889) Prof. Gardner's Soap. WE have the New England Soap for those who did not obtain it from the Soap han; it is pleasant to the skin, and will take grease spots from Woolen Goods, it is therefore no humbug, for you get the worth of your money at the Family Medicine Store. Columbia, June 11, 1859.

CRAHAM, or, Bond's Boston Crackers, for Dyspeptics, and Arrow Root Crackers, for invalids and children-new articles in Columbia, at the Family Medicine Store, April 16, 1859.

PALDING'S PREPARED GLUE.—The want of such an arrivete is felt in every family, and now it can be supplied; for mending furniture, chinaware, ornamental work, toys. &c., there is nothing superior. We have found it useful in repairing many articles which have been useless for months. You

FMILY MEDICINE STORE.

IRON AND STEEL! E Subscribers have received a New and took of all kinds and sizes of BAR IRON AND STEEL!

They are constantly supplied with stock in this branch of his business, and can funtsh it to customers in large or small quantities, at the lowest rates

Locuet street below Second, Columbia, Pa.

April 28, 1869.

RITTER'S Compound Syrup of Jar and

A YER'S Compound Concentrated Extract A Sarsharilla for the cure of Scrotala (Ring's Evil, and all scrotalogs affections, a fresh at the just received and for sale in Scrotalogs. R. WILLIAMS, Front at , Columbia, sept. 24, 1859

FOR SALE. 200 GROSS Friction Matches, very low for cash. R. WILLIAMS.

A Ny one foud of a good Herring cut be supplied at Ny one foud of a good Herring cut be supplied at Nov. 19, 1859. Grocery Store, No. 71 Locust st. YON'S PURE OHIO CATAWBA BRANDY and PURE WINES, especially for Medicines d Sacramental purposes, at the an.28. FAMILY MEDICINESTORE.

NICE RAISINS for 8 cts. per pound, are to be had only at

EBERLEIN'S Grocery Store,

March 10, 1860.

No. 71 Locust street.

ARDEN SEEDS .-- Fresh Garden Seeds, warranted pure, of all kinds, just received at EBERLEIN'S Grocery Store, ch 10.1860. March 10, 1860.

POCKET BOOKS AND PURSES. A LARGE tot of Fine and Common Pocket Book and Purses, at from 15 cents to two dollars each the ideas and News Depot. Columbia, April 14.1 80.

A BEW more of those beautiful Prints left, which will be sold cheap, at SAYLOR & McDONALD'S Columbia, Pa.

Just Received and For Sale.

COLD CREAM OF GLYCERINS .- For the cure oolden Mort ar Drug Stork

Turkish Prunes!

Tork a first rate article of Prunes you re NOV. 19, 1859. Grocery Store, No 71 Locust st GOLD PENS, GOLD PENS. JUST received a large and fine assortment of Gold Peas, of Newton and Griswold's manufacture, at St Newton and Briswold's manufacture, at McDONALD'S Book Store, Agril 14: From street, above Lacust.

FRESH GROCERIFS.

We continue to self the best "Levy" Syrup, White had Brown Sugars, good Coffees and choice Teas, to be had in Columbin at the New Corner Store, opposite OJ (Fellows' Hall, and at the old stand adjoining the lak.

H. C., FONDERSMITH.

Segars, Tobacco, &c. A LOT of first rate Segars. Tobacco and Sanf will A be found at the store of the subscriber. He keeps ile article. Call it.

F. F. EBERLEIN'S Grocery Store.

Locust st., Columbia, Pa. . Oct 6, 6

CRANBERRIES, N-EW Crop Princes, New Citron, at Oct. 20, 1860.
A. M. RAMBO'S,

SARDINES, Worcestershire Saure, Refined Coron, &c., just re ceived and for sale by S. F. EBERLUIN, Oct. 20, 2558, No. 71 Locust St.

CRANBERRIES,

Selections.

Memoirs of an Adopted Son.

century, there stood on a rock in the sea, marked the Fiend-Fisherman. natural than that this unearthly individual ed Son." should give a name to his residence. For The marrow of Poulailler's back became night, by seeing the red gleam of a fire in you." the tower, and by smelling, in the same dimen who passed by the building in their gentlement the same to all of you." him at a distance, he seemed to be a fine, recovered its temperature.

of the fine weather, and still he was as idle mean? Nobody knew. 19 before. On the third day, a violent storm No such haul had ever fallen to the lot of my promise!"

t in a whole gale of wind!

the opinion of the entire audience—with the I've got him!" one exception of the village priest. The sure about the man of the Tower, before the joys and sorrows of mortal existence. Sunday. Wait and see if he comes to church."

"And if he does'nt come to church?

asked all the fisherman, in a breath. you may call him what you like."

Fiend-Fisherman."

from that day forth.

in the precincts of the village.

"Gentlemen," said the Fiend-Fisherman years old. costume, he exhaled, in the most appetising an English port. London became the next and the robber's doom.

A few weeks later, while Monsieur Herically were, on the honor of a gentleman, the many jests which the famous robber had manner, a relishing oder of fried fish; he scene of his adventures. At twelve years

Confiding the direction of his band to his ault was still the popular subject of ridicule Madam, I should have been incapable of practiced in his time. When the popular subject of ridicule friendliest manner. Towards the beginning of the eighteenth "So you are going to be married?" re-near a fishing village on the coast of Brit- "What's that to you?" said Poulailler .--

Early in the year seventeen hundred, the replied. "If I have the largest family in By condemning society to keep us alive-or, the servant; "his lordship is now in the Monsier Herault was soothed by a very reinhabitants of the village were startled, one France, no child of mine shall ever go near in other words, by robbing right and left house." "Show me in, secundrel," cried markable letter. It was signed by one of for food, was the picture that me has eye.

had taken up his abode in it. Judging of jetty; and the marrow of Poulailler's back tall stout fellow; he was dressed in a fisher- The next morning was stormy: and all man's costume, and he had a new boat of the village expected to see the boat from the Robber. A real Departments of Dentistry; on sown, moored comfortably in a cleft of Tower put out as usual, to sea. Not a sign

OFFICE Locust street, between he Franklin House and Post Office, Columbia, Pa May 7, 1859.

Ilis first exploits were performed in Germany Post Office, Columbia, Pa decent reputation, his neighbors would have on which the building stead on which the building stead on which the building stead on the rock many. They showed such novelty of community of the stead of the decent reputation, his neighbors would have on which the building stood was examined bination, such daring, such dexterity, and, immediately made his acquaintance—but, from a distance. Neither boats nor nets even in his most homocidal moments, such centure to do was to watch him in silence. the red gleam of the fire was missed for the band of congenial spirits gathered about fine weather, he made no use of his boat. - He had announced his intentions on the the Thieves' army his popularity never wa-kept all the boats of the village on the beach circumstance recalled the memory of the dia- gantly susceptible to the charms of the fair and re-entered France. Indifferent to the rested in spite of his protestations; the pa- children hid themselves. "Let me enterest -and, in the midst of the tempest, away bolical stranger, and, as a matter of course, sex. Second weakness-he was perilously attractions of rural life, he forthwith establier pers of the murdered Potter were found on you to be composed," continue! Poulailler. went the man of the Tower to make his first seriously discomposed the bridegroom's back. fond of practical jokes. Third weakness- lished himself with the beloved object in him, and he was dragged off to the police fishing experiment in strange waters! He At the moment when the marriage ceremony (inherited from his adopted father)-his ap- Paris. In that superb city he met with his office in triumph. The door opened, and the of soothing your uneasy conscience. From and his boat came back safe and sound, in was complete, a relishing odor of fried fish petite was insatiable in the matter of fried strangest adventures, performed his boldest posse comitatus entered with the prisoner. Your vivid description, I recognize the man a lull of the storm; and the villagers watch- stole into the nostrils of the company, and fish. As for the merits to set against these achievements, committed his most prodi- Instantly the two witnesses burst out with ing on the cliff above, saw him carrying the a voice from invisible lips said: "Keep up defects, some have been noticed already, and gious rubberies, and, in a word, did himself a cry of recognition, and turned indiguantly fish up, by great baskets-full to his Tower. your spirits, Poulailler; I have not forgotten others will appear immediately. Let it be and his infernal patron the fullest justice, on the lieutenant of police. "Gracious robber in other words you have fined, and a repetition of the portentous cir- that he dressed superbly, and that he was Upon this, the inhabitants of the village cumstance took place. Poulailler was wait- capable of the most exalted acts of generhad called a council. The lead in the de- ing in the kitchen to know how matters end- osity wherever a handsome woman was conbate was assumed by a smart young fellow, ed up stairs. The nurse came in with a cerned-let this be understood, to begin a fisherman named Poulailler, who declared baby. "Which is it?" asked the happy with; and let us now enter on the narrative that the stranger at the Tower was of infer- father; "girl or boy?" Before the nurse of his last exploit in Germany before he renal origin, and boldly denounced him before could answer, an odor of supernaturally fried turned to France. This adventure is somethe whole meeting as a Fiend-Fisherman. fish filled the kitchen, and a voice from in- thing more than a mere specimen of his The opinion thus expressed proved to be visible lips replied: "A boy, Poulailler-and communicated, accordingly. The whole vil- must do the best they can-which was ex- Baron de Kirbergen.

Such were the circumstances under which

HIS BOYHOOD AND EARLY LIFE.

row of his back; and whenever he was at said Madame Poulailler. And he was-as Time went on-and an important event pray for him," said Madame Poulailler,occurred in Poulailler's life. He was en- "Let us thrash him," said her husband.gaged to be married. On the day when his "Our son has been thrashed till all the sticks betrothal was publicly made known, his in the neighborhood are broken," pleaded personal advantages, everybody fell back Erench duke. British benevolence, after place of the Baron's residence that night. from him, and nobody answered his ques- blindly providing for him for four years, The coldness of the popular reception opened its eyes at last and found him out at stranger knocked at the door. "What name, sels. They fell into talk on the one inter- sist so distinguished a lady by lending her, however, did not in any way abash him .- the age of sixteen; upon which he returned sir?" said the servant. "The Marquis Pe- esting subject of the time-not the weather, from my own ample resources, double the He looked about for Poulailler with search to France, and entered the army in the ca- trucci of Sienna," replied Poulailler. "How ing eyes, discovered the place in which he pacity of drummer. At eighteen he de- are the young ladies after their journey?" TREUNSTANCES WHICH PRECEDED HIS BIRTH. Was standing, and addressed him in the serted and had a turn with the gipsies. He Marquis was shown in, and introduced oreant is still at large. I shall be return- shown to royalty at Versailles. It excited tight-rope, he acted, he sold quack medicines, lighted to receive a brother noblemon-Miss the army. Here he fell in love with the vi- charming man again-Miss Frederica was tany, a ruined tower with a very bad repu- He was inwardly terrified but outwardly vandiere of his new regiment. The sergeant- affectionntely pleased on her sister's ac- Poulailler. "Excuse me," replied the Dean; Ah! that was the age of politioness, when fation. No mortal was known to have in- gruff-not an uncommon combination of major of the company, touched by the same count. Not being of a disposition to lose "you are stranger, sir,-and, moreover, I good breeding was recognized, even in a habited it within the memory of living man. circumstances with men of his class, in his amiable weakness, naturally resented his time where his affections were concerned, wish to keep the merit of suggesting the thief. Under similar circumstances, who The one tenant whom tradition associated mental situation.

The one tenant whom tradition associated mental situation.

Poulailler expressed his sentiments to the plan to myself." "Do you think the lieu- would recognize it now? O tempora! O with the occupation of the place, at a re- "My friend," pursued the Fiend-Fisher- unjustifiably) asserted himself by boxing beloved object that evening. The next tenant of police will see you," asked Pour mores! mote period, had removed into it from the man, "I have not forgotten your polite at- his efficer's ears. Out flashed the swords morning he had an interview with the Baron, lailler; "he is not accessible to strangers, On another occasion, Poulailler was out, infernal regions, nobody knew why-had tention in giving me a name; and I came on both sides, and in went Peulailler's blade at which he produced papers which proved since the miscreant you spak of played him one night, taking the air and watching his lived in it, nobody knew how long—and had here to requite it. You will have a family, through and through the tender heart of the him to be the Marquis. Nothing could be that trick at his own breakfast table." "He opportunities on the roofs of the houses; a quitted possession, nobody knew when .- Poulailler; and your first child will be a sergeant major. The frontier was close at more satisfactory to the mind of the most will see Dean Potter, of Brussels," was the member of the band being posted in the Under such circumstances, nothing was more boy. I propose to make that boy my Adopt- hand. Poulailler wiped his sword and anxious parent—the two noblemen em- reply, delivered with the slightest possible street below to assist him in case of neces. crossed it.

demned us to die, if we are men of any vant, "The Marquis Petrucci of Sienna," "You won't do anything of the sort?" he spirit how are we to return the compliment? for a living. Poulailler's destiny was now the visitor. The servant submitted, and the Poulailler's band, who offered himself as The mother was young and benetiful, and "I shall adopt your first-born for all that," accomplished. He was picked out to be the two Marquises stood face to face. Poulail- King's evidence, in the hope of obtaining a Poulailler's hand instinctively clutched his A TTORNEY AND COUNNELLUK AT LAW rection, a preternaturally strong odor of persisted the Fiend-Fisherman. "Poulail-Greatest Thief of his age; and when fate ler's composure was not summoned in to his place in the world, he he had come first to the house, and he had been way-the charitable thief could enter by the will-collections promptly made, in Lancaster and Vork fried fish. The next morning, the fisher-ler! I wish you good morning. Ladies and summoned him to his place in the world, he he had come first to the house, and he had been way-the charitable thief could enter by the will-collections promptly made, in Lancaster and Vork fried fish. The next morning, the fisher-ler! I wish you good morning. Ladies and summoned him to his place in the world, he had come first to the house, and he had been way-the villain who laid and murdered by Poulailler, and that dow, a man rushed in by the door, with a contract the property of the charitable thief could enter by the will-collections. Greatest Thief of his age; and when fate ler's composure was not shaken in the least; pardon. The letter stated that the veneral purse, as a necessary consequence. Defore stepped forward and took it. His life hith- got the papers. "You are the villain who laid and murdered by Poulailler, and that dow, a man rushed in by the door, with a boats were amazed to find that a stranger | With those words he withdrew from the erto had been merely the life of a young robbed me!" cried the true Petrucci. "You the robber, with his customary audacity, face of horror; and cast a handful of gold scamp -he was now to do justice to the di- are drunk, mad, or an imposter," retorted was about to re-enter Paris by the Liste into the levely mother's lar. ... My honor is abolical father who had adopted him, and the false Petrucci. "Send to Florence, coach, the next day, disguised in the Dean's gone," he cried; "but our children are saved." to expand to the proportions of a full grown > ous man is without them?--were three in any one of them-and the stranger had taken A year later, Madame Poulailler was con- was one of the handsomest men of his time, Adopted Son. method of workmanship--it proved in the future to be the fatal event of his life.

On a Monday in the week, he had stopped priest said, "Gently, my sons. Dou't make the subject of the Memoir was introduced to on the highway, and robbed of all his valuables and all his papers, an Italian nobleman-the Marquis Petrucci of Sienna. On When a boy is born under circumstances hill, he watched the road which wound up "In that case," replied the priest, "I will which lead his parents to suppose that, to the summit on one side, while his followexcommunicate him—and then, my children while the bodily part of him is safe at home, ers were ensconced on the road which led the spiritual part is subjected to a course of down from it on the other. The prize expected Sunday came; and no sign of the stran-infernal tuition elsewhere-what are his in this case, was the the traveling carriage ger darkened the church-doors. He was ex- father and mother to do with him? They (with a large sum of money inside) of the gether in Paris, Paulailler now set society tions, and succeeded. With a stout pair of do?" exclaimed this lovely woman enger!y

lage forthwith adopted Poulailler's idea, and actly what Poulailler and his wife did with Before long Poulailler discerned the carcalled the man of the Tower by the name the hero of these pages.

riage afar off, at the bittom of the hill, and successful in advance of it, ascending the cuinence, city was paule stricken by the naw robber Brienne one night to the theatre. Just beinstantly. It was observed with horror two ladies on foot. They were the Baron's and his band—the very Boulevards were de- fore the close of the performance, the lady's ed. At that touching moment, his own These strong proceedings produced not that his infant face was distorted with grim- daughters -- Wilhelmina, a fair beauty; serted after nightfall. Monsieur Herault, coachman and footman were tempted away adopted father would not have known him. the slightest apparent effect on the diaboli-cal personage who had occasioned them.— preternatural lustiness of tone the moment He persisted in remaining idle when the the priest touched him. The first thing he Poulailler sauntered down the hill to meet means, at last offered a reward of a hundred attempt was made to detain them, or to drug and more agreeable aspects of that, career weather was fine; in going out to fish when asked for, when he learnt to speak, was the faecinating travelers. He looked- pistoles and a place in his office worth two their liquor. But, in their absence, Poulail- have hitherto been designedly presented, in no other boat in the place dare put to sea; "fried fish;" and the first place he wanted bowed-introduced himself-and fell in love and in coming back again to his solitary to go to, when he learned to walk, was the distance with Wilhelmina on the spot. Buth the apprehend the robber alive. The bills were his leather straps round the pole—one to the tragic side of the picture must now predwelling-place, with his nets full, his boat abolical Tower on the rock. "He won't charming girls acknowledged in the most posted all over Paris—and, the next morn-hold by, and one to support his feet—and, sent. Comedy and Sentiment, twin sisters uninjured, and himself alive and hearty.— learn anything," said the master, when he artless manner that confinement to the carling, they produced the very last result in with these simple preparations, was now of French extraction; farewell! Horror the made no attempts to buy and sell with was old enough to go to school. "Thrash riage had given them the fulgets, and that the world which the lieutenant of police ready to wait for events. Madame de Brienne anybody; he kept steadily away from the him," said Poulailler and the master they were walking up the hill to try the could possibly have anticipated. village; he lived on fish of his own preter thrashed him. "He won't come to his first remedy of gentle exercise. Poulailler's naturally strong frying; and he never spoke communion,"said the priest. "Thrash him," heart was touched, and Poulailler's gener- in his study, the Count de Villeneuve was Ig under the pole, and was driven home with to a living soul—with the solitary exception said Poulailler—and the priest thrashed him. osity to the sex was roused in the nick of of Poulailler himself. One fine evening, The farmers' orchards were robbed; the time. With a polite apology to the young Knowing the Count by name only, as be- He was strong enough to keep his position, when the young man was rowing home past neighboring rabbit-warrens were depopula- ladies, he ran back, by a short cut, to the longing to an ancient family in Provence, or after the carriage had been taken into the SACKS Ground Alam Salt, in large the Tower, the Fiend-Fisherman darted out on the realized by reference to one terrible fact.

May 5, 60.

Warehouse. Canal Basin.

Warehou ler, for giving me a name,"-bowed politely take Poulailler's boy," was the general cry. the generous thief, "in the charming name appeared, dressed with an admirable mix- with food beforehand, he waited patiently, than one hundred and fifty men and women and darted in again. The young fisher- "The deace has got him," was Poulailler's of Wilhelmina de Kirbergen, I charge you ture of magnificence and good taste. "I hidden in the coach-house, for two days and are reckoned up as having met their deaths man felt the words run cold down the mar- answer. "And yet he is a nice looking boy," all, let the Baron's carriage pass free." The have something for your private ear, sir," nights, watching his opportunity of getting at the hands of Poulailler and his hand. band was not succeptible—the band de said the Count. "Will you give orders that into Madame de Brienne's boudoir. sea again he gave the Tower a wide berth tall, as strong, as handsome a young fellow, murred. He had appealed to their hearts no one must be allowed to disturb us?"- On the third night the lady went to agrand robber to take life as well as property, unas could be seen in all France. "Let us in vain-he now appealed to their pockets. Monsieur Herault gave the orders. "May ball-the servants relaxed in their vigilance less life happened to stand directly in his "Gentlemen!" he resumed, "excuse my mc- I inquire, Count, what your business is?"- while her backs was turned and Poulailler way in which case he immediately swept mentary misconception of your sentiments. he asked, when the door was closed. "To slipped into the room. He found two thou- off the obstacle without hesitation and with Here is my one-half share of the Marquis earn the reward you offer for taking Pou- sand louis d'ors, which was nothing like the out remorse. His deadly defermination to Petrucci's property. If I divide it among lailler," answered the Count. "I am Pou- sum he expected; and a packet book, which rob, which was thus felt by the population in friends clustered noisily about him on the his mother. "We will try him with the you will you lot the carriage pass free?" lailler." Before Monsieur Herault could he took away with him to open at home. general, was matched by his determination fishing-jetty of the village to offer their con- rope's-end next," retorted his father; "he The band knew the value of money—and open his lips, the robber produced a pretty It contained some stock warrants for a to be obeyed, which was felt by his followers gratulations. While they were all in full shall go to sea and live in an atmosphere of accepted the terms. Poulailler rushed back little dagger and some rose-colored silk cord. comparatively trifling amount. Poulailler in particular. One of their number, for cry, a strange voice suddenly made itself thrashing. Our son shall be a cabin-boy." up the hill, and arrived at the top just in "The point of this dagger is poisoned," he was far too well off to care about taking example, having withdrawn from his alleheard through the confusion, which silenced It was all one to Poulailler Juniur—he knew time to hand the young ladies into the car- observed; "and one scratch of it, my dear them; and far too polite where a lady was giance, and having afterwards attempted to everybody in an instant. The crowd fell as well as his father who had adopted him- riage. "Charming man!" said the white sir, would be the death of you." With concerned, not to send them back again, betray his leader, was tracked to fire hiding bask and disclosed the Fiend-Fisherman he had been instinctively conscious from in- Wilhelmina to the brown Frederica, as they these words, Poulailler gagged the lieuten- under those circumstances. Accordingly, place in a cellar, and was there walled up sauntering up the jetty. It was the first fancy of the Fiend Fisherman's interest in drove off. Innocent soull what would she ant of police, bound him to his chair with Madama de Brienne received her warrants alive in Poulailler's presence; the robber time he had ever set foot -cloven foot -with his welfare -he cared for no earthly disci- have said if she had known that her per the rose colored cord, and lightened his writ with a note of apology from the polite thief, composing the unfortunate wretch's 'epipline-and a cabin-boy he became at ten sonal attractions had saved her father's pro- ting-leek of one thousand pistoles. "I'll Pray excuse my visit to your charming bou- taph, and scratching it on the wet planter perty? Was she ever to see the charming take money down, instead of taking the doir," wrote Poulailler; "in consideration with his own hand. Years afterwards the where is my friend, Poulailler?". He put After two years of the rope's end (applied man again? Yes: she was to see him the place in the office which you so kindly offer," of the false reports of your wealth, which inscription was noticed; when the house the question with perfect politoness; he quite ineffectually), the subject of this Me next day-and, more than that, Fate was said Poulailler. "Don't trouble yourself to alone induced me to enter it. If I had fell into possession of a new tenant, and was looked remarkably well in his fisherman's moir robbed his captain, and ran away in hereafter to link her fast to the robber's life see me to the door. Good morning." | known what your pecuniary circumstances supposed to be nothing more than one of replied the stranger. "Impossible!" said

111. HIS CAREER IN PARIS.

system of perpetual robbery and occasional No domestic anxieties harrassed his mind tirely yours, Poulailler." and diverted him from the pursuit of his distinguished public career. The attachment eloped from Germany survived the discovery ever. Tuesday, he was ready for another stroke of that the Marquis Petrucci was Poulailler the bber. True to the man of her choice, the

The next morning a superbly dressed self was the venerable Dean Potter of Brus- for money in future; I shall be proud to astold fortunes, he conjured, he danced on the to the Baron. The Baron was naturally deling to Paris, by this road, in ten days' time, the highest admiration of the Court-espehe altered his mind again, and returned to Wilhelmina was modestly happy to see the suggest a plan of my own for catching the name was mentioned they indulgently rebraced. They were still in each other's tinge of offended dignity. "Oh, unquestion- sity. While in this position, solds and Sentence of death was recorded against arms, when a second stranger knocked at ably!" said Poulailler,-pray pardon me." grouns proceeding from an open back-garret which reason, the building was thereafter awfully cold—but he grew gruffer than ever him in his absence. When society has contained us to die, if we are men of any vant. "The Marquis Petrucci of Sienna," conversation flowed into other channels.

where I am known," exclaimed one of the own clothes, and furnished with the Dean's Listen to the circumstances. I met a man Marquises, apostrophising the Baron. "Send own papers. Monsieur Herault took his in the street below; he was tall and thin; he to Florence by all means," echoed the other, precautions without losing a moment. Pick- had a green patch over one eye; he was addressing himself to the Baron also. "Gen- ed men were stationed, with their orders, at looking up suspiciously at this house, appatlemen," replied the noble Kirbergen, "I the barrier through which the conch must rently waiting for somebody. I thought of will do myself the honor of taking your ad- pass to enter Paris; while the lieutenant of you-I thought of the children-I to 2-1 th: under existing circumstances, all they could were in their customary places. At night irresistible gaiety and good humor that a vice"-and he sent to Florence accordingly. police waited at his office, in the company suspicious stranger by the collar. Terror Before the messenger had advanced ten of two French gentlemen who could speak overwhelmed him on the spot. Take my The first day passed, and, though it was first time. The Fiend-Fisherman had gone! him in no time. As commander-in-chief of miles on his journey, Poulailler had said to the Dean's identity, in the event of Pon- watch, my money, and my two valuable gold two words in private to the susceptible Wil. | lailler's impudently persisting in the assump | snuff boxes,' he said - but spare my his. The second day followed, with a continuance jetty, and had disappeared. What did this vered. His weaknesses -- and what illustri- helminn -- and the pair cloped from the bar. tion of his victim's name. At the appointed I took them." "Noble hearted man!" onial residence that night. Once more the hour, the coach appeared, and out of it got Poulailler, appearing at the window. The On Poulailler's wedding-day a portentous number. First weakness-he was extrava- subject of this Memoir crossed the frontier a man in the Dean's costume. He was ar- husband started; the wife sequenced; the merely premised, in the first place, that he in the character of the Fiend-Fisherman's | Heaven, sir, what have you done!" they exclaimed in horror; "this is not Poulaillerhere is our venerable friend; here is the servant entered with a letter. "Dean Pot- property, as a fit punishment for his dis-Once established in the French metropolis, ter, To the care of Monsieur Herault, Lieu- graceful want of spirit." "Who are you?" Poulailler plaaned and executed that vast tenant of Police." The letter was expressed exclaimed the husband. "I am Poulailler," nomicide which made him the terror and as- the lesson I have given you. Be a Christain tonishment of all Paris. In-doors, as well for the future, and never again try to injure and set up in business with the contents. as out, his good fortune befriended him. - a man unless he tries to injure you. En. There is a prejudice, sir in favor of honesty.

money were kept in the house of a great | before him. thousand livres a year to any one who would ler had slipped under the carriage, had hung discreef remembrance of the contrast which entered the carriage—the footman got up come, in the name of the Fleud-Fisherman's whilst Monsieur Herault was at breakfast behind - Poulailler hung himself horizontal. Adopted Son. announced as wishing to speak to him .- them, under those singular circumstances.

TUST received a fresh lot of Gramberries and New had a cordial nod for the men, and a sweet old, he persuaded society in the Metropolis first licutenant, Poulailler robbing you. I cannot return your two was removed, the skeleton felt out, and together that he was the forsaken natural son of a riage on thorse back; and ascertained the on the road to Lille and Cambrai. The only shousand louis d'ors by post, as I return tified that Poulailler was in earnest.

inside passenger in the coach besides him- your warrants. But if you are at all pressed but Poulailler. "It's a disgrace, sir, to the sum of which I regret to have deprived her police," said the Dean, "that such a mis- on the present occasion." This letter was and I shall call on Monsieur Herault, to cially of the ladies. Whenever the rubber's scoundrel." "May I ask what it is," said ferred to him as the Chevalier de Poulailler.

Nine days later the wounded pride of down and look in. Starving children sur-"Sir! I enter on the scene, for the purpose whose property is now in your wife's Jap. -Resume your mental tranquitity. You have vindicated society. Accept my congrutulations on your restored innoceace. The miserable coward whose collar you seize I is the Dean himself!" At the some moment, a of Poulailler's band. He has lost his st den in these words; "Venerable sir-Profit by replied the illustrious man, with the simplicity of an ancient hero. "Take this purse: Give that prejudice a chance. There was a These feats of cool audacity were match- time when I felt it myself, I regret to feel ed by others, in which his generosity to the it no longer. Under all varieties of misforof the charming creature with whom he had sex asserted itself as magnanimously as tune an honest man has his consolution still left. Where is it left? Here!" He struck Hearing, one day, that large sums of his heart-and the family fell on their knees devoted Wilhelmina shared his fortunes, lady, one Madame de Brienne, whose door cried the husband-whow can I show my and kept his house. And why not, if she was guarded, in anticipation of a visit from gratitude?" "You can permit me to kiss the loved him?—in the name of Cupid, why not? the famous thief, by a porter of approved hand of madame," answered Poulsiller.— Joined by picked men from his German trustworthiness and courage, Poulailler un. Madame started to her feet, and embraced followers, and by new recruits gathere | to- dertook to rob her, in spite of her precau- the generous stranger. "What else can I and its safeguards at flat defiance. Car- leather straps and buckles in his pocket, and "Oh, Heavens! what else?" "You can beg touche himself was his inferior in audacity with two of his band disguised as coach. your husband to light me down stairs," re-

HIS EXIT FROM THE SCENE.

The nature of Poulailler's more serious achievements in the art of robbery may be It was not the practice of this formidable