

H. F. Bruner has a Stock New Goods at very low prices. See advertisement.

THE FIFTH RESERVE.—Our correspondent has again failed us. We learn, however, that the regiment has been since our last letter. With McCall's Division it advanced as far as Drainesville, some twelve miles beyond Camp Pierpont, where no enemy was found. Next day the division returned to the present quarters near Lewisville. The Fifth was some two miles in advance of the division, beyond Drainesville. We learn that our Ex-Dect has been selected as Colonel's Clerk. Bob will fill the place readily to himself and to the Spys. In the late advance he refused to avail himself of the immunity from marching and fighting duty conferred by his new "position," and took his place and his chance in the ranks with the boys.

DEPARTURE OF THE FORTY-FIFTH REGIMENT FROM HARRISBURG.—On Monday last Col. Welsh's Regiment left Harrisburg for Washington. An excursion train was run from Columbia, to accommodate the large number of citizens and friends of the town-boys in the regiment, who desired to witness the presentation of the regimental colors and say farewell to our brave soldiers. Understanding that the ceremony would not take place until afternoon we unfortunately delayed our trip until the noon train, and so missed a scene of no ordinary interest.

The regiment had been expecting orders to proceed to Kentucky for some time, and until within a day or two of the time of departure all believed the West to be their destination. The sudden demand for troops in Kentucky, however, diverted Wegley's brigade from Western Virginia, whither it was about proceeding, and sent it to Louisville. This movement changed the programme and Col. Welsh was ordered to Washington, and transportation provided on Monday. On Monday morning, according to arrangement the regiment was drawn up on parade in Camp Curtin and the regimental colors—a handsome National flag with the State arms in the field, surrounded by thirty-four stars, and the number of the regiment on one of the stripes—presented by Governor Curtin and received by Col. Welsh.

The speech of the Governor was an eloquent appeal to the patriotism of the soldiers, and a very handsome acknowledgment of the services of the gallant Columbian who is to lead the splendid material of the regiment into battle. It was enthusiastically received by the boys. We have not been able to meet with a report of the speech, and can only speak of it by hearsay.

Col. Welsh on receiving the colors, replied to the Governor very briefly, in substance as follows:

Governor Curtin: It is the sacred duty of the soldier to defend his regimental flag, and to battle for the institutions of his country. Relying on these brave men and on his glittering bayonets I promise that this beautiful flag shall never be disgraced. Then handing the flag to the color bearer the Colonel said:

Sergeant: Take this flag; if necessity requires it, yield your life to the foe, but not your banner.

The boys were well pleased with the appreciative remarks of the Governor; but the few words of their Colonel touched them more nearly, and not a man but would die in defence of the standard.

Although we missed the presentation, we were in time to bid farewell to the Colonel and his boys. The regiment, with the exception of one company, was ready in the camp, having been loaded near Camp Curtin. We found the Colonel at the depot, awaiting the arrival of the U. S. mustering officer to take with his field officers, band and the remaining company, upon into the U. S. service.

We made the acquaintance of the Colonel's efficient second in command, Colonel Weaver, a thorough soldier and courageous gentleman. By the dependence placed in him by Col. Welsh, as well as his general bearing, we judge him to be a thoroughly brave and reliable officer.

Quartermaster McClure had already bestowed into the blue and gold, and looked every inch the soldier. He enters upon his arduous duties with enthusiasm, and will make a first rate officer, we predict.

On the train backing down to the depot we found company K in the leading cars of the train, and bid good-bye to the boys. They were in high spirits, more so than their friends, who could not keep down the thought that so many brave fellows from home were going out to take the chances of the camp and the field, with almost a certainty of losing some from among them before returning.

The mustering-in being at length effected the company took its place. Col. Welsh and officers entered their car, and the train moved off to the stirring strains of the regimental band and the cheers of the crowd assembled to see the last of the Forty-Fifth. It is a non-interesting fact that before leaving Harrisburg every officer received the Governor's commission—the first instance in which this has occurred, either in the three months or three years' service. Every facility was afforded Col. Welsh for putting his regiment in first-rate order, and the very handsome treatment of himself and command by all in authority at Harrisburg, and the regret shown at parting with him, speaks unmistakably the high esteem in which he was held. He is a noble man, and many a "God bless you, and bring you back in safety and honor" followed him when he took-up his march to do battle against the enemies of his country.

New Tunnel.—The new tunnel on the Penna. Railroad, at Carpenter's station, has just been completed; 6,000 yards of masonry and 800,000 bricks were used in building it. It is five hundred and fifty feet in length, twenty-two feet high and twenty-four feet wide. The abutments are all of rock range work. One hundred men were employed for four months on its construction.

RELIEF FOR THE SOLDIERS.—We again appeal to the citizens for contributions for the relief of our sick and wounded soldiers. Many are under the impression that more has been received than is needed. This is a grand mistake. Now is the time when the comforts and delicacies which thousands can readily spare, should be poured into Washington. Our army, if we may credit the drift of the clouds, is about entering into an engagement, the like of which has never occurred on this continent. The little must be terrible even if successful, and under the most favorable circumstances the hospitals about Washington will be crowded with our suffering soldiers. The brave fellows who go out to fight the battles of our country deserve, at least, at the hands of friends at home, care for their comfort when wounded in the fight. Do not wait, then, until they are on their backs and suffering for trifling necessities which abound at home, yet are indifferently allowed to remain there. We know there are hundreds in Columbia who do not contribute only because they do not realize the necessity; not from any illiberality. We now most urgently entreat every man and woman to take an active part—work as if you were working for some dear one of your own, and let the contribution be what it may make it at once.

Mr. F. will receive and take pains to safely pack everything that is sent. There is already enough on hand for a very respectable box, but more is needed, and more is freely asked with confidence that it will be freely given. The following articles are now at the Post Office:

- James Vaughan—1 Can Spiced Peaches; 1 Can Pear Butter; 2 Shirts.
- Miss Emily & Mrs. J. D. Wright—1 pair Woolen Socks; 1 Quilt; 1 Comfort; 2 Feather Pillows; 1 Feather Chair Cushion.
- Mrs. Henry Bruner—1 Can Peaches; 1 Can Tomatoes; 1 pair Hose.
- Mrs. Ruple—2 Feather Pillows; 5 Shirts; 1 Blanket; 1 Sheet; 4 Pillow Cases; 2 Towels; 1 pair Hose.
- Mrs. John L. Wright—1 Comfort; 6 Towels; 2 Shirts; 3 Feather Pillows.
- Mrs. Dr. Ann—1 pair Woolen Hose.
- Miss Eliza Mullen—1 Jar Quince Jelly; 1 Jar Spiced Quinces; 2 Bunches Ketchup.
- Mrs. Ephraim Hershler—1 Comfort; 2 pair Woolen Hose; 1 Jar Grape Jelly; 1 Jar Quince Preserves; 1 Jar Pepper Sauce; 1 Bottle Tomato Catsup.
- Miss Esther C. Stouffer—2 Bunches Blackberry Wine.

NEWS FROM THE "FORTY-FIFTH."—Our promised correspondence from Col. Welsh's regiment, with the organization, 10th of Co. K, &c., has failed to reach us—probably the business incident to so important a change of locality has interfered. We are fortunately able, through the courtesy of a friend, to publish some extracts from a private letter, which will keep our readers posted as to the movements and whereabouts of the boys.

CAMP WELSH, Oct. 23, 1861.
We have just encamped on the Bladensburg road, some two miles from Washington. We have the new tents, 16 men to the tent. From this start we have had very unpleasant weather. Our passage from Harrisburg to Baltimore was very slow, the detention being frequent. We got into Baltimore on Tuesday morning about seven o'clock, where the Baltimore Relief Association supplied us with hot coffee and a good lunch. We left for Washington at 12 o'clock, arriving about 5. We were quartered in the Soldiers' Retreat for the night and this afternoon marched out to our present camp. The ground is pretty good, and if they will leave us here for a week or so, until we get a chance to drill, the Forty-Fifth will astonish the natives. The department and general good conduct of the boys is a source of much gratification to the officers. I believe one can go no place without meeting Columbians. Col. Green and several others called on us this afternoon.

I don't know what brigade we have been assigned to, or whether to any as yet. We shall probably go through with a severe course of company and regimental drill before taking our station in the army. The cold north east winds make it rather rough for the boys. From the complaint of some of the Birney Zouaves, who are without overcoats and armed with altered little lock muskets, I think Co. K is a little ahead of them in spite of their fancy uniform.

I must close, as supper is on the table; a soldier can always eat. Can't you send ten men from Columbia to fill up Co. K?

Direct, "C. K. Col. Welsh's Forty-fifth Regiment, Penna. Vol., Washington, D. C."

PROCEEDINGS OF COUNCIL.—COLUMBIA, Oct. 18, 1861.—Council met. The roll was called and the following members reported absent: Messrs. Appoll, Eberlein and Welch. Mr. Hippy was called to the chair. Minutes of previous meeting read and approved. The Finance Committee reported the expenses since last meeting $17.25.

The Finance Committee reported a balance of $50 in the treasury.

The Finance Committee reported that the following persons were duly notified to repair their arrears, but have not attended to it: Robert Harr, Jas. W. Houston, Wm. A. Martin, Joshua Saurbeer, R. T. Ryan.

The Supervisor reported the alley adjoining Commerce street, to be in a very bad condition. Referred to the Road Committee. On motion of Mr. McCluskey the Supervisor was directed to give notice to the persons to whom notice had already been given, to repair their arrears within the next thirty days, otherwise they will be dealt with according to law.

The following bills were read and ordered to be paid:

- T. J. Bishop, $3.73; C. Dowers, $6.80; D. S. Chaffin, $17.81; W. Tamm, $13.40; P. Gardner, $2 cents; J. W. Wall, $5 cents; Sam'l Waite, $19.41; Gas Company, $3.22.
- On motion of Mr. McCluskey, 100 copies of the Ordinance, adopted November 18, 1859, prohibiting hawkers or storekeepers from purchasing articles at the market place during market hours, for the purpose of re-selling them, was ordered to be printed.
- On motion, an order was drawn for ten dollars, for having received four deeds of the corporation.
- On motion, Council adjourned.
- Attest: W. F. Lyon, Secretary.

GODDESS LARGES' BOOK.—Godey for November has been received. An excellent number of the favorite magazine.

ARTHUR'S HOME MAGAZINE.—Arthur for November is an admirable number—good in all its departments.

ATLANTIC MONTHLY.—The Atlantic has now engaged on it the best and most earnest writers of the day. The November number is almost unequalled by any previous number of this periodical. Besides the serial of Mrs. Stone and the "Story of To-day," also continued, the prose articles are all fine—some of them strongly written. The National cause is most ably upheld in several articles. The poetical features are a splendid poem by James Russell Lowell—"The Washers of the Shroud"—and "The Flower of Liberty" by Dr. Holmes, the latter of which, it requires no great amount of foresight to predict, will become a national song. We hope it will fall into worthy hands when it is set to music.

Jurors.
To serve in the Court of Common Pleas of Lancaster County, commencing on the fourth Monday (25th) of November, 1861.
Benjamin Brooks, Drummer.
Christian Blumner, Fire.
Henry Carter, Fulton.
Jacob R. Cross, Manchester borough.
John L. Emery, Salisbury.
Isaac Eberly, West Coaling.
John D. Ebersole, West Coaling.
Abraham B. Ebersole, East Lampeter.
Charles R. Fraley, City.
John Flickinger, West Coaling.
Clement Gebauer, Warwick.
Samuel E. Hacker, Ephrata.
Daniel Hostish, City.
Edward Lusk, Washington.
Samuel Kaufman, Manor.
Adam Knedig, Conestoga.
John Krieder, West Hempfield.
Jacob Kessler, City.
David Leckisher, City.
Israel Lantz, Manchester township.
Jacob S. Mann, Manor.
Robert S. McElwain, Paradise.
John Morton, Maalheim.
John W. Mentzer, West Coaling.
Henry Neff, West Hempfield.
Samuel Prescott, Columbia.
George Rigg, Conestoga.
John H. Shuler, Warwick.
Augustus Stoner, Mount Joy Borough.
John Trisler, City.
George D. Thomas, Warwick.
James Wood, Little Britain.
Jacob Walfz, City.
Peter Yohn, Conestoga.
John H. Zeller, Mount Joy township.

Jurors.
To serve in the Court of Common Pleas of Lancaster county, commencing on the first Monday (25th) of December, 1861.
Samuel B. Brown, Lampeter.
Samuel L. Brunn, Leacock.
George Boyl, Columbia.
Daniel Bauman, Breckno K.
Roland S. Brubaker, E. R.
Nathaniel Barr, Salisbury.
Joseph Bowman, Strasburg.
John M. Bare, Mount Joy township.
Daniel Carter, Washington.
James Densart, City.
Daniel Ebler, City.
Henry Eberly, sen., Mount Joy bor.
Samuel Eitz, Fulton.
Gabriel Gingrich, Penn.
Henry Hall, West Lampeter.
Henry Harbeck, City.
David S. Garmen, City.
Benjamin Herr, Columbia.
Francis Heckart, City.
David Keen, Eden.
John Loxry, Clay.
Samuel F. Lee, East Coaling.
Andrew Melnyk, Beckues.
John Miller, near Marietta J. Donegal.
Jonas Mumma, East Donegal.
Henry Rhodes, Salisbury.
John D. Seneang, East Carl.
Joseph F. Shirk, West Coaling.
John Strohm, Providence.
Robert B. Spencer, Strasburg borough.
Wm. W. Thompson, Salisbury.
David S. Garmen, City.
Jacob S. Whitmer, sen., Manor.
Jacob T. Whitson, Salisbury.
John Grubbill, Upper Leacock.

Departure of Gen. Negley's Brigade from Pittsburgh.
ACCIDENT TO SOME OF COL. HAMBRIGHT'S MEN.
The Pittsburgh Dispatch of Saturday last says: Negley's Brigade, composed of Hambright's, Staumbaugh's and Sirewell's regiments, embarked yesterday on steamboats destined, it is believed, for Louisville, Kentucky.

In addition to the men crowded on the boats, a large number of horses, in addition to those of the staff and field officers and artillery, were placed on each boat. The guns, handsome brass field-pieces, were the last put on board. The entire brigade was embarked on five boats—the J. W. Hamilton, Clara Lee, Argonaut, Sir Wm. Wallace and Molerator—filling every portion of the boats from hurricane deck to main deck.

The destination of the brigade is said to be Kentucky, though we have no intimation as to the particular field assigned them. There is a good "fighting material" in it as any which has yet taken the field, but it will require active drilling to fit it for efficient service. In point of arms and equipments, it is better supplied than any force which has yet left this city for the war.

An Accident Happens—A Number of Soldiers Injured—Two or Three Seriously.
Between three and four o'clock, after the three regiments had embarked on the five steamers, an accident happened on board the Sir Wm. Wallace by which a number of Col. Hambright's regiment were injured, some three or four to such an extent as to prevent them from going with their companies.

It seems that one of the artillery horses, while being taken up the gangway of the steamer J. W. Hamilton, became fractious, and either jumped or fell off, and was instantly killed, his neck having been broken.

This caused considerable excitement on the wharf, and the soldiers on the boats pressing forward, suddenly the front part of the hurricane deck of the Sir William Wallace gave way, precipitating forward to the bow of the boat a considerable number of men, including nearly all of the members of the brass band, who were nearest the front, and crushing to the boiler-deck a number who were standing immediately under the hurricane deck which gave away.

The scene is described as having struck terror to the hearts of the multitude assembled on the wharf, and the impression prevailed that some of the officers were killed outright.

Several of them were observed to jump comers, and following the crash, the wildest confusion prevailed, a considerable time elapsing before quiet was restored. Those who were most seriously injured were immediately cared for, and with but one exception were carried into the cabin of the boat, where the regimental surgeons were called upon to act in the line of their duty.

Col. Hambright and Lieut. Col. Duchman were on the boiler deck, the former, miraculously, it would seem, escaped entirely, but the latter received an injury to his neck, from which he suffered considerable inconvenience.

The Adjutant of Col. Hambright's regiment, Charles R. Fraley, was also on the boiler deck, and was most seriously injured, from concussion of the brain. He was observed standing upright, under the broken deck, immediately after the accident, but was soon overcome from the effect of the heavy weight suddenly coming upon his head.

The band of the regiment were crowded immediately in front of the hurricane deck, and when the crash came were the first to fall forward. Daniel Clemens, the leader, we believe, received a severe fracture of the wrist and arm. Adam Baruch, F. Hepping and Charles Heckler, belonging to the band, also received injuries, not of a serious character, however, having no bones broken.

Corporal Michael Coyle and privates John Corporal and Daniel Landis, of Company B, were also injured, the latter very severely. J. B. Chamberlin, hospital steward, received a severe cut in the face, but did not seem to be greatly inconvenienced thereby. Private Landis was picked up in an insensible state, and was thought to be fatally injured. He was carried to the house of Miss White, on Front street, and we learn that there is a probability of his recovery.

Adjutant Fraley was taken to the house of G. W. Smith, of the firm of Hostetter & Smith, and we are glad to state that hopes are entertained that he will recover.

A number of others, whose names we did not learn, received slight injuries. That some were not killed, or at least more seriously injured, is certainly most fortunate. Two guns of the brigade battery were on the bow of the boat, upon which a number fell. A similar accident nearly took place on the J. W. Hamilton, from a like cause. The sudden weight caused one of the stanchions of the upper deck to give way, the noise it made warning the soldiers of their danger. The fleet left the wharf about a quarter before six o'clock, amidst loud and prolonged cheers, and the crowd, as the steamers passed out of view, slowly retired from the wharf.

We are glad to learn that the accident is not likely to result so seriously as was at first feared. The injuries sustained by Mr. Fraley were not so severe as was supposed, and his physician thinks he will be able to rejoin his regiment in a few days. The same remarks may be also made in reference to Mr. Clemens, the leader of the band, and others who were injured. If they have not already, they expect very soon to be reunited with their associates in camp, in Kentucky. We hope that these expectations may be speedily realized, and that no accident of any kind shall again overtake them.

A Day of Thanksgiving and Praise.
The following proclamation, appointing a day of general thanksgiving and praise, has just been issued by Governor Curtin:

PENNSYLVANIA, SS.
In the name and by the authority of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, Andrew G. Curtin, Governor of said Commonwealth.

PROCLAMATION.
WHEREAS, Every good gift is from above, and every blessing that descends upon us, to whom it is meet, right, and the bounden duty of every people to render thanks for His mercies; Therefore I, ANDREW G. CURTIN, Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, do recommend to the people of this Commonwealth that they set apart THURSDAY, the 28th of November next, as a day of solemn thanksgiving to God, for having preserved our own and watered our untrodden, and blessed the labors of the husbandman, and crowned the year with His goodness, in the increase of the ground and the gathering in of the fruits thereof, so that our banners are filled with plenty; and for having looked favorably upon this Commonwealth, and strengthened the bars of her gates, and blessed the children within her, and made men to be of one mind, and preserved peace to her borders; Be it enacted, that on behalf of the United States, and our beloved country may have difference from these acts and appoint the same, as a day of solemn thanksgiving to God, for having preserved our own and watered our untrodden, and blessed the labors of the husbandman, and crowned the year with His goodness, in the increase of the ground and the gathering in of the fruits thereof, so that our banners are filled with plenty; and for having looked favorably upon this Commonwealth, and strengthened the bars of her gates, and blessed the children within her, and made men to be of one mind, and preserved peace to her borders; Be it enacted, that on behalf of the United States, and our beloved country may have difference from these acts and appoint the same, as a day of solemn thanksgiving to God, for having preserved our own and watered our untrodden, and blessed the labors of the husbandman, and crowned the year with His goodness, in the increase of the ground and the gathering in of the fruits thereof, so that our banners are filled with plenty; and for having looked favorably upon this Commonwealth, and strengthened the bars of her gates, and blessed the children within her, and made men to be of one mind, and preserved peace to her borders; Be it enacted, that on behalf of the United States, and our beloved country may have difference from these acts and appoint the same, as a day of solemn thanksgiving to God, for having preserved our own and watered our untrodden, and blessed the labors of the husbandman, and crowned the year with His goodness, in the increase of the ground and the gathering in of the fruits thereof, so that our banners are filled with plenty; and for having looked favorably upon this Commonwealth, and strengthened the bars of her gates, and blessed the children within her, and made men to be of one mind, and preserved peace to her borders; Be it enacted, that on behalf of the United States, and our beloved country may have difference from these acts and appoint the same, as a day of solemn thanksgiving to God, for having preserved our own and watered our untrodden, and blessed the labors of the husbandman, and crowned the year with His goodness, in the increase of the ground and the gathering in of the fruits thereof, so that our banners are filled with plenty; and for having looked favorably upon this Commonwealth, and strengthened the bars of her gates, and blessed the children within her, and made men to be of one mind, and preserved peace to her borders; Be it enacted, that on behalf of the United States, and our beloved country may have difference from these acts and appoint the same, as a day of solemn thanksgiving to God, for having preserved our own and watered our untrodden, and blessed the labors of the husbandman, and crowned the year with His goodness, in the increase of the ground and the gathering in of the fruits thereof, so that our banners are filled with plenty; and for having looked favorably upon this Commonwealth, and strengthened the bars of her gates, and blessed the children within her, and made men to be of one mind, and preserved peace to her borders; Be it enacted, that on behalf of the United States, and our beloved country may have difference from these acts and appoint the same, as a day of solemn thanksgiving to God, for having preserved our own and watered our untrodden, and blessed the labors of the husbandman, and crowned the year with His goodness, in the increase of the ground and the gathering in of the fruits thereof, so that our banners are filled with plenty; and for having looked favorably upon this Commonwealth, and strengthened the bars of her gates, and blessed the children within her, and made men to be of one mind, and preserved peace to her borders; Be it enacted, that on behalf of the United States, and our beloved country may have difference from these acts and appoint the same, as a day of solemn thanksgiving to God, for having preserved our own and watered our untrodden, and blessed the labors of the husbandman, and crowned the year with His goodness, in the increase of the ground and the gathering in of the fruits thereof, so that our banners are filled with plenty; and for having looked favorably upon this Commonwealth, and strengthened the bars of her gates, and blessed the children within her, and made men to be of one mind, and preserved peace to her borders; Be it enacted, that on behalf of the United States, and our beloved country may have difference from these acts and appoint the same, as a day of solemn thanksgiving to God, for having preserved our own and watered our untrodden, and blessed the labors of the husbandman, and crowned the year with His goodness, in the increase of the ground and the gathering in of the fruits thereof, so that our banners are filled with plenty; and for having looked favorably upon this Commonwealth, and strengthened the bars of her gates, and blessed the children within her, and made men to be of one mind, and preserved peace to her borders; Be it enacted, that on behalf of the United States, and our beloved country may have difference from these acts and appoint the same, as a day of solemn thanksgiving to God, for having preserved our own and watered our untrodden, and blessed the labors of the husbandman, and crowned the year with His goodness, in the increase of the ground and the gathering in of the fruits thereof, so that our banners are filled with plenty; and for having looked favorably upon this Commonwealth, and strengthened the bars of her gates, and blessed the children within her, and made men to be of one mind, and preserved peace to her borders; Be it enacted, that on behalf of the United States, and our beloved country may have difference from these acts and appoint the same, as a day of solemn thanksgiving to God, for having preserved our own and watered our untrodden, and blessed the labors of the husbandman, and crowned the year with His goodness, in the increase of the ground and the gathering in of the fruits thereof, so that our banners are filled with plenty; and for having looked favorably upon this Commonwealth, and strengthened the bars of her gates, and blessed the children within her, and made men to be of one mind, and preserved peace to her borders; Be it enacted, that on behalf of the United States, and our beloved country may have difference from these acts and appoint the same, as a day of solemn thanksgiving to God, for having preserved our own and watered our untrodden, and blessed the labors of the husbandman, and crowned the year with His goodness, in the increase of the ground and the gathering in of the fruits thereof, so that our banners are filled with plenty; and for having looked favorably upon this Commonwealth, and strengthened the bars of her gates, and blessed the children within her, and made men to be of one mind, and preserved peace to her borders; Be it enacted, that on behalf of the United States, and our beloved country may have difference from these acts and appoint the same, as a day of solemn thanksgiving to God, for having preserved our own and watered our untrodden, and blessed the labors of the husbandman, and crowned the year with His goodness, in the increase of the ground and the gathering in of the fruits thereof, so that our banners are filled with plenty; and for having looked favorably upon this Commonwealth, and strengthened the bars of her gates, and blessed the children within her, and made men to be of one mind, and preserved peace to her borders; Be it enacted, that on behalf of the United States, and our beloved country may have difference from these acts and appoint the same, as a day of solemn thanksgiving to God, for having preserved our own and watered our untrodden, and blessed the labors of the husbandman, and crowned the year with His goodness, in the increase of the ground and the gathering in of the fruits thereof, so that our banners are filled with plenty; and for having looked favorably upon this Commonwealth, and strengthened the bars of her gates, and blessed the children within her, and made men to be of one mind, and preserved peace to her borders; Be it enacted, that on behalf of the United States, and our beloved country may have difference from these acts and appoint the same, as a day of solemn thanksgiving to God, for having preserved our own and watered our untrodden, and blessed the labors of the husbandman, and crowned the year with His goodness, in the increase of the ground and the gathering in of the fruits thereof, so that our banners are filled with plenty; and for having looked favorably upon this Commonwealth, and strengthened the bars of her gates, and blessed the children within her, and made men to be of one mind, and preserved peace to her borders; Be it enacted, that on behalf of the United States, and our beloved country may have difference from these acts and appoint the same, as a day of solemn thanksgiving to God, for having preserved our own and watered our untrodden, and blessed the labors of the husbandman, and crowned the year with His goodness, in the increase of the ground and the gathering in of the fruits thereof, so that our banners are filled with plenty; and for having looked favorably upon this Commonwealth, and strengthened the bars of her gates, and blessed the children within her, and made men to be of one mind, and preserved peace to her borders; Be it enacted, that on behalf of the United States, and our beloved country may have difference from these acts and appoint the same, as a day of solemn thanksgiving to God, for having preserved our own and watered our untrodden, and blessed the labors of the husbandman, and crowned the year with His goodness, in the increase of the ground and the gathering in of the fruits thereof, so that our banners are filled with plenty; and for having looked favorably upon this Commonwealth, and strengthened the bars of her gates, and blessed the children within her, and made men to be of one mind, and preserved peace to her borders; Be it enacted, that on behalf of the United States, and our beloved country may have difference from these acts and appoint the same, as a day of solemn thanksgiving to God, for having preserved our own and watered our untrodden, and blessed the labors of the husbandman, and crowned the year with His goodness, in the increase of the ground and the gathering in of the fruits thereof, so that our banners are filled with plenty; and for having looked favorably upon this Commonwealth, and strengthened the bars of her gates, and blessed the children within her, and made men to be of one mind, and preserved peace to her borders; Be it enacted, that on behalf of the United States, and our beloved country may have difference from these acts and appoint the same, as a day of solemn thanksgiving to God, for having preserved our own and watered our untrodden, and blessed the labors of the husbandman, and crowned the year with His goodness, in the increase of the ground and the gathering in of the fruits thereof, so that our banners are filled with plenty; and for having looked favorably upon this Commonwealth, and strengthened the bars of her gates, and blessed the children within her, and made men to be of one mind, and preserved peace to her borders; Be it enacted, that on behalf of the United States, and our beloved country may have difference from these acts and appoint the same, as a day of solemn thanksgiving to God, for having preserved our own and watered our untrodden, and blessed the labors of the husbandman, and crowned the year with His goodness, in the increase of the ground and the gathering in of the fruits thereof, so that our banners are filled with plenty; and for having looked favorably upon this Commonwealth, and strengthened the bars of her gates, and blessed the children within her, and made men to be of one mind, and preserved peace to her borders; Be it enacted, that on behalf of the United States, and our beloved country may have difference from these acts and appoint the same, as a day of solemn thanksgiving to God, for having preserved our own and watered our untrodden, and blessed the labors of the husbandman, and crowned the year with His goodness, in the increase of the ground and the gathering in of the fruits thereof, so that our banners are filled with plenty; and for having looked favorably upon this Commonwealth, and strengthened the bars of her gates, and blessed the children within her, and made men to be of one mind, and preserved peace to her borders; Be it enacted, that on behalf of the United States, and our beloved country may have difference from these acts and appoint the same, as a day of solemn thanksgiving to God, for having preserved our own and watered our untrodden, and blessed the labors of the husbandman, and crowned the year with His goodness, in the increase of the ground and the gathering in of the fruits thereof, so that our banners are filled with plenty; and for having looked favorably upon this Commonwealth, and strengthened the bars of her gates, and blessed the children within her, and made men to be of one mind, and preserved peace to her borders; Be it enacted, that on behalf of the United States, and our beloved country may have difference from these acts and appoint the same, as a day of solemn thanksgiving to God, for having preserved our own and watered our untrodden, and blessed the labors of the husbandman, and crowned the year with His goodness, in the increase of the ground and the gathering in of the fruits thereof, so that our banners are filled with plenty; and for having looked favorably upon this Commonwealth, and strengthened the bars of her gates, and blessed the children within her, and made men to be of one mind, and preserved peace to her borders; Be it enacted, that on behalf of the United States, and our beloved country may have difference from these acts and appoint the same, as a day of solemn thanksgiving to God, for having preserved our own and watered our untrodden, and blessed the labors of the husbandman, and crowned the year with His goodness, in the increase of the ground and the gathering in of the fruits thereof, so that our banners are filled with plenty; and for having looked favorably upon this Commonwealth, and strengthened the bars of her gates, and blessed the children within her, and made men to be of one mind, and preserved peace to her borders; Be it enacted, that on behalf of the United States, and our beloved country may have difference from these acts and appoint the same, as a day of solemn thanksgiving to God, for having preserved our own and watered our untrodden, and blessed the labors of the husbandman, and crowned the year with His goodness, in the increase of the ground and the gathering in of the fruits thereof, so that our banners are filled with plenty; and for having looked favorably upon this Commonwealth, and strengthened the bars of her gates, and blessed the children within her, and made men to be of one mind, and preserved peace to her borders; Be it enacted, that on behalf of the United States, and our beloved country may have difference from these acts and appoint the same, as a day of solemn thanksgiving to God, for having preserved our own and watered our untrodden, and blessed the labors of the husbandman, and crowned the year with His goodness, in the increase of the ground and the gathering in of the fruits thereof, so that our banners are filled with plenty; and for having looked favorably upon this Commonwealth, and strengthened the bars of her gates, and blessed the children within her, and made men to be of one mind, and preserved peace to her borders; Be it enacted, that on behalf of the United States, and our beloved country may have difference from these acts and appoint the same, as a day of solemn thanksgiving to God, for having preserved our own and watered our untrodden, and blessed the labors of the husbandman, and crowned the year with His goodness, in the increase of the ground and the gathering in of the fruits thereof, so that our banners are filled with plenty; and for having looked favorably upon this Commonwealth, and strengthened the bars of her gates, and blessed the children within her, and made men to be of one mind, and preserved peace to her borders; Be it enacted, that on behalf of the United States, and our beloved country may have difference from these acts and appoint the same, as a day of solemn thanksgiving to God, for having preserved our own and watered our untrodden, and blessed the labors of the husbandman, and crowned the year with His goodness, in the increase of the ground and the gathering in of the fruits thereof, so that our banners are filled with plenty; and for having looked favorably upon this Commonwealth, and strengthened the bars of her gates, and blessed the children within her, and made men to be of one mind, and preserved peace to her borders; Be it enacted, that on behalf of the United States, and our beloved country may have difference from these acts and appoint the same, as a day of solemn thanksgiving to God, for having preserved our own and watered our untrodden, and blessed the labors of the husbandman, and crowned the year with His goodness, in the increase of the ground and the gathering in of the fruits thereof, so that our banners are filled with plenty; and for having looked favorably upon this Commonwealth, and strengthened the bars of her gates, and blessed the children within her, and made men to be of one mind, and preserved peace to her borders; Be it enacted, that on behalf of the United States, and our beloved country may have difference from these acts and appoint the same, as a day of solemn thanksgiving to God, for having preserved our own and watered our untrodden, and blessed the labors of the husbandman, and crowned the year with His goodness, in the increase of the ground and the gathering in of the fruits thereof, so that our banners are filled with plenty; and for having looked favorably upon this Commonwealth, and strengthened the bars of her gates, and blessed the children within her, and made men to be of one mind, and preserved peace to her borders; Be it enacted, that on behalf of the United States, and our beloved country may have difference from these acts and appoint the same, as a day of solemn thanksgiving to God, for having preserved our own and watered our untrodden, and blessed the labors of the husbandman, and crowned the year with His goodness, in the increase of the ground and the gathering in of the fruits thereof, so that our banners are filled with plenty; and for having looked favorably upon this Commonwealth, and strengthened the bars of her gates, and blessed the children within her, and made men to be of one mind, and preserved peace to her borders; Be it enacted, that on behalf of the United States, and our beloved country may have difference from these acts and appoint the same, as a day of solemn thanksgiving to God, for having preserved our own and watered our untrodden, and blessed the labors of the husbandman, and crowned the year with His goodness, in the increase of the ground and the gathering in of the fruits thereof, so that our banners are filled with plenty; and for having looked favorably upon this Commonwealth, and strengthened the bars of her gates, and blessed the children within her, and made men to be of one mind, and preserved peace to her borders; Be it enacted, that on behalf of the United States, and our beloved country may have difference from these acts and appoint the same, as a day of solemn thanksgiving to God, for having preserved our own and watered our untrodden, and blessed the labors of the husbandman, and crowned the year with His goodness, in the increase of the ground and the gathering in of the fruits thereof, so that our banners are filled with plenty; and for having looked favorably upon this Commonwealth, and strengthened the bars of her gates, and blessed the children within her, and made men to be of one mind, and preserved peace to her borders; Be it enacted, that on behalf of the United States, and our beloved country may have difference from these acts and appoint the same, as a day of solemn thanksgiving to God, for having preserved our own and watered our untrodden, and blessed the labors of the husbandman, and crowned the year with His goodness, in the increase of the ground and the gathering in of the fruits thereof, so that our banners are filled with plenty; and for having looked favorably upon this Commonwealth, and strengthened the bars of her gates, and blessed the children within her, and made men to be of one mind, and preserved peace to her borders; Be it enacted, that on behalf of the United States, and our beloved country may have difference from these acts and appoint the same, as a day of solemn thanksgiving to God, for having preserved our own and watered our untrodden, and blessed the labors of the husbandman, and crowned the year with His goodness, in the increase of the ground and the gathering in of the fruits thereof, so that our banners are filled with plenty; and for having looked favorably upon this Commonwealth, and strengthened the bars of her gates, and blessed the children within her, and made men to be of one mind, and preserved peace to her borders; Be it enacted, that on behalf of the United States, and our beloved country may have difference from these acts and appoint the same, as a day of solemn thanksgiving to God, for having preserved our own and watered our untrodden, and blessed the labors of the husbandman, and crowned the year with His goodness, in the increase of the ground and the gathering in of the fruits thereof, so that our banners are filled with plenty; and for having looked favorably upon this Commonwealth, and strengthened the bars of her gates, and blessed the children within her, and made men to be of one mind, and preserved peace to her borders; Be it enacted, that on behalf of the United States, and our beloved country may have difference from these acts and appoint the same, as a day of solemn thanksgiving to God, for having preserved our own and watered our untrodden, and blessed the labors of the husbandman, and crowned the year with His goodness, in the increase of the ground and the gathering in of the fruits thereof, so that our banners are filled with plenty; and for having looked favorably upon this Commonwealth, and strengthened the bars of her gates, and blessed the children within her, and made men to be of one mind, and preserved peace to her borders; Be it enacted, that on behalf of the United States, and our beloved country may have difference from these acts and appoint the same, as a day of solemn thanksgiving to God, for having preserved our own and watered our untrodden, and blessed the labors of the husbandman, and crowned the year with His goodness, in the increase of the ground and the gathering in of the fruits thereof, so that our banners are filled with plenty; and for having looked favorably upon this Commonwealth, and strengthened the bars of her gates, and blessed the children within her, and made men to be of one mind, and preserved peace to her borders; Be it enacted, that on behalf of the United States, and our beloved country may have difference from these acts and appoint the same, as a day of solemn thanksgiving to God, for having preserved our own and watered our untrodden, and blessed the labors of the husbandman, and crowned the year with His goodness, in the increase of the ground and the gathering in of the fruits thereof, so that our banners are filled with plenty; and for having looked favorably upon this Commonwealth, and strengthened the bars of her gates, and blessed the children within her, and made men to be of one mind, and preserved peace to her borders; Be it enacted, that on behalf of the United States, and our beloved country may have difference from these acts and appoint the same, as a day of solemn thanksgiving to God, for having preserved our own and watered our untrodden, and blessed the labors of the husbandman, and crowned the year with His goodness, in the increase of the ground and the gathering in of the fruits thereof, so that our banners are filled with plenty; and for having looked favorably upon this Commonwealth, and strengthened the bars of her gates, and blessed the children within her, and made men to be of one mind, and preserved peace to her borders; Be it enacted, that on behalf of the United States, and our beloved country may have difference from these acts and appoint the same, as a day of solemn thanksgiving to God, for having preserved our own and watered our untrodden, and blessed the labors of the husbandman, and crowned the year with His goodness, in the increase of the ground and the gathering in of the fruits thereof, so that our banners are filled with plenty; and for having looked favorably upon this Commonwealth, and strengthened the bars of her gates, and blessed the children within her, and made men to be of one mind, and preserved peace to her borders; Be it enacted, that on behalf of the United States, and our beloved country may have difference from these acts and appoint the same, as a day of solemn thanksgiving to God, for having preserved our own and watered our untrodden, and blessed the labors of the husbandman, and crowned the year with His goodness, in the increase of the ground and the gathering in of the fruits thereof, so that our banners are filled with plenty; and for having looked favorably upon this Commonwealth, and strengthened the bars of her gates, and blessed the children within her, and made men to be of one mind, and preserved