thampton counties, on the Eastern Shore of Virginia, is about 1,800, and that it is threatened by 4,000 Federal troops, which the Enquirer thinks is an exaggeration. Perhaps it will soon be undeceived in this matter.

Another account of the fight at Piketon, Kentucky, said to be reliable, reduces it to much smaller proportions than previous reports. The Confederates were overpowered and dispersed, but they numbered only one thousand, of whom ninety were killed and fifty taken prisoners. Other accounts reiterate the importance of the victory and the number of prisoners taken.

From the Wheeling papers we have some later intelligence from Gen. Rosecrans' column. He was still manoeuvering to catch Gen. Floyd's brigade.

The latest intelligence from Fortress Monroe reports that the Confederates had assembled in considerable force at Great Bethel, and that an attack upon Newport News was anticipated. In view of such a contingency the Federal forces at the latter point had been reinforced. The late fire at Norfolk had destroyed a large quantity of stores, including nearly all the oil in the city. We learn from a person who was in Norfolk recently that the Merrimac has not been taken out of the dry dock. A close fence had been built up around her, and no parties were permitted to go inside except the workmen and officers.

Mr. Chase has concluded his negotiation with the New York banks for $50,000,000 at seven per cent. interest. The option of taking the third fifty millions of the 7 3-10 loan is left open until January.

The retreat of the Confederate forces under Price and McCullough into Aakansas is confirmed. They go to Fort Smith to winter, or perhaps for operations along the Mississippi river. Before leaving Missouri they destroyed all the haystacks, corn cribs, &c., along their line of march.

Governor Hicks has called a special session of the Maryland Legislature, to assemble at Annapolis, on Tuesday, December 3.

The privateer Sumter, on the 5th ult., boarded a British vessel in latitude 9deg. 30 minutes north, and lon. 47 deg. 25 minutes, and from Panama we learn that she was at Barbadoes on Oct. 22, but three days before the time that her crew were reported to be in confinement on board the Niagara at the mouth of the Mississippi. A despatch from San Francisco, dated the 14th inst., states that the privateer schooner Neva, from China, had been seized there by Capt. Pease, of the revenue cutter Marcy.

From Southern papers, received via Norfolk, we have some later intelligence from that quarter. There is nothing actually later from Port Royal, except a despatch from Charleston to the Richmond Enquirer of Thursday last, which states that Gen. Sherman had taken possession of Pinckney Island, seized all the able-bodied negro men and sent them to the fleet. No attempt had yet been made to land on the mainland.—Pinckney Island fronts on Port Royal harbor and lies between Hilton Head Island and the mainland. Gens. Lee and Ripley were reported to be at Coosawhatchie, where they were constructing defensive works to prevent the advance of the National troops. The Richmond Despatch claims to have information that the authorities of South Carolina have communicated with the government upon the subject of hoisting the black flag, to which allusion has been made since the attack upon the coast of that State. It is believed that Gen. Lee has received orders from the War department urging that "those captured must "be regarded as prisoners of of war." It is said they will be disregarded by the authorities of South Carolina; that the same course will be pursued which Gov. Wise adopted at the time of the John Brown trial, and that when South Carolina is done with the invaders the Confederate government can have them. Nothing shows a weak cause more surely than such threats.

Via Havana we learn that the Confederates landed fifteen hundred men on Santa Rosa Island, their intention being to land five thousand and to attack Fort Pickens.—The movement, however, was detected, and those who landed were shelled by vessels, from the Federal fleet, and driven off with great loss.

The steamer Cosmopolitan has arrived at New York from Havana. The Spanish fleet was nearly ready to sail for the Gulf of Mexico. Intelligence from Mexico shows a continued state of anarchy in that country.

The City of Manchester, from Liverpool and Queenstown, on the 6th and 7th inst., passed Cape Race on Saturday evening with four days later news from Europe. The convention between England, France and Spain, concerning intervention in Mexico, was signed at London on the 31st ult. Active preparations were making for the expedition. A surmise of ulterior designs is again afloat. The London Times finds fault with Secretary Seward's despatch to Lord Lyons, and ridicules his circular to the Governors of the States concerning fortifications. The London Herald and the Post are also occupied with the correspondence of Lord Lyons and Mr. Seward. It is believed that France requires a large loan. The continental news generally is not important.

We hear from Western Virginia that on the 10th inst. General Cox's Brigade crossed the Kanawha and New rivers, and drove the enemy three miles back from their positions. General Benham had a sharp skirmish with them, which was ended by the fall of night; the rebels took advantage of this respite to retreat; as soon as General Benham discovered their movement he set out after them, but after a chase of twenty-five miles through a drenching rain gave up the pursuit.

The San Jacinto, with Messrs. Slidell and Mason on board, on arriving at New York was ordered to Boston where the prisoners will be transferred to Fort Warren.

The embarkation of Gen. Butler's brigade at Boston has commenced.

☞ The cotton can't be removed from the plantations of Louisiana for the want of rope and bagging. We'll give the rebels a little more rope, and then do the bagging ourselves.—Louisville Journal.

☞ Of all kinds of property, money lent on good security is the most interesting.

FRENCH AND GERMAN WOMEN.—The Paris Figaro is responsible for the following amusing parallel between feminine humanity in France and Germany: The Frenchwoman dresses, the German clothes herself. The German walks, the Parisienne undulates. German women are either handsome or ugly; Parisiennes are charming; none of them are ugly, nor are they even beautiful. Whether excited or listless, the look of the German woman is always frank and honest. What delicious abysses are the eyes of the Parisienne! As Count de Grammont once remarked: "Her eyes always seem to be doing something more than merely looking at you! The German say yes or no. With the Parisienne it is never quite yes, nor altogether no. The German will wait for you at the trysting place ten years; the Parisienne ten minutes. Parisienne is superlatively knowing; the German is content with the admiration of one; the French-woman longs to be admired by all, and would rather give up her betrothed than the public. The Parisienne is an artist, the German a woman. Moral—love in France, marry in Germany.

MILITARY UNIFORMS.—There is, perhaps, no department of military business in which there has been more marked improvement than in the clothing of soldiers. Not many years since officers and privates were clad in garments which were almost skin tight. They wore leather stocks, which were worthy of the name, for they kept the wearer in tribulation while their padded breasts and tight sleeves made volition a matter of great difficulty. During the present war each of our volunteers as procure their uniforms at the Brown Stone Clothing Hall of Rockhill & Wilson, Nos. 603 and 605 Chestnut street, above Sixth, Philadelphia; obtain clothing that is perfectly easy, substantial and becoming. The firm named have gone largely into the business of making Military Clothing, and their facilities enable them to fill the largest orders in the shortest possible time.

THE CONFESSION AND EXPERIENCE OF AN INVALID.

Published for the benefit and as a warning and a caution to young men who suffer from Nervous Debility, Premature Decay, etc., supplying at the same time the means of self-cure, by one who cured himself after being put to great expense through medical imposition and quackery.
