COMPANY, R. JAMES, General Agent, Milan, Olio, MILITARY UNIFORMS—There is, perhaps, no department of mitury business in which there has been more marked improvement than in the clothing of soliders. Not many years since officers and private-were clad in graments which were almost skin tight. They wore leather stocks, which were most skin tight. They wore leather stocks, which were most yellow the same, for they kept the wearer in tribulation; white their nadded breast and tight sleeves made volution a stater of great difficulty. During the present war such of our volunteers as procure their uniforms at the Brown Stone Cloning flatiof RockLill & Wilson, Nos 603 and 605 Chestnut street, above Sixth, Philadelphia obtain clothing that is perfectly easy, substantial and becoming. The firm manned have gone largely into the business of making Military Clothine, and then facilities enable them to fill the largest orders in the shortest possible time.
