

HALDEMAN'S CHEAP CASH STORE, COLUMBIA, PA. OUR SPRING STOCK OF DRY GOODS, CARPETINGS AND OIL CLOTHS, QUEENSWARE, & C.

Our Assortment is as large, Varied and Complete as any Former Season. Having Made HEAVY PURCHASES FOR CASH, BEFORE THE GREAT ADVANCE, We are now offering many Goods AT LESS THAN PRESENT WHOLESALE PRICES.

Advertisement for Haldeaman's Cheap Cash Store, featuring various goods like dry goods, oil cloths, and queensware. It also includes a portrait of a woman and a list of names under 'THE PENNSYLVANIA SALT MANUFACTURING CO.' and 'LIST OF LETTERS REMAINING IN THE COLUMBIA POST OFFICE.'.

New Monthlies. AMERICAN EXCHANGER AND REVIEW. The April number of the American Exchange and Review has also appeared on "Mining and Metallic Production in the United States." "Outlines of Social Science." "Cultivation of Peruvian Bark Trees." "Operations of the United States Treasury Department from 1860." "American History," &c., &c. An excellent number.

DEATH OF CAPTAIN J. R. NEFF. The numerous friends of Captain J. R. Neff will regret to learn of his death, which occurred in camp a few days ago. Captain Neff commanded Co. G of Col. Franklin's 122d Regiment, P. V. His remains reached Lancaster on Friday morning, and were taken to Strasburg. The funeral took place from the residence of his mother, near Strasburg, on Sunday morning at ten o'clock.

BRIEN'S NATIONAL CIRCUS AND GREAT SHOW. The combined organization that one of our most amiable contemporaries styles as the "Model Show" is advertised in our paper of this date. With a caravan entirely new, having been manufactured at an immense outlay, it is to be naturally supposed that the entertainments will be worthy of such a costly external. The management of the business is entrusted to the hands of competent practical exhibitors—at the head of whom is Charles H. Castle—who for years was the leading spirit, "and the great success" of the once famous "Dan Rice's Great Show." Mr. C. says there is plenty of novelty, inasmuch as those who see it once (in a afternoon for instance) invariably attend at night, and advise their friends to do the same. One reason why the circus should "draw" is that the direction of the arena is under the control of Mrs. Charles Warner, formerly Mrs. DAN RICE, a lady well known, and greatly respected. Under her administration nothing objectionable will be permitted to be said or done. To guard against any contingency of the kind, she has employed none but the most respectable and reliable, artists. Her daughter, Miss Libbie Rice accompanies her—evidence that all ladies can attend, without danger of having their feelings offended. We refer our readers to our advertising columns for particulars of the "Show."

INTERESTING TO THE PUBLIC.—Hon. Joseph J. Lewis, the new Commissioner of Internal Revenue, in answer to inquiries addressed to him by John M. Riley, of Philadelphia, has announced the following decisions: 1. That but one stamp is required on a mortgage accompanied by a bond and warrant of attorney. The stamp on the single instrument must be the highest rate required for either of the instruments. It will be advisable in practice to place the stamp on the instrument to which reference is made by the other instrument or instruments. Where a bond and mortgage are given as securities for the same debt, the mortgage is generally a collateral security. In such case the stamp is properly placed on the bond. Where a warrant of attorney accompanies a bond, the stamp will properly be placed on the bond.

Gen. Morgan narrowly escaped. He and Colonel Martin were in flight, and were pursued by a squad of cavalry. A Seventh Pennsylvania trooper was close at his heels, Morgan turned and shot at him with a pistol. The trooper was in the act of slaying him with his sabre. Morgan dodged and the blow brought down Colonel Martin, who was left in a dying condition. Whether Dick McCann escaped is a very doubtful question. He was captured, but was not reported with the other prisoners. His guard does not give explicit accounts about him. It is probable he was quietly left in the woods. The enemy recently moved up from Tullahoma to Manchester. On the 10th, they received a reinforcement of sixteen thousand men from Mobile. Prisoners captured by General Reynolds bring an unreliable report that Breckinridge recently shot Bragg, and is under arrest for homicide. They say that Bragg had condemned some Kentuckians to death. Breckinridge remonstrated angrily, saying that "shooting Kentuckians was played out," and if the order was executed, he would shoot Bragg. The latter executed the Kentuckians and Breckinridge killed him. There has recently been considerable skirmishing near Memphis, but the impression was that the rebels were falling back. It is thought the enemy is not in sufficient force to give battle, and that the movements are only feints to draw our forces from Corinth, and give those reported to have evacuated Vicksburg an opportunity to join the army at Tullahoma by the way of Corinth.

This Office For Sale. We desire to dispose of the Spy Office, and offer it for sale. It is well known as one of the best Country Offices in the State. The Jobbing and Advertising custom is first-rate, and increasing. The business of the town is better to-day than it has been for years, and the Spy prospers accordingly. The Circulation of the paper is small, but may readily be doubled with little effort. For information apply at the Spy Office, or address SAMUEL WAGNER, Spy Office, Columbia, Pa.

ARMY CORRESPONDENCE. CAMP DICK ROBINSON, KY. April 19th, 1863. DEAR SIR:—We are pleasantly encamped at this place, one of the most beautiful spots in the world.—We enjoy ourselves highly. Gen. Welsh arrived from home last Monday, and assumed command of the 1st Division 9th army corps. He is also Military General of the District lying between Lexington and Stanford—no doubt he will look sharp after the sympathizers of this region. We are all enjoying good health (Company B, ditto). Our company, "K," has been detached from the regiment, and is doing duty at Division Headquarters as Provost guard. We do for the General what Hollingsworth, Derrick, Waite & Co., did for the Blue Front. Sergt. Ewel and party have just returned from Lexington, whither they conducted some twenty prisoners, arrested for various crimes: such as uttering counterfeit postage currency, selling whiskey to soldiers—a la Sullivan—&c. A few were deserters and some were captured Rebel soldiers. Alas! two of company K have deserted: Jo. McFano and Samuel C. Chick. McFano is from Washington, B. O., constable, &c. Chick was a Drytown Alderman, or some such dignitary—it was impossible for this pair to march past the Bourbon Distillery; they charged on old Bourbon and were lost. They were both food of the critter. We hope they will never return. We were visited yesterday by the young ladies of "Galdwell Institute," at Danville, six miles from here. About forty of them came in a large wagon, prepared purposely. It did us good to see them; and to see their waving hair and their Union Plugs made our camp jump from our heads. If my half-hearted "Zoo Zoo" friend could only have been here I think he too, would have lost a little of his love for the beauties of the Army of the Potomac. Still the "girl I left behind" was not there. I will write more next week. Andrew Hostetter who has been absent sick for a long time, joined us a few days ago; he is right well, and delighted to get back to his command. Address, Company K, 45th Regt. Pennsylvania Volunteers, via Lexington, Ky. Letters properly addressed reach us in three days.

WAR NEWS. THE WAR IN MISSOURI. St. Louis, April 29.—Gen. Price was reported to have been at Little Rock, Ark., ten days ago, with 8,000 troops, preparing for a campaign in Missouri. The Democrat's correspondent with Gen. Vandever's command says that about ten o'clock on Sunday night, a rebel regiment of Marmaduke's army, which was then retreating from Cape Girardeau, was surprised when three miles west of Jackson, while cooking their supper and loitering around the camp fires. Two small howitzers, loaded with musket balls and hauled by hand to within thirty yards of them, were simultaneously discharged, killing and wounding a large number. At the same time the 1st Iowa Cavalry charged on the rear, and not a man of the entire regiment is supposed to have escaped, all who were not killed or wounded being taken prisoners. All their horses, guns, camp equipage, and several thousand dollars worth of stolen property was captured. Early next morning Gen. Vandever advanced and saw the main body of the enemy in full retreat. He immediately followed, keeping up constant artillery fire in his rear. At two o'clock P. M., Gen. McNeil joined him, and the combined forces continued the pursuit. Firing was heard all the afternoon, and it is scarcely possible that the rebels can escape. Marmaduke's command consists of Missouri, Arkansas and Texas regiments, and left Potosi, Ark., on the 15th inst., ostensibly for the purpose of occupying Pilot Knob and Cape Girardeau as a base of operations for the projected expedition under Price, this summer, but really for plunder. The force comprised four brigades, under Gen. Shelby, Col. Bainbridge and Green, and ten pieces of artillery. The 1st Nebraska Infantry, under Col. Baumer, did the most fighting in the rebel attack on Cape Girardeau, and behaved with great gallantry. They were placed in the woods, about a mile from town, and kept Marmaduke's whole force in check, while the guns of the forts played upon them, doing considerable execution. The rebel batteries did no injury to the town. The enemy's loss was about sixty killed and two hundred wounded. The Repulse of the Rebels at Cape Girardeau. St. Louis, April 27th.—The rebel General Marmaduke attacked McNeil at Cape Girardeau, on Sunday forenoon, with eight thousand men. After three hours of fighting the rebels were repulsed. They changed position and renewed the attack, and were again repulsed with heavy loss. The last despatch from General McNeil, says the enemy was retreating. Our loss was less than twenty killed and wounded.

WAR NEWS. THE WAR IN MISSOURI. St. Louis, April 27th.—A special despatch to the Democrat, from Patton, Ballinger county, dated yesterday, says that "Marmaduke, with three thousand men and six pieces of artillery, left here last night on the Cape Girardeau road. He has stripped this section of the country of everything movable, robbing the Unionists and secessionists alike. He has a train of one hundred and fifty wagons loaded with plunder. Cannonading is now heard in the direction of Cape Girardeau. If Marmaduke remains there he will be annihilated by the force under General Vandever. If he retreats Southwest, he will be hotly pursued by us. We have already taken a number of prisoners, stragglers from his army." Interesting From Tennessee. CINCINNATI, April 27.—The Commercial contains the following despatch: MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 26.—General Reynolds, to-day, sent in one hundred and thirty prisoners from Liberty. On the surprise at McMinnville, the rebel

Gen. Morgan narrowly escaped. He and Colonel Martin were in flight, and were pursued by a squad of cavalry. A Seventh Pennsylvania trooper was close at his heels, Morgan turned and shot at him with a pistol. The trooper was in the act of slaying him with his sabre. Morgan dodged and the blow brought down Colonel Martin, who was left in a dying condition. Whether Dick McCann escaped is a very doubtful question. He was captured, but was not reported with the other prisoners. His guard does not give explicit accounts about him. It is probable he was quietly left in the woods. The enemy recently moved up from Tullahoma to Manchester. On the 10th, they received a reinforcement of sixteen thousand men from Mobile. Prisoners captured by General Reynolds bring an unreliable report that Breckinridge recently shot Bragg, and is under arrest for homicide. They say that Bragg had condemned some Kentuckians to death. Breckinridge remonstrated angrily, saying that "shooting Kentuckians was played out," and if the order was executed, he would shoot Bragg. The latter executed the Kentuckians and Breckinridge killed him. There has recently been considerable skirmishing near Memphis, but the impression was that the rebels were falling back. It is thought the enemy is not in sufficient force to give battle, and that the movements are only feints to draw our forces from Corinth, and give those reported to have evacuated Vicksburg an opportunity to join the army at Tullahoma by the way of Corinth.

AMERICAN AGRICULTURIST.—The May number of the Agriculturalist has a large amount of very valuable agricultural and general information which will repay perusal. The subscription is but one dollar a year, and every man who cultivates ten square feet of earth should invest in a copy. THE CENTURIER.—A. M. Spanglers New Agricultural monthly sustains itself. The second number is an advance upon the first, and gives promise of regular progress to perfection. But 25 cents a year. Think of it! We will not encourage such an enterprise. We hope subscriptions will flow in by thousands. ARTHUR'S HOME MAGAZINE.—This excellent Monthly still flourishes. It is certainly a tribute to the worth of our periodical literature that no Magazine of any standing has gone down during our troubles. Arthur's keeps up its high character, and is the same favorite as of old. The May number is a particularly good one.

ARMY CORRESPONDENCE. CAMP DICK ROBINSON, KY. April 19th, 1863. DEAR SIR:—We are pleasantly encamped at this place, one of the most beautiful spots in the world.—We enjoy ourselves highly. Gen. Welsh arrived from home last Monday, and assumed command of the 1st Division 9th army corps. He is also Military General of the District lying between Lexington and Stanford—no doubt he will look sharp after the sympathizers of this region. We are all enjoying good health (Company B, ditto). Our company, "K," has been detached from the regiment, and is doing duty at Division Headquarters as Provost guard. We do for the General what Hollingsworth, Derrick, Waite & Co., did for the Blue Front. Sergt. Ewel and party have just returned from Lexington, whither they conducted some twenty prisoners, arrested for various crimes: such as uttering counterfeit postage currency, selling whiskey to soldiers—a la Sullivan—&c. A few were deserters and some were captured Rebel soldiers. Alas! two of company K have deserted: Jo. McFano and Samuel C. Chick. McFano is from Washington, B. O., constable, &c. Chick was a Drytown Alderman, or some such dignitary—it was impossible for this pair to march past the Bourbon Distillery; they charged on old Bourbon and were lost. They were both food of the critter. We hope they will never return. We were visited yesterday by the young ladies of "Galdwell Institute," at Danville, six miles from here. About forty of them came in a large wagon, prepared purposely. It did us good to see them; and to see their waving hair and their Union Plugs made our camp jump from our heads. If my half-hearted "Zoo Zoo" friend could only have been here I think he too, would have lost a little of his love for the beauties of the Army of the Potomac. Still the "girl I left behind" was not there. I will write more next week. Andrew Hostetter who has been absent sick for a long time, joined us a few days ago; he is right well, and delighted to get back to his command. Address, Company K, 45th Regt. Pennsylvania Volunteers, via Lexington, Ky. Letters properly addressed reach us in three days.

WAR NEWS. THE WAR IN MISSOURI. St. Louis, April 29.—Gen. Price was reported to have been at Little Rock, Ark., ten days ago, with 8,000 troops, preparing for a campaign in Missouri. The Democrat's correspondent with Gen. Vandever's command says that about ten o'clock on Sunday night, a rebel regiment of Marmaduke's army, which was then retreating from Cape Girardeau, was surprised when three miles west of Jackson, while cooking their supper and loitering around the camp fires. Two small howitzers, loaded with musket balls and hauled by hand to within thirty yards of them, were simultaneously discharged, killing and wounding a large number. At the same time the 1st Iowa Cavalry charged on the rear, and not a man of the entire regiment is supposed to have escaped, all who were not killed or wounded being taken prisoners. All their horses, guns, camp equipage, and several thousand dollars worth of stolen property was captured. Early next morning Gen. Vandever advanced and saw the main body of the enemy in full retreat. He immediately followed, keeping up constant artillery fire in his rear. At two o'clock P. M., Gen. McNeil joined him, and the combined forces continued the pursuit. Firing was heard all the afternoon, and it is scarcely possible that the rebels can escape. Marmaduke's command consists of Missouri, Arkansas and Texas regiments, and left Potosi, Ark., on the 15th inst., ostensibly for the purpose of occupying Pilot Knob and Cape Girardeau as a base of operations for the projected expedition under Price, this summer, but really for plunder. The force comprised four brigades, under Gen. Shelby, Col. Bainbridge and Green, and ten pieces of artillery. The 1st Nebraska Infantry, under Col. Baumer, did the most fighting in the rebel attack on Cape Girardeau, and behaved with great gallantry. They were placed in the woods, about a mile from town, and kept Marmaduke's whole force in check, while the guns of the forts played upon them, doing considerable execution. The rebel batteries did no injury to the town. The enemy's loss was about sixty killed and two hundred wounded. The Repulse of the Rebels at Cape Girardeau. St. Louis, April 27th.—The rebel General Marmaduke attacked McNeil at Cape Girardeau, on Sunday forenoon, with eight thousand men. After three hours of fighting the rebels were repulsed. They changed position and renewed the attack, and were again repulsed with heavy loss. The last despatch from General McNeil, says the enemy was retreating. Our loss was less than twenty killed and wounded.

WAR NEWS. THE WAR IN MISSOURI. St. Louis, April 27th.—A special despatch to the Democrat, from Patton, Ballinger county, dated yesterday, says that "Marmaduke, with three thousand men and six pieces of artillery, left here last night on the Cape Girardeau road. He has stripped this section of the country of everything movable, robbing the Unionists and secessionists alike. He has a train of one hundred and fifty wagons loaded with plunder. Cannonading is now heard in the direction of Cape Girardeau. If Marmaduke remains there he will be annihilated by the force under General Vandever. If he retreats Southwest, he will be hotly pursued by us. We have already taken a number of prisoners, stragglers from his army." Interesting From Tennessee. CINCINNATI, April 27.—The Commercial contains the following despatch: MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 26.—General Reynolds, to-day, sent in one hundred and thirty prisoners from Liberty. On the surprise at McMinnville, the rebel

Gen. Morgan narrowly escaped. He and Colonel Martin were in flight, and were pursued by a squad of cavalry. A Seventh Pennsylvania trooper was close at his heels, Morgan turned and shot at him with a pistol. The trooper was in the act of slaying him with his sabre. Morgan dodged and the blow brought down Colonel Martin, who was left in a dying condition. Whether Dick McCann escaped is a very doubtful question. He was captured, but was not reported with the other prisoners. His guard does not give explicit accounts about him. It is probable he was quietly left in the woods. The enemy recently moved up from Tullahoma to Manchester. On the 10th, they received a reinforcement of sixteen thousand men from Mobile. Prisoners captured by General Reynolds bring an unreliable report that Breckinridge recently shot Bragg, and is under arrest for homicide. They say that Bragg had condemned some Kentuckians to death. Breckinridge remonstrated angrily, saying that "shooting Kentuckians was played out," and if the order was executed, he would shoot Bragg. The latter executed the Kentuckians and Breckinridge killed him. There has recently been considerable skirmishing near Memphis, but the impression was that the rebels were falling back. It is thought the enemy is not in sufficient force to give battle, and that the movements are only feints to draw our forces from Corinth, and give those reported to have evacuated Vicksburg an opportunity to join the army at Tullahoma by the way of Corinth.

DECEASED.—On Tuesday morning it was discovered that a raftman named William Campbell, had died during the previous night, on a raft lying at one of our wharves, where he had been lodging. A jury was summoned by Deputy Coroner Hunter, and after ascertaining all the facts connected with the case a verdict was returned of "death by visitation of God." The fees allowed by the county for burial only sufficing for interment in Puters Field, the Deputy Coroner and members of the Jury liberally contributed their fees towards funeral expenses. A good coffin was procured, and next day the remains were buried in the New Cemetery. Deceased was a native of Addison, New York, apparently about 40 years of age, and leaves a wife and five children.

THE NEW POSTAGE BILL. The new Postal Law, as amended by the last Congress, will go into effect on the 1st of July next. The following are the most important of its provisions: Letter carriers are to receive salaries, and no charge will be made for the delivery of letters. Postage on local or "drop letters" is raised to two cents, to be invariably paid in advance and by postal stamps. The postage is two cents when the weight does not exceed half an ounce, and an additional rate is to be charged for every additional half ounce or fraction of an ounce. The regulations respecting soldiers' letters remain the same as heretofore. On all mail matter required by law to be prepaid, and which shall reach its destination unpaid, double the usual rates must be collected on delivery, and insufficient payment is to be disregarded. The fee for the registration of letters is, if optional with the Postmaster-General, but it is not to exceed twenty cents per letter. Unsealed circulars, not exceeding three to one address, are to be charged with two cents postage, and in that proportion for a greater number. Newspaper postage will undergo considerable change. No papers will be permitted to go free in the mails, except in the county where published, as heretofore. Weekly papers, five cents per quarter; semi-weekly, ten cents; tri-weekly, fifty

WAR NEWS. THE WAR IN MISSOURI. St. Louis, April 29.—Gen. Price was reported to have been at Little Rock, Ark., ten days ago, with 8,000 troops, preparing for a campaign in Missouri. The Democrat's correspondent with Gen. Vandever's command says that about ten o'clock on Sunday night, a rebel regiment of Marmaduke's army, which was then retreating from Cape Girardeau, was surprised when three miles west of Jackson, while cooking their supper and loitering around the camp fires. Two small howitzers, loaded with musket balls and hauled by hand to within thirty yards of them, were simultaneously discharged, killing and wounding a large number. At the same time the 1st Iowa Cavalry charged on the rear, and not a man of the entire regiment is supposed to have escaped, all who were not killed or wounded being taken prisoners. All their horses, guns, camp equipage, and several thousand dollars worth of stolen property was captured. Early next morning Gen. Vandever advanced and saw the main body of the enemy in full retreat. He immediately followed, keeping up constant artillery fire in his rear. At two o'clock P. M., Gen. McNeil joined him, and the combined forces continued the pursuit. Firing was heard all the afternoon, and it is scarcely possible that the rebels can escape. Marmaduke's command consists of Missouri, Arkansas and Texas regiments, and left Potosi, Ark., on the 15th inst., ostensibly for the purpose of occupying Pilot Knob and Cape Girardeau as a base of operations for the projected expedition under Price, this summer, but really for plunder. The force comprised four brigades, under Gen. Shelby, Col. Bainbridge and Green, and ten pieces of artillery. The 1st Nebraska Infantry, under Col. Baumer, did the most fighting in the rebel attack on Cape Girardeau, and behaved with great gallantry. They were placed in the woods, about a mile from town, and kept Marmaduke's whole force in check, while the guns of the forts played upon them, doing considerable execution. The rebel batteries did no injury to the town. The enemy's loss was about sixty killed and two hundred wounded. The Repulse of the Rebels at Cape Girardeau. St. Louis, April 27th.—The rebel General Marmaduke attacked McNeil at Cape Girardeau, on Sunday forenoon, with eight thousand men. After three hours of fighting the rebels were repulsed. They changed position and renewed the attack, and were again repulsed with heavy loss. The last despatch from General McNeil, says the enemy was retreating. Our loss was less than twenty killed and wounded.

WAR NEWS. THE WAR IN MISSOURI. St. Louis, April 27th.—A special despatch to the Democrat, from Patton, Ballinger county, dated yesterday, says that "Marmaduke, with three thousand men and six pieces of artillery, left here last night on the Cape Girardeau road. He has stripped this section of the country of everything movable, robbing the Unionists and secessionists alike. He has a train of one hundred and fifty wagons loaded with plunder. Cannonading is now heard in the direction of Cape Girardeau. If Marmaduke remains there he will be annihilated by the force under General Vandever. If he retreats Southwest, he will be hotly pursued by us. We have already taken a number of prisoners, stragglers from his army." Interesting From Tennessee. CINCINNATI, April 27.—The Commercial contains the following despatch: MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 26.—General Reynolds, to-day, sent in one hundred and thirty prisoners from Liberty. On the surprise at McMinnville, the rebel

Gen. Morgan narrowly escaped. He and Colonel Martin were in flight, and were pursued by a squad of cavalry. A Seventh Pennsylvania trooper was close at his heels, Morgan turned and shot at him with a pistol. The trooper was in the act of slaying him with his sabre. Morgan dodged and the blow brought down Colonel Martin, who was left in a dying condition. Whether Dick McCann escaped is a very doubtful question. He was captured, but was not reported with the other prisoners. His guard does not give explicit accounts about him. It is probable he was quietly left in the woods. The enemy recently moved up from Tullahoma to Manchester. On the 10th, they received a reinforcement of sixteen thousand men from Mobile. Prisoners captured by General Reynolds bring an unreliable report that Breckinridge recently shot Bragg, and is under arrest for homicide. They say that Bragg had condemned some Kentuckians to death. Breckinridge remonstrated angrily, saying that "shooting Kentuckians was played out," and if the order was executed, he would shoot Bragg. The latter executed the Kentuckians and Breckinridge killed him. There has recently been considerable skirmishing near Memphis, but the impression was that the rebels were falling back. It is thought the enemy is not in sufficient force to give battle, and that the movements are only feints to draw our forces from Corinth, and give those reported to have evacuated Vicksburg an opportunity to join the army at Tullahoma by the way of Corinth.