"NO ENTERTAINMENT SO CHEAP AS READING, NOR ANY PLEASURE SO LASTING."

$1,50 PER YEAR IN ADVANE; $2,00 IF NOIN ADV INE

VOLUME XXXIV, NUMBER 42.3

[WHOLE NUMBER 1,707.

PUBLISHED EVERY SATURDAY MORNING. Office in Carpet Hal, North-west corner of

Front and Locust strects. Tems of Subsciption. One Copyperannum, if paidin advance, 1150 if not paid within three months from commencement of the year. 200 A Conts a Copy.

Nos ubscription eccuved for a less time than six months; and no paper will be discontinued until all rearrage sare paid, an essat the option of the publisher.

isher.

[[Moneymayveromittedbymailanhepublisher s risk. Rates of Advetising.

quare[6, ines]one week, $6.38
three weeks, 75
each subsequent insertion, 10 [12 ines]one week 1, 50
three weeks 1, 50
each subsequent insertion 25
ach subsequent insertion 25 targer idvortisement in proportion Aither 11 liseount will be made to quarterly, half eirly o rearly divertisers, who are strictly confined other business.

H M. NORTH. A TTORNEY AND COUNSELLOR AT LAW Columbia, Pa.
Collections promptly made, in Lancaste and York

Jounties. Columbia, May 4,1850. H. B. ESSICK.

ATTORNEY AND COUNSELOR AT LAW. COLUMBIA. PA.

Clocks, Watches, Jwely, Silve r and Silver-Plated Ware. SHREINER & SPERING.

HAVING taken the old established stand of John Felix. From street, Columbia, respectfully invite the public to call and examine their large assortment of of CLOCKS, WATCHES, JEWELRY, SILVER and SILVER-PLATED WARE, CUTLERY, COMBS, PISTOLS, ACCORDEONS, and FANCY ARTICLES,

Such as are usually kept in a first-class Jewelry Store We will keep constantly on hand a large stock of American Watches,

In Gold and Silver Case.—Appleton, Tracy & Co, P. Sarilett and Wm Ellery movements—which we will offer to the public at prices to -all the times.

A continuance of the former patronage is respectfully objected. ALP REPAIRING OF ALL KINDS PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO Columbia, July 19, 1802. NOW FOR BARGAINS.

WE have just received another lot of all-wood Deviances and pland Mosanhagues which we offer at reduced prices STEACY & BOWERS.,

Cola June 28, 1862 Cor. 2d and Locust Sts. 1 OLD CREAM OF GLYCERING .-- For the cure

onon fo'chapped hands' &c. Fot sa' DLDEN MORTAR DRUG STORE, Front street, Co'umbi Dec.3,1958

SALT! SALT! JUST received by the subscriber, at their store Locust street below Second. 100 Bags Ground Alum Salt, h ver 1 t market prices.

C July (, Gl. J RUMPLIE & SOV GRAHAM, or, Bond's Boston Crackers, for Dyspeptics, and Acrow Root Crackers, for the Dyspeptics, and Arrow Root Grackers, for invalids and children—new articles in Columbia, at the l'amity Medicine Store.

April 16, 1859

Hrrison's oumbian n k.

WillCit is a superior asticle, permanently black, and not corroding the pen, can be had in any wantity, at the Family Medicine Store, and blacker set is that English Boot Polish.

Columbia, June 9, 1859

FISH! FISH!

MACKEREI, by the barrel, half barrel and quarter barrel, of the best qualities.

Apply to Columbia, July 12, 1862.

B. F. APPOLD, Canat Basin.

WALL PAPER!

PAPER CHEAPER THAN WHITEWASH. E have just received a large lot of Wall Paper, all the newest sty es and nest goods, which we sell at prices to un the times. sen at prices to dut the times. SAYLOR & MCDONALD.

Book Store, From St., above Locust, Commiss.

March 2, '61.

NOTICE.

I desire to settle up the old book accounts, of both Biores and request all persons knowing them selves indebted to pleuse call and settle the rune.

11. C. FONDERS MITH.

Columbia, May 17, 1862.

STALDING'S PREPARED OLUE.-The want o Such unarriefe is felt in every family, and now it can be supplied; for mending funiture, claima-ware, ornamental work, 1988. Ac., there is nothing superior. We have found tra-eful in repairing many articles which have been useless for months. Yo Jan 2-m i with the in.oanA:

FMILY WEDICINE STORE

POCKET BOOKS AND PURSES. A LARGING Fine and Common Pocket Books and Purses, at from 15 cents to two dollars each He idquarters and News Depot. Columbia, April 14.1 #50. Lawns, Lawns, Lawns.

I ADIES call and see our beautiful 121 cent Lawne I fast colors, at STEACY & BOWERS, June 23, 1842. Opposite Old Pellows' Hall. HOOPED SKITS.

A NEW and splendid style of Hooped Skirts, just A received; Also, a full issociated other styles, very cheap MALTBY & CASE.
Columbia, Apr. 126, 1862.

FOR SALE,

CHAPTER THE SECOND.

1500 p.y at Warchouse, Canal Basin. Columbia, Dec. 28, 1861.

RAISINS. A FULL supply of Ruisins—Seedless and Layer will be found at the Cor. of Prent and Union Sec. Nov. 22, '62.

HENRY SUYDAM.

JUST RECEIVED

A ND for sale, by the barrel or larger quantities, 100 barrels Mononguheta Witt-kv. at APPOLD'S Warshouse, Cola. May 14, '61. Cand Basi For Sale at a Bargain.

MHE choice of Two Fire and Burgiar Proof Safes-Herring" or "Lilnes" Patent, Also, a Family Horse, and a first-rate Carriage and Harness. Call a the store of Cola. May 17, 1862.

H. C. FONDERSMUTH, adjoining the Bank HO! FOR CHRISTMASI A Choice Baking Molasses: the best in the market STLACY & BOWERS'.

Cola Dec 6. 1862. Cor. 2d and Locust Sts.

CLOAKING CLOTH.

BEAUTIFUL Bluck, Cloth, suitable for ladies cloak STEACY & BOWERS, Corner Second and Locus Streets; Cola, Dec. 6 '52. Opposite Old Fellows' Hall. LIQUORS.

E have received a Supply of Pure Brandy. Old Rye Whisky, Old Port Wine,
which we offer for saie for Medicinal purposes.
Cola. July 6, 761. Golden Mertar Drug Store.

DRESS GOODS,

Pelaines, Cashmeres, Black Silks, Sack Flannels
Tickings, Checks, Muslins, Sheetings, Blaukets &c. &c. at BRUNERS'
Cola Oct 27, 1960. Cor. Third and Union.

DOMESTICS .- Notwithstanding the advance in the price of Goods, persons will find it to their advantage to call and eximine our stock of new Prints, Mustime, Ginghams, Circks Tickings, Crash-ke. Act. in fart every class of goods suitable for new beginners at housekeeping, and old one stoo. STEACY & BOWERS Opposite Old Felices, Hall.

COLUMBIA, PENNSYLVANIA, SATURDAY MORNING. MAY 16, 1863.

Noetry.

The Frontiersman.

BT ISAAC M'CLELLAN.

Far in the distant West, By the majestic stream and flowery plain, Where endless prairies stretch their wide demain; He sits him down to rest.

Far from the utmost East, Far from his childhood's roof-his early home-The wanderer's foot hath hither come to roam, Where nature spreads her feast. The wilderness around Sprends its dense screen—its thick primeval shade Where the brown deer thro' all the green arcades In countless herds abound. The winds of Autumn shake

The ripen'd nuts from trees-a generous hoard; The wild plums yield their offerings to his board,
From every bo-ky brake.

The mast-fed, growling bear, Falls to his rifle true—a welcome prey; He slays the huge cik in the forest way, And the small umid hare Wild berries, rich and red, Crimson the ground with their delicious stora, Or from thick bushes their sweet treasures pour, While grapes hang overhead.

He builds his cabin rude On some fair knoll that overlooks the stream, And claims the soil as far as eye may beam, The valley, plain and wood,

An empire he doth hold. Vust as the old-world kings with sceptre sway, A natural garden, stretching lengues away, Enchanting to behold.

He loves this noble land, ts glowing beauty, and its vigorous life, Its geniul skies, its elemental strife So lovely, yet so grand!

And he sole ford and monarch over all; He trembles lest the settler's axe may fall On his far-spreading groves ! He dreads to see those files earnest men, with hungry looks severe, one with their white-topt trains to people here

Its loneliness he loves.

His quiet forest nisles, He dreads the emigrant, Coming with plow, and spade, and toiling team freedy invuders of his wood and stream-Each well-beloved haunt.

But still their armies come! hen and at heart the red man's route be takes. Over fresh plains and solarry lakes, Still Westward he doth roum!

In some urpeopled glen, Far in the untrod woods or savage waste, and home, his hat or 10gs is possible.

Remote from haunts of men!

Wilkes' Spirit His new-tound home, his hut of logs is plac'd, Dirge for a Soldier.

BY GRORGE H. BOXER. Close his eyes; his work is done! What to him is friend or toeman, Rise of moon, or set of sun, Hand of man, or kiss of woman? Lay him low, lay him low, In the clover or the snow!
What cares he? he cannot know;

Lay him low! As man may, he fought his fight, Proved his truth by his endeavor; Let him sleep in solemn right, Sleep forever and forever. Lay him low, lay him low, In the clover or the snow! What cares he? he cannot know ;

Fold him in his country's stars, Roll the drum and fire the volley ; What to him are all one wire. What but death-bemocking folly? Lay him low, lay him low. What cares he? he cannot know; Lay him low!

Leave him to God's wotching eye, Trust him to the God that made him; Mortal love sweep, tily by: God alone hath power to aid kim. Lay him low, lay him low, In the clove, or the snow! What cares he? he cannot know; Lay him low!

Selections.

CHAPTER THE SECOND

We reach Harrisburg, and turn the Exchange into a Theatre-Itake a nominal benefit which is no benefit at all.—We lose two of the corps.—We go to York and transform a Billiard Saloon into a deamatic Temple-We go to Columbia, where we have an incident- We go to Marietta, and there take the "Raging Canaul," stopping at Millers town, Lewistown, Hantingdon, Alexandria, Williamsburg, and finally reach Hollidays-burg, where we strike a breeze—We make an addition to the company—We also make money, but it taketh unto itself wings and flies away—Incidents, &c. &c.

As I intimated in my last, we left Lancaster in a hurry, after the manager had by sharp management-for the receipts ne:tal at Lancaster were by no means adequate to the amount of fare seven persons would be supposed to pay between the two points. In those days, however, railroad conductors were not tied down to the strict rules which govern them now.

We did not remain idle very long in Harrisburg. We rented a large room in the Exchange, and with a single scene, six wings, green drop-curtain, and a number of benches, we fitted it up as a theatre. We were soon beset by some enthusiastic admirers of the drama-not many in number, but still enough to revive our spirits.

We opened to slim houses, and continued for five nights at barely the expenses-which by the by, were rather steep. A Dutch orchestra, printing, and lights, ate up the money just about as fast as it came in.

As I had resided in Harrisburg on a for-sing a nigger song!

I absolutely laid on a thick coat of lamp that traces of it remained upon me, especiached! I do not remember how I got through lection of getting the verses badly mixed up, reader will pardon me-I was young then. me fork over! I was struck with astonishwas not only surprised, but highly indignant at my presumption The money, he said, was for the benefit of the company, and if I did not disburse for the hotel bill, we were "stuck" to all intents and purposes, and must dissolve. On the contrary, if I in all probability do a good business, when I should be honored with a real benefit .-His arguments were specious, and he brought York, leaving Miss M. and Stone behind. They had become disgusted, and proposed going back to Philadelphia. It was well, for I doubt if Humphreys had money enough to pay their passage over. Arrived in York, the renting of a hall, or our first attention. We should in all probability never have succeeded, had not the ous night. But the next day the watermen, keeper of a billiard saloon very generously like the martins in the fall, all migrated at us the use of his room, in which we held that the whole thing was a dead failure on forth for two nights to small, quiet audien- the third night-no persons honoring the ces. On the second night of our performnating Clara Fisher-had a lvertised a concert in the Court House, which did not come off, solely for the want of an audience of sit we left York, but I know that our next The fact is, such back-outs were not new to the man to quit a paying business, he made you to listen. I hold myself much to blame house. After some chaffering the landlord bear up against them like a genuine philoagreed to let us have his large room, which sopher. While scated in the parlor on the we immediately fitted up, and circulated the morning of the fourth day, discussing mathandbills. Columbia was a stirring place, ters and things, he was in a most inimitable and we anticipated a regular rush.

In the course of the afternoon, a little tailor, who had his shop opposite the hotel, bellowed to me. I went over, when he politely informed me that he was the leader of a brass band, and that the aforesaid band for the west, and if the master thereof can would play for us gratuitously in the evening if we wished it. Of course I jumped at the proposition, and hastened to inform Jack. To my dismay he shrugged his shoulders, and declared that he did not like such disinterested offers. At least it would cost us three or four dollars, for the band folks were the very best patrons of theatres. However, he interposed no special objection. Soon after the door was opened, the band came in, consisting of some fourteen persons, with about two wheelbarrow loads of big brass horns. They opened out on something probably intended for a "Grand March," which was most shockingly butchered. I have something of an ear for music, and I am altogether within bounds when I say that their playing was infinitely worse than our playing-and I'll be hanged if that is not saying a great deal in a very few very injudiciously "run the thing into the words! Some thirty or forty persons, mostbrought down the Susquehanna, composed the audience.

Well, the playing commenced, and progressed amid the most Profound silence for some ten minutes. Just at a particular peried, when the entire corps dramatique was facing the music, it struck up, as if by a preconcerted arrangement, the soul inspiring air of "Yankee Doodle," with more brilliant variations than ever Boscha produced upon the harp, or Vieuxtemps upon the violin. The variations were extemperaneous.

and most brilliantly executed! They played, and played, and played! We stood a reasonable time, looking and feeling rather vania canal, living upon salt provender, ridiculous, but they finally "tooted" us off. singing songs, playing "seven-up" with a This riled the watermen, and a muss would have fullowed had not the band retired, play- time the best way we could. ing "Setting on a Rail" as they marched selected. To distinguish myself, and make | ble scheming as to what course was best to | his bill to balance the receipts. the entertainment interesting, as I thought, pursue, we concluded to give them a show rived, I took charge of the ticket office in Jackson and myself, undertook to foot it. myself almost into the belief that I really by the "Tide Water Canal Company," what a delusion! We played our best, as a to the inspection of the grocery man at the matter of course; and, although our best lock, who told me they were not worth a was nothing to brag of, we managed never- | "red," except for toll; nevertheless, he theless to give satisfaction. At the end came | would give me two dollars and fifty cents in | place with a small surplus of cash. the negro song-a most desperate undertak- goods for them, or one dollar and twentying—for so green was I in that line of bus- Eve cents in cash. I refused to negotiate at iness that I did not know what to black such a shave, and hastened to overtake my myself with. Instead of using a burnt cork, partners. We made quite merry over my streak of luck, and we sang the loudest kind black! I was very black—so black, in fact, of staves until we reached Marietta, where we put up at a most excellent hotel. A large ally about the eyes, for a week, although I room in the second story had been fitted up scrubbed myself daily until my very arms by a company of Thespians, so that every thing was so completely to hand that all we the song, but I have a sort of vague recol- had to do was to issue our bills. The town was over-run with watermen, and it was but ever, indifferent. In the course of the evekeeping five or six notes ahead of the fiddles. In few minutes after the opening of the doors and making a fool of myself generally. The in the evening until the room was filled .-They were a very rough audience to play to Next day Jack called upon me and asked as their criticisms were both loud and pointthe amount of receipts. I told him. He ed. But what cared we? We had hit a intimated that he would be pleased to have streak of luck when our monetary affairs had reached a crisis, and that was all in all ment, and told him that I thought the funds to us. The Yankees would probably have were intended for my benefit. He in turn damned the play as a humbug, but a fortunate incident helped us out. Jack sang a comic song, and a fuddled waterman, who was something of a singer, joined in the chorus. When the second verse was finished, the entire audience chimed in, and before the song was ended half the male popdisgorged, we should go to York, and there ulation of Marietta had congregated in front of the hotel. Was it any wonder? The noise was equal to that of a third-class camp meeting. Jack was disposed to get "riled' me to terms; I shelled out to the last red at first, but he soon saw the necessity of uscent! Next morning we took the stage for ing discretion with such a crowd, so he humored the thing, and at the end of every verse he shouted, "Now, then, every one of you-chor-ass!" They made the welkin ring, and the song and chorus proved a saving clause! The night following we played to another ence was almost a repetition of the previbuted the bills. Nil' importe! we were not in our favor. But, sad to relate, Charley good humor, having probably imbibed sundry gin cocktails before the breakfast hour. "Bassanio," said he to me, "wilt thou do me the favor to go down to the Rialto, and ascertain whether a felucca departeth soon furnish state rooms for four?" I went down to the canal, and found a boat bound up to Juniata within an hour, and I succeeded in contracting with the captain for passage as far as Millerstown.

"My liege," said I, on my return, "I have seen the master of a felucca which goeth hence within the hour. He hath no state room accommodations, but agreeth to for the bills of exchange which I was so foreastern voyage; and for five louis more be silver coin! also binds himself to board and lodge us to closed with him, and he made instant preone end of a string to the rud ler-post, and at the other end he fastened three mackarel which he threw overboard to sonk. At the brend, half a bushel of potatoes, and a demijohn of the light wine of the Monongahela spared no expense. We shall fare sumptuously!"

servitors of this ancient and hospitable man- lous. sion, let our baggage on the instant be taken on board of-what's the name of the craft, Bassanio?"

"The Sally Ann, of Frankstown." In another hour, sure enough, we wer ploughing the turbid waters of the Pennsyl pack of old greasy cards, and putting in the

In due time we arrived at Millerstown-ances, Jack proposed putting my name up enough of Columbia, and were anxious to for a show at the hotel. We played to a to force the door. I knew a trick worth two on the sixth night for a benefit -a theatrical leave it the next morning; but the difficulty small audience, but gave entire satisfaction, of that, so slipping the bolts, I told the con-ic-is a little tight," and black Jimmy fiction which I did not then understand. Of with us was, that, after the payment of the owing to the fact, no doubt, that but few stable to hold one door, whilst I held the chuckled and showed his shining ivory, as course I rendily assented, and two new pieces | tavern bill, we had no money left to carry | shows ever halted at the place. The land other, and at my command to open it quick he reflected, perhaps, that his master was (i.e. old farces not yet played by us) were us away! In the morning, after consideral lord was so highly pleased that he just made and wide. I heard the battering ram com. quite as "tight" as he deemed his boots to

I must needs agree to black my face and at Marietta, distant some three miles. Char- lucca, as Jack called it, for Lewistown, in- stant the head of the beam was expected to tinued the captain, good-naturedly and enley and Miss F. took passage, with haggage volving an expenditure of the last dollar in strike the door. I said "pull!" and eight or joying the prospective joke, while he loosen-When the time for opening the door ar- and scenery, on a capal boat, while Juck, the treasury. I will say nothing of the col- ten stalwart fellows found themselves in a ed the straps about his waist which held his or of our shirt-collars, but I have a vivid pile, and the heavy beam on top of them! cork leg up-"now you've got it! Yipperson, and, much to my surprise, actually On our way thither I lagged behind, and on recollection of entering the place with my All of them were more or less injured, but there you are! Oh, lord, oh, lord oh lord!" took in some twenty-odd dollars. I not on- the cutskirts of the town I picked up a roll coat buttoned close to my throat, albeit the none stopped to calculate the amount of screamed the captain, as contraband, corkly considered myself "snug," but I flattered of "shipplasters," issued, if I mistake not, weather was very warm. We stopped at a damage; pell-mell they went up stairs, and leg, riding-boot, and ligatures tumbled a-Red Lion Hotel again, and found the land- the remainder of the performances were cross the tent, in a heap and the one-legged possessed some dramatic abilities! Heavens! amounting to five dollars. I submitted them lord a jolly host, ready to render us all the given with open doors. assistance in his power. We played three nights-just as long as we could play with probably, as any strolling company ever enchange of entertainment-and then left the joyed. I turned the money over to Jack,

Our next point was Huntingdon. The town itself wore a very dull appearance, but hopes were destined to be so confoundedly we soon found that it contained a host of blasted! Early the next morning the profirst-rate fellows, old and young. Without prietor of the warehouse called upon us, any exertions on our part they procured the and notified us that we could not hold forth put for the woods in his desperation, since Court House for our use free of charge, and again on any conditions. He had no insuwe played for three nights to very good rance on his building, he said; neither was houses.

From thence we went to Alexandria, where we played one night, but with what success I do not now remember - I should say, how- and the employment of a police force; all ning we made the acquaintance of a young man named P-, who was running a boat belonging to his father, who resided in Wil- ed," set about making immediate arrangeiamsburg, to which point he proposed takng us free of charge. Of course we availed move to some other point. To this end he arselves of his generous offer, and next day again set sail upon the ditch. After numerous delays, caused by some defect in the usually contained the money, on a table. I canal, we reached Williamsburg, where, through the personal exertions of young ?---, we played one night to a very excellent house, netting some twelve dollars over Early the next morning Humphreys and

nyself took the "French diligence" (as he called footing it) for Hollidaysburg, leaving Jackson and Miss F. to follow with the "traps" on the canal packet. We found Hollidaysburg an exceedingly lively town. New buildings were going up in every di- how to charge !" rection, five or six transportation companies were doing a rushing business, the town was filled with boatmen, and money was a "drug in the market," as the financial quotations sometimes report it. The prospect appeared to us very promising; but the great misfortune was that we could procure some large room to perform in, demanded full house, and the performance by the audi- no room or hall of respectable dimensions. Several young fellows intorested themselves in our behalf, and procured the parlors of the American House, then just erecting and agreed to up-end his billiard table, and give once, and without any previous notice, so not yet plastered inside, for the consideration of a rental of three dollars per night .-We took it for four nights, and had such a show with their presence, save a couple of revival of business as I never expected to ance, Mrs. Maeder-once the gay and fasci- enthusiastic young darkies who had distri- sec. We certainly played to crowded houses, taking in the first night $24, the second night 'stuck" any how, and that was something | $26, the third night $27, and the last night 30. This enabled us to pay all our debts, we had received shabby treatment at the more than three persons. The people of R --- became unwell and deserted us, thus and have a surplus of $100 in the treasury; hands of the manager. While the discus-York were staid and steady folks in those reducing the company to four persons. Un- but we were absolutely played out. The sion was going on, and symptoms of a revolt der these depressing circumstances, Hum- nightly increase of receipts put us in the threy bore up with remarkable fortitude .- best possible spirits, and as Jack was not point was Columbia, where we put up at the him. In his experience he had often met immediate arrangements to go to Philadel-"Red Lion," an indifferently-kept German with such reverses, and he had learned to phia for more force. After an absence of done less under the circumstances? I extwo weeks he returned; but the only addition to the company he brought with him was a young lady who could dance some and play small parts. The addition, small as it was, nevertheless, was valuable. Jack, by the aid of a silver lever, had raised from the all whether this amount could not be made, shelf of one of the three golden ball establishments his other suit of clothes, and made onite a flashy appearance.

parlors of the American House unsuited, as I will make you a proposition, and I hope the plasterers had commenced work, so that you will see the propriety of accepting it .we had to "sight around" for another place. After some days delay we succeed in securing the upstairs of a warehouse, which had been benched off and formerly used as a boatman's Bethel by some pious individuals We issued bills, and fitted up the scenery, and when the evening of performance came take the party to Millerstown in midshins around, the excitement was terrible !-- and when the door was opened the rush was trotunate as to find upon the highway, seeing mendous!-neither did it stop until my that they will serve him for toll on his next pockets were loaded down with $31 50 in The company opened in the farce of the

the best of his abilities. On these terms I "Young Widow," while I, like a faithful sentinel, stood at the door waiting for stray parations for our accommodation. He tied quarters. There was still quite a number of outsiders, who evidently had no money. but were nevertheless anxious to see the show. Everything on their part indicated ground." We reached Harrisburg mainly by raftsmen whom the spring freshet had grocery he bought a ham, three boares of that they would make a hostile demonstration. A party got upon the roof of the warehouse, and absolutely tore off, and cut holes vintage. For our accommodation he hath through the shingles, in order that they might enjoy a sight of the show! One of them fell, a distance of perhaps thirty feet, "Now, by the beard of Ibrim Pasha, thou into the canal, between a boat and the wharf. art a diamond of the first water! What, ho! His escape from death was almost miracu-

The performance of the farce was drawing to a close, when I partially opened one of the folding doors, in order to see how events were progressing outside. The bridge leadng over the Rail Road, and into the warehouse, was filled with as rough a looking set of customers as ever I saw. We had empoyto charge on the enemy and clear the bridge; but he knew his customers and declared that such an undertaking would not be ad- Look sharp, an,-ic-pull steady." down stairs. In order to satisfy the water- quiet little village on the left bank of the visable! I looked out again, and found that men we had to resume and go through the Janiata-a much smaller place than we had they had procured an immense beam, and ing, with a momentum that must have com- be. Next day we took passage on another fe- pletely wrecked the door, but just at the in-

We went to the hotel in as good humor, and before we went to bed we carved out business for the next night. Alas! that our hands of a ruthless mob. It was in vain that we offered him ten dollars per night, would not do, and we were wound up, so far as Hollidaysburg was concerned. The worthy manager, finding that we were "dishments to "sherry," implying thereby a direct started out to settle up, and returned in an hour, when he threw the canvas bag, which examined the contents, and found they consisted of but five half dollars! "That," said he, with a sigh, "is all the cash capital wherewith to leave this." I looked a moment at the empty bag, and exclaimed: That this is all remeins of thee? "And what has become of the last night' receipts?" said I.

"All paid out, mine ancient. The people of town all belong to the cavalry, and know "And where are the hundred louis you took to Philadelphia?" "Dishonored, in various ways. Passage and attendant expenses told forty against the bag. Eight went to "mine Uucle" to repay advances, and the balance I divided between mine aged mother and sister." "I honor thee for thy filial affection. 'He who provides not for his own household is worse than an infilel.' But, my liege, in spite of all this, it strikes me that we, who helped to earn the "dips," should at least have had an equal share with your venera ble mother and interesting sister." Sa saying I left, not in quite so good a humor as the night previous. I called on Jackson and Miss F., and we talked the matter over, coming to the conclusion that apparent, Jack suddenly entered the room. One and all of you," said he, "I want for what I have done, but who could have pected to make at least two hundred dollars here, out of which I purposed giving each of you the same amount I parted with for other purposes than the benefit of the company. You all see how it is, and I appeal to you if we had a hall, or large room. I could no see into the future, or I would have pursue I a different course. The idea of stopping af The votaries of the drama declared the ter one night never entered my head. But We will go on, and the first rise we make up, and every one looks out for himself." This little speech had the desired effect, and made us all care! Hence, in a few hours we were scated in the cars, which soon moved off, when we bade adieu to Hollidaysburg with many regrets, for not one of us but what had taken a fancy to the town and its fast inhabitants.

A FRIGHTENED CONTRABAND. - A letter received from an army correspondent on the Rannahannock relates the following camp neident:

An amusing incident occured in camp a night or two since. A partly young contraband, from Charleston, S. C., who escaped from his rebol master at Autistam, and was for a while quartered subsequently in Wushngton, was engaged by one of our junior staffofficers, as his body servant, and brough down here to his quarters to attend him .-It chanced that the officer had served his country gallantly at Sharpsburg, where he lost a leg, below the knee, the absence of which had been made up by an artificial limb, which the captain were with so easy a grace that few persons who mat him saspected his misfortune-his cable attendant being among the blissful ignorant as to the existence of the fact. The captain had been "out to dine," and returned in excited spirits to his tent .-Upon retiring, he called his darkey servant ed the town Constable, and I adviced him to assist him in pulling off his riding-boots. "Now, Jimmy, look sharp," said the captain. "I'm a little-ic-flimsy. t'night.-

> "Ise alles keerful, cap'n," says Jimmy. drawing off one long wet boot, with consid

"Now mind your eye-Jim! The other

"Easy, now-that's it. Pull away!" conofficer fell back on his pallet, convaled with spasmodic laughter. At this moment the door opened and a lieutenant entered.

"G'way fum me-g'way fum me-lemme be! Lemme be! I ain't done nuffin." yelled the contraband, lustily, and rushing to the door, really supposing that he had pulled his master's leg clean off. "Lemmego! I didn't do nuffin-g'wayi" And Jimmy which he hasn't been seen or heard from. though his eaptain has diligently saught he disposed to have it torn to pieces by the for him far and near. Jimmy was a good servant, but we never before were treated to a sight of a thoroughly frightened contraband. There is little doubt the darkey is runing yet .- Bost Transcript.

> THOUGHT ESSENTIAL TO HEALTH .- If we would have our bodies healthy, our brains must be used, and used in orderly and vigorous ways, that the life-giving streams of force may flow down from them into the expectant organs, which can minister but as they are ministered unto. We admire the vigorous animal life of the Greeks, and with justice we recognize, and partly seek to imitate, the various gymnastic and other means which they employed to secure it .-But probably we should make a fatal error, if we omitted from our calculation the hearty and generous enraestness with which the highest subjects of art, speculation and politics were pursued by them. Surely, in their case, the beautiful and energetic mental life was expressed in the athletic and graceful frame. And were it a mere extravagance to ask whether some part of the lassitude and weariness of life, of which wa hear so much in our day, might not be due to lack of mental occupation on worthy subects, exciting and repaying a generous enthusiosm, as well as to an over-exercise on lower ones? Whether an engressment on matters which have not substance enough to justify or satisfy the mental grasp, be not at the root of some part of the maladies which affect our montal convalescence? Any one who tries it, soon finds out how wearying, how disproportionately exhausting, is an overdose of "light literature," compared with an equal amount of time spent on real work. Of this we may be sure that the due exercise of brain-of thought-is one of the essential elements of human life. The perfeet health of a man is not the same as that of an ox or a horse. The preponderating capacity of his nervous parts demands a corresponding life .- Cornhill Magazine.

> PERILS OF A PEARL DIVER .- A pearl diver had plunged into eleven fathoms, in the expectation of finding some peculiarly fine cearls. He was pursuing his search, when seeing the water suddonly darken, he looked up, and to his horror beheld at some disance above him a huge shark, leisurely surveying all his movements, and evidently intended to make a prize of him. The diver made a dart forward towards a rock, where he thought he might clude the eyes of the monster, and then spring up to the surface; but the shark shook his tail, and followed quietly, but with the same evident determintion to eat him the mament he rose.

As under water time is everything, and the diver had only to choose between being shall be honorably divided. If not, we wind caten alive and being sufficated, the thought suddenly came into his mind to puzzle his parsaer by a contrivance in which whether he remembered it then or not. the cuttlefish has the merit of originality. He threw himself upon the ground, and with the stick which all divers carry, began to maddy the water. A cloud of mire rose between him and the shark : he instantly struck out under cover of the cloud, and when he thought that he had cleared his enemy, shot up to the surface. By great luck he rose in the midst of the fishing-boats. The people, accustomed to perils of this kind, saw that he must have been in danger, and commenced splashing with their oars and shouting, to drive the shark away; they succeeded so far as to save their companion, and the diver was taken on board, almost dying from the dreadful exertion of remaining so long under water.

> FACTS FOR VEGETARIANS .- It is indeed fact worthy of remark, and one that seems never to have been noticed, that throughous the whole animal creation, in every country and clime of the earth, the most usefal animals that cat vegetable food work. The allpowerful elephant, and the patient, untiring camel, in the torrid zone; the horse, the ox. or the donkey, in the temperate; and the eindeer in the frigid zone, obtain all their ductions—the vegetable kingdom. But all ..., the flesh-enting animals keep the rest of the nnimated creation in constant dread of them.
>
> They seldom eat vegetable food until some or animal has caten it first, and made itinto flesh. Their own flesh is unfit for other animals to eat, having been itself made out of flesh, and is most foul and offended.
>
> Great strength, fleetness of foot, assignments. deanliness, and docility are, then; always

MRS. WINSLOW'S Spothing Syrup can be As I had resided in Harrisburg on a formen we had to resume and go through the Juniorant and interest and the standing it aside.

As I had resided in Harrisburg on a formen we had to resume and go through the Juniorant and interest and the standing it aside.

As I had resided in Harrisburg on a formen we had to resume and go through the Junior of the standing it aside.

As I had resided in Harrisburg on a formen we had to resume and go through the Junior of the standing it aside.

As I had resided in Harrisburg on a formen we had to resume and go through the Junior of the standing it aside.

As I had resided in Harrisburg on a formen we had to resume and go through the Junior of the standing it aside.

As I had resided in Harrisburg on a formen we had to resume and go through the Junior of the standing it aside.

As I had resided in Harrisburg on a formen we had to resume and go through the Junior of the standing it aside.

As I had resided in Harrisburg on a formen we had to resume and go through the Junior of th