THE DRAFT AGAIN The unpardonable neglect with which grace to our horough, and has suidled manner, the County Superintendency, us with a burden five times greater than it muld have been if. Columbib had respended as promptly as the government had s right to expect, from every loyal district. If we had raised $500,000 when the calls were first made, we might have filled our quots by enlistments. We have filled our quots by enlistments. did not do it, and what is the result? Other districts have enlisted our negroes. and left their families for us to support. Many of our white men have enlisted and credited to other districts.

Columbia has furnished over 200 soldiers-since the call was made, and has not been credited for a single man, The price of substitutes like other commodi-ties, is regulated on the principle of supply and demand. When the first call was made they were plonty it $200-now they are scarce at $300. Should another call be made, it would probably cost $500 for each. Columbia goes in for a vigorous prosecution of the war, and promised her share of assistance in carrying it on; but has now let her promises go to protests. If other districts manifested the same indifference for their promises, how long would it be before we should be called upon to again witness the bursting of rebel shells over the rifle pits in Wrightsville?

There is no child's play about the matter. If we do not whip the rebels, they will whip us-and we should remember that confiscation is a game that two can play at. If we furnish the government with soldiers enough, the rebellion will be put down ; if it is not put down, our country will be divided, Other districts around us are paying bounties, and unless there is a movement made in that direction by our Councils, at least 150 more of our young men will leave our town, and enlist in other places during the next fif of parents. (This is necessary to a sucteen days; after which the draft will take cessful operation of the schools, and now every able bodied man we have left. Is our town to be depopulated, our manufactories and work shops to be closed up. because some old fogies are opposed to the only effective means of filling our army? Can those who refuse to pay their just proportion of the expenses of our government, be called loyal citizens, and claim its protection? Can Columbia be called a loyal district if she makes no ef-fort to respond to the calls of our govern-hand to leave the methanics and la-band to leave town to fill the cuotas of school matters since last fall other district a part house?

would a desert or a pest house? Are we trexperience all this, because our councils are afraid of being censured by a few misers, who would be perfectly satisfied to see our poor men conscripted, and comand the conscript's family suffer for want of the necessaries of life?

The Greek Phalanx consisted of 8,000 men in a square instalion, with shields joined, and spears crossing each other. Ancient soldiers were trained to fight with either hand.

A Roman Legion consisted of 6,000 men, divided into 10 echorts, and 'every cohort into 6 centuries, with a vexilum, or standard, guarded by 10 men. The Macedonian Phalanx was 16 deep, with shields joined. Among the early Romans, commanders of armies were called Imperatores, but when Casar became Emperor, the com-
