Substitutes and Commutation.

Drafted men who pay over to the goy ernment $300 to commute their services. instead of hiring substitutes, fail to do ths best thing they could, under the circumstances, for either themselves or the government. We presume the commutation is generally paid because it is the most ready way of disposing of the business; but many, no doubt, do it under the impression that the payment of the money to the government will exempt them from another draft as long as lent attack of colic. An application of the procuration of a substitute would .-But the 5th section of the law provides "that any person drafted into the military service of the United States may, before the time fixed for his appearance for duty at the draft rendezvous, furnish an acceptable substitute," and that "if such time was lost in r turning. In a moment substitute is not liable to draft, the person furnishing him shall be exempt from draft during the time for which such substitute is not liable to darft, not exceeding the term for which he was drafted." Therefore, if a drafted man, with his $300 can procure an alien, a her husband's voice! Her lamp had given minor or a man over 45 years of age as a substitute, he will be exempt from further drafts for three years; while the payment of $300 to the government will only exempt until the next call for more soldiers. A man might well afford to pay $50 or $100 more, in order to avoid another draft; but as government and local bounties are not now in the market. recruits can, we understand, be readily obtained for $300. And as government wants men worse than money, this is an additional consideration for procuring The gentleman who was so uncermoni substitutes. Still another consideration ously disturbed (and who is well known is, that the furnishing of recruits will in Boston.) has preserved the handkerlessen the probability of another draft. chief. Query-Ought he not to return We commend these facts to the serious it? reflection of drafted men.

The California Wine Interest.

California is to be a great wine-producing region. Her wine-culture, now growing rapidly into a leading agricultural interest, dates only from the year 1854; but these ten years have produced remarkable results, for her wine grow ers send into the market excellent hocks. the red and white wines already rivals that of the European varieties.

The history of the vineyard enterprises in California is brief: In 1854 Kohler & Frohling, assisted by Charles Stern, commenced business in Los Ange- haved themselves with credit, and accordles, and shortly afterwards opened a house in San Francisco; in 1861 the ingly received merited promotion. State sent Mr. Harazihy to Europe to It appears, by private advices, that the procure the best kind of vines cultivated there, and the result of his expedition was the introduction into the State of fourteen hundred species, comprising one hundred thousand vines. This stimulated enterprise, and large numbers of persons planted vineyards and cultivated improved varieties of vines, so that the yield of the wine crop has increased from 343,000 gallons in 1862, to an average annual product at the present time of has been recently purchased by a German company, who have already planted capital and directed by skillful persons promise good results .- N. WHAT WAS WANTED.—A restless gonius, who went to a Quaker meeting, and after bearing the decorous gravity for an hour or two, at last declared that he could

"Yes. friend," responded an elderly mew that is exactly what we want?"

Poetry.

For the Spy. BID ME LOVE THEE.

BY FINLEY JOHNSON,

O bid me still to love thee, And worship at thy shrine; And say thy heart will ever throb-In unison with mine. By all thy hopes of future bliss, From coquetry refrain; By all my hopes of happiness, Say not I love in vain.

O bid me still to love thee,
And whisper words of bliss;
No dearer joy than that I crave,
Within a world like this.
O bid me dip my spirit's wings
In love's pure, holy fount;
That I may reach thy loving heart,
And dangers all surmount.

O bid me still to love thee
With passion strong and deep;
And say that thou in memory's cell
Will but my image keep;
By all thy beauties fair to view,
Thy noblen! s'of soul;
By all that thou on earth hold'st dear,
Let not thy love grow cold. Let not thy love grow cold.

Applying the Mustard.

The Boston Post is responsible to the parties concerned and to the public gen erally for a story to the effect that a gentleman who visited the White Mountains last summer accompanied by his wife stopped at the .--- House, and one night while there, had a sudden and viomustard was recommended to relieve his pain, and he consented to have it tried His wife, on going down to the kitchen, found the mustard, but nothing suitable to spread it upon, and her pocket handkerchief was taken for that purpose. No she was at the bedside, and-applied the plaster. "There, that will help you, I know," said she. She had scarcely finished the sentence, however, when the poor man turned over, and roared, "What the d-l are you about?" It was not but a feeble light, and she had got into the wrong room! She found her own apartment without delay, and related the unfortunate circumstance to her husband, adding, with horror, that her name was on her handkerchief ! The sick man was completely oveocome with laughter .-His colic disappeared as suddenly as it came. It was agreed not to remain long in those parts. The landlord was called up; the affair explained, and the man and wife left on the earliest express train .-

It gives us pleasure to follow the members of the Old Burnsida Expedition .-At the battle of New Berne, Col. Edward Ferrero commanded the 51st N. Y.
