New Volume.

With this issue commences the Thirty-Sirth Volume of the Columbia Spy .-When we first commenced its publication we looked upon it as a hazardous experimenti but we are pleased to state it terest conpon at the end of six months has proved partially a success. We have as a most convenient form of remittance habored assidnonsly to make the Spy at to his city correspondent. If you wish least equal to the best county papers pub- to horrow ninety cents on the dollar, you lished in the State, and to that end we have spared neither trouble nor expense, How far we have succeeded, we leave the reader to judge. Of one thing we know it is heart cheering to hear and read the words of encouragement which come to have enumerated, a special Act of Con- Wrightsville very much as represented us almost daily. We have, of course gressexempts all bonds and Treasury note many urdent, able and substantial friends from local taxation. On the average to thank for their exertions in our behalf, this exemption is worth about two per the manner of remote Southern villages, We have often been asked to change the cent. per annum, according to the rate of course of our paper, but we will still conduct it in the same manner as heretofore, believing it takes better with the masses than a political paper. We expect to find persons of almost every conceivable taste and opinion, of different politics, business associations, religious views and literary tastes ; hence we have so idea of being able to please everybody in all matters portaining to the editorial management of our paper, nor do we expect to present the public with a journal that is free from imperfections. There is a palpable truth in the words of the poet who declared that " Who o'er expects a faultiess sheet to see, Expects what never was, nor is, nor yetcan be,"

The editor or publisher who starts with the idea that he is going to furnish Fort Powell, commanding Grant's Pass, a paper with which nobody will find fault, is either wofully ignorant of human nature, or the newspaper business, or both. But it is the great duty of the public journalist to labor for the nearest approximation to perfection that is compatible with the numerous obstacles always found in the path of him who attempts the difficult task of catering to the literary tastes of the people. This we shall endeavor to accomplish ; we have no intention of resting satisfied with what has Of course the Bebels were intensely dissiready been done, but shall isbor constantly and afduously to make-such improvements in the Spy as shall eventuate
