Editorial and Miscellaneous.

Mrs. Partington wants to know where gold goes to when it comes down suddenly. —Critic. A large dog gets unchained and barks at every thing he does not comprehend.

Happy is the husband whose wife never asks him for any jewelry save black diamonds. —If an empty purse could speak, what a love-like speech it would make.

You'll find no change in me! —An artificial "bust for the ladies" has been invented by an ingenious Parisian.

It is made of India rubber, and like all good counterfeits, it is said to be well calculated to deceive. —A Boston gentleman stopping over night in a hotel in Portland, Me., in the morning called for the Boston dailies.

We don't take village papers here, sir, was the cool reply. —The entire losses to the South, occasioned by the rebellion, summed up under the three heads of cost of army and war material, destruction of property by both armies, and losses incident to the disturbance, are estimated at upward of nine thousand millions of dollars.

The Adams Express Company has taken possession of the old depot of the Pennsylvania Railroad Co., at Eleventh and Market streets. It will be a general shipping depot for the heavier classes of freight.

The interior of the building has been altered and fitted up with every convenience for the handling of freight. —A rural editor was recently married, and previous to starting on his wedding tour promised his readers that he would give them "a minute detail of all he saw and did."

No doubt there will be a demand for a large extra edition of his paper. —The ladies, in their sovereign capacity as judges of emotional enjoyment, have decided that no perfume in existence produces the same delicious sensations as are experienced while inhaling the exquisite fragrance of Phalon's "Night-Blooming Ceruus."

Sold everywhere. —Don't be foolish. —You can make Six Dollars from Fifty Cents. Call and examine an invention urgently needed by everybody. Or a sample sent free by mail for 50c. that retails easily for $6, by R. L. Wolcott, 170 Chatham Square, New York.

Mrs. Robinson, a loyal widow lady, living in Beaufort, N. C., having made application for the back rent of a building occupied by the government, a decision recently arrived from Washington adverse to her claim, on the ground that Beaufort was a captured city, and that, therefore, all property, including personal, in the town is a lawful prize of war.

This decision will apply to all property and persons in insurrectionary States, which are also conquered territory. —A son of Lira Elliott, of Lincoln, Vermont, aged ten years, was ill for a year, and although having a ravenous appetite, grew emaciated. His physician gave him some medicine that produced nausea, and he was choked by the appearance of a snake, which required all his force to draw from his mouth.

It was striped, and eighteen inches in length. The lad is better. —Saloon P. Chase proved himself to be an able financier, for he made money out of ink and paper. In his family, financing runs in the blood; his daughter exhibits qualities which at once show her paterfamilias.

Mrs. Senator Kate Chase Sprague, emulating the example of ordinary mortals, some time since presented her husband with a baby. The baby happened to be a boy, which fact so pleased Mrs. Sprague's mother-in-law that the latter gave the mother of the infant $500,000 for having a boy! Now as Mrs. Sprague is undoubtedly a chip of the paternal block, and inherits the financing abilities of the father, it is a fair inference to presume that this vast financial stroke was the result of a previous agreement with the mother-in-law.

In that family, as we said before, the habit of money-making runs in the blood; and it would not surprise us if the result of the next important event would be a couple of boys at the same rate. —AN EXTRAORDINARY COW.—The Hanover Spectator says:

John Little, of near this place, sold a cow at public sale, on Friday last at the enormous sum of $71. This being considered the best cow in this part of the country, churning as high as eleven and a half pounds of butter per week. —We have frequently heard of good cows, but never before heard of one "churning."

In this part of the country, that work is usually done by the housemaid.—Pitts Daily News. —You are not fully posted Mr. News as to the manner of doing things in York County. We have heard of dogs and sheep doing the "churning," and we presume a cow could do the same thing.

Negro Suffrage. —Chalk and ivory: heels and shins! Sambo's glory now begins! Go 'way white man! You don't know how to vote right—dat is no. Yaw, yaw, yaw!—Yaw, yaw, yaw! De happiest day I ever see!
