THE commercial papers of the North give most interesting accounts of the immense activity of the "fall trade." The leading wholesale merchants, even with the aid of extra clerks, salesmen, packers, and inferior laborers of every class, find i; exceedingly difficult to supply the unprecedented demand for every variety of goods required by a civilized people. The manufacturing establishments of the North cannot keep pace with the demand and many merchants are refusing to take further orders for goods, from their inability to fill them. The orders from the West are for a class of goods which indicate the growing wealth and refinement of that section, while the Southern merchants are buying every conceivable article which is needed by a people who have been cut off from all commercial intercourse with the world for four years. Before the war the enormous wealth of the South was expended in articles of luxury; now the demand is for those things which are indispensable to the confort of a people comparatively poor.

merchants who are now crowding the markets of the North are well provided with money, and they not only prafer dealing for cash, but are promptly and honestly paying off or making satisfactory arrangements for the liquidation of their ante war debts. The New York and Philadelphia merchants say, too, that at least seventy-five per cent. of their Southern debt will be paid, and they are manifest in every disposition to indulge their festing every disposition to indulge their forms and different other brands. A large assortment of Smoking Tobacco's Suuffs, Tobacco bags, together with all the latest improved pipes known the market.

My Segars cannot be beat for stock in the county. Friends call and try my American Cousin's, Union's, Isabel Cubas, 76's, Grant's, Attillas, &c., &c. arrangements for the liquidation of their festing every disposition to indulge their old customers. The amount of ready money which the Southern merchants! have taken to New York and other cities is a matter of great surprise to all. Hoardings during the war, the purchase of sterling exchange, and investments in cotton and tobacco, will rationally account for this apparent financial phenomenon.

The present enormous price of Cotton goes very far to explain where this money the American Watch Company. Also the comes from.

The present enormous price of Cotton I Watches now made, and warranted by the American Watch Company. Also the ENGLISH AMERICAN WATCH, comes from.

The receipt of cotton in the city of on the 1st instant, reached 400,901 bales, and since the 1st of September the weekly average has been 25,000 bales. When it is recollected that it is estimated that there was one million of bales of cotton in the Southern States at the close of the war, now valued at two hundred millions in greenbacks, we may form some idea where our merchants have obtained their money. If the quantity of cotton is less than it was before the war, the price is much higher. In 1860 the price of a bale of cotton was $52; in 1861-'62 it had fallen to $45; whereas, a bale of THIE Pacific Hotel is well and widely Wonderful Prescience.-While Napoleon Bonaparte was an exile on the Island of St. Helena, he made the following remarkable declaration respecting the future of this country: "Ere the close of the nineteenth century America will be convulsed by one of the greatest revolutions the world ever witnessed. Should it succeed, her power and prestige are lost; but should the government maintain her supremacy, she will be on a firmer basis than ever. The thiory of a republican form of government will be established, and she can defy the combined powers of the world."

Strictly speaking wine is not a thing made by man at all, only modified at most. It is a product of nature. In the purest and best grape wines this is most remark ably exhibited. The grapes are easily pressed by a wine or even eider press, and can be kept separate from the less or allowed to ferment on them as strength is required. Not one drop of water, not a lump even of sugar is requisite, although most of the wines in this country are prepared with it. But the fermentation is all an act of nature hands. an act of nature herself. She it is who

I have been, during the last ten or twelve years severely activated with piles. I have tried remedies of all kinds, without deriving any particular benefit and finally put my-self under the best medical treatment in Publichplia; but no relief was obtained. I considered my cose hopeless and belieted my-self doomed to mis-ery. As a last resort upon the recommendation of some friends, I tried Phicanar's Rholdomors and Laxitive Pills. This remedy gave me relief. Several applications relieved me of all pain, and the regular application of the "Rholdomors" for three weeks entirely carred me. I am glad there is such a remedy, and carnessly recommend it.
