Soldiers Union.

The returned Soldiers of Columbia and vicinity, will hold a meeting in the Town Hall, this Saturday evening for the purpose of forming a Soldiers Union. The organization will have for its object the interests of all honorably discharged soldiers, the widows and families of soldiers, and for the purpose of erecting a suitable monument to the memory of their fallen comrades.

We have often referred to the matter of erecting such a monument, and we think it a shame and disgrace that something has not been done. We refer to the matter again, in hopes that our people may seriously consider the subject, and yet do something. Look for a moment back on the four years of relentless bloody war, full of great events. No living man ever before saw such times, and it is hoped no one now living will ever witness the like again. Thanks to the gallant men, who left their homes and loved ones, to stand between us and the foe. The struggle is now over, and we can now look forward without gloomy forebodings. We have now no more dread for fear we may get unwelcome news of the killing or maiming of loved ones—we have no more weary journeys to the "front" or to the Capitol in search of the sick, wounded, or killed; but instead we have peace and prosperity throughout the land. And to whom are we indebted for all this? Why under God's name are we not indebted to those brave men—the Soldiers—the rank and file of our glorious army, who at our solicitation went forth to do battle for us. And we now rejoice with them over a Country saved and a Union unsevered. But how shall we display our gratitude to them who laid down their lives to save our Country? Shall we give them no opportunity to hand down their names to posterity? Shall they be forgotten? Shall no tangible evidence tell to future generations of their great deeds? We who promised so much in the day of trial, will surely not refuse to do something now. Let us then go to work and erect a monument to the memory of our buried heroes, upon which their honored names shall be inscribed, to stand through all ages, and to be read and commented upon by nations yet unborn.

Washington Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C. November 23rd 1865.

Mr. Editor.—A letter from this section of our country may not prove uninteresting to many of your readers.

Since the breaking out of the war, Washington has evinced unmistakable signs of growth and improvement; previous to this there seemed to be a stagnation in all business pursuits; a certain apathy which was evident, not only to the inhabitants, but to strangers visiting the city. So apparent was it that the question was frequently asked.—Why is it that the Capitol of our Nation is so far behind other cities in its general growth and business transaction? The immense amount of business which the war produced, has now ceased, and the people of Washington instead of relapsing into their former lethargy seem to have thrown off the lazy yoke which for years they bore so willingly, and at last have awakened to their true interests. The increase of trade which was deemed but a natural consequence of the war through which we have just passed, and which by many was supposed to be merely spasmodic, still continues; and the Washington of to-day would scarcely be recognized as the Washington of four years ago. Streets which formerly were either covered with mud or dust so deep as to render a crossing almost impossible, are now elegantly paved.

The Health Commissioners also seem to realize the necessity of proper drainage, and are building fine, large sewers through all the streets, before destitute of them.

Houses are being erected in all parts of the city, and so great indeed is the demand for them, that small shanties with which the meanest of "Tow Hill" would compare favorably, rent from ten to fifteen dollars per month. A building association was formed here last week.—Over 1000 shares were paid in by 140 persons; ten shares representing $200 each, were disposed of at $123 premium on each share (or 61 1/2 per cent.) the balance sold at $121 premium. Does not this manifest great confidence in the permanent growth of Washington, and the steady, rapid increase of the value of real estate?

Senators and members of Congress are arriving daily, and the city presents a lively appearance. Hon. S. Colfax, late speaker of the House of Representatives, arrived on Saturday last, and is now at the National Hotel; in the evening he was serenaded by an excellent brass band and acknowledged the compliment in a few appropriate remarks, during which he touched upon the organization of the next congress, and expressed himself as unwilling to allow those who had been elected from the South and who were unable to take the oath required, to occupy their seats, and assist in the enactment of laws to govern this country which so recently they had endeavored to destroy. His remarks were well received and loudly applauded, a fact which clearly demonstrated that all his hearers were not sympathizers with the vanquished rebels.

A riot occurred here on Saturday night, between the officers of a regiment of Regulars, and those of a regiment of Volunteers, stationed near the Treasury Building. The men in their respective commands participated, and the riot became general; four or five companies of Soldiers, stationed at Capitol Hill, were ordered, and passed up the Avenue at double quick. The presence of an armed force, soon quieted the belligerents—none were killed, and strange to say, none seriously wounded.

The weather for the past week has been delightful, and Penna. Avenue the Broadway of Washington has been daily thronged with youth and beauty.

Marketing is very high here. Butter 75 cts. per lb. Eggs 50 cts. per doz. Flour $17 per bbl. Potatoes $2 per bu. Oats $15 per ton. Chickens $1.50 to $2 per pair and Turkeys quite beyond the reach of a limited purse.

Col. J. W. Fisher called to see us a few days ago, he is looking well and seems in good spirits. We also had the pleasure of a visit from Charles Slack an old Columbian who is now 1st assistant Engineer on the U. S. Gunboat Tonawanda at present lying at this Navy Yard.

We frequently enjoy a shake, of the hand with some of the members of the Hundred and ninety-fifth, and I assure you the meeting of old familiar faces is always pleasant to your Correspondent.

The Federal officers having been excluded from the ball given by the knights and ladies of Fredericksburg after their tournament last Wednesday, the commandant of the post retaliates by prohibiting the use of ambulances and other government property by the citizens of Fredericksburg, so that the seceding dames and demoiselles who turn up their noses at the Federal uniform must go on foot this winter.

Water impregnated with iron is said to have stopped the cattle plague in Poland.

Good sleighing at Montreal on Thursday. Five inches of snow and more falling.

Chief Justice Chase had a lengthy interview with the President on Monday in reference to the trial of Jeff. Davis.

The interdict laid upon the Episcopal Church of Alabama has been removed by a special order of the President.

Captain John Kennedy, of the 213th Pennsylvania volunteers, tried by court martial for drunkenness on duty, has been cashiered the service.

Senator Sherman's speech is regarded as indicating a reduction of the taxes, but Secretary McCullough is opposed to any reduction for the present.

The receipts of the national Treasury from all sources, for the quarter ending on the 30th of September last, were $439,801,605, and the expenditures for the same time were $374,895,916.

Editorial and Miscellaneous.

—Supper—those new furs just received at Haldemans' Store.

—"Soldier will you work"—go to the meeting to-night at the Town Hall.

—Why are the ladies of Missouri so sweet? Because they are Mo. lasses.

—The mosquito's hum is jocosely defined as grace before meat.

Why is a chicken-pie like a gusshitt's store? Because it contains foul-in-pieces.

—Mankind should learn temperance from the moon; the fuller she gets the smaller her horns become.

—Stamp a letter and it will go. Stamp a man, and he may not be able to go at all.

—A cotemporary says: "The first printers were Titans." There are a good many "tigit uns" among them still.

—Why is a bank-note torn by a dog sure to pass? Because it's cur-vent (current) money.

—"Sah, what time does your folks dine?" "Soon as you goes; that's missus' orders."

—"Good morning Jones how does the world use you?" "It uses me up, thank you."

—When is a nuzum in a prison window? Ans.—When it is grated."

—"Thou rainest in this bosom," as the chap said when a basin of water was thrown over him by the lady he was serenading.

—When a Baltimore lady is kissed, she says she feels as though she was taking chloroform, and remains insensible as long as the operation lasts.

—The sweetest singer and the sweetest perfume of the day are Adolena Patti and Phalou's "Night Blooming Cereus."

Both are American! The fair singer captures everybody—the perfume is in demand everywhere.

—Adams Express Company has loaned $2,000,000 of its accumulated capital to several of the southern railroads, and has thus enabled them to resume operations.

—At the tournament given in Fredericksburg on Wednesday last, the Knights, after borrowing sashes, horses, and saddles of the United States officers stationed there, excluded them from the ball given at night.

—A panic occurred in a public school in Baltimore, on Monday, caused by a cry of "fire" being raised. There were several hundred children in the school at the time, whose alarm and fright was fearful, but happily they were all got out without serious accident.

Breaths there a man with soul so dead, That never to himself hath said— My Country, my Country, now I'll take, Both for my own and family's sake. If such there be, let him repent, And have the "Spy" to him sent; And if he pass a happy winter He in advance should pay the printer.

—A lady meeting in the street a gentleman who was frightfully ugly, took him by the hand, and led him to the shop of a statuary, to whom she said, "Just like this," and departed. The gentleman, astonished, asked the meaning of this. The statuary answered, "The lady has employed me to make the figure of the devil, and as I had no model, she promised to bring me one."

—The double track on the North Center R. R. between York and Baltimore is now all completed and in running order except about nine miles—one mile between Baltimore and Bolton, three miles between Cockeysville and the Gunpowder creek, and six miles between the tunnel and York, being unfinished. Considerable work on these portions, however has been done.—York Gazette.

—A lady writes to a friend in Lowell from Oregon, saying that apples were raised in her neighborhood the past season so large that sixteen of them would fill a bushel basket, though of course, all do not average that size. She also saw a Bartlett pear that weighed two pounds.
