The "Trichina Spiralis."

The above is the technical name for the disease which has lately manifested itself in an alarming extent in Germany, being produced by the consumption of swine flesh which on examination is found to contain an innumerable number of life-destroying animalcules.

This disease has no doubt been in existence in that country for a great length of time, being veiled under the resemblance which it bears to other and common causes of death—one disease especially it has been found to resemble so closely that the death of the victim was without hesitation ascribed to typhoid fever, and it was only on the microscopic examination of the food that the true cause was ascertained.

The diagnostic of this disease, and the different stages of the grave, were also thought to belong to the cholera, and many fled the town in which it first appeared, thinking that it was this dread calamity.

When the news of this epidemic, therefore, reached this country it produced a feeling which was anything but comfortable or pleasant to these persons who sometimes partook of this kind of food—looking upon Hams and Bologna Sausages especially as the fruitful sources of this dire distemper.

They thought it bad enough to be open to the access of this malady, even through these uncommon but well known paths along which this affliction could only run; but when they heard of it breaking out in Detroit, Chicago and Cincinnati great alarm was caused.

Some of our contemporaries, therefore, in the view of this incalculable malady implore their readers either to leave off the use of this food altogether, or else thoroughly to inspect each morsel before the same is incorporated into the system, with a good microscope magnifying eight or nine hundred times or thereabouts.

They also say that of course the presence of these animalcules in the pork can be ascertained with but such an instrument by a "peculiar gnawing sensation in the stomach," but they still think that it is better, perhaps, to discover them before than after eating, and some of the more irreligious ones are not slow to account for the death of one Herod, who hitherto has been, by all good Christians, received as a miracle, by asserting that he simply suffered under this disease which was only greatly aggravated by some peculiar circumstances.

However that may be, we leave each of our readers to decide for himself. But we are happy to state that the reported appearance of this disease has been lately contradicted; at least it is said to have been brought with the person, who was a German emigrant. It behooves people to treat with caution that article of food in which the presence of these destructive parasites is likely to be found.

Odd Fellows' Temple.

At a meeting of sixty-three Lodges, and Encampments held in Philadelphia, on the 19th ult., a permanent organization was effected for the current year; Henry Hopkins, President; D. S. Gressengren, Vice President; E. A. Pratt and Christian Young, Secretaries, and S. MacNutt, Treasurer. The officers were instructed to apply to the present Legislature for a charter for the "Odd Fellows' Temple" of Philadelphia, with an authorized capital of $250,000. Shares, $5 each.

The Hall is to be used for the purposes of the Order alone. No stores, no ball room, no drinking saloon, &c. are to be allowed in the building. A large lecture room and library room will be provided. It is deemed highly important one hall in Philadelphia city should be held sacred to the purposes of the Order, when twenty thousand of our citizens are connected with the fraternity.

Mercury.

A MASONIC FACT.—Dr. R. G. Scott, Past Grand Master, in an address delivered years ago, made the following statement. It is honorable to the Masonic Institution—and we presume the members of that ancient body will be pleased to read it and see it circulated.

"From sources of information on which I entirely rely, I state the fact that fifty at least of those who signed the Declaration of Independence were Masons, and the same history informs us that every Major-General of the Revolutionary army was a Mason, save one, and that one was Benedict Arnold." Next to Arnold is Jeff Davis. He is not a Mason.

At the auction sale of Seranton coal in New York, 25th ult., there was a decline of from 35 cents to $2.25 per ton on the different grades in one month.

THE NEWS.

News from El Paso to the 2d state that the French forces are preparing to evacuate Chihuahua. They hold only the capital.

It is expected that the Reconstruction Committee will soon furnish a bill for the recognition of Tennessee, and the admission of her Senators and Representatives to Congress; and it is thought the bill will pass.

A meeting of the Iron and Steel Association was held in Washington on the 28th, to ask Congress to ward off the dangers which threaten the manufacturers of the country. A Pennsylvania delegate asked $15 to $20 per ton on iron.

The great railroad controversy between the Pennsylvania Railroad Company and the Atlantic and Great Western Railroad and the Cattawissa and Reading R. R. was decided on the 26th ult., by Justice Read, of the Supreme Court, in favor of the Pennsylvania Railroad, the special injunction prayed for being granted.

The Ways and Means Committee of Congress have agreed to report a bill reducing the tax on incomes somewhat, and to put a tax of five per cent. per pound on cotton. An effort will be made to put a drawback of two per cent. on all cotton for home consumption.

An article has been ordered to be engraved in the Texas State constitution abolishing involuntary servitude except for crime, protecting African descendants in their rights of property, and allowing them to testify in the courts.

Letter From Washington.

Washington, Feb. 28th, 1866.

Mr. Editor:—I wrote you some time ago in the "City of Magnificent Distances." Were I competent I would give you an insight into the scenes of the political Drama, daily enacted here.

You are doubtless aware that the Senators and Representatives elected and sent here by the eleven States lately in Rebellion, and their friends in and out of Congress are making frantic efforts to have them admitted to seats in both houses. The Union members having large majorities are determined to fully investigate their fitness for such seats.

Many of these men are almost fresh from the battle-field, where they were opposed to our brave troops, or from the Rebel Congress, denouncing all that every loyal American holds dear. Sharp encounters have taken place between the opposing parties in Congress.

On Washington's birthday, the Hon. J. A. J. Crosswell, Senator from Maryland, delivered an oration, in memoriam, of the lamented Henry Winter Davis late a Representative from the same State. The House was filled as it usually is when any topic of peculiar interest, is to be discussed.

At 10 o'clock the Galleries were thrown open to the public, and in a short space of time the seats were well packed. It is always interesting to an occupant of the Gallery to look down on the floor. The Heads of Departments, the Civil and Military Authorities, the Judges of the Supreme Court, headed by Chief Justice Chase and the Judges of other Courts, occupied seats in front of the Speaker. The members of the Diplomatic Corps and their families occupied that portion of the Gallery allotted to them.

The President was expected to be present but he did not appear. At twelve o'clock, Speaker Colfax called the meeting to order and after prayer by the Chaplain, reading of the Declaration of Independence, and a dirge by the Marine Band, which was stationed in the vestibule, Mr. Colfax in his usual clear and happy style introduced the orator.

The oration must be carefully read to be fully appreciated, but to know that it was composed by a master-mind the orator must be heard. While his deep tones tell, he feels while he speaks the loss of the friend and associate of former days. After listening for 1 1/2 hours the vast assembly quietly filed out, each feeling that in the death of Henry W. Davis the nation had lost a patriot and unwavering champion of her rights, on the political and legislative arena.

Wm. Lloyd Garrison of abolition notoriety, delivered an excellent address to a crowded house on Sunday evening last.

If a person has money to spare he can enjoy himself every evening in the week attending Lectures. Carl Schurz will lecture to-morrow evening, subject, "The Problems of the day." Tickets, 50 cents.

Having given you a bird's eye view of the political and intellectual aspect of the city, I may here say that the number of stores labelled "To Rent" or "selling off to close business" is quite large. All this is owing to the "boys in blue" being at their happy homes. Persons from all parts of the loyal states, but principally Jews, had stores and stalls with all kinds of wares, to suit or cheat the soldier.

Now all this is past, so the stores must be closed.

I see by your paper, Gen. Fisher has again opened a Law Office in Columbia. Now while you enjoy the blessings of peace secured by services of such patriots as the General, let not the soldier be forgotten in the citizen. On many a hard fought field he exposed himself to death, and to numberless hardships and privations on the march and in the trench; his bravery has often been applauded, but never recognized. What signifies an empty breast, when he won it all for the double stars, with the accompaniments. The weather here is all that we could wish at this season of the year.

Yours, &c., ANON.

Mankind may be divided into three classes. 1st. Those who learn from the experience of others—they are happy men. 2d. Those who learn from their own experience—they are wise men. 3d. And lastly, those who learn neither from their own nor other people's experience—they are fools.

A short time since a man went to bed, with a bottle of whisky, in his wagon, near Fort Kearney, and next morning it was discovered that the whisky had produced spontaneous combustion, setting fire to the wagon, and consuming both wagon and man. Whether the whisky "combusted" in the bottle, or in the man's body, is not stated.

The number of Valentines set down as delivered in New York on the 14th and 15th, ult. is over 63,000, which does not include the very many thousands under the modest wrapping of the ordinary envelope. Doubtless the number of these missives of love or folly and frolic will reach 100,000.

Ghosts are retiring. The Erie papers have caught the one which was playing mad pranks in that city in a half-pint cup, whence it had arisen from a lot of dried berries, and the Philadelphia affair has gone off with a servant girl to the House of Refuge. The former was a sharp daughter of an editor; the latter a County snowballing mystery, we believe has not yet been found out.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Skating.—One of the most healthy sports of the present age is skating. But too much care cannot be used after skating all the evening—getting the blood heated and the pores all open, thus you do not get cold and lay the foundation of throat and lung complaints. Get the Colgate's Compound, excellent in all such cases. We say, keep it in the house, ready for immediate use.

Colgate's Compound is also one of the best remedies in the world for Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Sick Headache, and all diseases of the stomach and bowels.

There is nothing like Dr. Yelpan's French Pills for keeping the complexion fresh and entirely free from pimples. The cause of which is a humor in the blood, and the cause of the skin system. Sold by all Druggists.
