THE NEWS

It is reported that Hon. W. Sausbury, Senator from Delaware, was taken from the Chamber drunk on Wednesday.

The President has granted 6,885 pardons in all in twelve southern States, under the exception to the amnesty proclamation having reference to taxable property over $20,000.

The New Hampshire election has resulted in the re-election of Gov. Smyth by 5000 or 6000 majority. The Legislature is largely Republican.

The Canadian call for volunteers is being promptly responded to. Bishop Lynch has issued a circular denouncing the Fenian movement.

The Custom Department has issued strict orders for the examination of baggage, express goods and freight entering the kingdom. The counterfeits stamped at Washington amounted to $29,245 in one week.

The internal revenue last week was $5,500,000.

The banking house of Rufus Lord, in New York, has been robbed of $1,500,000 in government and other securities.

The Committee on Ways and Means intend to take up the subject of the tariff at an early day.

The United States Supreme Court has decided that savings institutions are liable to pay the monthly tax of one twenty-fourth per cent on deposits invested.

The Fenian excitement was more intense in Montreal on Wednesday night. There was a run on the banks during the day. At Windsor the commotion is great, and volunteers are on the lookout.

Quantrell, the notorious Kansas guerrilla, has been identified, and will be brought to Washington for trial.

Jared Sparks, the historian, and ex-President of Harvard College, died in Cambridge, Mass., on Wednesday.

School Houses of West Hempfield.

FAIRVIEW, March 13, '66. MESSRS. EDITORS: A few days ago I had occasion to pass through West Hempfield township on business.

Being a resident and voter in said township, I was asked whether I would be at the election on the coming Friday. My curiosity being aroused, I inquired what supererogatory thing was going to transpire, when I was informed that they wanted to elect a school board in the township in favor of erecting new and comfortable school houses, as the present ones are incompetent to subsolve the hygienic and aesthetic aspirations of the rising generation.

Every man who has ever transmigrated this delectable territory knows this to be a fact.

There is a party however, who are opposed to spending the mighty dollar, and are going the rounds trying to induce others to join them in their opposition to improvements in learning, or any of its facilities or comforts.

These men I presume would rather see their children raised to eminence above a compost pile, than to be well-educated and be inspired with heaven-born aspirations and unfolded energies.

Gentlemen, when I contrast West Hempfield township with Manor, I blush to think how far we are behind the age. Thirty years ago, Manor was a region so desolated that whippoorwills, passing over it, had to carry knapsacks, and where ignorance was bliss for half a century, but new ideas began to sprout in the minds of the present populace, and the result is that such men as Jacob F. Froy, Jacob Stoner, Jacob B. Shuman and many others whose names I could mention, are driving everything to the wall for the benefit and education of the rising generation.

Look at the chance that has been wrought in that township. Compare their lands now with that they were twenty years ago. Such men as I have mentioned are the kind of men we want for school Directors in our township, men who not afraid to spend the mighty dollar for the comfort of the children.

The school edifices that were erected in Manor township are a credit to the school board and enduring monuments of their liberal sentiments.

With proper school houses, the teachers can be obtained, and proper habits of cleanliness and order are instilled into the young. Besides, when school houses are properly furnished, and tastefully laid out, there is a pride in keeping everything in proper condition.

Look at the school houses in West Hempfield. Doors all shattered, windows broken in, walls yielding to their inferiority of erection.

Mr. Editor, I thought I lived in the age of improvement, but when I think of the dilapidated, rickety pees that we call school houses, it makes me feel that I belong to an ancient generation.

I hope, therefore, that the present men who pledge themselves not to improve will meet with defeat at the ballot box, and that their names may be engraved or imprinted in some way on the old rickety school houses that now disgrace our township, there to remain as a warning to all men of that class for all time to come; as that rising generations may know who the men were who opposed the building of comfortable and tasteful school houses.

AGE OF IMPROVEMENT.

Letter from Washington.

WASHINGTON, March 13, 1866. MR. EDITOR: March with all its blusterings is upon us, the clouds of dust that have swept through the streets meeting you at every corner, filling eyes, nostrils and mouth have been almost unbearable.

With a few exceptions the streets here are not paved nor macadamized. The red soil strewn over with ashes thrown out by, and to suit the convenience of the inhabitants, compose the thoroughfares. The consequences are, in rainy weather we have mud ankle deep, and when Government wagons were plenty I have seen the mud reach to the hub of the wheel, again by the drying March winds the clouds of dust that rise, blind the eyes and hinder locomotion.

Dust, as every one knows is an indispensable concomitant of travel. It is at once early appreciated from the fact that it can be felt and easily seen from the fact that it gets into our eyes.

It rejects the movement of Polonus. "Be ever familiar, but by no means vulgar" for it is irresistibly familiar and unconsciously vulgar—it rushes into your hair, stuffs up your ears, looks into your eyes, strays up one's nose, enters your mouth goes down your neck, chokes up your throat, dirties your collar, soils your bosom, spoils your clothes, or, in the more expressive language of poetry,

"It spoils your collar, spoils your clothes, it stuffs up your ears and fills up your nose."

As long as this city has existed, yet as regards improvements, comparatively speaking, 'tis only in its infancy. Till the commencement of the war the inhabitants lived in a kind of haphazard style, relying on Congress for improvements. Since the war, they have been ruledly awakened, yet they are dilatory in following up the example shown them by yankee enterprise.

One thing they know thoroughly; to charge well for everything they have got for sale. House rents are rather lower now than for years previously, and marketing I understand is as cheap as in Pennsylvania.

The Receptions at Speaker Collin's in 41 street were well attended by Senators, Representatives, Generals and elite of the city—occasionally a sprinkling of Department Clerks are found there, and as cordially received as the highest rank.

Next Thursday evening will be the last of these receptions, as the House has resolved to hold evening sessions for the despatch of business. Saturday last was devoted to speech making in the House.

Mr. Orth, Indiana, occupied his hour in a clear well read speech, after which Mr. Stevens from Penn'a. The galleries were crowded in anticipation of this speech. The Hon. Gen. caused roars of laughter by his replies to Mr. Price of Iowa.

After Mr. S.'s speech the House thinned out immediately. It is certainly an unexpected sight for country folks to see a member reading a long speech to an almost empty house, not more than twenty members being present, and the Speaker either reading a newspaper or chatting with an M. C.

Were it not that St. Patrick's day is so near, we may almost infer from the specimens of good weather of the last few days, that March having "come in like a lion was going out like a lamb," but like the Canadians just now we must not trust St. Patrick, or their admirers too much. There was a Fenian meeting here on Wednesday evening last. After the usual amount of spouting, the meeting quietly dispersed.

Of course money is asked, and by many freely given.—"Tis not supposed our amicable relations with Great Britain will be disturbed by the contemplated Fenian movement."

I am glad to see the proper authorities are waking up to necessity of Sanitary measures before the warm weather is upon us. This city has had scenes of suffering and death to appal the stoutest.

Long trains of ambulances filled with groaning, mutilated braves—wending their way to the hospitals. Along other streets might be seen sad processions of those who had ceased to suffer, wrapp'd in their Country's flag, tending towards the resting place for the weary. May such sights ne'er again be seen, either as the effects of war or pestilence, and therefore it behooves the proper authorities to see that sanitary measures are strictly enforced.

Having heard that you contemplate a visit, I say come on. The N. C. R. W. having finished the double track, and the excellent arrangements to be found on it, as well as on the Baltimore Branch of the Balt. & Ohio R. R. invite a trip to the Capitol of the Nation. A new schedule went into effect on this road a few days ago, as follows:

Leave Washington for Balto. at 6.20, 7.30, 11.15 A. M., and 2.45, 4.30, 7.40 P. M., and on Sundays at 7.30 A. M., 2.45, and 7.40 P. M. Trains leave Baltimore for Washington at 4.10, 7.05, 8.45 A. M., 3.00, 4.15 and 7.45 P. M., and on Sundays at 4.10 and 8.45 A. M., and 4.15 and 7.45 P. M.

Trains of the N. C. R. W. leave Baltimore for Harrisburg at 9.00 and 10 A. M., 12.10 and 7.20 P. M. Hoping to see you soon, I remain ANON.

THE ARLINGTON ESTATE.—The superintendent of Freedmen's village has been instructed by Major General O. O. Howard to divide the Arlington estate into five-acre lots, to be rented on written agreements, to the freedmen, the rent to be paid at each harvesting of the crops. Fifteen acres on the west side of the road are assigned to be divided and rented in the same manner, about twenty acres to be used as a garden by the dependents of the Freedmen's village. This estate is not confiscated property, and therefore cannot revert to the heirs at the death of the owners, but it was sold for taxes, and purchased by the government for the purposes to which it is now being applied.

Jefferson Davis is now afflicted with a sore throat.—Albany Argus. He ought to have it tied up.—New Haven Palladium.

Thirty minutes will effect a cure.—Albany Argus.

And he would never need another application.—Bloomburg Republican.

Provided a hempen string were to be used.—Allentown.

It would save the nation trouble and expense to thus have his sore throat cured.

Editorial and Miscellaneous.

—What stands and goes without legs?—A clock.

—Why is a baker like a beggar?—He kneads bread.

—How is coal this morning?—said a man in a coal-yard to an Irishman.—"Black as iver, be jabers," said Pat.

—If you would be known and not know, vegetate in a village; if you would know and not be known, live in a city.

—A good sugar is a luxury, and you are always sure to get a good one at Booties. He flings to the breeze a handsome sign. Selah.

—Dodgers, after the style of greenbacks have been passed at some of our stores for genuine notes.

—The editor of the Chester Valley Union sports a patent money pocket.—Query, where does he get the money to put in it?

—At a concert recently, at the conclusion of the song, "There's a good time coming," a country farmer got up and exclaimed, "Mr., you couldn't fix the date, could you?"

—One of our exchanges carries an egg; what it says was "on our table, by Rev. Mr. Smith." Mr. Smith seems to be a layman as well as a minister.

—Before you buy "foreign perfumes," ask the dealers to show you their Receipt books. They can do it. Receipts have ceased under the present tariff. The articles are counterfeit. Phalon's "Night Blooming Cereus," a finer extract than Paris ever produced, now reigns supreme in this market. Sold everywhere.

—James A. C. O'Connor, Esq., ("James Starr Hamblett,") one of our contributors gave a series of "Literary and Dramatic Readings," recently in N. Y. City, of which the N. Y. Dispatch says:—"Mr. O'Connor (otherwise known as "J. S. Hamblett,") will one day reach the topmost round of the ladder, being the most scholarly and best educated man we have heard in years, having genius, and enthusiasm—inspiration."

Mr. O'Connor is to read "Hamlet" in Brooklyn, in April.

—The man of leisure who desires to travel, cannot employ his time to better advantage than by taking a trip over the Philadelphia & Erie Railroad. He will pass through a country that cannot be excelled for beauty and grandeur. This is one of the best managed roads in the State.

We have had occasion to mention it several times during the past year and have always found it to be in splendid order. The accommodations were all that could be desired by the most fastidious. The Conductors and employees, are obliging and courteous and ever ready to satisfy the wants of an appreciating public.

THE GREAT WEST.

Homes of the sturdy farmers who look about them for the broad fields, and the rolling hills, and the green fields, are often rendered desolate by the death of the beloved ones of a dear old man. Coughs, Croup, Whooping Cough, Croup, and all throat and lung diseases.
