MANY KILLED AND A LARGE NUM-BER WOUNDED. Over two hundred accidents from kick-ing and running away of horses occurred during the past year, in Lancaster county alone nearly all of which resulted in injuring the drivers, killing some, maiming and wounding others, and in most cases, breaking costly carriages and hurting the forses. Of the above, nine-tenths were tame family horses. The safety bridle will put an end to all such needless accidents, and with the Safety Lines the speed of every horse is easily much increased. At the special meeting of the Saddlers of Lancaster city, Nov. 27, 1805, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted :

BY CAPT. W. W. RICHMOND. Let others praise the ruby wine, And sparkling bright champagne;

Let others fill the goblet up And drink again, again! But give to me the liquid pure. That trickle down the side Of hills so green, and mingles with The river broad and wide.

Tis water from the cooling spring That gives renewing strength; 'Tis water from the wells above That gives to life good length. Then fill my goblet to the brim With water pure-and-bright, "Tis richer, better far than wine And gives a clearer light.

God, in his wisdom, bright and good, Intended man should be From all base passions dark and wild And sinful habits free: The wine that sparkles in the cup And looks so tempting bright. Will fire the brain and fill the heart

With thoughts as black as night. 'Twill nerve the nurder's arm to strike Tue guilty, fearful blow; 'Twill make the earth a living hell Of wickedness and woo;

"Twill drive from home all peace, content," And bring disorder dire; 'Twill make sweet Heaven further off, And endless misery nigher.

Ah, do not touch the tempting bowl, But fill your crystal cup With water bright, and pure, and clear. And hold the goblet up; We'll piedge to night to Temperance With liquid from above;

And angels bright will gladly smile In that bright world of love.

performed the experiment with the following effect : IIe selected a large and vicious reptile, very active at the time of experiment. He took eigh half grown chickens, and allowed the snake to strike at each, under the wing, as fast as they could be presented to him. The first died immediately; the second after a few minutes; the third after ten minutes; the fourth after more than an hour ; the fifth after twelve hours ; tho sixth was sick and drooping for several days, but recovered ; the seventh was only slightly affected, and the eight not at all. Hence, it will be seen that the poison of this dangerous reptile has a more fatal effect upon living creatures than that of any other agent known, and when once in contact with the blood flowing through the veins and arteries, no cure is certain, and the creature unfortunate enough to receive it mnst certain-

A Magnificent Mansion.

The New York Citizen thus refers to the new mansion recently crected for J. Cooke in Philadelphia:
