THE RIVER.—The Susquehanna is exceedingly low for this season of the year. About thirty rafts are "tied up" at this place, that arrived during the last freshet, intending to run through, but were unable to do so owing to the rapid fall of the water.

GERMAN DANCE -On the evening of the 2nd inst., Odd Fellows' Hall was the scene of a brilliant, chaste and select party. t was gotten up, attended, encouraged and carried through by the friends of the "Faderland," assisted by a few "sports" of Columbia. From the account of one of the participants, we infer that they had a swimming time. Lager flowed freely, not on the floor, but down the openings in the faces of the charming Lasses. All sorts and sizes were in attendance, and gallants room, with Lasses, who were either "fat fair or forty."

LAST OF THE SEASON .- The Junior Bachelors held their last Quadrille Party for this season on Wednesday evening, 4th inst. The attendance was not as large as at previous ones, but enough were present to insure a splendid time. Among the moving figures we beheld the manly form of S. of the Intelligencer. He was in his been inditing loving epistles to a young Baker Emma H. glory, and we would advise the fair ones man, a new-comer in Columbia, under the of Lancaster to keep an eye upon him, as now de plume of a Lady. Bruner's store on Front street where they can be supplied with the best Dry Goods in the market.

MOVING DAY.—Monday last was a a great day among those who had no permanent habitation. As soon as daylight broke, persons could be seen wending their way to their future abodes, ladened heavily with "traps" of all kinds. The morning gave evidence of a splendid day, but by the time the sun had reached the meridian, the clouds opened and the rains decended, causing "flitters" to have rather an elongated countenance. The deed had to be performed, and "postponment on account of the weather" could not be allowed as the "note of warning" issued on New Years' Day, was, no doubt, in every man's pocket. Moving is a humbug, and from the "faint praise" it received by those compelled to evacuate on Monday, we conclude that they all are impressed with the same idea.

"Oh!" says Frank, perceiving his trouble, "she will forgive you!" "No, no, I'm undone." "I know she will forgive you for I am the lady," at the same time presenting him with the letters he had written. There is no use to aftempt a description of the countenance of the young man on receipt of this intelligence. His writh was aroused and breathing vengeance he sought his quarters.

BASE BALL CLUB .- During last Fall, considerable talk was expended in regard to organizing a Base Ball Club among the young men of this place. The season for and other towns, with half the pretentions to size, are up and doing. Let some persons take hold of the matter, and arrangements can soon be perfected. A few hours recreation during the week will be of imconfined to in-door employment. Let it have no doubt but that the "Columbia Club" will be able to challenge the "Atlantic," and beat them, too.

HARRISON'S THEATRE. -On this (Saturday) evening, Harrison's unrivalled troupe will make their second appearance in Odd Fellows' Hall, opening with the beautiful comedy, entitled the "Dumb Belle," sustained in the principal characters by Mr. S. A Spring Day.-Wednesday last was a lovely day. Spring again appeared on halcyon wings. The bright, cheerful and animated countenances of our people was conclusive evidence that they were particularly fond of being kissed and caressed by the passing zephyrs of Spring. The ladies in particular, we noticed, appeared jubilant when refreshing night had cast availing, and the body still remains in the Com. vs. Mathias Keis, -Fornication and | ticularly fond of being kissed and caressed its sombre shade about.
