The steamer Northern Light, from Aspinwall on the 22d ult., arrived at New York on Monday. The isthmus is perfectly quiet. Trade is good. The Central American States continue tranquit. There is considerable excitement in Nicaragua, owing to rich gold discoveries. The crops generally throughout Central America are a fair average. On the South American coast business is again brisk, since the departure of the Spaniards. All the republics are driving away the Spanish residents. Valparaiso is being strongly fortified. A revolution among the Chillians is threatening.

The manufacture of the new Atlantic cable was entirely completed on June 14, and it was being rapidly stored on the Great Eastern. That vessel was expected to sail from Sheerness to Valencia on about the middle of July.

The War Begun.

Prussia and Italy have formally declared war against Austria, and active operations have been commenced in Germany. It will be necessary to study in order to understand the movements of the armies, and the manner in which the various States are divided in this conflict. The geography of Germany is a they are engaging.
