JULIA....YOU are mistaken...it was Noal Webster who published a spelling book some years ago-not Daniel. The former desended from the man who built the ark-the latter from the gentle-man who went down among the lions. WE would inform Mrs...., that Job was a very patient man, which proves that he must have been an editor and not a printer. The sign so frequently seen, "Job Printirg" which she allades to is nothing but a catchpenay affair used in this age of humbug; Job has been dead some years. "A FRIEND."-Your second note has been received. You seem to be interested in our welfare -but indeed you would oblige us by minding your own-business. Perhaps you are only jealous of the person of whom you write.

RESIGNATION & ELECTION .- Robt. Crane has been elected director of the Columbia Insurance Company, in place of Col. Samuel Shoch, resigned.

. THE READING DAILY TIMES comes to us enlarged and improved. It is now published in quarto form. Messrs. Whitman & Shalters are enterprising and clever fellows and deserve success. We hope the improvement may prove profitable.

LAMB TAVERN PROPERTY SOLD .-We learn that Mr. John Fendrich has purchased from Mrs. Swartz, the Lamb Tavern Property, now occupied by Martin was bound over to answer at November Erwin. Mr. Fendrich intends to tear it Court. down and erect a handsome cottage in its place.

DOING WELL .- We understand that Cordelia Furnace, belonging to the Kauffman Iron Company of Columbia made, last week, One Hundred and two tons of No. 1 iron. Since this Furnace has been rebuilt, after the explosion of last winter, it has been doing remarkably well, LADIES FAIR .- It will be seen by an advertisement in another column, that House of Refuge. The defendant lived the fair ladies connected with the Lutheren Church of this place intend holding a Fair in Odd Fellows Hall on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings next. We hope it will be a pleasant property belonging to Mrs. Sheaffer and affair as well as add very materially to the Mrs. Kauffman was sold at public sale-Church coffers.

NATIONAL THANKSGIVING .--- There will be a union Thanksgiving service in the English Lutheran Church, on Thursday morning, Nov. 29th, at ten o'clock. Addresses will be delivered by Revs. Brown, Major and Steck. The respective place, for $5500. Tract No. 3, being the churches and the public generally are respectfully invited to attend.

CHANGE OF TIME .- The mail train on the Pennsylvania Railroad now reaches here at 11.55 instead of 12.50, other trains arrive and depart as usual.

JOB PRINTING .- We have just received a lot of new job type, combination berders, rule, &c.. &c. We possess unrivalled facilities for prompt, speedy, and artistic execution of every conceivable style of work. Send in your orders-satisfaction guaranteed.

GRADING 5TH STREET .--- The work of grading 5th street goes steadily on. Mr. Daniel McCauley contracted to do the work and is pushing it forward, and when completed, it will very materially add to an idea of the work doing at this mill, the appearance of things in that locality, besides being a lasting benefit.

COLUMBIA FIRE CO. FAIR .-- A fain for the benefit of the Columbia Fire Comnany will be held during Christmas week in Odd Fellows' Hall. Any contributions in the shape of fancy articles, fruits, dry goods or barrels of flour, &c., &c., wil' be acceptable, from any quarter. Many ladies are engaged in making carpet balls. They will take all that can be made, only make them large and plenty of them.

SUSQUEHANNA IRON COMPANY,—This company's mill is located in the outskirts of our borough, immediately on the Susque- hanna river, and is one of the best of its class in the State. They are running up to their full capacity all the time, and still have orders ahead. They have lately made several hundred tons of cable iron for the Government. They employ about one hundred hands and pay out about five thousand dollars monthly for labor, alone, which show that such establishments are of some importance to our town. They manufacture flat, round and square iron of all description, and it is said to be of the very best quality. SUSQUEHANNA IRON COMPANY,—This company's mill is located in the outskirts of our borough, immediately on the Susque- hanna river, and is one of the best of its class in the State. They are running up to their full capacity all the time, and still have orders ahead. They have lately made several hundred tons of cable iron for the Government. They employ about one hundred hands and pay out about five thousand dollars monthly for labor, alone, which show that such establishments are of some importance to our town. They manufacture flat, round and square iron of all description, and it is said to be of the very best quality. THANKSGIVING.—Thursday next, 29th inst, will be our National Thanks- giving, and will be celebrated with be- coming spirit. There will be a general suspension of business, and public services will be held in the churches. We do not observe the day with the spirit and zeal of our New England friends. We honor Christmas, and make it a day of special rejoicing. But t'a local customs of the East have made Thanksgiving the great season of joy and pleasure throughout the hills and valleys of New England. Thanksgiving dinner is the general re- union of families that have gone from under the old homestead, when all the members of the parental household gather under one roof, to mingle in common re-	heeds the lessons of that beautiful degree of the Order, will go home the better for the visit. A ceremony that teaches men and women to give a cup of cold water to the thirsty, food to the hungry, and relief in sick- ness and distress, and whose devotees Per- form the duties with which they are charged, we hold is far better than hollow profess- ions that are cast off so soon as the altar is behind one's back, and which in the outer world are lost sight of entirely. We long to see the day when the members of our Order will be universally acknowledged as a band that live by the precepts of the Golden Rule, as they are now known and recognized as the almoners of the poor and distressed. Let the wives of Odd Fellows of the Scarlet Degree but lay aside their foolish predjudices and join with those who are already enlisted in so good a work. God never made caste or distinction; why should mortal be greater than He? Once, a poor traveler all among thieves, he was robbed, bruised, wounded, and then left to the mercies of whoever might be kind enough to bind up his wounds. One after another the rich and great journeyed along the highway, but sceing their unfortunate fellow-man passed by on the other side, with eyes averted and hearts cold to his agonizing crues for help—their names have come down to us and will go on to count- lesss ages to follow, branded with the bit- terest curse of High Heaven; but a poor, miserable, despised Lazzaroni , clothed in rags of poverty, finding the stricken one, poured oil upon his wounds and bound them up from the scanty tatters that hid his own nakedness—his name also become historical—but the Angel of Mercy wrote	line effect to the scene. Over the arch of the pulpit, in large letters, were the words, "Centennial Jubilee;" in the rear of the pulpit, under this caption, "Immortal names that cannot die!" were the follow- ing names, "Wesley, Embury, Asbury, Strawbridge, Heck, Webb," and under- neath this an excellent likeness of Rev. John Wesley, the founder of Methodism, enwreathed in evergreen and flowers. On the wall, back of the Choir, was this appropriate sentence, "Praise ye the Lord." All the lettering had been care- fully cut out of pastebcard and then cov- ered with evergreen, giving it a most pic- turesque appearance, by gas-light. Rev. Alfred Cookman, the orator of the evening, was greeted by a large and intel- ligent audience, who listened with inter- est and pleasure while he dwelt at consid- erable length upon the rise and progress of American Methodism, in his usual happy and cloquert style. He spoke of her wonderful development during this tirst century of her history.
