The Ocean Yacht Race.

The recent race between the three American yachts, Henrietta, Fleeting and Vesta, resulted in the victory of the former, she having made the trip in the unprecedented time of thirteen days and twenty two hours, meantime, notwithstanding the unfavorable weather she experienced during the first seven days of the passage. A dispatch by the cable dated Cowes, Isle of Wight, Dec. 25th, says the yacht Henrietta passed the Needles on the western end of the Island at 6 o'clock in the evening, the Fleeting arrived at 2 o'clock the following morning, and the Vesta an hour and a half later. During the passage six sails were swept off the bowsprit of the Fleeting, while furling the jib in a gale, and were lost. The Board of Admiralty gave orders that every facility should be rendered by the officers on duty in the English channel, and the members of the Royal Yacht Squadron extended a cordial reception to the crews. The news of the arrival of the yachts was at once sent to the Queen, by her special request. On the 29th the three yachts sailed up the Osborn Bay, upon invitation of Her Majesty, who came down to the beach and spent some time in witnessing their manoeuvres. As the winner of the race, the Henrietta, passed by, it was hailed by waving her hankercchiefs, and banquet given by the citizens, the hall was profusely with British and American pictures of the contending yachts. Sir John Simon, seated at the entertainment, and an irrational feeling prevailed. Toasts were drunk to the President, and army and navy. Toasts to the United States were also drunk. The Henrietta declares she will accept a challenge from any vessel on the eastern side of the Atlantic.

From Harrisburg.

Governor Geary has selected Mr. B. H. Brewster for Attorney General, and Col. F. Jordan for Secretary of the Commonwealth. These are excellent appointments, so far as qualifications are concerned. But we doubt whether there is in them a proper recognition of political services, especially in the first. Mr. Brewster is an excellent lawyer, but we have yet to learn that he has distinguished himself as an advocate of those principles for which the Union Republican party has risked so much. We would not advocate the appointment of a man to the position of legal advisor of the Governor on account of political services alone, but we think legal talent and an adherence to sound political doctrines might be combined in one and the same man.

There is a very strong probability that Simon Cameron will be elected United States Senator, and while it will be admitted on all hands, that he has been of great service to the Republican party, the question may be asked, does he represent the wishes of the great mass of the Republicans of Pennsylvania? So far as Lancaster county is concerned, there appears to be but one sentiment, and that is in favor of the "old radical," Thaddeus Stevens. Outside of the county there is no question that Governor Curtin is by far the choice of the people. Why then should not public sentiment enter into contest for this important post? Possibly our Senators and representatives could answer this question. It can hardly be supposed that greenbacks has anything to do with it, and yet they may.

The following is a correct list of the members elect of the next Legislature, including the Senators holding over. The political changes are—General McCandless (Dem.) in place of Nichols (Rep.) in the first Senatorial district, and Col. Taylor (Rep.) in place of Hopkins (Dem.) in the 26th district. The Senate is thus left as it stood last year—21 Republicans and 12 Democrats. In the House the Democrats gained two in Philadelphia, in the 2d and 5th districts; one in Adams, and one in Union, where Marshall (Rep.) was beaten by Roush (Dem.) by two votes. The Democrats have thus gained four members in the House on their strength of last year, but still they have but 38 to 62 Republicans, and are in a minority of 83 on joint ballot. Fifty-four of the Representatives elected, were members of the last House.

GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE.

Governor Curtin's last annual message to the Legislature of Pennsylvania, presented a very interesting and valuable view of the finances of the Commonwealth, footing up an improvement of $5,612,041.47, in the condition of the treasury since 1861. In that year the excess of liabilities over assets was $28,148,060.36, and on the 30th of November, 1866, it was $22,536,018.80. The total amount in the Treasury during the last fiscal year was $8,203,336.68, and during the same period the payments were $6,462,303.41; leaving a balance of $1,741,033.27. The total amount of the public debt December 1, 1866, was $35,322,052.16, a reduction of $2,854,206.90 since December 1, 1865, when it stood $38,176,259.06. During and since the war the revenues of the Commonwealth have exceeded the ordinary expenditures, $10,612,000, which would have all been applied to the payment of the debt of the State but for the extraordinary expenses incident to the war. The Governor estimates that the entire debt of the State can be paid within fifteen years. $28,108,626.24 of the debt being overdue, the Governor recommends a new loan for its redemption. Much space has been devoted by the Governor to commending the ratification of the proposed amendment to the national Constitution. He does this in a temperate and judicious tone, discussing all the points briefly, and dwelling upon the necessity of these measures. Passing then to the affairs of the State, he says, that nearly three thousand of the destitute children of the brave soldiers of Pennsylvania in the late war who perished during the conflict, are now comfortably provided for and educated. He recommends that authority be given to the State Superintendent of Common Schools to employ an agent for a short time to ascertain the number of the orphans of colored soldiers, their claims to attention, and to provide schools for them. He also recommends that provision be made for the support of poor, destitute and maimed soldiers of Pennsylvania, until the national government shall supply the deficiency.

He recommends a new jury law, by which jury commissioners shall be elected in each county, in the same manner that inspectors of election are now, so as to obviate the evil of partisanship at present prevailing. He urges the passage of general laws to relieve the Legislature of the immense mass of special legislation, and especially a general railroad law. The conclusion of the message is a natural and graceful reference to the success of the administration of the affairs of the Commonwealth during a period of extraordinary trial.—Philadelphia U. S. Gazette.

The Round Table makes this good point: "The rebels just when their cause was ebbing in, proposed to arm the negroes; the Democrats, now that they are in the very death struggle, propose to give the negro the ballot. The negro did not save the rebels, and he will not save the Democratic party."

Letter from Illinois.

Mr. Editor.—I set down to give you a few "jottings by the way" of men, and things in this locality; a few observations on modern Egypt; and, leaving Columbia I followed the "Star of Empire" westward until reaching Ohio, at the intersection of the Ohio and Mississippi Rail Road with the Illinois Central, where I stopped a few days and took a survey of the country for twenty-five or thirty miles around—thence down the Illinois Central, stopping occasionally a day or two, to the "jumping off place," Cairo. Perhaps Egypt suggests to you a country, in all respects, save in pyramids and "ruins gray," evidencing a high and past civilization; of lost arts, classic lore, and mummied kings in their sarcophagi, the hieroglyphics on which puzzle the antiquarian to decipher—if so, permit me to undeceive you at once, as nothing can be more unlike its ancient patronymic, than modern Egypt. The only similarity between them being an identity of names of towns, and a common liability to extraordinary floods. When the Ohio and Mississippi rivers rise simultaneously, the "meeting of the waters" at Cairo, sometimes causes the former to reach the extraordinary height of forty-five feet, and the latter "ever waging" season to the amphibious denizens along its banks, half of whom are, or ought to be, web-footed, to enjoy the extraordinary water privileges they possess. By tracing the 37th parallel of north latitude, you will discover Cairo, to be about 3° south of you—an advantage of climate that, hitherto, has been denied for our unfortunate geographical position—being between two slave States, Kentucky and Missouri, and consequently, the refuge of all fugitive slaves from either. This inflicted upon the country all the evils of slavery, without any of its advantages. The old settlers, principally from the adjoining slave States, with all their antipathies to labor, and the opportunities to engage in the genial pursuit of running down a fugitive, or occasionally kidnapping a negro, made that the business of their lives, to procure sufficient "hog and hominy" to keep soul and body together; the transition from the social degradation of "poor white trash" in the South, to anything in the descending scale of humanity, however ineffably mean, being an easy and natural one. In that state of things, progress and improvement were out of the question, the country little more than a howling wilderness, and the inhabitants, primitive in their customs and wants, had no higher ambition than to satisfy their animal appetites. A people thus ignorant, degraded, and demoralized, were fit tools for demagogues, upon whom to practice their machinations successfully, as the almost unanimous pro-slavery vote in this region, hitherto too painfully attests. That was Egypt prior to the war, but the war wrought wonders while it lasted—"a change came o'er the spirit of their dreams" before peace was declared. And although secession sympathizers were rampant and defiant during the first two years, they were soon taught better manners by the large-bodies of troops in transitu South, and their blatant howlings softened to the "gentle roar of sucking doves." Thousands of men passing through this country during the war, ennobled by its genial climate and productive soil, have returned and purchased lands, and are clearing and cultivating large farms that are now producing all the luxuries of civilization; Church and school-houses; and last, not least, sound Republican votes.

These are innovations not to be endured by the old "Eli-caters" of the country, many of whom have taken their exodus to old Kentucky and Missy—left their country for their country's good. More land has been cleared in this country in the last two years, than in the thirty previous years—principally, small tracts for orchards and gardens—though not to the exclusion of large farms that are being opened—the soil being specially adapted to early fruits and vegetables, which mature from three to four weeks earlier than at St. Louis or Chicago.

Politically, this Congressional district has been redeemed from the emerald darkness that overhung it like a pall, and sends a staunch Republican to Congress, Gen'l Raum, by over 600 majority. Although I have witnessed many phases of popular excitement in the last twenty years, I never saw a more exciting or more interesting contest than that in this district. Egypt, thus redeemed, like other parts of the State, is no longer a stench in the nostrils of patriotism or loyalty.

Our facilities for transportation by the Ohio river, and Ohio, Missouri and Illinois Central Rail Roads, are good as far as they go, but are inadequate to the increasing commerce of the country. The contemplated Illinois Southern Rail Road, (broad gauge), running from Vincennes, Ind., to Cairo, will open up a large extent of fertile country, and increase our facilities for travel and transportation, and, when completed, will afford a thorough route from Cairo to New York, without change of cars, on a road gauge. This road is certain to be built—it is already chartered, right-of-way obtained, and under the control of the Atlantic & Mississippi Rail Road Company, and being a necessity for a thorough route North and South, guarantees its completion.

The all-British venture, present, and proposed, to build a great canal, or tunnel, to all new countries, the consequence of breaking up a large extent of virgin soil—which renders the air malarious by releasing the carbonic acid gas that enters so largely into vegetable formations—the country is not healthy; and all northern constitutions must undergo the purging and burning alternations of acclimation, before they can enjoy a reasonable degree of health. The western pioneers appear to understand that malarious diseases, caused as above stated, last only a few years, and are willing to bear the pains and inconveniences attendant thereon, in a country that promises so flattering a future. The climate is no milder than up with you, modified as much, perhaps, by the configuration of the country, as of being a more southern latitude—nor is there no doubt that the climate, which snows can accumulate to send down their chilling breath, congealing at once upon the heads and shoulders of the happy and contented you to any one, save old Pluto, for warmth.

Yours, &c., Caledonia, Dec. 21st, '66. G. L. V.
