TO ADVERTISERS. Persons who wish their advertisements to reac the greatest number of persons, will do well to avail mselves of the superior inducements offered through the columns of the Columna Spy. It posses es large advantage over any other newspaper; its average weekly circulation being more than thirty per cent greater than any other paper published in this vicinity, and promises to be more than one hundred per cent. greater, in less than six months. In addition to this, the patrons of the Srx are of the class that advertisers wish to reach—liberal minded, and intelligent people, thereby making it the most lesirable medium for all classes of advertisers. This fact should have a great weight with advertisers.

THE LITTLE PEOPLE COMING.-Com. Foote and Sister and Col. Small, assisted by atalented troupe of vocalists and instrunentalists, will give three of their unique entertainments at the Odd Fellows' Hall, Wednesday evening and Thursday afterioon and evening, May 29th and 30th. The ollowing is from the Baltimore Gazette: "In all our experience—by no means a limited one—we have never come across such an extraordinary and novel exhibition as that of Messrs. Ellinger & Foote, the first performance of which was given in the spacious Hall of the Maryland Institute, last evening. It is, in fact, a rare combination, by which the curiosities of all classes may be gratified, while the finerfeelings of our nature are pleasantly refreshed by strains of harmony that fall ravishingly upon the ear. Never before, perhaps, was a combination of so very diminutive people thrown together. Com. We are not familiar with all the causes which contribute to this state of affairs, and if we were it would be practically useless to talk

But undoubtedly a good reason for the enormous expense of house-keeping in this ountry is the ignorance of our people in regard to the economy of cooking and selecting articles of food. And if it is of little use to try to discover the reasons for the present excessive prices of provisions, so much the more should they lead people to inquire how the articles obtained at so dear prices can be prepared for the table in a cheap and at the same time acceptable way. If we cannot economise in the purchase, at least, we can in the use; and if we can learn to nake a dear article go twice as far as one for which we formerly paid half as much we are in reality, living as cheaply as be-

SOLDIERS' ORPHANS .--- The soldiers' phans, connected with the Mount Joy Soldiers' Orphan School, were in town, on Thursday and Friday, of this week, and gave two of their excellent entertainments During their stay, the boys made several parades in our streets, headed with martial music, and they indeed presented a fine and real soldier-like appearance-kept step and marched amazingly well. They are uniformed according to the regular State style-gray pantaloons, blue jackets, &c. Their exhibition, on Thursday evening, was held in Odd Fellows Hall, large and attentive audience. On Friday evening they exhibited in the public school building, on Cherry street, and were also greeted with a large audience. The exercises were conducted in a very creditable manner, and reflects well upon both teachers and scholars. The school numbers 118 scholars-39 females and 79 males,-95 of the scholars being present. We were pleased to see the interest some of our citizens manifested in behalf of the little ones, by entertaining them at their homes during their stay here The school is under the charge of Mr.

MECHANICS.—There is, in all parts of he country, a general complaint of the want of Mechanics—especially those engaged in building. Carpenters, Stonecutters, Bricklayers, Masons, Plasterers, are in demand everywhere, and work is waiting in almost every town for workmen to do it. And yet in the midst of this, we see young menstout and able-bodied-enquiring for employment in stores, in places as school teach ers, or in some light business of fancied gentility.

If these young men could bring themselves to understand that the calling of a good mechanic is always respectable, and a skillful mechanic more than merely respectable, and like sensible men, learn some of these traces, mey would render society service by their useful labor, and would place themselves in a position of independence, that would far exceed anything they are likely to attain in the light and genteel callings they are crowding so unprofitably. Let a young man who is heart sick, with the disappointments he encounters in seeking genteel employment, or ashamed of being a burden at home, set about learning a trade, and he will find immediate employment, and feel respectable in the con sciousness that he is doing something of use, while he fits himself to enter the world with the ability to make a livelihood independently of the changes of time, or vicissitudes of trade. The man whose skill is wanted, never wants the means of living. The true idea is to choose the business in which the man is wanted, more than he wants the place. He then has command of the situation, and can set his own price upon his services. But when a man wants employment more than he is wanted, he is slave to the situation. This is a view of the subject that we commend to our young men all over this country, where there is such a disposition to get agencies, and peddle in some way-or "make a living without work" by labor and anxiety tenfold more painful and wearing upon soul and body than steady mechanical labor.

Police Cases.—The following cases were before Samuel Evans, Esq.

Trorer and Conversion.—George W. Caley brought sail against Henry Attman to recover possession of eight geese. It appeared, however, that two of the geese returned to the premises of the plaintiff a few days ago. After hearing some twenty-tive witnesses as to the ownership of the geese, in question, the plaintiff failed to establish his claim to any but the two, having possession of the followed fifty cents dumages. The defendant plucked them whilst they were in his possession, which the plaintiff proceeded to do, and allowed fifty cents dumages. The defendant had to pay fourteen dollars and eighty-four cents costs; also, we infer than on one connected with the case gained anything but the Constable and Justice, amost of the witnesses were "pilots" or "steersmen" on the river. Goose feathers in Washington, b. c., are a dear article.

The sentence would then read thus: There are three things that are never satisfied; yea five things say it is not enough—the grave, and the barren womb, the earth that is not filled with water, the fire, and the Examiner and Herald that is not filled with the Mercantile Appraiser's list, and paid for, saith not. Mr. Editor:—This season, which is just now opening, bids fair to be one of the most exciting that our National game is likely ever to know. This place sports some five or six very good clubs, at present, athough one was disbanded a few days since, (the Shawnee.) A new club has recently been formed, styled the "Mutual," and is composed principally of the gentlemen who were led from the "Columbia," wholly by one Clark, and with the exand is composed principally of the gentlemen who were led from the "Columbia," wholly by one Clark, and with the expectation that a certain crack player would join with them and be their pitcher. Now this Clark had gained for himself a little notoriety last season, whilst playing with the "Columbia," and this season, became conceited, so much so that he thought he could run the club himself; but being taught otherwise, became indignant and resigned.
His influence reached this far—a few members were lost, but without whom the club will suffer no drawback whatever, as we learn several new members have been secured in their stend. Despite all the petty doings and howling of these aforesaid gentlemen, the "Columbia" is still on her leys, and expects so to be until knocked off, to accomplish which would be no ensy task.
Are not some of the truants sore? and would they not crawl back again, had they dare? Selah! FLY-CATCHER.
