For County Treasurer.

We are authorized to announce the name of WILLIAM ROBERTS, of West Hempfield, as a candidate for County Treasurer, before the Union Republican County Convention, subject to the decision of said Convention.

The "Dauville Times" Again.

Some weeks ago we indited a very mild article in reply to an invitation, or rather request, from the "Danville Times," that we would send a colony of Pennsylvanians to Virginia to help what is left of the "Mother of Presidents," in the work of renewing the State and repairing the damages of the war, &c. The Times in its issue of July 27th devotes a leader of a column and a half to a reply, in which it accuses us of the unmanly act of "beating a fellow after he has hollowed enough," &c., &c. Now we boldly deny the charge and sustain the denial thus: we are not disposed to dispute or even to doubt the perfect good faith of the Times in all it says and promises with regard to the inducements to Northern men to emigrate to Virginia, and the treatment they will receive when there, but we are disposed to doubt the reliability of its sources of information when he promises a "hearty welcome" to those who remove from the North to the flames in Virginia. It is scarcely a week since we read of a meeting in one of the southern counties of that State, at which it was resolved to encourage the emigration of Northern laborers, but that the sale of land to Northern men should be discontinued, until the spirit that dictated that resolution, we are sorry—extremely sorry—to see, prevails extensively to the great detriment of the South—it shows a repugnance to affiliation upon terms of equality with Northerners which will have to be got rid of before the country can become one in heart and feeling, which perfect oneness is essential to a proper and full development of the resources of the country, North and South, but especially of the South. The South has suffered most by the war, and therefore stands in most need of repair, and consequently can least afford to throw any obstacles in the way of that repair. Let the Times convince the people of the North that the PEOPLE of the South feel towards them as the Times professes to, (and we do not doubt its professions,) and we of the Columbia "SPY" will promise an emigration of hardy, industrious, intelligent farmers from Pennsylvania—many of them from Lancaster County—who will be a valuable addition to the population of that war-trodden State—valuable in more ways than one, not only increasing the numerical strength of the State, but improving the husbandry in many ways, and thus increasing the productiveness of the soil; the change in political sentiment that would follow a large importation of the constituents of "Old Thad," we won't touch upon.

But, Dear Times, "if we have a propensity in the world" it is for fairness in argument, fairness in quoting the words of an opponent, and not only the words, but the spirit—and most of all we do like a man to quote himself correctly.

In your last issue you say, in referring to the article—our reply to which you are now deprecating—"we expressed our apprehensions that in some localities the government would pass into the hands of ignorant people who could not read," and you go on to say that that furnished the "SPY" with a good opportunity to chastise us," &c., &c. Now you were not expressing apprehensions that the government would fall into the hands of ignorant people, but into the hands of the blacks; there has never been any "apprehension" expressed in South Carolina not even in Virginia on that subject heretofore, although it is notorious that there were districts in both those States prior to the Rebellion, a majority of the voters of which were of that "ignorant class"—but white—and we had a right to ask the very pertinent question—"How comes it that a majority of your people cannot read?" Now we don't expect that a whole people shall be educated to entirely new ideas in a month or a year, but we do know that until the people of the SOUTH—we mean the entire South, for our farmers are not, as a class, versed in very minute geography—are educated to respect honest labor, and to receive to social fellowship and equality the men who earn their bread thereby, and also learn to set a somewhat higher value upon human life, no large emigration can be expected from this section of the State; the murder of the Zook brothers is still fresh in the minds of the citizens of Lancaster Co., and they don't stop to ask whether it occurred in Mississippi or Virginia—they only know that it occurred in the South.

As regards your historical reminiscences, Mr. Times, you are all right, and we don't take issue with you—only we can't for the life of us see what it has to do with the case. And now, finally lastly, and by way of conclusion, in all sincerity and friendship, as heartily desiring the welfare of our entire country as you possibly can, we say to you, friend Times, go on in the good work of conciliating the two sections; do you educate your section into the proper spirit of receiving emigrants from the North, and we will repeat the promise that as soon as they give the proper evidence that you have so educated them, we will send you the "colony," and such a colony too as even Virginia may well be proud of.

Now, friend Times, we ain't so far apart after all, are we?

Benefits of Advertising.

The benefits to be derived from a proper course of advertising cannot be appreciated too highly. It gives publicity to the business of private individuals, and affords the public information in regard to the nature of one's business and the articles offered for sale. Let the merchant abstain from advertising, and he looses half his custom. Buyers are not supposed to search out those who are anxious to sell in order to make their purchases, but the sellers must endeavor to ferret out the buyers, and keep them informed of every addition to their stock. The medium offered for this purpose is the newspaper, those of that class circulating the most generally and extensively are the ones to be desired, and are, on the whole, the proper mediums. It is necessary that local papers should be the first on whom to bestow patronage, as they answer as daily statements of the wares received, and offered. If, however, the merchant wishes to extend his trade into sections where other papers circulate more extensively, a share of the patronage should also be extended to them.

Nothing was ever yet lost by advertising. Business cannot be transacted without it. The growth and prosperity of trade would be retarded without its undeniable influence. Transactions would then be confined to the immediate vicinity of the merchants, were it not for the aid, as it were, noising abroad the advantages they offer, which it is said he offers, amounting to one and the same thing. This is a noticeable fact that those merchants, even in our own community, who advertise the most extensively, and in the proper style, do a business far exceeding in magnitude that of their more narrow-minded and penurious competitors.

We would say to all, then, advertise, both liberally and without reserve, and we will guarantee that success will follow.

MODERN CHRONICLES.

From James to Andrew.

CHAPTER III.

JAMES.

Now the chief men of the tribe of De Mocrats were Fernandiwud, Benwud, Frankpierce, Garretdavis, Val-Andig. Ham, Florence, Vor Hees, Do Little, Hu Nt, Tha-Yer and likewise Jimlane.

And it came to pass that when they were gathered together in the tabernacle at Ne Wyork, one of the young men of the tribe related unto them a vision, and this was the vision which came unto him:

"A sleep as of death came over me and I was as one who dieth, and lo! in my vision I beheld a deep and dark river which was the boundary between this world and the world to come, and this river, every one who dieth must go therein, and like unto the Dead sea were the waters thereof.

And it came to pass that I saw in my vision men whose backs bore no burden pass safely over, but those who were burdened sank according to the weight thereof. And the other bank was as Heaven, but the dominions of Satan were below the dark waters.

And I saw on the bank an hundred and three score thousand devils who cast upon the backs of those who essayed to cross the river, their failings, and weaknesses, and iniquities.

And the first whom I saw enter the flood was John, the Ken-Tuck-Ian, and upon his back wore he a bladder which being filled with gas, might keep his head above water, and the inscription which I saw upon the bladder was "State Rights," but a multitude of devils pricked the bladder with sharp points and the gas went out from it, and the stench thereof was grevious to the smell; the waters parted and received him and as he sank they cast at him stones inscribed "Treason," "Perjury," and "Murder."

James, the Sage, went next when an exceeding great stone inscribed "Treason," struck him and he sank in the twinkling of an eye.

Val-Andig. Ham went down to the waters and I was amazed that he sank quickly, yet no stones were cast at him. And Satan spake unto me and said:

"The weight which sinketh him he carrieth on his soul, no need hath he of stones cast upon him."

Frankpierce essayed to cross, but when he beheld the devils and the inscriptions upon the stones, he trembled and was afraid, but the devils cast themselves upon him and bound to each leg a weight inscribed "Kansas," and cast him in and I saw the waters close over him.

Garretdavis went in and passed over in safety. I inquired concerning him, when Satan answered:

"He is not accountable; he harangues the gatherings in the tabernacle and knoweth not when the end is come. Taking thought, peradventure, I could sink him, but I yearn not for his speech-making in my dominions for who can foretel the end thereof."

Fernandiwud and Benwud approached with exceeding boldness, when Satan commanded the inexperienced devils to fall back; at Benwud he cast a package of the Ne Wyork "News," and I saw a wave wash over him and he sank.

Fernandiwud approached nigh unto the heavenly shore, when Satan cast manifold stones upon him inscribed "Lotteries" and "Riots," and lo! the waters received him quickly.

And I awoke.

Now the De Mocrats marvelled greatly at the vision and at the interpretation thereof, and were sore afraid and departed from the tabernacle with fear and trembling.

And it came to pass that the end of the reign of James the Sage drew nigh, and he made a covenant with the people who were of the South, and betrayed the people of the North into their hands, and he was cursed of them for evermore.

And again the people gathered together in the tabernacle and cast lots for a ruler, the De Mocrats and the Re Publicans, and the Re Publicans chose Abraham, surnamed the Just, for their ruler, for he was a good and just man and kindly withal.

END OF CHAPTER III.

Indian Outrages.

During the rebellion newspaper readers, as well as newspaper publishers, were greatly annoyed with false news, and the stories of reliable gentlemen and intelligent contrabands. Bad as that was, however it was scarcely as great an embarrassment and nuisance as the daily and almost hourly conflict in the manufactured rumors from Mexico. But even Mexican news is less unreliable than the reports from our frontier about Indian outrages and massacres. Take, for example, the shocking story telegraphed over the country last Friday, of the massacre of the Catholic Bishop of Santa Fe, with ten clergymen, and the capture of six sisters of charity by the Indians near Fort Larned. This story sent a thrill of horror into every household where it was read, and must have thrown the families of those alleged to have been murdered and captured in the deepest affliction. It turns out now there is every reason to disbelieve the statement.

Fort Larned is but forty-five miles distant from Fort Harker, and news of such an occurrence would naturally have reached that point earlier than any other in this direction, for there is a good garrison at Larned, and two military posts between there and Harker, and yet nothing is known of such an occurrence at the last named place. Gen. Sherman was at Harker at the time the massacre is said to have been committed, and remained there until the following Sunday, and he writes to the St. Louis Republican that nothing had been heard of it there. Nothing was known even of the existence of a train of priests and nuns. The story would thus appear to be one of the numerous fabrications intended to stir up the war feeling against the Indians and hostility to the military commanders in General Sherman's department. The proceedings of Generals Hancock, Custer, and Sheridan, in their endeavors to quiet the wishes of the traders who make money, first by selling whiskey, powder and rifles to the Indians, thus by their swindling and extortions stirring them up to acts of savage revenge, and then by speculating in supplies and the transportation for the large bodies of troops it is necessary to place in the field to carry on an Indian war.

Of the same character with this story of the massacre of the priests and the capture of the sisters of charity, were the reports of the massacre at Fort Buford, the destruction of the steamboat Miner, and the killing of General Custer. The best plan in such cases is to disbelieve all stories of Indian atrocities until confirmed. It is a standing rule in this office to distrust them until they are undoubtedly corroborated.—Philadelphia Ledger.

How True.

Jones, of the Jersey Shore Vidette, has been visiting Monmouth Hillsdale, and thus speaks of the morals and political standing of that pleasant little city:

In point of morals the city is not excelled by any place of equal size that I have ever seen. I have been here a week, have traversed every part of the city and have not seen a drunken man, have not seen a man take a drink, not a place where drink could be had, though I presume, there are such places. There is not a liger beer saloon in the city. There are nine churches, including two colored. From what I have stated you will naturally infer that the city gives a large Republican majority, which is the fact. It would be strange were it otherwise. On Sunday last I attended a Union Sunday School meeting in one of the public halls of the city. The attendance was quite large, and the address on the general subject was delivered by Mr. Pinn, who is the general agent of the State Society. Other speakers also took part, one of whom stated that there were two townships in the county in which Sunday Schools had not been organized in consequence of there being no religious person in the townships to take charge of them. Turning to a friend at my elbow I remarked that I would be willing to bet that those two townships gave a Democratic majority. He repeated the remark to a friend next to him, well they began, as Nasby would say, to "hurl immoderitly." Upon inquiring what it was that excited their mirth they informed me that the township in question were almost unanimously Democratic and never but the only townships in the county that give a Democratic majority.

DR. WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY.

Where this article is known it is a work of supererogation to say one word in its favor, so well is it established as an unfailing remedy for Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Croup, Whooping Cough, Asthma, diseases of the Throat, Chest, and Lungs, as well as that most dreaded of all diseases, Consumption, which high medical authority has pronounced to be a curable disease. Those who have used this remedy know its value; those who have not, have but to make a single trial to be satisfied that of all others it is the remedy.

THE REV. JACOB SECHLER, well known and much respected among the German population of this country, writes as follows:—

HANOVER, Pa., Feb. 16, 1859.

Messrs. S. W. Fowle & Son, Boston. Dear Sirs.—Having realized in my family important benefits from the use of your valuable medicine—Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry—it affords me pleasure to recommend it to the public. Some eight years ago, one of my daughter's seemed to be in a decline, and little hopes of her recovery were entertained. I then procured a bottle of your excellent balsam, and before she had taken the whole of it there was a great improvement in her health. I have, in my individual case, made frequent use of your valuable medicine, and have always been benefited by it. I would, however, caution the public against imposition, because there is a good deal of spurious Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry afloat throughout the country. JACOB SECHLER.

None genuine unless signed "I. BUTTS," on the wrapper.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP.

This great medicine cured Dr. J. H. Schenck, the proprietor, Pulmonary Consumption, when it had assumed its most formidable aspect, and when speedy death appeared inevitable. His physicians pronounced his case incurable, when he commenced the use of this simple but powerful remedy. His health was restored in a very short time, and no return of the disease has been apprehended, for all the symptoms quickly disappeared, and his present weight is more than one hundred pounds.

Since his recovery he has devoted his attention exclusively to the treatment of Consumption. Dr. Schenck's PULMONIC SYRUP, SEA WEED TONIC and MANDRAKE PILLS are generally all required in curing Consumption. Full directions accompany each, so that any one can use them without seeing Dr. Schenck, but when it is convenient it is best to see him. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with the Respirometer his fee is three dollars.

Please observe when purchasing that the two likenesses of the Doctor in the last stage of Consumption and the other as he now is, the perfect health are on the Government stamp.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,

IS a concentrated extract of the choice root, so combined with other substances of still greater alterative power as to afford an effectual antidote for diseases Sarsaparilla is reputed to cure. Such a remedy is surely wanted by those who suffer from Strumous complaints, and that one which will accomplish their cure must prove, as this has proved, of immense service to this large class of our afflicted fellow-citizens. How completely this compound will do it, has been proven by experiment on many of the worst cases to be found in the following complaints:—

Scrofula, Scrofulous Swellings and Sores, Skin Diseases, Pimples, Blotches, Eruptions, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter or Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, &c.

Syphilis or Venereal Disease is expelled from the system by the prolonged use of this SARSAPARILLA, and the patient is left in comparative health.

Female Diseases are caused by Scrofula in the blood, and are often soon cured by this EXTRACT OF SARSAPARILLA.

Do not reject this invaluable medicine, because you have been imposed upon by something pretending to be Sarsaparilla, while it was not. When you have used AYER'S—then, an! not till then, will you know the virtues of Sarsaparilla. For minute particulars of the diseases it cures, we refer you to Ayer's American Almanac, which two agent below named will furnish gratis to all who call for them.

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS, for the cure of Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism, Heartburn arising from Disordered Stomach, Pain in Morbid Inaction of the Bowels, Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, and as a Dinner Pill, are unequalled.

They are sugar coated, so that the most sensitive can take them with pleasure, and they are the best Aperient in the world for all the purposes of a family physic.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. AYER & CO., Lowell, Mass., and sold by all Druggists and dealers in medicine everywhere. [june 15-2mo.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP.

This great medicine cured Dr. J. H. Schenck, the proprietor, Pulmonary Consumption, when it had assumed its most formidable aspect, and when speedy death appeared inevitable. His physicians pronounced his case incurable, when he commenced the use of this simple but powerful remedy. His health was restored in a very short time, and no return of the disease has been apprehended, for all the symptoms quickly disappeared, and his present weight is more than one hundred pounds.

Since his recovery he has devoted his attention exclusively to the treatment of Consumption. Dr. Schenck's PULMONIC SYRUP, SEA WEED TONIC and MANDRAKE PILLS are generally all required in curing Consumption. Full directions accompany each, so that any one can use them without seeing Dr. Schenck, but when it is convenient it is best to see him. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with the Respirometer his fee is three dollars.

Please observe when purchasing that the two likenesses of the Doctor in the last stage of Consumption and the other as he now is, the perfect health are on the Government stamp.

Sold by all Druggists and Dealers. Price $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 the half dozen. Letters for advice should always be directed to Dr. Schenck's Principal Office, No. 15 North 6th street, Philadelphia, Pa.
