THE ELECTION. .

We have met the enemy, and we don't know as yet, whether we are theirs, or they ours. The contest is so close that the official returns alone can decide the matter. In twenty four hours from the date of our issue, it will be known whether the name of the child born on last Tuesday, is. Williams or Sharswood. We do not mean to halloo until we are out of the woods. We made a fair stand up fight and did all we In answer to numerous applications for could to bring about a different result. The OLD GUARD stands true to her colors, and is ready to do battle again for the right. If she don't make "Rome howl" one year from the present time, we are much mis-

Now we are not going to rail out against universal suffrage, and argue from this lefeat, if defeat it is, that the people of Pennsylvania are not capable of self-government, nor fit to be entrusted with the ballot; but we are going to say that tens of thousands of Republicans in the State absented themselves from the polls on Tuesday last, and by that means enabled the Traitors and Rebels to gain a doubtful vic-tory to which their numerical strength would not have entitled them; and to those we say, "you are not worthy of the elective franchise." We care not whose toes we tread upon while in the path of duty, and we do consider it our duty, in no measured or set terms, to denounce as little better than active foes, those who wear the uniform of our army and sleep upon their posts while the enemy are assaulting our lines. Our districts were carefully canvassed, and as far as numerical strength was concerned, the result was demonstrated to be be yond a peradventure, but through the apathy of some nominal Republicans, the enemy have been permitted to achieve a small victory, which will carry comfort and consolution to the hearts of the murderers of our kindred, and arouse the dormant hate of the subdued, but not repentant rebels of the South. Thousands of poor friendless freedmen in the South will date from this event the renewal of the tortures of the old days of the lash and the thumb Repudiation, with all its attendant evils of loss of National reputation, and loss of National self-respect, stare us boldly in the face. There is but one view of the case that offers any hope that good may come out of this great evil, and that is, that the bold, bad man who occupies the Presidential chair through the kind intervention of his friend Booth, (of ever accursed memory,) may, stimulated by bad whiskey, bad advisers, and the news of the result of the elections in Pennsylvania and Ohio, be tempted to commit some overt act of treason that will at once and forever stifle any qualms which some tender-stomached members of Congress may feel on the subject of impeachment.

That Johnson is wicked and unscrupulous enough to do anything, no one doubts-that he-is constantly surrounded by those who are almost as vile as himself and much more shrewd, no one doubts.
The only thing that has deterred him thus long from attempting some grand coup-detat, is the want of moral courage, (moral qualities are not his forte,) and it may be that the late elections will furnish him the necessary back-bone, in which case, we sitate to predict the result—to him-but we would take the liberty of repeating for his especial benefit, a little anecdote. When Stevenson, the great English rail road engineer, was laboring to get his scheme of propelling railway carriages by steam, ensed by the influential classes of England, a very pompous Baronet said to him:

"But, Mr. Stevenson, what would be the result if a bull-should happen to get upon "Oh! my lord," said Mr. S., "It would be a very bad thing-for the bull." The American people have entered up a career of glory; they have, through the agency of a long and bloody war-forced ipon them by the enemies of progress and of human freedom-stricken the shackles from the limbs of four millions of slaves and elevated them from chattledom to manhood-they have told the nations of the world that this is a government of the people, by the people, and for the people, and they intend to stand by that declaration, though it should cost a war, in comparison to which the one through which we have so triumphantly passed, would dwindle to the proportions of an insignificant skirmish. We have fought the war to a trlumphant result, and they intend to enjoy the fruits of their victory, despite the machinations of a perfidious Executive—backed up though he be, by all the Vallandighams, Reeds, &c., of the North, and all the Davis', Toombs, &c., of the South. They have borrowed vast sums to pay the soldiers who put down the rebellion, and they intend that the debt shall be paid, let the means of payment be obtained as they may.

A friend of ours was in conversation a few weeks since with a prominent Copperhead, who had made vast sums by government contracts during the war, -we won't conceal his name; it was ex-Congressman Dr. Ahl, of Cumberland county. The Doctor was boasting of the intention of the Democracy (?) to elect Sharswood "by a large majority." · Why, Doctor," said our friend, "I wonder at a man who has as many greenbacks as you have, to advocate the election of a man like Sharswood, who considers our national currency no better than so much rags, and is in favor of repudiating the national bonds." "Oh, I have no greenbacks," said the Doctor; "I have my money all invested in real estate." The Doctor is not alone in the care with which he has provided for the day of repudiation, but we say to all the friends of that damning scheme that the American people have determined that the debt shall be paid, even if it becomes necessary to levy upon and sell the "real estate" in which the profits of Government contractors have een so carefully invested, and the more they succeed in depreciating the surrency, the more of their "real estate" will be required to liquidate the debt. Despite the apparent cheerlessness of the prospect-we say again—the American people are on the track of progress, and if an obstacle should happen to be on the track, why it will be a bad thing-for the obstacle-whether that obstacle should happen to take the shape of Andrew Johnson, "or any other man."

SOME FOLKS CAN'T SLEEP NIGHTS.

Very many suffer from general debility, other from weakness of the stomach and inability to digest their food: some have creeping sensations along the nerve fibres, or pain in the back, with aching and weary throbbing of the limbs. Thousands of ladies suffer through long years from what are called Female Complaints, caused by the relaxation of muscle and ligament that attend dedicioney of vital force. Thousands of business men, overworked in mind and body, use up the nervous thrid and become unfit for duty or the enjoyments of life. Excesses in youth, and the terrible effects of fever and ague, involve shattered constitutions and the failure of the general functions of health. To sufferers from all

MEDICAL.

Messas, Epirons: No doubt many of your enders have been surprised to learn that Dr. B. Hartman, a member of the medical fratern-ly, has connected himself with the manufacture an article which has been classed as a Paten edicine. We feel that simple justice not only to the pairons of the preparation and the Doctor himself, but to the public at large, demands that ome explanation of the causes which have induced him to engage in the manufacture of an article which, although it has received the enlorsement of many of the most eminent physicians in the country, has still been classed as a

Some six years ago, Mr. Benjamin Mishler ompounded a small quantity of a certain pre-aration, for the use of some of his friends. The benefits resulting from its use were such, that the demand for the article became so great as to warrant Mr. Mishler in manufacturing in larger and still larger quantities, until now the business of preparing MISHLER'S HERB BITTERS, as he named the compound) and the building ecessary to carry on the same, has become one of the prominent features of Lancaster city. It was only to be expected that the introduction of an article, the preparation of which was kept eeret by the Proprietor, although the ingredients were made known, should meet with opposition rom Physicians, who, though well aware of the rirtnes of the various Herbs, &c., used, yet aturally looked with suspicion on a medicine he mode of compounding which they were in ignorance. The success that it met with, however, could not long be denied. Hundreds of persons who had, after long trial, discarded medical treatment, were speedily restored to health by the use of the Bitters: and many physicians were forced irst to admit that MISHLER'S HERB BITTERS did possess remedial virtues peculiar to itself, and eventually to countenance its use by their patients, and in many instances to prescribe it. Among the most strennous opponents of MISH-LER'S HERB BITTERS, was Doctor S. B. Hartnan, of Millersville, a physician of twelve years experience, possessing a large and lucrative practice, and enjoying a reputation as a Surgeon and Physician second to none in the country. He had met, on many occasions, instances in which he was told that MISHLER'S HERB BITTERS had effected cures when regular medial treatment had failed; but it was reserved for the case of Mrs. Amos Stauffer, of Manor two., to cause him first to give the matter serious consideration. The facts are substantially as fol-MRS. AMOS STAUFFER, the wife of a miller.

and the mother of six children, had been com-plaining for some months of a shortness o reath. At first she observed this only when after having exerted herself more than usual. In a short time, however, she found herself com-pelled to sit down and rest, after the least exertion. She could not run up stairs as she had been accustomed to, or make the beds or sweep the rooms without resting herself. Still she did not think herself sick, as in every other respect she telt as well as over, but her strength coutinued to give way, getting weaker and weaker day by day, with fugitive pains through her breast to the shoulder-blade, until at last she was so troubled with shortness of breath and coughing that she was compelled to keep her room. At this stage of her complaint she sent for Dr. S. B. Hartman, then the family physician. The Doctor found her as above described, and, on inquiry, was informed that several of her sisters had died with consumption, and her parents, as well as her grand-parents, had died of the same disease showing conclusively that the disease was hered-itary. On percussion, (generally called sounding the breast, by the people,) Dr. Hartman dicovered great duliness in the upper lobe of the left lung, and also in the upper and middle lobes of the right lung. On laying his ear to her chest he found that the respiratory murmur, which is the healthy sound, had entirely disappeared, and that the bronchial sounds were as plainly and distinctly heard over the regions of those affected lobes, as the least scratch of a pin at one end of a board is heard by pressing the ear close y to the other end; or as plainly as it would have been heard could the car have been placed lirectly against the outer surface of the traches and bronchial tubes. This was conclusive evidence that the upper lobes of the lungs were filled with matter, which rendered them so olid that no air could enter those parts. Pro-essor Watson, in speaking of this condition of he lungs to his class, remarked that, "In th stage the lungs would cut with a knife like English cheese, with here and there soft spots erculous matter, and that a cure from the pres ent state of medical science could not be effected. at least not expected with any degree of cer ainty; and in consequence of this unfavorab onclusion, he at once suggested to the husband the propriety of sending for some other Physi-cian for consultation. Dr. Henry Carpenter, of ancaster, who has an enviable reputation in iseases of this nature, was accordingly sent for hey metand agreed upon a course of treatment. nd did all they could, but in vain. She grew vorse and worse until she was reduced to a merc skeleton; the pulse 140, with excessive expectoration and diarrhea, with such difficulty of breath ing that, though in cold winter, she had to be laid near the open window, her whole appearance so haggard and emaciated that her death was expected every moment. While in this and that they had done all that could be one, and that she must die.

The consulting Physician retired, leaving her of the case of the Family Physician, (Dr. Hartman), who withdrew all medicine, preferring to cave her to nature. At this stage of the disease, she whisnered to her husband, that she would like a few drops of MISHLER'S HERB BITTERS. Happening to have some in the house, he gave her a small quantity, which she took. She immediately, as she afterwards described it, felt a pleasing in-vigorating sensation throughout her entire system; and being encouraged by her neighbor. (among whom was C. B. Herr, Esq., President of the Lancaster County National Bank, a gentle-man who'ls always very attentive whenever his duty and assistance as a Christian and a neighbor are required) she kept on taking the Bitters, gradually increasing the dose as her strength allowed, until she recovered her perfect health. From the time she commenced taking the HERB BITTERS, she never took a grain of any other medicine. She now, weighs 100 hs. and onloys excellent health.

The writer saw Mr. Herr to-day, who assured him that a more perfect cure was never effected—and that Mrs. Staufer considers MISHLERS HERB BITTERS the most useful medicine in existence. duty and assistance as a Christian and a neigh-

HERB BITTERS the most useful mediane in existence.

These nets occurring directly within Doctor Hartman's own practice first icd him to investigate the subject and to ascertain it possible whether or not the long list of cures claimed to have been effected by MISHLER'S HERB BITTERS were really as represented. In making his researches he called on and saw about one hundred different parties who had at various times used MISHLER'S HERB BITTERS with good results and found that not only were the facts amply substantiated but not half had been told. The parties he saw referred him to hundreds whose names have never been given to the pholic, and among them he found many of his old patients, who plainly told him that they owed their present healthy condition solely to the merits of MISHLER'S HERB BITTERS.

These facts convinced the Doctor that these Bitters possessed more healing and ciralive virtue than any other preparation now known, and the opportunity occurring, he became the rurchaser of the Proprietorship of the Preparation. Once convinced by undoubted evidence that MISHLER'S HERB BITTERS was really what the former Proprietor had claimed it to be, Dr. Hartman and his partners, Messrs, Brown and Patton, (both of whom had been connected with the business with Mr. Mishler) set about reorganizing and refitting the establishment. The result of their labors will be seen in the neatness and order everywhere visible.

MISHLER'S HERB BITTERS is not and neve was intended to be used as a Beverage, but the present proprietors do assert, and the people sus tain them in so doing, that it is the very been medical preparation ever offered to the public. medical preparation ever offered to the public.

The ingredients which enter into its composition have already been given to the world; we can only say that in the future none but the purest Spirit of Rye (itself a valuable medicine in prudent hands) will be used in extracting the virtues and properties of the Herbs and Roots. The manner of their preparation added and equalized by the Pharmaceuticul skill of Dr. Hartman will be rendered so perfect that no variation whatever in the quality of the preparation can possibly occur. These Bitters will be found in every Drug Store in the land, as the proprietors intend devoting their attention solely to this trade, thus placing it within the ready reach of all, not as a beveruge, but properly put up with explicit directions for use, as a Bitter Siomachic, Tonic and Blood Purifyer, to be used in sickness and as a means of preventing the same. How frequently do we feel an oppression caused, it may be, by over-exertion, or by in-door confinement, imprudence in eating or drinking, or exposure to a draught of cold air when in excessive prespiration. In all of these cases a dose of MISHLER'S HERB BITTER'S should be taken to, counteract the cause, and prevent disease.

Dr. Hartman has already had ample opportunity to counteract the cause, and prevent disc Dr. Hartman has already had ample opporture of testing the efficacy of the Bitters in cases culiar to this season of the year, such as Choi Morbus, Summer Complaint, Diarrhea, It gestion, Dyspepsia, Intermitted and Billions yers, Chillis and Fever, Neuralgia, Rheumati-&c, and declares himself astonished at the sults.

He has opened an office in the manufactory where he is daily consulted both personally an by letter. In all cases where MISHLER'S HERB BIT FERS is prescribed, no charge is made for advice It is the alm of the proprietors to place this preparation in the position which it should rightfully occupy, for most among the remedial agents of the day, had as far as possible removed from the vile compounds which are conjocited and sold as beverages in every bar-room throughout the land.

The character of MISHLER'S HERR BITTERS is in good hands, and on ly needs the protection of being placed beyond the reach of adulteration to become THE REMEDY of America! We understand that Dr. Hartman will shortly give publicity to the formula of its preparation in order to disabuse the minds of the medical fraternity of any prejudice that may exist against the method of its preparation, sept. 21, '67. THEIR FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS AS AN INVESTMENT.

The rapid progress of the Union Pacific Railroad, now building west from Omaha, Nebraska, and forming, with its western connections, an unbroken line across the continent, attracts attention to the value of the First Mortgage Bonds which the Company now offer to the public. The first question asked by prudent investors is, "Are these bonds secure?" Next, "Are they a profitable investment?" To reply in brie!

Ist. The early completion of the whole great line to the Pacific is ascertain asany future business event can be. The Government grant of over twenty million acres of land and fitty million dollars in its own bonds practically guarantees it. One fourth of the work is already done, and the track continues to be laid at the rate of two miles a day.

2d. The Union Pacific Railroad bonds are issued upon what promises to be one of the most prontable lines of railroad in the country. For many years it must be the only line connecting the Atlantic and Pacific; and being without competition, it can maintain remuerarity rates.

3d. 425 miles of this road are finished, and fully equipped with depots, locomotives, cars, &c., and two indies are daily running each way. The materials for the remaining the mished, and fully equipped with depots, locomotives, cars, &c., and it is under contract to be done in September.

4th. The net earnings of the sections already inished are served times greater than the gold interest upon the First Mortgage Bonds upon such sections, and if not another mile of the road were built, the part already completed would not only pay interest and expenses, but be profitable to the Ecompany.

5th. The Union Pacific Railroad bonds can be issued only as the road progresses, and they represent the members they represent the members they represent the members they be the tone were built to member the toness. Sth. The Union Pacific Railroad bonds can be issued only as the road progresses, and therefore can never be in the market unics, they represent a bona fide property.

6th. Their amount is strictly limited by law to a sum equal to what is granted by the U.S. Government, and for which it takes a necond lien as its security. This amount upon the first 517 miles west from Omaha is only 546,000 per mile.

7th. The fact that the U.S. Government considers a second lien upon the road a good investment, and that some of the shrewdest railroad builders of the country have already paid in five million dollars upon the stock (which is to them a third flen,) may well inspire confidence in a first lien. a time hen,) may wen inspire confidence in a first lieu.
