Corruption of Revenue Officers. The report upon whisky frauds, made by the Congressional Retrenchment Committee, makes some very serious charges against the President. It accuses him distinctly of retaining in office, despite the protestations of the Secretary of the Treasury and the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, corrupt officers, who connived at the enormous frauds by which the people's Trensury has been cheated of not less than one hundred and fifty millions of dollars.

one hundred and fifty millions of dollars. The report says:

"A revenue collector in New York city called upon a collector and stated to him he could furnish an opportunity where each could make five thousand dollars a month. The collector assured him he would be glad for the opportunity if legitimate. The proposition, as submitted, contemplated taking whisky out of bond for exportation, substituting water for shipment, and putting the whisky on the market. With evidence of the guilty proposition, the collector reported the case to the department, and the dishonest inspector was retained, not with the approbation of Mr. Bollins or the Secretary of the Trensury."

Again, it makes this charge: "Plundering by officials has been encouraged. Some friends of the President from Washington, called on collectors and assessors, in the fall of 1866, requesting from each a contribution of $5,000, when it was known that the annual salary of each, if honest, did not much exceed that sum. Was not that an intimation that an attempt on their part to obtain more than the legal salary would not be severely criticised at headquarters? In one district the collector made the distillers pay tribute, and the $5,000 was real-not be severely criticised at headquarters? In one district the collector made the distillers pay tribute, and the $5,000 was realized. Who has any doubt that that was a paying investment?"

Again, the Committee reports that the President "had appointed a cotton agent, a gentloman formerly from Tennessee, who seized some cotton, for which the owner sned the Government and obtained a portion; the Government compromised by paying an amount agreed upon; there was no preduce for any informer's share; yet Johnson cunningly suggests, intimates and calls the attention of the Secretary and others to the settlement of this man's claims, when he knew there could be no honest claims—rather than offend the Executive, his friend was allowed to take $68,000 from the Treasury.

Again, the report says: "The whisky ring is stronger than political combinations, controlling the selection of inspectors; in some instances it has dictated the appointment of consuls, to have a willing tool at foreign ports. In New York city, to-day, consular certificates can be obtained as easily as tax receipts."

Now, these are serious charges. If they are true, if they can be made good, if it is a

are true, if they can be made good, if it is a office corrupt men after their corruption had been exposed to him by his own subordinates, the Secretary of the Treasury and the Commissioner of Revenue, then, says the New York Post, here is ground for his impeachment and removal from office far better, far more serious than the mere technicality upon which the present impeachment hangs. If Mr. Johnson has done what this report says he has, he is responsible for the enormous whisky and other revenue frauds, and deserves punishment. At any rate, he and his two chief subordinates in the revenue department, the Secretary of the Treasury and the Commissioner of Revenue, are responsible to the people for the glaring non-enforcethe law; and if it is true, as this report asserts, that Mr. McCulloch and Mr. Rollins have been overruled in their acts by the President, and have been obliged by him to consent to the appointment or to them to be inefficient or corrupt, then they must share in the President's condemnation unless they expose his misconduct.

This report on revenue frauds is the most damaging Mr. Johnson has yet received; and if he cares for his character as a public officer or as a citizen, he will do well to try to make manifest to the public his innocence of the very serious crimes imputed to him.

The Whisky Ring Again. We last week called upon Messrs. Hiestand and Wiley to answer certain questions. As yet we have heard no response directly to our questions. But in Monday's Express in answer to some questions put upon unimportant matters, Mr. Wiley, in paragraph 6, says: "I am not aware of the existence of a whisky ring in this District. If there is, I defy any one to prove that I am a member, or have any knowledge of it." Don't be too certain, Mr. Wiley, about your tracks be ing so effectually covered that none can find em out. We again call upon you to answer our questions. Did you, on or about the beginning of Novemberlast, make an arrange ment with Frederick Schner, Charles U. · Kreider, and Bridegram, whereby they paid the sum of one thousand dollars to JOHN A. HIESTAND? Did you tell Charles U. Kreider since we published our first article upon whisky rings, that he had better not pay the thousand dollars thereafter, lest you might get into a scrape?

After Leonard seized Schner's whisky, did you go to him and tell him that they (meaning the various distillers) had better put their heads together and pay Leonard the sum of one thousand dollars to keep quiet? It won't do to "sing dumb" any longer Come forth like men, and if innocent publicly deny all complicity to defraud the government. If you do not, we will hammer away at you until you loose your hold upon Uncle Samuel's throat, and are driven into an ignominious obscurity.

Mr. Johnson's Defcuse. The plea that, we are told, the President intends to bring up before the Court of Impeachment, is that the court which tries him is in reality not what it pretends to bethe Senate of the United States. Here is the weak point in the armor wherein the Johnsonian spear is to be thrust. But what does it amount to? Suppose his plea were allowed? it wouldn't help his case every much. One of the first consequences his theory would be that Andrew Johnson is not lawfully President of the United States. If Congress is merely "a fragmen tary body hanging on the verge of the Government," because it don't represen the American citizens of Lee's and Johnston's armies, the Presidency is another fragment for the same reason. Johnson therefore, was illegally elected to an illegal office, and is no more President than "any other man," and don't need any impeach ment to remove him from an office that don't exist. In which case he sought to be conscientious enough not to draw $25,000 a year out of the "fragmentary" treasury of the so-called United States under such a confessedly false pretenso as that he is the

We therefore respectfully but postitively demand that, in your next issue, you publish a full, complete and unqualified retraction of the libeious intends of which we complain.

Yours, &c., J. R. BITNER & BRO.

We reactived the above letter a few days

We received the above letter a few days ago. It was written by another party, but signed in a bold, compact hand, by one of the Bitners. It purports to be a reply to the following interrogatory, which appeared in an article of an issue of the Sry, dated the 7th inst., namely: "How many barrels of whisky placed in their (the Messrs. Bitners') charge, have mysteriously turned into water?" After waiting nearly two weeks for a reply from the Messrs. B., the above came to hand.

We cannot but regret that they did not see proper to deny all knowledge of the matter. We do not believe that they have the miraculous power of turning whisky into water, but we only desired them to state (as they have not) that they had no knowledge of such a thing being done. When we wrote the article we had in our mind's eye the eighteen barrels of whisky which were seized in the vicinity of Maytown, in this county, and which, when inspected at Philadelphia, was water-whether the transfornation was made in transitu, or in that city we were unable to tell, hence we made the inquiry of those who might be likely to now more about the matter than ourselves. We did not say by whose agency the whisky was turned into water. We concede that the Messrs, Bitners are entirely blameless in the matter, in the absence of proof to the contrary. Thus much n reply to the above letter. And now, Messrs. Bitners, we want to know from you the name of the person or persons who nade the arrangement for the use of your ear which was sent to Chickies in which was shipped forty barrels of whisky, but nvoiced to a certain George Schaum (who and charge of the carl as corn. We also want to know why said car was not forfeited to the use of the government.

We want from you an answer to the above questions. If you fail to answer them we nerewith inform you that we can produce the evidence, conclusive and damning, as to the whereabouts the forty barrels of centraband whisky was loaded in your car, and who did it.

Senator Wade.

The Washington correspondent of the loston Post says that in conversation, on Thursday, Mr. Wade remarked that since the mpenchment of the President he had been o beset by office seekers that he had not : moment be could call his own. Mr. Wade ronounced as utterly without foundation the statements that he had any intention of resigning or that he had gone to Mr. Patter son of Tennessee and offered to pair off with him in all votes which might be taken during the impeachment trial. When asked what he thought of the defense as challenging his vote he replied that was not a matter personal to him but to the State of Ohio; that the Constitution gave every State in fact that that the President has kept in the Union two votes, and that Obio could not be deprived of her equal voice on this trial. The question was then put as to the right of the Southern States to be represented, when he replied that would admit of no discussion. The Senate by the full vote of all the Republican members would refuse to entertain any such question.

In its issue of February 29th, 1868, the Lancaster Inquirer, under the caption of 'Slander," proceeds in very choice and reined lauguage to take us to task for indulging in "unmanly inuendoes" against twe of the "individuals designated as delegates." After quoting an extract from ar name occurs, they proceeded to defend him and Houston, and went to calling us hard names like a very drab, which had about as much effect upon our nerves as a basin of water thrown upon a duck to drown it. Immirer of last Saturday, the 14th inst., the editors again appear, but they 'roost very low" and would like to impress noon their readers that our remarks alone applied to Mr. Houston. Why, Messrs Editors do you drop Mr. Wiley thus, so unceremoniously? are you afraid of getting your fingers burned? or have you learned that the odor of rascality clings to his

Perhaps a solution of this mean act in Mr Randall, can be found in that fact. We are very much mistaken if the good people at Bainbridge do not resent this outrage at the polls next November.

Grant and Victory. We observe that certain Democratic ournals attribute their defeat in New Hampshire to the fact that the Republicans of that State put Grant conspicuously for vard as the candidate of the party for the Presidency. Without the prestige of his name the election would have gone largely the other way. Suppose this to be conced ed, doesn't it occur to them that a like sult will follow the actual nomination of Grant all over the Northern States? It is an indirect admission that, with Grant at the head of the column, the Republicans will march on to certain victory.

American Silver in Canada. There is such a glut of American silve in Canada that the government of the Dominion has been memoralized to withdraw from circulation all the silver, at a liscount of four per cent.; and issue in its place one million dollars of Canadian silver, the remainder of the currency to be made up of paper money, in bills of not less than one dollar. We should be well pleased to see our silver come back- from Canada. There is said to be now about $7,000,000 worth of American silver in Canada; and a duty of fifteen per cent, has een imposed upon the importation of such ilver coin into the province.

Our Washington Correspondence.

Washington, March 18th, 1868.
Friend Rambo:—As the weather is generally considered to be the first topic of conversation, I will preface by stating that "Spring is upon us," and that the last few days have been beautiful indeed; or, as you say in Lancaster county, when you wish to express yourselves in a particularly strong manner, it has been, and still continues "elegant." The business of the city is at a stand-still, as it has been for some time; in fact a fearful stagnation seems to exist, and which extends to everything. The newspaper sensation paragraphists have been hard but to it for a day or two, on account of the dullness in news. In manufacturing "War Department scares," to supply their per diem quantum of the sensational, they fail to cultivate even plausibility. Whatever else may be said of Mr. Stanton, by his friends or his enemies, it is quite certain there is nothing "scary" in his composition. It is to be doubted if he ever had a tromor in his life. Certain it is, that in the most "panicky" days of the war, when Congressmen, Cabinet Officers, and even military men of well established courage, were pretty badly demoralized, and were looking around Washington—to use a familiar expression—like "hens with their heads off"—no man ever saw Mr. Stanton thrown off his balance for a single instant. The War Department is the last place in the world for the canarders to locate their "scares."

DEAR SPY:—The Ratification meeting held last week in the Academy of Music, was a grand success. Six thousand people are estimated to lawe been gathered together on the occasion in that spacious building. Mayor McMichael was the Chairman, and ex-Gov. Curtin, Senator Nye and Galusha A. Grow were some of the speakers. The remark of the first, that whether he were selected as Vice President by the Ropubliselected as Vice President by the Republican Convention or not, he would stand by his party, was worthy of the man and his high reputation. The second, who made such a noble and brilliant speech in the Senate some time ago, and who is one of the most noted men of his party, fully came up to the mark and delivered one of his most telling speeches. And the last who abject state, as when brought to this country. Here we behold him nude, deprived of all which tends to elate the heart, with any spirit of pride or independence. The any spirit of pride or independence. The second group represents a less abject stage. He is here partly clad, more enlightened, and hence, realizing his bondage, startles with a love of freedom. The third is the ransomed slave, redeemed from bondage by the blood of Liberty, who, having struck off his shackles, holds them triumphantly aloft. The slave is pictured gratefully bending at her feet.

Between these groups are three bas-reliefs, the first of which represents the firing on Fort Sunter; the other two present the Senate and House amending the Constitution. most noted men of his party, tany carned up to the mark and delivered one of his most telling speeches. And the last, who is well known as a polished orator as well as an able man, did not fall below his excellent standard. This meeting; a thorough contrast to the one held in Horticultural Hall some time ago upholding the usurping acts of Andrew Johnson, with the other meetings of like character that are being held all over the land, as well as the results of the late New Hampshire election, give a fair estimate of the feelings of the people in regard to Impeachment, Very few among the sensible people of the country oppose it, and hardly one of our prominent Republican newspapers do so. The only exception that I know of is the New York Times, but that can hardly be called a Republican newspaper.

The second story, first group, represents the Members of the Cabinet in Council, while Seward points towards Europe, as though explaining the importance of the act. The crowning figure is the President in the act of signing the Proclamation. At his feet are Liberty and Justice, while behind sits Time watching the hour-glass, missioned, as it were, from Heaven. It will require four syears constant labor to complete this monument from the time of commencement.

UNSOLICITED TESTIMONY.

From Andrew Ancher, Esq., of Fairfield, Me.

"About eight years since my son, Henry A. Archer, now Postmaster at Fairfield, Somersot county, Mc., was attacked with spitting of blood, cough, weakness of Lungs, and general debility, so much so that out family physician declared him to have a "Serte Consulption." He was under medical treatment for a number of months, but veseived no benefit from it. At length, from the solicitation of himself and others I was induced to purchase one bottle of WISTAR'S BAISAM OF WILD CHERRY, which benefited him so much I obtained another bottle, which in a short time restored him to his usual state of health. I think I can safely recommend this remedy to others in like condition, for it is, I think, all it purports to be—rus Great Lowa Resper year the Times! We began in 1881 to make improvements in the style and make of Heady Made Clothing, and continued to do so, introducing new styles and ideas every year, so that the entire char-acter of the business is now vustly better and totally different from the systems of older houses. Our first idea is to learn exactly WHAT THE CUSTOMERS WANY, and Instead of persuading him to buy what may be most conveniently at hand, we take the utmost pains to meet HIS wishes. The building we occupy is the MOST CONVENIENT SIZE, LARGEST AND REST ADAPTED for our business of any in Philadelphia

Cu-torners can see what they large in the corner of three large streets, like (. Sixth and Minor streets,) and the large like is afforded from all ditions. A light store is far better customers than a dark one. Merchants know that our sales are larger than those of any other house in Philadelphia, in our line: honce we have to buy larger quantities of goods, and so get them at lower prices, especially as we buy altogether for each. Buying cheapest, we can sell cheapest. We closely examine every inch of goods that comes into our Establishment, invariably rejecting all insperfect, moth caten and tender fabrics. The time wasted in looking over the stocks of a dozen stores can be avoided, for, under one roof, we offer for sale an assortment equal in variety and extent to that embraced by a score of the ordinary houses.

We have 600 hands employed in the manufacture of Clothing, who are constantly making upstock to take the place of that daily sold; this gives our customers new and fresh goods to make selections from. It is an undisputed fact that this Department, (a large Hall on our second floor fronting on Minor street,) has nothing in Philadelphia, to egual it. We have hare concentrated the best skill and yorkmanship, and those who prefer Clothing made to order really have advantages they do not receive elsewhere. DEDUCTIONS.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL

Is a soothing expectorant, prepared to meet the urgent need of a safe and reliable cure for diseases of the throat and langes. A trial of many years has established the fact, that it is more efficacious in pulmonary affectious, than any other remedy, the efficiency has now become so generally known, that it is justly regarded in many countries as a medicine of indispensable necessity. In Great Britain, France, and Gennany, where medical science has reached its highest perfection, it is prescribed in domestic practice, and constantly used in the armies, in hospitals and other public institutions, where it is regarded by the attending physicians as the most speedy and agreeable remedy that can be employed known cases of diseased langs, which had barfled the efforts of the most stillful and experienced doctors, have been permanently cured by it. These results are the most convincing proofs of the superior curative properties of this preparation; and to them the authors point with peculiar satisfaction. While it is most powerful against confirmed diseases, it is extremely gentle as a medicine in inflancy and youth, being quite harmless to even the youngest, when administered judiciously.

This health-restorer accomplishes even more by provention thm cure. If taken in season, it heals all irritations of the function, and other affections all irritations of the function, and other affections in the breathing organs, give way before the pre-minent combination of medical victues.

CLIMAX.

A plain statement of facts. J inherited Scrofula and many of my relations have died of it. In 1839 my case was frightful. Tumors and ulcers spread until in 1842, under the advice of my physicians I went to Avon Springs. I received no benefit—tried every medicine and did everything I could. I had o test inv arm on a cushion, and had not been able o raise it to my head for over a year. The dis-charge from two ulcers was nearly a pint a day. Amputation was recommended; but pronounced dangerous. I could not sicep, and my sufferings were intolerable. A friend brought me an English physician who applied a salve with which he said be ad accomplished extraordinary cures in the hospitals in England. It commenced to relieve: I persisted in its use; it finally effected a perfect and entire cure. It is now 1848. It is five years since I had the appearance of a scrofulous sore, and my health has been good ever since. I procured the receipt of this wonderful article—this blessing of humanity—and have called it "Page's Clemax Suve," and allow the public to use it or not as they choose. fail anow the plants to use it of not as they chosen. This is a brief but candid statement, given mor fully in my circular. J. M. PAGE.
