return to Lancaster, this week: a great loss to our country .... Mr. Stevens was no ordinary man. Of a towering and gigantic intellect, he had unbounded mental sway over, all others, who freely acknowledged his supremacy, and gladly gave him fitting honors. At heart, the poblest of his race: He loved his fellowman, and devoted all his energies to the great principle of universal freedom. He was the great, and the greatest advocate of human rights, and was rewarded in beholding the shackless stricken from the 'slave, and him' who bace was 'deemed'a brute declared a man. Benevolent and kind, to the lowly, and the, humble, and charitable without ostentation or display to the poor, and the poorer the better for his great soul of human kindness. No suppliant hand was: ever extended to thim in vain. The distressed and the help less could ever claim him as a friend, and -received-not only-his-warmest-sympathies . but his laid professionally and "otherwise." Few men there are that have been like him. His deeds have shown his truth and his greatness in word and action. His tory will be true to herself, and accord him the highest honors. When shall we look upon his like again? May he rest

Some twenty years ago, it was made the Capital of the State, although at that time there were not probably a dozen house within a radius of two nilles; now it con tains a number of mills of different kinds. a foundry, many wholesale and retail stores, and one of the finest hotels in the State, built by the late-Baker, of detective fame, and who had to sell it in consequence of several attempts being made to burn it by as is supposed some of his secession one mies, The Capital grounds contain eleven acres, in a commanding position, near the centre of the town, and bids fair, in time, to be more: beautiful than any in the country. The streets are laid out east and west, of an average width of about seventy feet, and the avenues north and south, of about one hundred feet. There being as yet, but indirect railroad communication with other and larger places, and the Legislature meeting only bi-ennially, the population does not increase very rapidly. East, about threefourths of mile, is the State Reform School, containing at present some two hundred and tifty boys, black and white, of ages ranging from ten to twenty-one, who are divided into classes of fourteen under, the subordinate charge of a Captain and Lieutenant, (as they might be called) and march with military precision to their meals baths, beds, &c. They all receive a good english education, studying four hours per day.... Work eight hours-some at sho making, some at making cane-seat and flag chairs, some at tailoring, and others on the farm attached to the institution, and other work necessary for an institution that designs to have all done by the inmates which, is required for their maintenance All retire at eight o'clock and rise at five the year round, and have three hours per the model for its kind, in the country. About two miles beyond is the State Agri-cultural College, where any boy can learn all of farming that can be taught, and also the necessary knowledge of chemistry, &c., to enable them to analyze different soils and give them a proper "dressing. A fair english education is also obtained! here, competent teachers' residing on the farm. Some of the finest stock in the country may be seen here, and a daily account is kept of the feed of (each, with changes often to give the most profitable diet. Another Letter from Lancaster. LANCASTER, August 13,186 My DEAR SPY.-I cannot but laugh w LANCASTER, August 137368-Fread your daily. You pitch infor thugs, the rings and the cliques, und at the leaders, Brubaker, Heistand and the modest gentlemen of the Express, who own the papers, and give them jessie for acting orruptly-as they do, and then very ly ask them to copy, and dare them to endorse or expose their own frauds. Some folks would call this pretty bold and evidence of great assurance. But it matters not, they deserve it all, and the people are all glad to see it, and the SPY, as you know, is daily increasing in popularity, because you dare to tell the trath and refuse to shut, out the light. Honesly is the best policy, as you will find out-and they joo, at a date too late for them.

The matter of most interest at present spoken of here is the squandering of money by the County Commissioners, who seem to think they are masters of their situation. and have a right to squander the county money by contributions to fire companies and the election of George Brubaker, who rules them, and some other officers in the Court House in this way, we ought to know it. A new duty truly has been originated in the Commissioner's office, if they can electioneer for heir pets by spending the county money after this manner. By this conduct they ope to control the nominations, and elect heir own creatures, who in return aro to aelp plunder and divide. What were the Commissioners elected for ? . Was it to settle county tickets ?. It will be? better for these gentlemen to know their business is of quite a different character, and that they may be called some of these days to an ac ount, and held personally responsible. They have not an unlimited discretion, and they can only pay out money when justiied by the law. They are neither kings nor rulers, and it will be the interest of the axpayers to convince them of that fact. It is well known that they are deter nined to elect George, District, Attorney, out it may be the dearest thing to them they ever undertook, for even if he should be elected, he cannot screen them ; but I forget, he is such a splendid and interesting genius, such an elegant and accomplished lawyer, that I have no doubt he will require a deputy to prosecute for the Commonwealth in Court, where, as long as I have lived in Lancaster, I never knew he had a voice in Court, and lew;or none ever heard him make a speech, through excessive modesty. But this is not uncommon here, for we have a number of dumb, that is, silent members of the bar. Yours.

TINOUR, THE TARTAR. The Public Debt.

Equally, divided, the proportion of the lebt to each person is $69.50, the interest on which amounts to about a cent a day, The increase of property in the two States of Pennsylvania and New York, if continued at the present rate for three years, would e sufficient, to pay the entire, debt, with hree hundred millions of dollars to spare. All the hardship there is for the laboring nen grows out of the inflation of the cur ency, and the repudiation schemes of the Democratic party. Well may the poor nan say, from such friends "good Lord leliver us." A. 55.5 C.

What is now most desirable in our county nominations is, a pure, a clear and suntainted atmosphere: where the malaria of corruption has failed to make an impression. Listen not to those worn out c.over-worked hacks ,who dog their masters' bidding, lest they lose their bread and butter, for they fravel only in the ruts by which they hope for promotion. Listen not to the hangers on to the coat tail of the Rings; with the hope of a sop in shape of some petty post, But consult those who are free-and independent of all such po-""ditical trumpery? and 'look fout" only for the best of mon under all circumstances, regardless of the frowns of Ring leaders and Thug bosses, their and -1-4. WE have shown pretty conclusively that there has been frand, with at least one of our members of Assembly, with all. the Commissioners, and the Prison Inspector. Now let us turn our attention to the complaintsiwe hear about the illegalifecs charged by some of the officers in the Court House. Wo are told that when fees are charged, the officer substitutes fee-bill of his own, instead of that, prescribed by act of Assembly, and what is very strange (if the officer is an honest man) his fee bill is higher than the legal one. We would advise no one to pay fees unless he is furnished with a bill sof items, specifically set out, so: that it can be serutinized and tested. . If illegal fees are charged, demand a 'return of the excess, and if that is refused, hand the bill to an Alderman, and recover by suit. Some years ago, we know that a certain =officer was frequently sued, and compelled 'to disgorge his petty filchings. The same thing can be done again. Try it. These
